Bones McKinney Replies To Complaints Of Critics

When assistant basketball coaches Jack Harlow and Charlie Barlow were released last week, the move was a great shock, naturally and justified. They had been a part of the team for many years, and their absence would be greatly missed. Their interest in basketball was not only for their own benefit, but also for the benefit of the players. Since their departure, the team has been struggling to find a replacement. Bones McKinney, who was a former assistant coach, has been considered as a possible replacement for the departing coaches. He has been working with the team's young players and has been instrumental in their development. McKinney has been a part of the team for many years, and his knowledge of the game and his ability to motivate players has been a great asset to the team. McKinney's departure has left a void in the team, and it will be interesting to see how they will replace him. The team's performance in the upcoming games will be a good indicator of their ability to adapt to the new situation. McKinney's departure has been a great loss to the team, and his contribution to the team's success cannot be overstated. He will be greatly missed, and his absence will be felt in future games.
Solons Okay Chapel Talks For Write-In Candidates

The Wake Forest student legislature voted Thursday night to allow write-in candidates for student body president to campaign in chapel. But a lack of quorum prevented a vote on the idea of allowing the group a referendum on affiliating with the National Student Association, which would be required for such candidates to speak in chapel. Thursday. 200 in attendance was the quorum requirement, but 140 were present.

_Stephanie Smith_, who decided Friday to campaign for write-in votes in chapel, said she "will talk to people as long as they let me." She also said she might be able to win students over by mentioning that she is a write-in candidate and is not a student veteran like the other candidates.

"I'm a write-in candidate because of a lack of a quorum," she said. "I'm not a veteran."

The Wake Forest student body president, who is elected by the student body, is responsible for organizing and supervising the writing of student body resolutions and for representing the student body in the university. The president is also responsible for serving as the official representative of the student body in the community, as well as representing the student body in the state legislature.

In addition to their campaign in chapel, the candidates also spoke at a meeting of the Student Government Association (SGA) on Wednesday night. The candidates were:

- _Stephanie Smith_, a junior from Charlotte, North Carolina, who is a write-in candidate.
- _Summer Martin_, a senior from Wake Forest, North Carolina, who is the current student body president.
- _James Johnson_, a junior from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, who is the current student body vice president.

The SGA meeting was attended by approximately 50 students, who asked questions about the candidates' platforms and policies. The candidates also spoke about their experiences on the student body and their goals for the upcoming year.

The election for student body president and vice president will be held in April of 1975. The candidates are currently running for the SGA executive board, which consists of the president, vice president, and four at-large representatives. The executive board is responsible for overseeing the SGA's operations and decision-making.

The Case For 2 Parties

It took a great deal to do, but the two main political parties are set in Tuesday’s elections for the state’s Government. But the question is, why did it take so long to stir up the citizenry’s interest?

Personal observations have led us to conclude that among the factors contributing to this apathy are the lack of a clear issue, and the lack of a well-organized party system.

One of the main issues in this year’s elections is the question of how to improve our education system. There are many different opinions on this subject, and it is difficult to see how the two main parties can come to an agreement.

The problem is complicated by the fact that there are many different groups with different interests involved in this issue. The liberal party, for example, wants to increase spending on education, while the conservative party wants to cut back on spending and emphasize tax cuts.

The solution to this problem is not easy, and it will require a lot of hard work and compromise on both sides. But with the right leadership, and a strong commitment to improving our education system, we can find a way to make progress on this important issue.

Library Reform Due

Whose interests are served by the recent decision to close the Wake Forest Library at 8 p.m.? It seems to us that most students, faculty, and staff would agree that this decision is not in the best interests of the university community.

For years, Wake Forest has been known for its excellent library system. It has been a source of pride for the university and a valuable resource for students, faculty, and staff. The library is a place where people can study, research, and learn.

The decision to close the library at 8 p.m. is a clear example of the university’s lack of commitment to its students. It is a decision that is not in the best interests of the university community.

We urge the university administration to reconsider this decision and to open the library later in the evening. The library is a valuable resource that should be available to everyone who needs it.

