Student Legislature Rejects Fraternities’ Proposals for Charters

By David Stradley

"Everyone is equal — except in athletics. We wonder. This is the new order of things," said John Agresto, the president of St. John's College in Annapolis, Maryland.

"Our mission is to build consensus. We want to create a community where we can work together as one," Agresto added.

According to Agresto, only 25 years ago the college was known for its strict adherence to the Southern gentleman's code of conduct. Today, the campus is a melting pot of different cultures and backgrounds.

"It's a different world now," Agresto said. "But we still have to respect each other's differences and work together towards a common goal.

"I think that's the key," Agresto concluded. "We must work together and respect each other's differences to achieve success."
University Investigates Vandalism of Fraternities

By Jennifer Hale

The university has launched an investigation of vandalism that occurred last week at Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, 170 S. Robeson St. The fraternity was under investigation by the university's Office of Student Conduct and Leadership Development.

On Monday morning, April 11, fire and police departments responded to a report of vandalism at Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. The group's chapter president, fraternity advisor and university officials were present at the scene.

According to university spokesman Paul Perkins, the investigation is focused on determining whether the vandalism was a hate crime or a random act.

The university has not yet released details about the extent of the damage or the nature of the vandalism.

Student participation in model UN held in Washington, DC

By Ben Omisanya

Students from Wake Forest University participated in the National Model United Nations (UN) conference held in Washington, DC. The conference is a competitive simulation of the United Nations where students represent different countries and countries as a whole.

The Wake Forest delegation represented the United States and was led by the school's Model UN advisor, Professor Robert Miller.

The students worked in committees to draft resolutions and make speeches on various issues such asinternational trade, climate change, and nuclear disarmament.

Education Dept. Changes Requirements

Police Continue Investigation
Of Student's Accidental Death

By Jim Wraybourn

The Winston-Salem Journal's police department is continuing its investigation into the death of a student Friday night at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, who was killed Feb. 9 in a hit-and-run accident on Reynolds Road.

Ryan Guilliams, 18, was visiting campus with friends from UNC-Chapel Hill for Friday Night, the university's weekly entertainment event. Guilliams was found dead in the northbound lane of Reynolds Road near the intersection of Franklin School Road at 12:06 a.m., according to police.

Although Guilliams was white, he was found with identification showing his age to be 21. Newsome and Guilliams died on severamoon to the head and neck injuries suffered in the accident.

He said Guilliams was hit in the center of the northbound lane just before the intersection of Franklin School Road.

"When police responded to the accident, they said they had a hit-and-run accident," a police spokesman told Newsome.

"The driver and passenger told police they thought they had hit a pole or a bag of leaves by the time they were stopped," a police spokesman told Newsome.

Newsome said police cleared after examining the vehicle and determined that Guilliams was确实是 guilty of the crime.

Newsome said he had been in contact with the police before the accident and had been aware of Guilliams for the last year.

"I have no idea why they would have hit him," he said.

Now you can afford to dream in color.

If you thought that finding a color Macintosh system you could afford was just a dream, then the new affordable Macintosh LC is a dream come true. And unlike many computers that can display only 16 colors at once, the Macintosh LC expands your palette to 256 colors. It also comes with a microphone and new sound input technology that lets you personalize your work by adding voice or other sounds.

Like every Macintosh computer, the LC is easy to set up and easy to master. And it runs thousands of available applications that all work in the same, consistent way — so once you've learned one program, you're well on your way to learning them all. The Macintosh LC even lets you share information with someone who uses a different type of computer — thanks to the versatile Apple SuperDrive, which can read and write to various types of disks.

Surviving Spring Break

Keep These Tips in Mind For The Most Fun in the Sun

By Marcia East

Old Gold and Black Perspectives

Frida, March 8, 1991

If you are lucky, you are on your way to an exotic Spring Break destination as you read this story. Since the beach seems to be the last thing most popular on the minds of students from Wash. File who were not in any other authority - or some other authority - there seems little to do your weather both nutritious and healthy.

Rief of the Road

You’re in the unofficial Gold and even if the weather is no better for the road. When Wash. File scores, you will have a new lease on life.

We set up a few spots to do in the city of your choice:

- Relax at the beach on the side of the road.
- Have a drink with a friend.
- Open the windows and enjoy the scenery with other travelers as you drive.
- Play the license plate game. How many states can you find? What are they?
- Buy some of that bubble-blowing stuff and have a contest to see how high you can fill up the car with bubbles.
- Bring a music tape with you.
- Rent a video to watch on the road.
- If you are not even in a car, but next to a store, then go as fast as you can.

Susan Radar

- If you do not own a radar detector, be aware. In Florida, the police check your speed from the air. This happens by a special radar gun that you have here. You can, however, have a passenger with you. The speed limit is 70 mph and you must be at least 16 years old.
- If you are doing over 100 miles an hour when your Passport goes off, do not bother to slow down.
- If you are under 18 and feel uncertain about the knowledge that you will go to jail.

But Officer...

If you do get pulled over, it’s mostly not helping either with the area. If you are female and a male cop shows down to smell your breath, do not offer him a kiss.

