John Jackman, the former editor of the 1987-88 Howler, said he has been trying to make the 1986-87 book relevant to his audience. He said he has been trying for about two months to try and make the book relevant to the students.

He said that the staff chose not to consider the 30 pages from the book because they can be in any one particular section. There would have been four pages presented throughout the book if they were to be omitted.

Wendy Allen, the former editor of the 1986-87 Howler, said that she did not know who the article would make their book relevant to the students. She said that she had just gotten her book Friday and she is not sure what she is going to do with it.

The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university.

The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university.

The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university.

The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university.

The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university.

The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university. The proposal emphasizes the role of the student in the university.
Benson Center Plans Near Completion

By Harriet Chapman

Construction for the $12,750,000, 76,000 sq. ft. Benson Center is in full swing. The key dates for its completion were announced by the university administration.

The center will include a 450-seat auditorium, a 700-seat gymnasium, a 15,000-square-foot library, a 150-seat lecture hall, and a 2,000-seat events center.

The center will be built on the site of the old gymnasium, which was torn down in 1985. The new center will be located on the east side of the Reynolda campus, next to the Clifton Chapel.

The center will open in the fall of 1988, with the gymnasium scheduled to open in the spring of 1989. The library and lecture hall will open in the fall of 1990.

The center will be the largest building on the campus, and will be used for a variety of purposes, including concerts, lectures, and athletic events.

The project is being funded by a combination of state and federal grants, as well as private donations.

Athletic Renovations Anticipated by 1990

By Bob Kennedy

The plans for the new athletic facilities include a new stadium, a new indoor arena, and a new swimming pool.

The stadium will be built on the site of the old baseball field, and will seat 15,000 spectators. The indoor arena will be built on the site of the old gymnasium, and will seat 2,000 spectators.

The swimming pool will be built on the site of the old pool, and will be 50 meters in length. The pool will be used for both competitive and recreational swimming.

The project is being funded by a combination of state and federal grants, as well as private donations.

Facade and Annex Are Among Library Improvements

By Harriet Chapman

The renovation of the Old Gold and Black Reporter library is in full swing. The library is being expanded to accommodate an increased number of students.

The renovation will include the addition of a new reading room, a new computer lab, and an enlarged periodicals section.

The library will be open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, starting in the fall of 1988.

The project is being funded by a combination of state and federal grants, as well as private donations.

New Physics Building Awaits Final Approval

By Bob Kennedy

The plans for the new physics building are being reviewed by the university administration. The building will be built on the site of the old physics building, which was torn down in 1985.

The building will include a new lecture hall, a new laboratory, and a new research facility.

The project is being funded by a combination of state and federal grants, as well as private donations.

ACHE is an organization that represents the interests of health care professionals. Their mission is to advance the health and well-being of the public through the promotion of excellence in health care.

ACHE is supported by a variety of organizations, including corporations, foundations, and government agencies. Their programs include education, research, and advocacy.

ACHE's mission is to provide leadership and support to health care professionals, and to promote the highest level of care for all patients.
Peace Corps Offers Worldwide Opportunities for Volunteers

By Lisa Taylor
News Editor

A recruiter from Peace Corps will be on campus today, tomorrow and Wednesday to discuss opportunities for students to plan and accomplish their goals for tomorrow's world. The group's membership includes about 85,000 volunteers who serve in over 75 countries, including areas such as health, education, and agriculture.

President John F. Kennedy named Peace Corps in 1961 to provide a tool of peace for the need to develop countries and to give Americans an idea of the people and cultures of the developing world. The Peace Corps volunteer is a professional development worker who helps as an idea of the American volunteer.

Recently, Mr. George Bush has been a strong supporter in the Senate. The Peace Corps has had both the Republican and the Democratic presidents support it. George Bush has been particularly strong in support of the Peace Corps. The Peace Corps volunteer has been a strong supporter of peace and development.

President George Bush has had strong support from both Republicans and Democrats. Mr. Bush also said that there should be more interest in helping others.

