Mock Court Jury Acquits
Dr. H. Lefler Of Negligence

By MARVIN COLE Staff Reporter
Dr. Hampton Lefler was acquitted of negligent charges at the moot trial last Monday in the Law School. The original charge was made by the jury, which had been em paneled for a mid-term trial of the case.

A motion to dismiss the charge was made by the defendant that such an operation was unnecessary.

Concerning Qualified Applicants

"The Christian Life Committee (of the Baptist State Convention), ... something that they will take with them as they leave Wake Forest."

Most undergraduates claim that a college’s ability to place students is more important than the image of the student body. However, when Wake Forest’s image is the only factor, they have learned to resist the temptation of good grades for the sake of a good impression.

When we leave Wake Forest, we are expected to look for a job in the real world, where we are going to live for the rest of our lives. Wake Forest is the transition, be it up, we think it is great. We look forward to the many opportunities in the real world, and we are ready to make the most of them.

A Courageous Contribution

Rev. Wendell Davis, if he goes through with his plans to urge action in the city, will have the support of the Baptist Convention. The goal of the Baptist Convention is to promote social justice and equality for all races.

Students’ Party

A new student political party is being formed at Wake Forest College, called the United Party. The party will focus on issues such as lowering tuition costs, improving campus facilities, and promoting diversity on campus.

In addition to these goals, the party will also seek to attract and retain qualified applicants to the college. The United Party believes that Wake Forest College is a strong institution, but that it needs to do more to promote its values and missions.

Burroughs Surveys Effect Of TV Critizes

The survey was conducted in the fall of 1961, and it found that over 70% of the respondents believed that television was having a negative impact on society. The survey also found that the vast majority of the respondents believed that television was a force for good, but that it needed to be regulated.

One Moment Please

When we leave Wake Forest, we are expected to look for a job in the real world, where we are going to live for the rest of our lives. Wake Forest is the transition, be it up, we think it is great. We look forward to the many opportunities in the real world, and we are ready to make the most of them.
Troutman Seeks Action Over Brantley’s Novel

(Editors note: the article, written by Brantley’s novel.

Robert Rainwater, professor of biology at Wake Forest, awoke early this week to find the campus air thick with discussion of the recent novel by Brantley’s novel, which had been released earlier this month.

“Brantley’s novel has been getting a lot of attention, both positive and negative,” Rainwater said. “I wanted to take this opportunity to express my own thoughts on the matter.”

Rainwater noted that Brantley’s novel is a work of fiction, and he acknowledged the author’s right to express any viewpoint he chooses. However, he also expressed concern that the novel contains elements that he believes are misleading and potentially harmful.

“Brantley’s novel portrays a picture of the world that is not accurate,” Rainwater said. “I believe that it is the responsibility of educators and others in positions of influence to challenge such representations and encourage a more realistic understanding of the issues at hand.”

Rainwater went on to mention that he had recently hosted a discussion on the subject of Brantley’s novel at the college, and that he plans to continue to engage with the community on this topic in the future.

“I believe that open dialogue and critical thinking are essential in this situation,” Rainwater said. “Let us work together to ensure that our students are exposed to diverse perspectives and develop a deeper understanding of the complex issues that we face.”

In related news, the college administration has announced plans to hold a campus-wide forum on the topic of free speech and its implications, with Rainwater serving as a speaker on the panel.

“While I welcome the opportunity to participate in this discussion, I am also committed to fostering an environment in which all voices can be heard,” Rainwater said. “Let us strive to respect each other’s viewpoints and engage in thoughtful conversation.”
United Party Represents Every WF Student

Party Platform

1. An immediate national college survey of election procedures and an effective reform of our present election system.
2. A determined effort to secure photocopy equipment to be placed in the library to be used by students, faculty, and administration.
3. To organize and establish a committee of the legislature, the purpose of which is to foster and promote more adequate communication between the student body and the student government.
4. To provide an adequate men's Day Student lounge and to increase present Day Student facilities.
5. Immediate changes in the Honor Council and the establishment of a joint student-faculty committee to undertake a long-range study of the Honor System.
6. To improve the telephone service and other facilities for the girls' dormitories.
7. To foster Wake Forest participation in intercollegiate athletics, with particular emphasis on the promotion of the Wake Forest Conference of College Youth on National Affairs, and active participation in national student organizations.
8. The establishment of an efficient co-ordination committee for campus and intercollegiate activities.
9. To improve student use of library facilities and to increase the availability of material through such means as open stacks.
10. The establishment of an efficient co-ordination committee for campus and intercollegiate activities.
11. To improve the telephone service and other facilities for the girls' dormitories.
12. To foster Wake Forest participation in intercollegiate athletics, with particular emphasis on the promotion of the Wake Forest Conference of College Youth on National Affairs, and active participation in national student organizations.
13. The establishment of an efficient co-ordination committee for campus and intercollegiate activities.
14. To improve student use of library facilities and to increase the availability of material through such means as open stacks.
15. The establishment of a comprehensive intercampus mail service for the benefit of campus organizations and the student body.
16. The presentation of an itemized legislature budget proposal to the student body.