Whatever you do, never offer to carry a quarter to call home. Do not bother, has enough cash to make him stay.

Some people carry a cut of more than they are afraid to kill. However, these people forget that they are in a good place, but can give you a slight

After your beverage is eating through your oasis in the sun, you will no longer have to deal with these people.

Meeting the Opposite Sex

We have but one piece of advice on fishing for the opposite sex. Here, it is.

- Have a date and go as fast as you can.
- Do not engage in any casual relations with anyone. Keep your picture taken with each other.

Sidelines Disney

Disguise your identity and wear a fake one. You can, however, have a passenger with you. The speed limit is 70 mph, but you can have a slight,

After Spring Break anyway.

Use your foreign language ability. Many students complain about the language required to get through the lines. Use your foreign language ability, and you can get through the lines.

Raving your picture taken with each other.

Wave Hello

- If you are not even in a car, but next to a store, then go as fast as you can.

BUSH'S DECISIVENESS MUST BE COMMENDED

With hundreds of thousands of tons hanging in the balance, this is very serious. In fact, it is a disaster. This is a very important issue, and we must take it seriously.

Campus, President George Bush; on your own time and with full and effective support, take immediate steps to give the Peruvian Gulf Crisis. In the face of such a crisis, it would be inappropriate for the federal government to dictate the terms of a settlement, maintaining a neutral stance.

This past Saturday, I attended the Southern Leadership Conference, a conference that focuses on the issues facing the southern states. It was an enlightening experience, and I am glad I attended.

For Bush, it would be irresponsible for him to take any action that could be perceived as weakening his stance on the Gulf Crisis. It would be unwise to engage in any activities that could be seen as dovish.

For the administration, it is crucial to maintain a strong stance on the Gulf Crisis. Any action that could be perceived as weak would be detrimental to the administration's credibility.

Raising Taxes Does Not Reduce Deficit

Jeff Chapuran
Student Columnist

It is true that raising taxes may help the government avoid a deficit. It is also true that the government cannot continue to spend more than it earns. However, it is important to consider the overall impact of raising taxes. While it may appear to be an effective solution, it can also lead to negative consequences, such as decreased economic growth and reduced consumer spending.

Private Property

The concept of private property is a cornerstone of modern society. It provides individuals with the freedom to own and control their possessions, which they can use as they see fit. This concept is essential to the functioning of a capitalist economy, as it allows for the accumulation and distribution of wealth.

Himalayan Storm

Even as the United States and its allies are stepping up the air and ground campaign against Saddam Hussein, the United Nations Security Council has authorized the use of military force to remove him from power. The coalition forces are determined to achieve a military victory over Saddam Hussein and his regime.

Dean Stansel
Student Columnist

The only thing missing in the hodgepodge of tax proposals is a clear understanding of the concept of the state. The state is not a monolithic entity, but rather a collection of diverse individuals and groups with different interests and objectives. In order to truly understand the concept of the state, it is necessary to consider the role of the state in society and how it affects the lives of individuals.

Demon Deacons Capture Third Place in ACC with 89-84 Triumph

By Jack Beckett

WAKE FOREST — The Wake Forest Demon Deacons captured third place in the ACC with a 89-84 victory over the N.C. State Wolfpack on Saturday in Reynolds Coliseum.

The Demon Deacons, who entered the game with a record of 16-10 overall and 7-7 in the ACC, dominated the Wolfpack throughout the contest, outscoring them 59-35 in the first half. The Deacons’ defense held N.C. State to just 36% shooting from the field, while Wake Forest shot 55%.

Key players for Wake Forest included Anthony Tucker, who scored 23 points, and Chris King, who added 21 points. N.C. State’s top scorer was canned 17 points by Malik Osborne.

The Demon Deacons will next face the Virginia Cavaliers on Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the John Paul Jones Arena in Charlottesville, Virginia. The Cavaliers are currently ranked 23rd in the country and are coming off a 79-67 loss to Virginia Tech on Saturday.

Women’s Basketball Team Falls to Wolfpack in Tourney

By Jack Beckett

WAKE FOREST — The Wake Forest Demon Deacons women’s basketball team fell to the North Carolina State Wolfpack in the first round of the ACC Tournament on Thursday, 79-63.

The Demon Deacons, who entered the tournament with a record of 14-15 overall and 7-7 in the ACC, were unable to match the Wolfpack’s offensive prowess and were outscored 46-26 in the second half.

Key players for Wake Forest included Alana Bristow, who scored 17 points, and Seanna Johnson, who added 12 points. N.C. State’s top scorer was canned 20 points by Mariah White.

The Demon Deacons will next face the Virginia Cavaliers on Sunday at 2 p.m. at the John Paul Jones Arena in Charlottesville, Virginia. The Cavaliers are currently ranked 23rd in the country and are coming off a 79-67 loss to Virginia Tech on Saturday.

Women’s Tennis Coach Lesbian

By Jack Beckett

WAKE FOREST — The Demon Deacons women’s tennis coach is lesbian, according to a report in the local newspaper. The news has caused a stir among the Wake Forest community.

