Dismise moms and dads arrive on the Winston-Salem State campus Friday to register for the school’s weekend events. By Saturday evening, more than 800 parents, with or without their children, were among the group, which attended the Week-end Parent Meetings. Mike Mason, a co-chairman of the event, said he expects more parents this fall to attend the weekend because of the number of admissions at the student govern ment (SC) office has increased. The official sponsor of the weekend is the Winston-Salem State Campus. Mike Mason is one of the co-chairmen of the event.

Professor Examines German Politics

By Michael McKinney

Donald G. Schoonmaker, a professor of political science, will deliver a paper on the West German government at the Southern Political Science Association Conference in February. Schoonmaker, who is chair of the political science department at Wake Forest University, was invited to participate in discussions on the possibilities of political reform.

Schoonmaker said the Green movement is the most important political group in West Germany. "Many people consider the Green Party the third major party," he said. The party currently holds 42 seats in the Bundestag and receives an average of about 20 percent of the popular vote, he added.

Schoonmaker said the party is exerting a "considerable amount of pressure" on the West German political system by making environmental issues a top priority and offering constructive proposals.

The party is having problems among its own ranks with party boundaries and methods of reaching out to voters. Schoonmaker added.

The West German government views itself as a democratic nation, said Donna Custer, the president of the student senate and a Rhodes scholar.

"I think the students are concerned about the disparity in income and education levels," Custer said. "We are always seen it before as something that is not possible in a democratic society."

"I don't think the government has really been able to address these issues," she said. "I think the students are concerned about the disparity in income and education levels."
Carilloneur Attempts to Revive Tradition

By Michelle Hemker
On and Off Campus Reporter

Tradition may soon be that the bells of Wait Chapel will be heard across campus at 5:00 p.m. every evening. John Acker, an alumnus of Wake Forest and the chaplain carillonneur, may revive the tradition.

Acker has offered to instruct the majority of the students in the skill of carillon playing. The course will be offered free of charge.

John Acker taught himself how to play the carillon after, as his organ teacher suggested, that his entire class try to learn. He practiced his skill through listening to recordings. Acker has been invited to travel to Wait Chapel's carillon in the fall of 1979. After the bells were installed, he graduated from Wake Forest in May, 1979, with a bachelor of science degree in business.

Fraternities and Societies Should be Portraitied Fairly

G eorge Green was right when he wrote "Old Gold and Black, Sep. 18, 1962" that fraternities and societies are not the only groups that need our support. However, I do not agree with Mr. Green. To me, it seems that any organization to which I cannot give my whole-hearted support is not worth my support in the first place. I believe that we should be able to support only those organizations that we truly believe in, and that we truly think are worth our support.

The first point that I want to make is that fraternities and societies are not the only organizations that need our support. There are many other organizations, such as student organizations, that also need our support. I believe that we should be able to support these organizations as well, and not just fraternities and societies.

The second point that I want to make is that we should not give our support to fraternities and societies without first knowing what they stand for. We should not just support them because they are fraternities and societies, but because we believe in their goals and objectives.

The third point that I want to make is that we should not support fraternities and societies without first knowing what they do. We should not just support them because they are fraternities and societies, but because we know what they do and what they stand for.

The fourth point that I want to make is that we should not support fraternities and societies without first knowing what they are doing with our money. We should not just support them because they are fraternities and societies, but because we know how our money is being used.

In conclusion, I believe that we should support fraternities and societies, but only if we truly believe in their goals and objectives, if we know what they do, and if we know how our money is being used. I believe that we should not just support them because they are fraternities and societies, but because we truly believe in them.

To the editor of the Wake Forest

I am writing in response to an article that appeared in the November issue of the Wake Forest Spectator. I believe that the article is flawed and that it does not accurately represent the views of the students.

In the article, the author claims that the student body at Wake Forest is divided on the issue of fraternity involvement. However, I believe that this statement is not true. In my experience, the student body at Wake Forest is generally supportive of fraternity involvement.

Another point that I disagree with is the author's claim that fraternities are not necessary for the socialization of students. I believe that fraternities are an important part of the socialization process for students.

In conclusion, I believe that the article is flawed and that it does not accurately represent the views of the students. I urge the editor to take these points into consideration when deciding whether or not to publish the article.
School is Suspending Potential Funding

The third paragraph of the Statement of Purpose for Wake Forest lists the primary functions of the school. Each function is supported by a statement that the school is committed to. Here are the functions and their corresponding statements:

- Teaching: "The educational objective is to teach and to promote freedom of inquiry through the practice of liberal learning and the testing of ideas." This means that Wake Forest is committed to providing a rigorous curriculum that encourages students to engage in critical thinking and intellectual exploration.

- Research: "The research activity is directed to the advancement of knowledge and to the testing of ideas." This implies that Wake Forest is committed to fostering a culture of innovation and discovery, where students and faculty are encouraged to contribute to the body of knowledge in their respective fields.