The Peace Corps is a non-profit organization that sends volunteers to 70 countries to work on education, health, and economic development. The Peace Corps offers opportunities in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

Peace Corps volunteers are often called "volunteers for peace." They work in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

The Peace Corps is a non-profit organization that sends volunteers to 70 countries to work on education, health, and economic development. The Peace Corps offers opportunities in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

President John F. Kennedy named Peace Corps in 1961 to provide a tool of peace for the need to develop countries and to give Americans an idea of the people and cultures of the developing world. The Peace Corps volunteer is a professional development worker who helps as an idea of the American volunteer.

Peace Corps volunteers are often called "volunteers for peace." They work in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

The Peace Corps is a non-profit organization that sends volunteers to 70 countries to work on education, health, and economic development. The Peace Corps offers opportunities in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

Republicans

Still Stress Defense in 88

By Brian Ramsey
City Editor

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles on student involvement in the 1988 election campaign. The first article was published in the Jan. 20 Gold and Black.

In a recent interview, a student said, "The Democrats don't want to hear about defense issues." Republican leaders, on the other hand, believe that the issue cannot be ignored.

In the upcoming election, the students have a chance to make their voices heard. By voting, they can help shape the future of this country.

The Peace Corps offers a unique opportunity for students to work on education, health, and economic development. The Peace Corps offers opportunities in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

Peace Corps volunteers are often called "volunteers for peace." They work in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

The Peace Corps is a non-profit organization that sends volunteers to 70 countries to work on education, health, and economic development. The Peace Corps offers opportunities in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

Peace Corps offers worldwide opportunities for volunteers.

Tins, who served as a Peace Corps volunteer in Kenya, East Africa from 1983-1986, is conducting an information session at 7 p.m. today in Reynolds Hall.

President John F. Kennedy named Peace Corps in 1961 to provide a tool of peace for the need to develop countries and to give Americans an idea of the people and cultures of the developing world. The Peace Corps volunteer is a professional development worker who helps as an idea of the American volunteer.

Recently, Mr. George Bush has been a strong supporter in the Senate. The Peace Corps has had both the Republican and the Democratic presidents support it. George Bush has been particularly strong in support of the Peace Corps. The Peace Corps volunteer has been a strong supporter of peace and development.

President George Bush has had strong support from both Republicans and Democrats. Mr. Bush also said that there should be more interest in helping others.

The Peace Corps is a non-profit organization that sends volunteers to 70 countries to work on education, health, and economic development. The Peace Corps offers opportunities in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

Peace Corps volunteers are often called "volunteers for peace." They work in areas such as education, health, and economic development.

The Peace Corps is a non-profit organization that sends volunteers to 70 countries to work on education, health, and economic development. The Peace Corps offers opportunities in areas such as education, health, and economic development.
Welcome to the Wake Forest Student Daily, the oldest student newspaper in North Carolina. We are the voice of Wake Forest students, and our mission is to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas, opinions, and information. Our goal is to promote open, respectful, and intellectually honest discourse, and to hold the university administration accountable to the student body. We believe in the importance of free speech and the free press, and we strive to uphold these principles in all that we do.

As a student newspaper, we are committed to providing accurate, timely, and comprehensive coverage of campus events, local news, and national and international news. We believe that an informed citizenry is essential to a healthy democracy, and we work to ensure that our readers are well-informed and engaged with the world around them.

We appreciate your support and encourage you to subscribe to our print edition or follow us online to stay up-to-date with the latest news from Wake Forest University.

Sincerely,
The Wake Forest Student Daily Staff
Jim Wright Exemplifies "Sleaze Factor" in Politics

Sarah Tollefson

Our country has a need greater than ever before for men and women of high character — corruption in the legislative process. It is our duty, as citizens, to stand up against the forces that would lead us astray.

Recently, the House of Representatives passed a resolution to censure Jim Wright, a member of Congress. This move was long overdue. Wright has been caught-up in numerous scandals, including the Fannie Mae scandal and the Iran-Contra affair. His actions have been nothing short of disgraceful.

But the real issue here is not just about what Wright did, but about the consequences of those actions. Wright's behavior has set a dangerous precedent for other politicians. It is time for a change. We need leaders who will stand up for what is right, not for their own personal gain.

