Klaus Kipphan Tells Of First Impressions

by ADRIAN KING

The invitingly warm, beautiful and highly international city of Munich was the birthplace of the versatile, warm-hearted student, Klaus Kipphan. For the past semester, Kipphan has been an exchange student from the University of Munich and the University of California, and has found Munich to be a paradise of contrasts.

While Kipphan describes his experience in Munich as a warm, warm, warm American in the streets of Munich, he finds it to be a paradise of contrasts. He says that Munich is one of the most cosmopolitan cities in the world, with a rich history and culture.

Kipphan stated that his impressions of Munich were formed during his first visit to the city. He was struck by the beauty of the architecture and the atmosphere of the city. He found the people to be friendly and welcoming, and he enjoyed the food and drink.

When he was asked about his impressions of Munich, he said that he found the city to be a paradise of contrasts. WF Trustees Approve Scholarships

By Charles Goolin

The WF Board of Trustees has approved a proposal calling for the establishment of scholarships for foreign students to study in the United States. The Board, which is composed of representatives of the WF community, has been working on this matter for several years and has finally reached a decision.

Dr. James O. Calloway, the president of the Board, commented on the decision, saying, "This is a significant step forward for both WF and the students involved. It is a great honor for WF to be able to offer these scholarships, and we hope that it will help to strengthen the ties between the WF community and the students from around the world who are coming here to study."

The scholarships will be awarded to students who demonstrate academic excellence and are of good character. They will cover tuition, room and board, and other expenses associated with studying in the United States.

Off-Beat

By Sue B. Mack

The newly ordained chaplain completed his first week of service. He is still working out the kinks in his comfort level, but seems to be doing well. He has been busy with many different activities, including a meeting on campus with the student council, and a visit to the local hospital. He has also been working on his sermon for the upcoming Sunday service.

However, he has faced some challenges, including a few minor disasters in the chapel. He has been working hard to address these issues, and is looking forward to continuing his service with the community.

Bout Du Doigt

By Lewis Morgan

"Observe all this early morning by the lake. The mist is rising, the sun is just beginning to show itself. The ducks are swimming, the geese are honking, the squirrels are jumping from tree to tree. It is a beautiful day, and everyone is enjoying it." This was the way Mr. Morgan, a long-time resident of Wake Forest, described the morning atmosphere.

"And now, let us call the students to the library. While enjoying the beautiful setting, we can also get a good study session in. It is always nice to have the sun shining on your face while you are working." Mr. Morgan then continued with a discussion on the importance of studying in a quiet and pleasant environment.

The College campus police, described by Mr. Morgan, have been very effective in maintaining order on campus. They have handled many situations, including a disturbance in the library, and a fight between two students.

"The police officers are very helpful, and are always ready to assist the students," said Mr. Morgan. "I have seen them many times, and they always seem to be able to handle any situation that arises."
Four Coeds Journey Throughout Europe

Four Wake Forest students had the opportunity to see Europe without the panic from the day to day as they complete this term. Those of the girls lived with typical European families for a month, and the boys lived with two families. They were responsible for their own care. Mervin Fisher, student of Greencastle, stayed in Paris for a month. After talking classes in French government and politics at the Alliance Francaise, he spent one week each in Lyon and Reims.

Later he spent a week touring southern France and Switzerland, and had a week in Venice, Florence, and Rome. He presented a weekly seminar on French politics in his home in Paris, and spent a week each in Paris, Toulon, and Marseille.

Leanne Jones, a senior of Charlotte, spent a month with a family in Fiesole, north of Florence, in England. She traveled for a week through the southern parts of England and Ireland, visiting the Colleges of Oxford and Cambridge.

Marcia Jones, of Charlotte, spent a month with a family in Fiesole, north of Florence, in England. She traveled for a week through the southern parts of England and Ireland, visiting the Colleges of Oxford and Cambridge.

Life, Death Portrayed

DANTE'S ALIBI, "Fanny" Cast All French

By Richard Pipilotti

Richard Brautigan's classic short stories "Fanny and Alexander" will be seen in its French translation by New York audiences this weekend.

Lucien Cour, Maurice Chevalier, and Jean-Pierre Leaud star in this bilingual presentation, filmed on location in France's beautiful countryside. The entire cast of the original film returns for this film adaptation.

Although the film version is written and directed by Brautigan, music from the original film is used. Lenois does have a good idea what Fellini was trying to say. The French film is a tender, sentimental tale of two children who had impressed the author by their special qualities.

The title character is a young boy who is suddenly orphaned. He is sent to a provincial boarding school where he meets a kindly, understanding teacher who becomes his mentor. With the help of this kind-hearted man, the boy learns to accept his fate and make the best of his circumstances.

Butler's performance is strikingly similar to that of a young boy himself. His ability to communicate with others through the power of his imagination and creativity is truly remarkable. He is able to find comfort and solace in the world around him, even when it seems bleak and impossible.

The story of "Fanny and Alexander" is a beautiful tribute to the strength of the human spirit in the face of adversity. It is a testament to the power of love and compassion to heal even the deepest wounds.

Fanny and Alexander" is a film that will stay with you long after you have left the theater. It is a moving and deeply affecting story that will inspire and uplift you.

The film is not just a story complete with sailors, it is a story complete with love, friendship, and the power of hope. It is a story that will stay with you for a lifetime.

Deaclets To Host Clemson In 1961 Opener Thursday

The Wake Forest football team will play host to the University of Clemson Saturday at 3:30 p.m. for the opening game of the college season Thursday against the Tigers. Both teams finished the 1960 season with 5-4 records. But the Deaclets will be seeking national prominence this fall after fielding one of the strongest Wake Forest football teams in recent history.

Defenders is high powered and varied, his assorted skills have allowed very little to the offense. Washington, the University's quarterback, is the star of the defense, and defensive end Inman, the Wake Forest's star rusher, will be a key factor in the game.

The result will definitely depend on which team is able to stop the scoring and limit the touchowns. The Deaclets are favored to win by 5 points, but the game is expected to be a close one.

The Wake Forest game will be the first of the Deaclet season. Following that, Wake Forest will play Rice, Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky, and Louisiana State University.

As far as the Deaclets are concerned, they are looking forward to the game with great anticipation.

The game will be played at 3:30 p.m. and admission is $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students.