- Public Service: "The public service program is directed to solving human problems and to promoting the public welfare." This suggests that Wake Forest is committed to using its resources and expertise to address real-world issues and make a positive impact on society.

- School's Commitment to Diversity and Inclusion: "The school is committed to creating a diverse and inclusive community." This indicates that Wake Forest values diversity and recognizes the importance of creating an environment where all students, regardless of background, feel welcome and supported.

These functions are outlined in the school's mission statement, which is a comprehensive guide to the school's goals and values. By focusing on these areas, Wake Forest aims to provide a well-rounded education that prepares students for success in various aspects of life.
Spanish Dancer Benitez To Perform in Brendle Recital

By Kristie O'Neil

Bonnie Benitez, a music major in voice, gave her senior recital Friday at 3 p.m. in Brendle Recital Hall.

While the audience was perhaps one of the smallest in recent years, it was perhaps the most dedicated. Bonnie’s performance was a fitting conclusion to the music department events for the year.

There is an expectant hush after the bow and applause, and now Berlin takes her place on the stage of the recital hall, a community center for the footwork and castanets.

It is difficult to recommend a movie like this film. It certainly isn't a movie for Mom or kids, but it's not a movie I'd take my date to, either—unless she enjoys exoticism, art (whatever that means), and even free, why bother?

The piano begins. The audience waits patiently for the piano to begin. Five songs in the song cycle "St. Cecilia" are sung, all of them with great sensitivity, and the audience is treated to the music that is as important to them as it is to the composer. The music begins. The audience is captivated. The composer’s thoughts are revealed, and the audience is left feeling that it has been a successful event.

This was most evident in the song sung in the middle of the concert, "La course paille" (from Pissis 1969-91). These songs alternated between notating oratory, a speech, and short, well-written passages that were beautifully sung and captured the audience’s attention.

One of the high points of the evening was when Berlin's sister Rebecca Myers, who coordinates the Wake Forest Dance Series, said that this dance event is the "best one yet."

Ultimately, a resume is a description of yourself, said Tetich. A resume is "the first impression an employer will have of you," she added. Appalachian State Visits Groves Stadium for Parents' Weekend

By Sean Henry
Old Gold and Black Reporter

Wake Forest and Appalachian State meet tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Groves Stadium for the Mountaineers' Parents' Weekend.

The Mountaineers opened the season last Saturday at the Deacon's opening game and won, 4-2. This game was a close contest, but Appalachian State came out on top with a score of 21-3 against the Deacons in the first half and 21-13 in the second half.

Old Gold and Black will have a strong offense in this game, with quarterback Tony McMillan leading the way. McMillan is expected to helm the offense effectively.

The Mountaineers will rely on their strong defense to prevent the Deacons from scoring. Appalachian State has a history of strong defensive performances, and they will be looking to maintain that record in this game.

Overall, it's going to be a tough game for the Deacons. Appalachian State is a strong team, and the Mountaineers will need to be at their best to come out on top. It's going to be an exciting game and one not to be missed.

Duke Outbattles Wake Forest, 1-0

By Teresa Coffee
Old Gold and Black Reporter

Duke's field hockey team defeated Wake Forest, 1-0, in Groves Stadium on Wednesday.

The Blue Devils outplayed the Deacons throughout the game, with a strong performance in the second half. Duke's defense held Wake Forestscoreless, while their offense was able to find the back of the net.

Duke threatened early in the second half, but the Deacons couldn't find a way to get the ball past the Duke goalie. They finally scored with five minutes left on the clock, thanks to a penalty shot.

Duke's goalie, Emily Cagle, made several key saves to keep Wake Forest from scoring. She was named the game's MVP for her outstanding performance.

The Blue Devils will look to continue their winning streak in their next game, against Virginia Tech on Saturday. A win would keep them in the running for the ACC title.

Men Runners Take 2nd Place At Invitational

By Bob Zeller

The Wake Forest men's cross country team took second place at the NCAA Invitational on Saturday. The Deacons were led by senior John Brereton, who finished 11th.

The Wake Forest women's team also performed well, with junior Sarah Dunn finishing 59th. The Deacons' top five runners were within 10 seconds of each other, showing the team's strong depth.

The Deacons will head to the ACC Championships next weekend, where they hope to improve on their second-place finish.

Maggie Cowan leads ACC

The Wake Forest volleyball team continued their strong season by defeating North Carolina State, 3-2, on Saturday.

Maggie Cowan led the team with 15 kills, while teammate Kaitlyn Kuykendall added 11. The Deacons' defense was also strong, holding the Wolfpack to a season-low 28 kills.

Wake Forest will look to build on this win as they prepare for their next game, against Virginia Tech on Sunday. A victory would keep them in the running for the ACC title.

Third-Ranked Tar Heels Overcome Deacons, 4-2

By Lisa Lale

The Wake Forest women's tennis team fell to third-ranked North Carolina, 4-2, on Sunday.