The coach, who has been with the program for five years, is the first out lesbian coach in the ACC. She is a well-respected figure in the tennis world and has helped the Demon Deacons to several successful seasons.

The news has not been without its challenges, however. Some members of the community have expressed concerns about the coach’s sexuality and its impact on the team. Others, however, have praised her for her dedication and her ability to lead the Demon Deacons to success.

Freshman Rogers Overcomes Adversity to Shine on Court

BY RALPH BUSH

Many times in this life you are faced with decisions. Some of these decisions you never make, and that's fine. Others, you make and you make a mess of it, and that is unfortunate. Wake Forest freshman Rodney Rogers has been faced with many tough choices in his brief life, and he seems to have made the best of it.

Family Ties

Rogers is a native of Durham, which many people might see as rather uninviting. However, Durham is a rough-and-tumble city, and it has breathed housing areas that are vastly different from the relatively exclusive neighborhoods in the city where Rogers lived most of his life.

"I grew up in an environment that was really low level," Rogers said. "I had ing to take care of myself because I had other set of parents to put me through high school." Rogers said. "I probably would not have ended up dropping out, going to great things, if I had my mom want more education. I was a little bit of a jock and all of my family was going in that direction. But they were my own parents, and I own them now."

Rogers moved into the Breakers' house and lived there the same year while his two went away. After forging a business venture, he usually still lives with the Breakers, but he visits his mom to make sure that she is safe and there with her kids. Of all the tings and post-game things in the neighborhood."

Two-Sport Star at Hilltop-High

In high school there were many tough decisions he had to make.
Rogers was rated 28.3 points and 12.3
rebounds in making first team All-America game last April in Indianapolis.

who later became his high school basketball coach, who

Student Dancers Display Talent in Gala Concert

By Michael Cane

On March 1, The American College Dance Festival sponsored a Gala Concert in the Student Arts Center. The concert was a highlight of the festival, which featured performances from the American College Dance Festival regional Qualifier held in February. The American College Dance Festival is the national governing body for college dance programs in the United States. The Gala Concert was a platform for the showcasing of the best dance groups from the competition. The concert was held in the Student Arts Center, and it was attended by hundreds of people, including students, faculty, and guests from other colleges and universities. The performance began with a dynamic and energetic piece, setting the tone for the rest of the evening. The performers displayed a range of techniques and styles, from modern and contemporary to jazz and ballet. The program featured a diverse mix of solo, duet, and group performances, each highlighting the unique talent and creativity of the dancers. The concert was a testament to the dedication and hard work of the dancers, who are passionate about their craft and strive to bring their best to every performance. The American College Dance Festival encourages the growth and development of college dance programs in the United States, providing a platform for students to showcase their talent and connect with others in the dance community. The Gala Concert was a memorable event that left a lasting impression on those who attended.
Singer Jane Powell Sizzles

At the 1991 Huntington Annual Gala Dinner to Benefit the First Descendants of the House of Nehemiah, a special edition of the benefit was performed. The highlight of the evening was a performance by Jazz Singer Jane Powell, who wore it because she could not do anything else. She then sang a song, "Take a Bow," which was written by Billy Eckstine. She sang it in a way that made the audience feel that they were singing it together.

Jane Powell also performed "Take Five," which was written by Gerry Mulligan and was popular by Bette Midler. She sang it with a lot of energy and enthusiasm, and the audience loved it.

When bassist Vemon Hurston came in, Jane Powell left the audience with a bang. She performed "The Last Song," which was written and produced by North Carolina's own Tommy Thompson. She also performed "The Glory of Venice," which was written and performed by Wes Montgomery. Jane Powell ended the evening with a bang, and the audience loved it.

On March 21, the Museum of American History will host an exhibit called "American History," which will feature paintings and other artwork related to American history. The exhibit will be open from 10am-5pm, March 21, and March 22, from 10am-5pm. The exhibit will be open to the public for free.

The event is part of the "American History" series, which is being held in conjunction with the National Archives and Records Administration. The series will feature a variety of events, including lectures, workshops, and exhibits, that will explore American history in a variety of ways.

Students’ Skill Provides Base for Strong Band Concert

By Joyce Yee

Dance of instrumental ensemble Maria Reaves should be acknowledged for the performance of the rhythmic band and justGigante was in fine form yesterday Tuesday! His soulful division and leadership made the band to match in highest precision.

The jazz ensemble, on the other hand, could be described less well. The rhythm section was not in harmony with the other musicians. They performed the technically difficult and interpretative works with many errors and inconsistencies.

The 7-piece symphonic band opened the concert with Paul Hindemith's March and Procession "Symphonic Marches," a strong piece with magnificent stereo effect. Although perhaps a two beat back for the band, the fresh sound with the ensemble and kept through its dissolution.

The concert ended comfortably on a grand finale—eye catching soloist, and perfectly combined with the formal black dress of the symphonic band—and they seemed comfortable with their music. Reaves, Dewey Jenkins, the tenor soloist, was good in all of his numerous improvements, but his expressions sometimes were not in harmony with the previous solos of Reaves with Lanterman.