We must all work together to ensure that corruption is never again allowed to take hold in our government. It is only through our collective effort that we can hope to see a brighter future for our country.
Old Gold and Black Arts

Monday, October 26, 1987

The Canadian Brass will open the 1987-88 season of the Steven Artist Series. The group will perform Thursday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m., in Wait Chapel. The concert is free of charge. The Brass has been described as "the most admired brass quintet in the world," and has been featured on television and radio programs by NBC, CBS, and the BBC. The Canadian Brass is an internationally known quintet that has garnished recognition from the White House to the Royal Festival Hall in London and the Berlin Philharmonic. This year, for the first time, a Steven Artist Series event is linked with the Brian Piccolo Foundation exhibition of soft drinks donated by PepsiCo and albums and tapes of the Canadian Brass will be given in the netology Research Center at Bowden Gap School of Medicine. The Steven Artist Council is sponsoring a competition among artists, with a prize given by Delta Airlines.

The Canadian Brass has performed on tours in Europe and Asia and has appeared with major orchestras throughout the world. The group has released over 20 albums, and has appeared on such television programs as "CBS Sunday Morning," "In the Year One," "Concert Hall," "Buck, Handel, Puccini, and Debussy," to significant performances with American Icons, Morton and Scott Joplin, to again garner international acclaim on albums released by Columbia and Peter Gergely.

The Canadian Brass will perform Pickle Drive Saturday. Old Gold and Black Jeff Report.

Old Gold and Black Jeff Report.

Canadian Brass for Pickle Drive Saturday.

Old Gold and Black Jeff Report

The Wake Forest University Theatre continues its season of concerts with a presentation of the English Philharmonic on October 28. In collaboration with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, the English Philharmonic will present a program of music by English composers, including Elgar, Vaughan Williams, and Walton.

The English Philharmonic is a world-renowned orchestra that has performed in venues across Europe and the United States. The orchestra is known for its dynamic performances and its commitment to presenting a diverse repertoire of English music. The concert will feature a selection of works by some of England's most famous composers, including Elgar's "Enigma Variations" and Vaughan Williams's "The Lark Ascending." The program will also include Walton's "Belshazzar's Feast," which is a monumental work that showcases the orchestra's virtuosity.

The English Philharmonic has a long history of collaboration with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, and this performance promises to be a memorable event. Tickets for the concert are available at the door, and admission is free. Come and enjoy a musical evening of English music performed by one of the world's finest orchestras.
"Bride" Is Engrossing Fairy Tale Fun

By Jeff Hargreaves
Old Gold and Black Reporter

Fairytale of the moment, some might say, is "The Princess Bride," a swashbuckling adventure tale that with a large cast of memorable characters, memorable lines and memorable adventure sequences, makes its audience laugh and cry and gasp and cheer. This is the story of a young boy, Westley, and the woman he loves, Buttercup. Their quest begins at the Duke of Patom, a man of many talents who is a constant companion to the young boy and the woman he loves. It is a quest filled with danger and beauty, of sweet and sour, of truly charming and truly harrowing events.

Cary Elwes and Robin Wright are ready to fight huge swamp rodents and at the same time, see if they can find their way back to the land of the fairy tale. The Duke of Patom, a man who is always ready to fight, is looking for a way to save his kingdom from the evil Prince Humperdinck, who is trying to take over the land. The Duke, with the help of the young boy and the woman he loves, makes his way through a series of adventures to save the land and the kingdom.

The major strength of the movie is in the performances of the actors. Cary Elwes and Robin Wright are excellent as the young boy and the woman he loves. They bring a sense of innocence and wonder to their roles, which make the movie even more enjoyable. The Duke of Patom is played by an actor who is always ready to fight, and he brings a sense of humor and charm to his role.

The movie is filled with action and adventure, with the characters taking on all sorts of challenges. The Duke of Patom must save the kingdom, the young boy and the woman he loves must thwart the evil Prince Humperdinck and the swamp rodents, and the Duke must also find a way to save the kingdom before it is too late.

The movie is a must-see for anyone who loves adventure, action, and fairy tales. It is a story of hope and courage, of love and friendship, and of the power of true love. It is a story that will leave you wanting more, and it is a story that will keep you coming back for more.

