IRC Has Detailed Discussion Of Anglo-Iranian Oil Dispute

By ROSE ANOGA

The American Petroleum Institute, which represents the interests of the oil companies, has released a report on the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, which has occupied the attention of both the British and the Iranian governments. The report details the impact of the dispute on the production and the price of oil in the Middle East. It also outlines the possible implications for the global oil market.

The report is available for download on the American Petroleum Institute's website. The report is divided into three main sections: an introduction, a discussion of the current situation, and a conclusion. The introduction provides an overview of the dispute, while the discussion section examines the economic, political, and strategic implications of the dispute. The conclusion offers recommendations for how the parties involved can move forward.

Five Concerts, One Lecture, Planned In College Series

By ANTONIA BOLAND

Two Singers, Dramatist, Symphony, Lecturer

The annual series of concerts and lectures at the College features a diverse lineup of talent. This year, the series includes five concerts and a lecture by renowned musician and scholar, Dr. John Young. The concerts will be held on consecutive evenings, with the lecture scheduled for the following day. The performances will be held in the College Chapel, with admission by ticket. Tickets can be purchased at the College Box Office.

The series is sponsored by the College's Department of Fine Arts and is open to the public. Parking is available in the College's parking lot, and shuttle service will be provided to and from the campus.

The 580 Spot

By BETTY B. ROBBINS

For the past three years, the 580 Spot has been a popular gathering place for students, with its lively atmosphere and diverse programming. The Spot, located in the heart of campus, is known for its popular events, such as concerts, lectures, and discussions. The Spot is open to the public, and all events are free to attend.

The Spot is run by a student-run committee, with input from the Student Senate and the Dean of Students. The committee is responsible for the programming and management of the Spot, ensuring that events are meaningful and engaging for students.

The Spot is open every evening, with a variety of events scheduled throughout the week. Events are announced in advance, and students are encouraged to attend and participate.

Phí's And Eu's Disclose Plans For Semester

The Phi and EpsilonTau chapters of the College have announced their plans for the upcoming semester. The chapters have planned a series of events, including a lecture, a concert, and a social event. The plans are designed to provide a diverse range of activities for students, with something for everyone.

The Phi chapter has scheduled a lecture on the history of the College, to be held in the College Chapel. The lecture will be presented by a guest speaker, with an opportunity for questions and discussion. The event is open to the public, and admission is free.

The week opened explosively when the Board of Student Agencies reviewed the program of the week. This was the first time the Board had the opportunity to pass judgment on a program after it was planned and submitted, and the students were very much interested to see what changes would be made.

The Board decided to approve the program with some modifications. They felt that the program was too ambitious and that it would be difficult to carry out all the events as planned. They suggested that the students reconsider the schedule and make some changes to ensure the success of the program.

The students were disappointed with the Board's decision but promised to work on the program to make it more feasible. They are looking forward to the next Board meeting to present their revised plan.

Raleigh Firm Provides Clothes For WGA Event

By CLARA ALLEN FRANCIS

Approximately three hundred party-gowned guests were on hand for the annual fall fashion show presented by the Delta Lambda chapter of the WGA to benefit the local chapter of the Community House last Thursday.

"Oh, how lovely!" "Isn't this ador­

and seen emanating from the heart fulfilled audience who thronged to the office of the Raleigh firm furnishing the show space and asked the question "Who designed the clothes?"
The firm's sales manager, Mr. John Weathers, said the new clothes were the result of a "group effort."

The setting was the perfect atmo­

Southern Conference Leaders Meet
Gray, Tribble, Wade Present

By BILL BREDICK
The Wake Forest athletic program has reached the stage where a gathering of conference leaders is no longer an annual event, but a meeting of several years ago.燕 was attended by representatives of North Carolina, and South Carolina, among others.

Among the recommendations of the meeting was the establishment of a schedule for the next year. The Football and Basketball season will be November 7th through March 15th, and the Baseball season will be April 1st through June 15th.

Use of the meeting was to discuss the present trends in college athletics, and to consider the future of the conference.
