Cathy Woodall

The proposal recommended by special committee of the Baptist Convention is subject to approval by the General Board of Trustees and the B'aptist Winston-Salem Education subcommittee, headed by chairman James Mason.

The proposal, the fourth attempt at a compromise running from "an institution of the Convention as an institution related to the convention to make of a sort, a totally open agreement.

The recommendation was the result of negotiations between the Council on Christian Higher Education at Wake Forest University, and approved by the B'aptist Winston-Salem Education subcommittee and the General Board of Trustees.

The convention will elect the proposal from a last selected by the board of the proposal is adopted. The convention's Committee on Christian Higher Education, in its recommendation, suggests a provision for reserves to be set aside for a designated purpose.

Alumni attend special college

James Gentry

The Wake Forest Alumni College held its summer session this summer, and a large number of students enrolled. The program, which runs for six extended four-day weekends in June, allows alumni to attend classes and earn college credits at the university. The classes are open to anyone with a high school diploma or equivalent.

Scholars pursue summer projects

Michael Wiley

Opening their summer days last June, 13 Carraway scholars took up residence in the German House, which has been the site of the college’s summer program since 1977. This year, the scholars were housed in the Graylyn addition, which has been completed.

The program, which is designed to allow students to gain experience in the German language and culture, is open to both undergraduate and graduate students. The program offers a range of courses, including German language, literature, and culture.

Dr. Larry West, professor of German at Wake Forest, said, "The classes were designed to provide intellectual stimulation and to encourage students to learn more about the German culture."

The thirteen residents of the Graylyn addition, who were selected from a pool of applicants nationwide, met for a week-long orientation. Each student was expected to participate in a variety of activities, including seminars, workshops, and social events. The program also includes a trip to Germany, which is an opportunity for students to experience the German way of life firsthand.

Dr. West added, "The program is designed to be a rewarding experience for all participants. We are very pleased to have these students here, and we look forward to seeing them again next year."

Mystique launches bandwagon

Energy conservation has become an attractive goal for students that is increasingly necessary due to rising energy costs in the face of limited resources. While concrete goals have often been established, a lack of enforcement has caused some problems.

As the fall semester begins, the university should take a careful look at its energy usage. Duke Power Company sets its rates on the basis of a student's usage. If a student's usage is too high, that student will be facing a higher bill. A student's usage is measured and monitored by the physical plant.

Energy conservation is a necessity to meet the energy demands of the future. Without it, the university will find itself losing money at a rapid rate.

The story tells Elliott through the North Dallas Bulldog's week of practice for the championship game at Chicago. The camera tracks Elliott's eyes to North Dallas' head coach before the game. He is... to win the game for his overworked soul. The film plays best against the stunning nature of pro football. In... Elliott, without the 'North Dallas Party' hands... Elliott can win the game on the field, but... in the larger "game" of human manipulation by the players, coaches, front offices and the Kennedy Press.

Pro tennis needs discipline

Kevin Holmes

It never would have happened if Forest Hills never had a 1977 U.S. Open to defend its title. The defending champion, John McEnroe of the United States, had his first crack at the title at Forest Hills in New York.

Both "Salty" (American) and "Supertent!" (McEnroe) are now considered the best in their respective categories. The defending champion, John McEnroe of the United States, had his first crack at the title at Forest Hills in New York.

The court began backing up in the second round, and it was obvious that the match would be difficult to win. McEnroe had a 2-0 lead after the first set, but eventually lost.

Perhaps the most surprising thing was the way the match unfolded. McEnroe had a 2-0 lead after the first set, but eventually lost.

Ultimately, McEnroe was replaced by the umpire's chair, and the match was cancelled. The incident, the Post said, shows that "there is no need for absence of professionalism in tennis."

Pots, Walk, Taylor and Kitts are not just buildings on the present campus. They are men who played important roles in the growth of the university. Their names are inscribed permanently in the campus as they walk in those men's footsteps.

Made every four years, the trip encourages exploration of the old campus and Winston-Ferst's history.

The day is punctuated with a bus ride to Bishops Chapel for a presentation, lunch at Bishop's, and a visit to the Gail Perfection Suite.

The trip is sponsored by the Winston-Salem Foundation, its proceeds going to support student scholarships.

Casey Smith, director of residence life,men, pointed out that the new hours are consistent with the rearrangement of Police, the new women's dorm, has been completed, said Smith, who hopes the hall is approved. It will be the same as last year: 5 p.m. to midnight Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday, and 10 a.m. to midnight Sunday. The Gable area, which is next to the new dorm, will have the same hours, he said.

The new building is a $1.3 million, 10,000-square-foot facility that will house female students. The trustees were pleased with the new building, as it was a major part of the university's capital campaign.

The new building will also house the offices of the Center for Student Development, the Office of Student Financial Aid, and the Office of Residential Life.