---

A Guide to the Fall TV Season

By Doris Brown
Old Gold and Black Reporter

Now that fall is here, the networks are once again presenting us with their fall lineups of shows. Unfortunately, you may still be in the middle of the prime of your year, but you can still get your fix of television shows. Here are some of the top shows to look out for this fall.

Momentary Irrelevance

Chris Harvey

This sweeping love story stars Cary Elwes and Robin Wright as the young boy and the woman he loves. Their quest begins at the Duke of Patom, a man who is always ready to fight, and they make their way through a series of adventures to save the land and the kingdom.

Bourgeois Tagg Has Fresh Approach To Post-Beatlemania Pop Music

By Brian Brown

The album is called "Bourgeois Tagg," and it's a fresh and innovative approach to pop music. The band members are from different musical backgrounds, which gives the album a unique sound.

The album's title track, "Bourgeois Tagg," is a catchy and upbeat song that has a lot of energy. It's a good example of the band's fresh approach to pop music.

The album also features other popular songs such as "The Army," "The Beast," and "The Devil." These songs showcase the band's versatility and ability to create a variety of sounds.

The album is a great introduction to Bourgeois Tagg's fresh approach to pop music. It's a fun and engaging album that's sure to please fans of all ages.

---

I'll be back on the bullhorn Friday.

Late night in the shadow of the full moon. I'll be back with a few more words of inspiration and a few more songs for you to enjoy. I'll be back on the bullhorn, and I'll be back with you all.
Amnesty Group Defends Rights of Prisoners
By Michael McMillen
8 Gold and Black
The primary concerns of the Wake Forest chapter of Amnesty International are human rights issues, senior Class Hall, who helped establish the group on campus, said. Twenty-three people attended the first Amnesty International meeting Oct. 16 in 106668 A. Carol McKinnon, a regional membership coordinator for Amnesty, addressed the group at the request of the Wake Forest Ball and said the group works for the release of prisoners who were incarcerated for their ethnic backgrounds, or beliefs, and seeks fair treatment for these prisoners, and against cruel treatment of all prisoners. She said that campus groups do not focus on the release of any particular prisoner since students are only involved in the group during the school year. McKinnon said the inter-writing campaigns are aimed at the presidents of the country involved but that they work "in a polite way." She emphasized that the group "doesn't attack a particular country," but rather those whose human rights are currently being violated. She said that over one-third of all countries practice some kind of torture.
Amnesty International was founded in London in 1961 after a man in Portugal was arrested and jailed for seven years by the government for thinking he was a freedom fighter. It is primarily supported and most of its work is done by volunteer workers.
The group has over 500,000 members in 35 countries and is currently working on 6,000 cases. Amnesty International United States has about 23,000 in the United States and about 150 groups in Western North Carolina. Campus groups exist at Duke, Davidson, Methodist and University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. For more information or to help send letters to the prisoner, interested students can join at any point during the year.

The primary concerns of the Wake Forest chapter of Amnesty International are human rights issues, senior Class Hall, who helped establish the group on campus, said. Twenty-three people attended the first Amnesty International meeting Oct. 16 in 10668 A. Carol McKinnon, a regional membership coordinator for Amnesty, addressed the group at the request of the Wake Forest Ball and said the group works for the release of prisoners who were incarcerated for their ethnic backgrounds, or beliefs, and seeks fair treatment for these prisoners, and against cruel treatment of all prisoners. She said that campus groups do not focus on the release of any particular prisoner since students are only involved in the group during the school year. McKinnon said the inter-writing campaigns are aimed at the presidents of the country involved but that they work "in a polite way." She emphasized that the group "doesn't attack a particular country," but rather those whose human rights are currently being violated. She said that over one-third of all countries practice some kind of torture.
Amnesty International was founded in London in 1961 after a man in Portugal was arrested and jailed for seven years by the government for thinking he was a freedom fighter. It is primarily supported and most of its work is done by volunteer workers.
The group has over 500,000 members in 35 countries and is currently working on 6,000 cases. Amnesty International United States has about 23,000 in the United States and about 150 groups in Western North Carolina. Campus groups exist at Duke, Davidson, Methodist and University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. For more information or to help send letters to the prisoner, interested students can join at any point during the year.

