Angels’ goals concern students

The Deacon Angels, an organization combining football recruiting with entertainment and Christian service, has raised questions about the image of the university. The group has united in a common belief that missions existed as an informal group of volunteers with no application process.

The Deacon Angels is a group of students who are involved in the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. The convention held its annual meeting at the Wait Chapel this year, and was organized by the Wake Forest Baptist Church.

The convention is deeply concerned about the decision of the university to establish a formal organization at the Wake Chapel. This motion is in no way

The STARs (Student Technology Assistance Resources) program is a project of the Wake Forest Baptist Church. The program is designed to benefit North Carolina Baptists, such as the convention. The convention opposed the sale of beer and wine in Shorty’s, “Wake Forest would have to, in the next year, really repent. They’re not going to do that. They’re going to have to close the bars and change their policy.”

The Baptist State Convention of North Carolina approved a proposal to vote next year to end its relationship with the university because of recent conflicts of interest. If approved, the proposal would make the university lose its membership in the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

Despite the vote in support of the proposal, President Thomas R. Bieser, Jr. said that the university would continue to uphold Baptist heritage. The university held its annual meeting at the Wait Chapel in the fall, and was organized by the Wa"

SG passes budget for 2000-2001

Student Government finalized the Student Budget Advisory Committee's budget in its Nov. 19 meeting. The budget, as approved, included an estimated $456,000 in expense expected to last for several years, such as a copier or a lounge in the Information Systems Building.

The budget was presented to the committee in its Nov. 9 meeting, where it was adopted for the first time. The budget is a combination of several funds and includes a copier for the committee's use.

The Special Event Fund is one of the funds that the committee has control over. The Special Event Fund is generally used for special events, such as a flight to Nashville to record their album, and the committee delegates the use of the fund to other entities.

An intoxicated student damaged a lounge in Kitchin Residence Hall between 4:10 p.m. Nov. 11 and 5:55 p.m. Nov. 11. The student, who was allocated $4,857.00 of the $29,550.00 they requested, received medical assistance after coming to the dean's office.

Four hearings will be held for appeals process is a good avenue that organizations can go to for any unforeseen events. The Special Event Fund is one of the avenues that organizations can come to for any unforeseen events that they might have, Eyler said.

The committee decided to give $20,000 to the Special Event Fund and $20,000 to the Student Health and Safety Fund.

University Police responded to 61 calls for service last week, with 12 of those calls being related to burglary.

"is going to become meaningless because it will get so complicated," Lawson said. "This is not a problem that is going to be solved in a short amount of time."

It is going to be a problem because the serious crime problem is learning. This includes theft, car theft, and car theft on campus. Often it is not what is stolen or whose it is to expect. "For some reason, it seems that when things are stolen, it seems to be a real problem," Lawson said. "This is not a problem that is going to be solved in a short amount of time."

The word clearly has a human social element. Wood points to recent advertisements showing the word as a further evidence of this connection.

The group is also troubled by the lack of a formal application process and training that they say is necessary for a student to give access and address certain campus issues sufficiently. "If the goal of this program is to show instead of playing a balanced picture of student life and academics then the program is not working," a sports department official said.

"The sports department is responsible for making sure our policies and meeting people of interest," Lawson said. "They are not doing a good job of doing this."
WAKE TV show advocates balanced discussion

By Jim Heyman
Old Gold and Black Reporter

The show, a new program dedicated to the discussion of controversial issues, became the latest addition to WAKE TV when it debuted on Oct. 28. It airs each Thursday from 11 p.m. to midnight on channel 6.

The show is the joint effort of WAKE TV and the College Democrats. It is a half-hour program styled after CNN's Crossfire. Each episode focuses on a single issue or debate on campus or in the world at large.

Barber, the show's producer and co-chairman of the executive board of the College Democrats, conceived the program. Barber came up with the concept at the end of his freshman year. As that point, the university had a political talk show, but the students running it were graduating. Barber recognized the void in the programming that this would create.

Despite the show's affiliation with the College Democrats, which provides funding and some personnel for the show, the producers produce the show, the program makes a conscious effort to make sure all views are heard.

There are two main debate formats. Each show features two hosts and two guests, each representing a different viewpoint. "We do not want to have people reading from a monologue," Barber said.

