Athletic dorm proposal approved by trustees

Scott Fitzgerald

The executive committee of the Board of Trustees approved Thursday a mundane-looking resolution that would allow faculty, trustees, and students to study housing needs.

The trustees authorized the director of housing, Andrew J. Martin, to develop a policy to use existing dormitory space for faculty and staff housing pending approval of the School of Contemporary Art. The resolution requires the approval of the faculty, who can vote on the matter at their spring meeting.

The resolution's main purpose is to provide temporary housing for faculty and staff while the new dormitory on Lawrence Street is being constructed. The dormitory is scheduled to be completed by the fall of 1981.

New chairman to bring optimism to trustees

Walter Bartell

A proposal for a new chairman of the Board of Trustees was approved by the trustees on Thursday. The proposal will be submitted to the trustees for their approval at their spring meeting.

The chairman's duties will include assisting the president of the Board of Trustees and serving as the president of the executive committee. The chairman will also serve as the chief planning officer of the Board of Trustees.

The new chairman will be chosen from among the current members of the Board of Trustees. The chairman's selection will be announced at the spring meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Vandalism outrages Little

Molly Wells

New dorm head resident Anita Little is trying to keep her dormitory under control. She said she has been able to keep the problem under control because she is a strict dorm head.

She said that when someone spray-painted her office door and the walls of her dorm, she immediately reported it to the police. She said that the police have been very helpful in trying to solve the problem.

The typical White Percival student might find monetary satisfactions in his Windsy's denim charoelry with everything on it, three and forty, but the approximately 100 Office expenses consumed in this meal provide little nutrition. Students don't plan ahead to eat, Kallie Ett, a nutrition expert at the Cardiovascular Rehabilitation Center, said. Thus when hunger arises, they try to the imprecise estimation of fast food.

"It's a kind of hit-and-miss thing right now," Kallie said. "It's to plan class students in jobs. If it's a perfect kind of service where the student's to look for a while."

Identity crisis

By this time in their college careers, most seniors have the aspirations with qualifications and goals in their sight at universities. This self-image makes required for success, involving the university. Real students have not been less, and seniors should be careful.

Most students maintain the family and society's requirements for success, and that success can be considered a student's personal life. In addition, parents and students have few representation on the university. The board must now show its commitment to all students, not just those who are enrolled at the university. Real students have not been less, and seniors should be careful.

The athletic dorm proposal was almost reaffirmed through the new school's decision. This point could be achieved in the future. Wake Forest is an institution that has been taking a lot of attention.

Professor recalls creative dissenters

The current crop of students represents the North Carolina Committee Against the Vietnam War. The leading four leaders (Richard Burtin, George Carr, a former student at Wake Forest, and another who was a Peace Corps volunteer) were later tried for sedition by the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

One of the leaders was a former student at Wake Forest, who was charged with sedition under the existing law. The other defendant was a former student at Duke University, who was tried in a federal court for sedition.

The trial was held in Winston-Salem, and the defendant was convicted of sedition. The judge sentenced him to a year in prison, and the defendant appealed the case to the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

The Supreme Court affirmed the conviction, but overturned the sentence, reducing it to 6 months in prison. The defendant was released on parole after serving 4 months.

The Supreme Court of North Carolina ruled that the conviction was invalid because the defendant was not a resident of North Carolina. The defendant had moved to New York City after graduating from Wake Forest, and had not returned to North Carolina since then.

Gary Schofield provides a glimpse into the past

...glass of the finest...

...for he did do his job. We have a lot of respect for each other.

In the football world, Schofield has consistently excelled in his positions, and in the coaching world, he has made a name for himself. His leadership abilities are evident in the way he carries out his responsibilities, and his dedication to the game is unparalleled. He is a true example of what a quarterback should be.

The season, however, Schofield is renowned for his performance, which was a testament to his hard work and dedication. He proved himself as a player to be reckoned with, and his skills were on display in every game.

In the past, his performance on the playing field was outstanding, and he continued to excel in the coaching world. His coaching style is characterized by his ability to motivate his players and his passion for the game.

Schofield acknowledges, however, that the future is uncertain, and he is not sure what the next step will be. But he is confident in his abilities and is looking forward to what the future holds.

The season was a success, and Schofield's leadership abilities were evident in the way he guided his team to victory. His dedication to the game and his commitment to excellence are a testament to his character and his abilities as a player and a coach.

Join us to celebrate the legacy of Gary Schofield, a true example of what a quarterback should be.

The Wake Forest defense knew the key to beating Virginia Tech would be stopping the Hokies'1200-yards-per-game backfield. They didn't do a great job Sunday. But two two in two losses this year.

Team soccer ups streak

Tony Sparber

The Wake Forest soccer team staved off a third consecutive loss by defeating Virginia Commonwealth University, 1-0, Saturday at Wake Forest. The Deacons will bring a 3-2-2 record to their next home game, a 4-1 matchup with Georgia Tech.

Wake Forest coach Gary Groh said the goalkeeping was solid but the offense cranked up as Gary Kennedy said.

Groh said there was potential. "The offense wins the game," Kennedy said. "I don't know how good our defense is, but we can score goals." The Deacons finally put their offense on a roll against the Hokies.

Adaptability crucial to spikers

Bryan Perry

The success or failure of Wake Forest women's volleyball team depends upon the adaptation of its three hitters. Wake Forest has three sets of three hitters, and each set has to be ready to take over for any of the other two sets. The team leading the John Brown Cup when Wake Forest's players are playing good backcourt defense.

Wake Forest coach AI Feichter wants his team to be versatile. "I don't think we have one good hitter," Feichter said. "I think we have three good hitters, and we're not going to win any games if we don't have two good hitters." The Deacons finally got a chance to prove what they can do when they played UNC-Chapel Hill last week.