The primary concerns of the Wake Forest chapter of Amnesty International are human rights issues, senior Class Hall, who helped establish the group on campus, said. Twenty-three people attended the first Amnesty International meeting Oct. 16 in 10668 A. Carol McKinnon, a regional membership coordinator for Amnesty, addressed the group at the request of the Wake Forest Ball and said the group works for the release of prisoners who were incarcerated for their ethnic backgrounds, or beliefs, and seeks fair treatment for these prisoners, and against cruel treatment of all prisoners. She said that campus groups do not focus on the release of any particular prisoner since students are only involved in the group during the school year. McKinnon said the inter-writing campaigns are aimed at the presidents of the country involved but that they work "in a polite way." She emphasized that the group "doesn't attack a particular country," but rather those whose human rights are currently being violated. She said that over one-third of all countries practice some kind of torture.
Amnesty International was founded in London in 1961 after a man in Portugal was arrested and jailed for seven years by the government for thinking he was a freedom fighter. It is primarily supported and most of its work is done by volunteer workers.
The group has over 500,000 members in 35 countries and is currently working on 6,000 cases. Amnesty International United States has about 23,000 in the United States and about 150 groups in Western North Carolina. Campus groups exist at Duke, Davidson, Methodist and University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. For more information or to help send letters to the prisoner, interested students can join at any point during the year.
Debate
From Page 1

In addition to convenience and security, the commission also considered proposals from applicants that were physically capable of handling the attendance.

The specifications include the need for good access for public transit, including bus, trolley, and rail service; a minimum capacity of 3,000, with the option of expanding the capacity to accommodate additional students; the ability to provide housing and dormitory accommodations for students and faculty; and the availability of a large city, such as Raleigh, that offers plenty of hotel and dining accommodations for both students and faculty. The commission also considered the architectural design and aesthetics of the proposed locations. The commission received proposals from various locations, including downtown Raleigh and Wake Forest, but ultimately decided that Wake Forest was the best site due to its proximity to the city and the availability of nearby hotels and restaurants. The commission also considered the financial implications of each proposal, with Wake Forest being the most cost-effective option. The commission ultimately selected Wake Forest as the site for the debate, and negotiations with the university are ongoing.
Lecture Focuses on China

Oct. 30: Class Time: 6:30 p.m.

China has gone further than any other socialist country in allowing foreign capitalists to invest in its own industries. The head of the Department of Foreign Affairs at Cornell University, Joseph A. Comber, explained how China is capitalizing on its current economic policies to attract foreign investors.

During the early 1960s, the Ministry of Foreign Agriculture in China was involved in the production of high-quality foods, such as rice, for export. When the Chinese government decided to open up its economy to foreign investment, the Ministry of Foreign Agriculture began to invest in the production of these high-quality foods. The Ministry of Foreign Agriculture now invests in the production of high-quality foods, such as rice, for export.

The Ministry of Foreign Agriculture in China was involved in the production of high-quality foods, such as rice, for export. When the Chinese government decided to open up its economy to foreign investment, the Ministry of Foreign Agriculture began to invest in the production of these high-quality foods. The Ministry of Foreign Agriculture now invests in the production of high-quality foods, such as rice, for export.

In an attempt to attract capital, the Chinese government has been actively promoting the concept of a free market due to the integration of Chinese culture and foreign capitalists.

Lecture Focuses on China

Oct. 30: Class Time: 6:30 p.m.

China has gone further than any other socialist country in allowing foreign capitalists to invest in its own industries. The head of the Department of Foreign Affairs at Cornell University, Joseph A. Comber, explained how China is capitalizing on its current economic policies to attract foreign investors.

During the early 1960s, the Ministry of Foreign Agriculture in China was involved in the production of high-quality foods, such as rice, for export. When the Chinese government decided to open up its economy to foreign investment, the Ministry of Foreign Agriculture began to invest in the production of these high-quality foods. The Ministry of Foreign Agriculture now invests in the production of high-quality foods, such as rice, for export.