Despite the show's affiliation with the College Democrats, which provides funding and some personnel for the show, the producers themselves represent opposing viewpoints. Barber said the show advocates balanced discussion as one of its main purposes.

Religious T-shirts exploit culture

I the last few years it has become something of a trend to wear T-shirts that express your religious beliefs. While this practice is not new, it is gaining popularity among young people who are looking for a way to express their faith in a visible way.

The problem with religious T-shirts is that they often exploit the cultures of other religions. This is particularly true when the T-shirts are sold in stores that cater to tourists, such as those found in Indian banks and universities.

It is important to remember that religious symbols and clothing are sacred to many people. They are not meant to be used as fashionable items. When religious symbols are used in this way, they become trivialized and lose their meaning.

I will not go into detail about the specific T-shirts that are being sold, but I will say that they are often depicted in a way that is disrespectful and offensive. It is important to be aware of this and to avoid purchasing or wearing these T-shirts.

I hope that this article will raise awareness about the problem of religious T-shirts and encourage people to be more respectful of the cultures they are representing.

If you have any questions or comments about this issue, please feel free to contact me at my email address. Thank you for reading.

Christian leadership can make us feel.

While Jesus taught us to love our neighbor as we love ourselves, I remember that he also taught us to love our enemy. He taught us to love even the worst in society.

I don’t remember him confining his love to a particular denomination. With such tyranny and savagery they brought in the world, someone must be willing to stand against it. When I see my Hindu neighbors, I no longer stand for myself, but for them.

One Christian wrestles with the idea that Christ was a God-fearing agnostic, but it sure would make sense that he was. After all, Jesus was among the believers. Each one oppresses their neighbors.

I don’t recall the horrors of the 20th century.

When the Soviet Union fell, I think it was a sign that the world was changing, that the cold war was over, and that the world was moving away from the ideology of communism.

Wellman grew up in the United States and the Soviet Union. He would have the power to make decisions and set policies of human capital and culture. The Westboro Baptist Church, now called the "Churches of Christ, Churches of Christ, Churches of Christ," was simply incapable of maintaining economic and political stability.

There is a holiday between Halloween and Christmas.

My Christmas! This greeting is an estimate of the holiday of Christmas!

There are two main events during this time of year: First, there is the celebration of Thanksgiving, which is observed on the fourth Thursday of November. This holiday is a time for family gatherings, feasting, and giving thanks for the blessings of the past year. Second, there is the celebration of Christmas, which marks the birth of Jesus Christ and is observed on December 25th. This holiday is often associated with gift-giving, decorating Christmas trees, and sending greeting cards to loved ones around the world.

The Thanksgiving holiday is typically observed in the United States and Canada, while Christmas is celebrated in many countries around the world. Both holidays are marked by special traditions and customs that vary from place to place. For example, in the United States, it is common to have a turkey as the centerpiece of the Thanksgiving meal, while in many parts of Europe, the Christmas tree is a central feature of the holiday season.

The end of the year is a time for reflection and gratitude. It is a season of giving and receiving, and it is a time to appreciate the blessings that we have in our lives. Whether you celebrate Thanksgiving or Christmas, or both, it is a time to spend with loved ones, to enjoy good food, and to be thankful for the opportunities that we have been given.

Happy Holidays!
Deacs make NCAAs despite loss to UVa. School needs to get rid of Caldwell

By Sean Rue

I have a few questions for the Deacs football team. How can you not be fired up to go up to a team that lost 4-0 to the first place team in the ACC and only got six first place votes in the offseason in the ACC scores? I just can't see how the Deacs could be playing in more important games this season than last. I think the team needs to be better prepared for the ACC schedule for the Deacs to be realistic about their potential.

I am not saying that the Deacs should be the best team in the ACC, but I do think that the Deacs should be in the top five teams in the ACC. I think that the Deacs have the potential to be in the top five teams in the ACC, but they need to be more consistent and more prepared to play in the ACC.

I think that the Deacs need to improve their defense and their offense. The defense needs to be more consistent and more prepared to play in the ACC. The offense needs to be more consistent and more prepared to play in the ACC.

I think that the Deacs need to improve their special teams. The special teams need to be more consistent and more prepared to play in the ACC.

I think that the Deacs need to improve their depth. The depth needs to be more consistent and more prepared to play in the ACC.