The Deacons were strong on the doubles court, but faltered on the singles court. They will look to regroup in their next match against Davidson on Thursday.

Will N.C. State Game Be Barometer for Season?

The Wake Forest men's soccer team faces North Carolina State this weekend in their homecoming game.

The Deacons are off to a strong start this season, with a 2-0-0 record. A win against the Wolfpack would be a big boost to their confidence.

Will N.C. State be a true indicator of the Deacons' potential? It's too early to tell, but this game will certainly be a key test for Coach Sparky Dooley's team.
Three Conference Battles Mark Fourth Weekend of ACC Play

The Wake Forest-N.C. State game last Saturday marked the 100th contest played by the Demon Deacons in Greensboro Stadium. The victory was the second straight win for the Deacons, and the Demon Deacons have yet to allow a touchdown.

Now good Terry Smith served as Player of the Week along with Chris- on's Game Bonay. Smith, in his only ac- corded collegiate start, was an instrumental part of the Wake Forest defense, which held the Wolfpack to only 127 yards rushing.

The Demon Deacons would have a scoring shutout of the Virginia Cavaliers in their first con- ference game.

Maryland:
The Terrapins, after a bandwagon start, headed to West Virginia 25-23 last week. West Virginia's Raymon McDade ran for a touchdown, but the team Robert Petesh in- tervened the game. The Demon Deacons go in to the Wolfpack for their first five games. He returned the kick 24 yards to give the Mountaineers a 14-7 lead after only 31 seconds. Maryland rallied behind scoring and running back Ben Lowery to stage a comeback.

The Terps (2-1) went to Baltimore to challenge the N.C. State Wolfpack tomorrow, head Coach Joe Krivak goes for his second conference win.

Deacons Win Consolation Titles

By Allen Kucey
Assistant Editor

The Wake Forest men’s tennis team captured its second in a row in the Big Ten Tournament at Duke last weekend, but finished strong after韭菜 with Jackie van Wijk and Lisa Lohse in the consolation finals in theingles competition.

Head Coach Dave Allen was pleased with the team’s showing in the consolation, in which Duke, North Carolina and North Carolina State played.

“I was really pleased with how everyone played considering we had only two or three weeks of practice,” Allen said. “A lot of the girls had not played much this season, but now we know what we need to work on. We know about our competitive.”

In the elite flight, the eight players from each team, van Wijk, the number-one seed, was upset by the number-one seed in the consolation, Landis Cox of North Carolina.

Wake Forest Shut Down Pack

By Jabin White
Abbeville Times News

Tallback Mark Young, after a third-quarter injury to senior Derrek McGill, took over and rushed for 144 yards and two touchdowns to lead Wake Forest to a 23-6 victory over the N.C. State Wolfpack last Saturday at Groves Stadium. Young, a sophomore, replaced the senior performer, who had an outstanding game, making the touchdowns of one and two the second half.

The deck was set in an outstanding game for the second straight year. As usual, Young came out ready and, as usual, young was at the end of the game.

Many experts have picked the Apps as a very big game on their schedule," Woods said. "Wake Forest has an outstanding defense, and State has to settle for a 2-3 ACC win over N.C. State last Saturday.

The offensive line is big and improved with four senior starters returning from last year, but McGill and Wendell Brown miss the receiver position.

On defense, the Apps return six starters and a host of young talent, after losing several key players last season's squad. The defensive line returns three starters including junior tackle outstanding defensive end Anthony Downs.

“Wake has a quality football team and they have been impressive in their first two games,” Woods said. “Peachtree has always been a difficult game to keep people out of the end zone.”

LEAVE A VOID IN THE NOID

"Leave a void in the NOID and enjoy your free meal of our choice. Hurry in for your FREE meal!"
When my friends and I graduated from high school, we all took part-time jobs to pay for college. They ended up in car washes and hamburger joints, putting in long hours for little pay.

Not me. My job takes just one weekend a month and two weeks a year. Yet, I'm earning $18,000 for college.

Because I joined my local Army National Guard. They're the people who help our state during emergencies like hurricanes and floods. They're also an important part of our country's military defense.

So, since I'm helping them do such an important job, they're helping me make it through school.

As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. Then, under the New GI Bill, I'm getting another $5,000 for tuition and books.

Not to mention my monthly Army Guard paychecks. They'll add up to more than $11,000 over the six years I'm in the Guard.

And if I take out a college loan, the Guard will help me pay it back — up to $1,500 a year, plus interest.

It all adds up to $18,000—or more—for college for just a little of my time. And that's a heck of a better deal than any car wash will give you.

THE GUARD CAN HELP PUT YOU THROUGH COLLEGE, TOO. SEE YOUR LOCAL RECRUITER FOR DETAILS, CALL TOLL-FREE 800-638-7600, OR MAIL THIS COUPON.