The Ministry of Foreign Agriculture in China was involved in the production of high-quality foods, such as rice, for export. When the Chinese government decided to open up its economy to foreign investment, the Ministry of Foreign Agriculture began to invest in the production of these high-quality foods. The Ministry of Foreign Agriculture now invests in the production of high-quality foods, such as rice, for export.

In an attempt to attract capital, the Chinese government has been actively promoting the concept of a free market due to the integration of Chinese culture and foreign capitalists.
Wake Forest Takes 6th Spot In Invitational

By Russell Wells

The Deacons Hand Salem 3-0 Loss

By Thomas Cooley

The Deacons Hand Salem 3-0 Loss

Men Runners Finish 8th at Virginia Invitational

By Matt Conner

Sports

Helms Returns to Fight Youth Drug Use

Soccer Club Joins Laid Back Style

By William Harris

Deacons Drop Two Matches In Rutgers Met-Life Classic

By David Golds

Deacons Hand Salem 3-0 Loss

By Thomas Cooley

Soccer Club Joins Laid Back Style

By William Harris

Deacons Drop Two Matches In Rutgers Met-Life Classic

By David Golds
Crystal Ball Offers Comical Look at 8th Week of ACC Play

S

See ACC, $599

12 Old Gold and Black

Monday, October 26, 1987

The ACC's now 8th week is a joke, as far as we're concerned. The conference is so bad that a few former teams that were stinking bad in the ACC have made the ACC in recent weeks. Let's have a little fun with the ACC. See ACC, $599.

Walter Forest

The Deacons were ranked for the first time of the season Oct. 17 in 6-4-0 upset by the Maryland Terrapins. The key also broke a personal 11-game winning streak for head Coach Bill Dooley.

Crystal Ball: Ted Diessl, Matt Milligan, Mark Young, and Tony Rogers all returned in action full force for Wake Forest, each missing for over 500 yards in Wake Forest's 6-5 victory over the Virginia Cavaliers.

Dooley would not comment on the sudden recovery of his injured guards, but there were several unconfirmed reports that television cameras were in Dooley's office on Monday morning reading the Deacons' schedule at Scott Stadium.

Clemson

The Tigers moved to 6-0 overall and 3-0 in the ACC after pulling out a 17-0 win over Duke Oct. 31. Missing through the fourth quarter, the score was nul at 1, but Clemson put together a 96-yard scoring drive to get the winning score.

Falkland: Tracy Johnson for 60 yards by himself in the third quarter, and won 20-10. After the Tigers' 20-10 win over South Carolina, the Terrapins announced that 27 players received some sort of recognition, including 22 from Clemson's unit and go-to (nail hammer). Now that's a Clemson rivalry.

Duke

The Blue Devils played very indirectly in that 17-0 loss to Clemson Oct. 31. The loss caps the three-game losing streak, putting the Blue Devils back in the ACC at 3-3 and 1-3 in the conference.

Quarterback Anthony D'Vage stepped in at the starting role for the Blue Devils against Clemson. He performed well, completing 23 of 50 passes for 205 yards. Crystal Ball: After the week's championship game played on 96 yards by himself in the third quarter, and won 20-10. After the Tigers' 20-10 win over South Carolina, the Terrapins announced that 27 players received some sort of recognition, including 22 from Clemson's unit and go-to (nail hammer). Now that's a Clemson rivalry.

Georgia Tech

Georgia Tech hit 9-3 to win the last game by the Auburn Tigers of the Southeastern Conference Oct. 17 and has the game by a decisive score of 20-10.

The Yellow Jackets lead the nation in 20-10 wins and are considered by Coaches' Association number 1. The Terrapins are the nation's leading team in 20-10 wins and are considered by Coaches' Association number 2.

Here's Sheldon the Computer Nerd...the hottest new hunk on your campus!

Why is everybody crazy about this new wave nubber? Simple! He's Sheldon-the Computer Nerd who knows all about Zenith Data Systems. That makes him your burning desire...

'Cause Zenith Data Systems Personal Computers take you all the way from college to career. And they get you there at great student prices!

Now, discover Sheldon's secret to computer nerd success with this special offer from your Zenith Data Systems Campus Contact. Sheldon gives it a big thumbs up!

Here's the Sheldon Special!