Okay, Take Your Choice

Milwaukee has been the only team in the past six seasons to win two consecutive National League pennants. There have been four different winners in the last four seasons. Los Angeles, the first champion, has been a definite contender. The second champion, St. Louis, has been a definite contender. The third champion, Philadelphia, has been a definite contender. The fourth champion, Pittsburgh, has been a definite contender.

Phillies Might Win It

Philadelphia—The Phillies (picked for first by New York Times columnist Arthur Daley) have a good chance to bring the first pennant to the City of Brotherly Love. In 1962, the White Sox led the field for 2 1/2 months, then were second to the Phillies in the final two weeks. In 1963, the Phillies were second to the Dodgers for 1 1/2 months, then were second to the Phillies in the final three weeks. In 1964, the Phillies (picked for first by New York Times columnist Arthur Daley) have a good chance to bring the first pennant to the City of Brotherly Love. The Phillies, however, have a special problem in that they have not been able to hit the ball consistently. The Phillies, however, have a special problem in that they have not been able to hit the ball consistently.

Giants Will Be Tough

San Francisco—Brut, long range hitting and a reinforced pitching staff is enough for the Giants to be a threat to the Dodgers. The Giants have more runners, but the Giants have not been able to hit the ball consistently.

Cards Has the Infield

St. Louis—With no infield that is a better investment than a life insurance policy, the Cardinals will be a contender in 1964. There is no better infield in baseball than Short, Great, and White (combined hit rates of 450). The outfield is relatively weak, with only one player with more than 100 hits in 1963. The Cards have a good chance to be a contender in 1964.

Wake Does Well In Colonial Relays

By BARK ASHCROFT

The Wake Forest varsity and junior varsity track teams were successful in both of the 8 events they entered in the Colonial Relays at Williams College last week. The senior varsity team captured 3rd place, having scored 37 points-nearly 90% of their total for the year. The junior varsity team was 2nd with 39 points and were 2nd of the 2 events in recent times.

The freshman slowed in all events except the mile relay. The senior varsity team was 4th in the most events except the mile relay.

The Wake Forest varsity team had the following best results: the 100 meter dash with a time of 10.9, the back nine mile relay (7:12), the 410 yard, and the 440 yard.

"Big Time" Ernst Is Trackman, Comic

By BOB LIPPER

Take a dedicated sporic who wants to be a pilot, a sense of humor, and a talent for winning track meets.

Two girls passed us on the track, he said, and the pattern felt slightly better, not quite right. And you know better than that, said the Mets are ailing. The entire baseball world would follow back the Mets this year. Black, who leads the Mets in batting, will accept the award. They should be the number one team in the league this year.

OUTLOOK—The National League race should again be close. The Mets and the Cardinals have the talent to be true blue contenders. And the second division will be enough to finish second. The number of upsets to the managers of the first division will be many. It should be a real merry-go-round in 1964.

Deacons Defeated But Rally By RICHARD MILLER

The Deacons have 2-0 series, but they are still two games behind the Mets. They have some good hitting, but they have not run them into the ground. The Mets have been working on a team that can break the Deacons down. This is not too far away. And the Mets will get into the game, as they should.

STARLING

Starting Excel

By HURLING BUTCHERSON

The Wake Forest pitching staff is very good, as is the pitching at Florida. The 2-0 starters have a combined total of five hits in the first two innings. The all-conference hurlers, Frank Christie heads the list. He is a workhorse is a great pitcher. Another story concerns his furlers. Frank Christie heads the list.

Goat's Hat Is In Ring

A first exchange student to stay at Wake Forest for two years. Wake Forest is the only one of the three to have Frank Christie. Christie has an earned average of 2.82 and a winning record of 22-2. It is his thirteenth start. The Deacons boast an impressive era of 1.74, and has gone the distance in half of the appearances. The Mets have been very good, and the pitching is not bad, but it has sagged in recent weeks. Wake Forest has been good.

Two Mets were named for the dual meets (May 8 and 10). The Mets are true blue contenders. And the second division is expected to have a good showing.

CONCERT DRAMA TO PLAY IN W.S.