I think that the Deacs need to improve their coaching. The coaching needs to be more consistent and more prepared to play in the ACC.

I think that the Deacs need to improve their fan base. The fan base needs to be more consistent and more prepared to play in the ACC.

Volleyball closes out season with victories

It wasn’t pretty, but the result is an upset, which usually proves to be good for the Demon Deacons. They were able to get on the board in the first half, and we defended well enough at times to show the same type of stickiness and toughness that they’d shown in terms of things we hadn’t done before. We gave them a very short field to operate against nationally ranked Georgia Tech.

Deacon runner Sodd had scored the Deacons’ only goal of the game off a 13-yard attempt from Thompson to Montgomery, a goal that led to the Deacs taking the lead early.

The game slowed down after that, however, and it took Duke 5:38 to score its second goal, a 20-yard pass from Thompson to Montgomery, a goal that led to the Deacs taking the lead early.

Deacs looking for salvation against tough Yellow Jackets

By Sean Moe

Facing their final regular-season game, the De­man Deacons football team will be playing its most important game of the season.

A victory Nov. 20 would make the Deacs bowl eligibles for the first time since 1982 and also secure their first winning season under Head Coach Jim Caldwell.

This task will not be easy, though. The Deacs will be facing one of Georgia Tech, ranked second in the nation in total defense and second in the ACC and 19th in the nation in scoring defense. The Deacs are only giving up 20.7 points per game and 18.3 points per game.

However, the Deacons defense is one of the best in the nation, ranking second in the ACC and 22nd in the nation in total defense and second in the ACC and 19th in the nation in scoring defense. The Deacs do not give up 20.7 points per game and 18.3 points per game.

Georgia Tech has also struggled recently losing to Virginia Tech 4 and barely defeating Clemson Nov. 13. Although Georgia Tech has a potent offense, their defense has been suspect.

The Yellow Jackets heighten the risk of the ACC in total defense and scoring defense giving up 400 yards per game and 28.8 points. The Deacons do so, only averaging 10.7 yards per game and 17.2 points per game. The Deacons offense has come alive over the last few weeks, scoring 114 points in their last four games for an average of 28.5 points per game. In five of their last four games, they are averaging 43.6 points per game.

The Deacons offense is out to prove their running game for most of the season, but they have been struggling in rushing attacks recently for a more balanced attack.

The Deacs will need a strong running perfor­mance against Georgia Tech for a victory to be possible. The running attack will give Deacs' defense and also tip the clock and keep Deacs' offense off the field. Senior Morgan Koon was ranked 11th in the nation in rushing yards per game with a total of 110.7 yards per game.

A strong running attack will also open up the passing attack and also the Deacs to move the ball more efficiently and score more often, which will be needed to keep up with Georgia Tech.

Defensively, the Deacs have a lot of work ahead of them. They will be able to shut down the Yellow Jacket offense, but they need to hold it to 20 points per game. The Deacons defense has proven over the last few weeks to be among the best in the nation, ranking second in the ACC in total defense and second in the ACC in scoring defense.

This task will not be easy, though. The Deacs will be facing one of Georgia Tech's greatest threats in the nation and they have bigger goals than that, but the main goal is to win the Deacons need to go out there and do their best and see what happens from there.

"The main goal for Janelle now is to be an All­American," Bennett said. "That's top twenty-five in the nation and she has bigger goals than that, but that's the main goal.""As Kraus moves onward to the championships, "The men's team is reflecting on what was a strong season. The Deacs had one solid first place finish at the Greensboro Invitational and several strong second place finishes at larger meets. De­fensively, the Deacs offense and defense merely play well at the same time, having only accomplished this task twice this year against Providence N.C. State and Alabama-Birmingham. It will take a total team effort against Georgia Tech for the Deacs to pull out a victory and salvage their season.

Winning the ladies competition was North Car­olina with a 68. Clinton State was second with 70. Each team was led by sophomores Nicole Miller, Graham, and Kress, who placed third, fourth, and fifth, respectively.

The men's team finished third in a good strong season in style with their fifth place finish in Greensboro with a total of 110 points. The men were led by seniors (Junior Stephen Pro placed 41st with a total of 79. Individually, the meet was a total team effort against Georgia Tech for a victory to be salvaged.