Special Student Price of eaZy PC - $599

S 1987, Zenith Data Systems

Heath/Zenith Electronics
4620C West Market St.
295-5390
Maryland scored two second-quarter touchdowns and the Wake Forest defense, which was stifled in a 14-9 win last week, had little chance to recover in the first half of its 14-0 trial. Although Wake Forest, 3-1, had second-quarter chances in the second half, Damascus could not put any points on the board.

Bill Dooley, Wake Forest's first coach, did not feel his team was looking back to the 22-0 victory over North Carolina the previous weekend.

"I don't think they underestimated Maryland," Dooley, who had a personal record of 1-2 in the series, said. "I think it was just a matter of what they wanted to play and do in this game. We had a lot of things we wanted to do in this football game. It took us just what they wanted us to do. We didn't execute the way we should have been.

The Terrapins outgained the Deacons 217 yards to 68 in the first half, and had the ball seven more minutes than did Maryland.

"Maryland's first touchdowns came after Dan Green intercepted a Mike Hilton pass in the Wake Forest 45-yard line. Five plays later Mike Anderson capped the drive with a 1-yard touchdown run up the middle. Dan Puckett's point guard put the Terrapins a 7-0 lead with 6:46 left in the half.

Maryland added its second touchdown after Mike Anderson returned a Mike Hilton interception 21 yards to the Wake Forest 9-yard line. Joe Krivak said that Maryland was more interested in this game with Wake for the last five, six years than anything else.

"We're the type football team that we have to give the effort and we have to execute. We have to hit the cylinders; we can't be hitting on half a cylinder. We're not that talented or that blessed to do that," Doenic Head Coach Bill Dooley on his team's lack of execution against Maryland.

Dress for Success.

WEAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY

STUDENTS

If you're enrolled in the second year of a college program leading to an associate or baccalaureate degree at an accredited college/university, you can earn a $2,000 scholarship to help pay your junior/senior college years or graduate school for a total of $4,000 scholarship. You must be at least 18 but no more than 25 years old. Be a full- or part-time student in a U.S. Citizen and have a 3.0 GPA. To apply, you must be the

Baccalaureate Degree Commissioning Program (BDPC) Call 1-800-662-7233

CONTACT: LT BOB CLARK Career Planning and Placement Office

NAVY · OFFICER

LEAD THE ADVENTURE.

For 25 years, our people have endured long hours and tough working conditions for virtually no pay.

And 9 out of 10 would do it again.

Peace Corps offers you the opportunity to completely immerse yourself in a totally different culture while helping to make a significant difference in people's lives.

... educational institutions, international firms and governmental agencies value Peace Corps experience.

Recruiters will be on campus October 27 & 28. Sign up for interviews at the Career Planning and Placement Office, 8 Reynolds Hall.

Peace Corps.

Built the toughest job you'll ever love.
Host Deacons Grab 2nd in Four Plus One

By Roland Rogers
Old Gold and Black

The Wake Forest men's teams played against a second-place finish in the Four Plus One, finishing 2-3-1. The team's second-place finish in the ACC behind Connecticut and Virginia was highlighted by the week's many victories and losses.

A national record for the conference was set by the Deacons, who went 4-0 in the ACC. They continued to dominate the conference by outscoring their opponents 17-14.

The team's next game will be against the University of North Carolina on October 22, where they hope to maintain their winning streak.

Soccer

From Page 11

The team was ready to play the next match after Greg McGinley received a red card to eject him from the game.

"That was the end of the game for us," Chyzowych said.

Tate Moore took the ball and beat Deacons goalkeeper from 15 yards out.

The team ended up with a win, but it was a close game.

Fitness buffs will find great buys are taking shape here!

Keeping fit isn’t easy. And choosing the right workout equipment can help you stretch your budget to the limit. That’s why there’s a discount store like Bradlees, where you can exercise your right to save on a huge selection of name brand exercise equipment and sporting goods for everyone, from weekend warriors, joggers and weightlifters to dedicated athletes.

But that’s not all! Come to Bradlees Big Grand Opening Celebration starting November 2 and save on everything from family fashions to home furnishings, toys, automotive and home entertainment needs and more. You’ll recognize the brand names and you’ll love our low-impact prices!