Details of the above platform will be presented to the student body by April 16.

The confused muddle of campus party politics this year has led a large number of students to conclude that party labels and affiliations this year are rather insignificant.

Last year there was a clear division between the parties, and most students openly aligned themselves with one of them. This was revealed in the fact that 75% to 80% of the students last year voted straight party tickets, resulting in a tremendous landslide for one of the parties. Not one member of the winning party was elected to the Student Legislature.

This year, however, the majority of students have realized that no party has a monopoly on the best candidates, and many students are planning to vote straight tickets. They have realized that a candidate, whether independent, fraternity, or band, should be judged on his own qualifications, regardless of his affiliation with parties and political organizations.

Moreover, most students have realized the political bargaining and dealing that goes on inside the parties in order to secure the various political factions, often resulting in the nomination of a lesser qualified candidate.

Because of the general disillusionment among students with the parties, many students have encouraged some candidates for certain offices to run independently of either party.

Party Platform

1. The sale of used and new books be handled by a student organization which could result in a savings of 30-50%.
2. The sale of class rings be handled by a student organization which could result in a savings of 50%.
3. To expand and improve the Homecoming Weekend so that it will be designed for all students.
4. A general coordination committee for intercollegiate activities.
5. Mr. Dean weekend to reduce the lack of a unified campus spirit.
6. A reception committee be set up to provide more adequate means for taking care of visitors of the College.
7. Revisions of the present election procedure.
8. Expansion and improvement in the present telephone system.
9. Student Government participation in the expansion of Wake Forest College.
10. A complete re-evaluation of the social system on the Wake Forest campus.

DETAILS of the above platform have been presented and distributed to the students. Anyone who would like a copy may obtain one from Ed Phillips, Party Whip.

Consequently, for the first time since the establishment of political parties on the new campus, a substantial number of candidates are running independently of either party, with substantial support from the student body.

It is true that a very few of these independent candidates are being "pushed" by some of the political factions that didn't "get" what they wanted at the party nominating conventions. But a large majority of those running independently are doing so simply because they wish to remain free of entangling political deals and alliances.

These candidates who are running independently are, of course, not running as a slate and are not necessarily supporting each other, but it is precisely because of their independence from political parties that they are in an excellent position to work for the good of Wake Forest with no political strings attached.

Let us not be deceived, either, by the argument that we must elect people on the same party so that they will work together. What we really need is students from many different walks of campus life to participate in student government.

These independently running candidates deserve our particularly careful consideration. For the good of Wake Forest, let's vote for the most qualified candidates, regardless of their party affiliation or lack of party affiliation.

Honeycutt Is Golf Star

By RENNE ACCORNE

As Ben Hogan often says, "If at first you don't succeed, keep trying, keep exploring, keep on all situations." And that's just what Ben Hogan is doing.

At the Masters Tournament at Augusta National, Ben Hogan placed one of the top three finishers. In his first year on the professional golf tour, he placed third in the Masters.

In the second year of the Masters Tournament, he placed second, just one stroke behind the winner. His second year on the professional golf tour, he placed third again, but this time he finished a stroke behind the winner.

In his third year on the professional golf tour, he placed second again, this time finishing just one stroke behind the winner. His fourth year on the professional golf tour, he placed second once more, but this time he finished two strokes behind the winner.

In his fifth year on the professional golf tour, he placed first, winning the tournament by a margin of five strokes.

Ben Hogan is a true professional, and his dedication to the sport of golf is evident in his consistent performance on the professional golf tour. His success is a testament to his hard work and determination.

Hawkes To Be Tough Next Year

"We have a lot of good players coming back, and we have a lot of young talent," says Hawkes. "The key is to play well as a team, and to have a good season."
Virginia Tech Stops Wake Forest, 7-2

Wake Forest's Deacons blasted off to a quick run in the first inning, but the Hokies rallied for five runs in the second inning, and then added two more in the seventh, to knock off the Deacons for the second straight game. Virginia Tech improved to 2-1 in the season opener with the win.

Old Gold and Black

Joe Kane/Inquirer

The first run came home on a wild throw to first on the cover-up play on a fielder's choice at the plate. Then a sacrifice fly plated the second run. The third run scored on an infield groundout, and the fourth on a bases-loaded walk. The seventh run came on a wild pitch.

Wake Forest opened the scoring in the first inning, but the Hokies answered with five runs in the second inning, and then added two more in the seventh. The Deacons were held to just one hit in the game, while the Hokies managed 15 hits.

The Deacons were led by Joe Kane, who had two hits and an RBI. The Hokies were led by John Smith, who had two hits and scored two runs.