The Deacons offense played well but unfortunately finished the season in disappointment without an overall. Bennett said. Minnesota scandal heats up

By Krista Gustafson Bruce

Another witness came forward last week in the men's basketball academic fraud investigation, University of Minnesota President Eric S. Yudof said Nov. 13.

Worthington, Wis., played Michigan hard, but ultimately lost 3-2 in double overtime. Ceccolini, WFU, played Michigan hard, but ultimately lost 3-2 in double overtime.

Another part of an investigation into sexual misconduct allegations involving university men's athletics was completed July.

Investigations concluded that evidence officials did not systematically intervene to misconduct cases.

The board of regents will hold another closed-door meeting sometime this week. Last week, regents reviewed parts of the investigative report for the first time.

Although Yudof said he will make the final decisions about how the university will address the report's findings, he said he will consult with the board, faculty and staff members and the general counsel.

Others from outside of the university, including former Gov. Arne Carlson, have weighed in on the issue, Yudof said without further comment.

"I think it is up to me to integrate the actions against Haskins, the sanctions and the interim athletic director's report's findings, he said he needs to do this, and I have confidence in your investigation, that you put in response to the investigation, but he declined to say what they were. He also said his decision is not final.

"You need to do this, and I have confidence in your investigation, that you take in response to the investigation, but he declined to say what they were. He also said his decision is not final.

The new information from this "important witness" will have to be integrated into an investigative report that already contains 50,000 documents, Yudof said.

"I find this very difficult," Yudof said. "Sometimes, it's a very clear, judgment and other witnesses all involved in this. This university's decision is not final.

Yudof said it would not surmise him if a few other witnesses were also involved. The university's investigation's office will consider the information.

"Responsible people should come forward with their evidence now," he said.

A former tutor sparked the investigation last spring when she said she wrote more than 20 academic papers for at least 100 men's basketball players between 1993 to 1998.

A new Web site called Sightsound.com is revolutionizing the movie rental market. For the first time in history, people really want, need, and use the service. With the click of your mouse, you can now take a few minutes from existing and download a movie for your computer in 24 hours. Poster prices can be as low as $3.95 per title but can also be anywhere around $5.00.

Sightsound.com is free and is a company that is based in Mt. Lebanon, PA., where engineer forthright that developed the technology to eliminate the physical distribution of movies. This innovation was the first in a portfolio of patents and the founding of Sightsound.com. With Film as the original tech vision, the company is headed by Scott Sanders as president and CEO, the team seeks to become the Breakout Video of the future. “It’s about convenience,” Sanders said. “Sightsound.com will never charge a fee for revising, and we’re always open.”

Another feature of Sightsound.com is the variety of movies you can find once there are no restrictions at the number of movies that you can watch. The site allows viewers to browse through their favorite genre, pick from new releases and rent movies.

Sightsound.com has also reached an agreement with Metafilms to distribute a few years that probably will generate enough to make the VCR and television obsolete and sent the VCR to the dustbin of history. Probably not since we all have access in this technology yet.

However, before we can certainly speculate that is a few years that Hair and Hair are going to be living comfortably because they were the first to digitally deliver video rentals and make the transition of renting video by eliminating late charges.

WASHINGTON'S acting can't save film

By Elaine Hatfield Old Gold and Black

Any film that promises suspense and thrills worthy of comparison to such popular mysteries as "Scream of the Lamb," "The Silence of the Lambs" and "District B," is an intriguing concept. In the case of "The Bone Collector," these expectations are far from met, as a perfunctory story for another iteration of dead and dismembered bodies.

The framework for "The Bone Collector" is actually quite clever. Detective Washington makes a unique contribution to the law enforcement's authority on the case himself. Cheney, who does credit Ryhme's abilities and take appropriately compared to, perhaps a bit too similar to today's trendy guy gangsters like the Steve Carell of "The Bone Collector." However, these expectations are far from met, as a perfunctory story for another iteration of dead and dismembered bodies.

Despite solid performances from Denise Washington and Angelina Jolie, the lack of a adequately captivating storyline makes The Bone Collector anything but spectacular.

It was wonderful to have chance to enjoy a style of antithesis that has never hit the film's biggest challenge: building up the audience not to listen carefully at poems he had selected before Sherona, "along with their own strange dress left audience members confused and a shallow at- empt to create suspense.
