Cross Captures Presidency; BPOC Takes Major Offices

By GRAY LAWRENCE

The letter Politics On Campus party captured over 4,000 votes, earning Cross 5,815 and BPOC 5,809. Cross, led by Cross president, defeated Dick Leader, junior of Wayne, Pa., and "Old Gold" for the top student presidential post.

At a meeting on campus, Cross members voted to elect William Wilson, junior of Hanes, as their new president. The vote was 5,815 to 5,809 in favor of Cross. Dick Leader, junior of Wayne, Pa., was defeated for the presidency by Cross, 5,815 to 5,809.

The election was conducted in the main campus buildings by the student body and faculty members. The results were announced at a meeting of the College Union on campus.

Election Results

Cross: 5,815 votes
BPOC: 5,809 votes

Students Will Not Vote

College Union Will Choose Officers Tomorrow Night

By BARRY ROBINSON

The College Union will choose officers for the upcoming year. The meeting will be held in Reynolda Hall, starting at 9 p.m.

The College Union's constitution was changed last week to allow for the election of the officers in the spring of each year. The union is the body responsible for the selection of the officers, which includes the president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer.

Election Rules

The rules for the election are as follows:

1. All students enrolled in the College Union are eligible to vote.
2. Each student may vote for one person in each position.
3. The student with the most votes will be elected to the position.

Today's Issue

Students Utah Crisis: A Challenge To Look

By BARRY ROBINSON

The College Union has released a statement calling for a "challenge" to Utah Crisis. The statement reads:

"We feel that the College Union should take a stand against the current crisis in Utah. We feel that the College Union should work towards a solution to the crisis.

The College Union will be holding a meeting to discuss the crisis on campus. The meeting will be held in Reynolda Hall, starting at 9 p.m.

Afro-Americans Gain Official Recognition

By BARRY ROBINSON

The College Union has released a statement supporting Afro-Americans. The statement reads:

"We support the Afro-Americans in their fight for recognition. We feel that the College Union should work towards a solution to the crisis.

The College Union will be holding a meeting to discuss the crisis on campus. The meeting will be held in Reynolda Hall, starting at 9 p.m.

The Siphon

You are looking at one of the protected cisterns in the electrical communication between two divisions. This cistern is used to control the flow of electricity to different areas. The cistern is connected to the main electrical system of the building. The cistern is made of heavy metal and is insulated to prevent any heat loss. The cistern is located on the second floor of the building. The cistern is used to control the flow of electricity to different areas. The cistern is made of heavy metal and is insulated to prevent any heat loss.

Students See Improved Relationship With Administration

By PATTY ALLEN

Students have seen an improvement in their relationship with administration. This is due to the efforts of the Student Government Association (SGA), which has been working hard to improve communication between students and administrators.

The SGA has held several meetings with administration to discuss student concerns. The SGA has also been working to improve the communication between students and faculty. This has led to an increase in the number of students who feel comfortable expressing their concerns.

Administration has also been working to improve the communication between students and faculty. This has led to an increase in the number of students who feel comfortable expressing their concerns.
Coed Cars Overflow Small Parking Area

By KATHY OWEN

Women resident students have reported 150 cars or more have been parked in the small parking area of the dormitories, according to the president of the SAC. There are no immediate plans to increase the space...
WF Male Called 'Lizard, Grit, Well-Bred'
Prince Charming Does Not Exist Here

By DIANNE JONES
The Observer

The search is on for a Prince Charming. After a survey indicated that the University’s male population was in need of a good chaperone, the female administrators decided to take action. The survey revealed that many girls felt uncomfortable in certain situations and wanted someone to ensure their safety. An analysis of the results showed that the Prince Charming would need to possess qualities such as respect, kindness, and a genuine desire to help others.

Ferrante, Teicher Will Play Friday

By RALPH H. ENGLISH
The Observer

Ferrante and Teicher, the famous piano-playing duo, will be performing at 8:15 p.m. in the Student Union. This event is part of the University’s cultural program, offering students an opportunity to appreciate classical music. The duo has received critical acclaim for their unique performance style, combining elements of classical, jazz, and popular music.

Law Fraternity Elects Officers

The law fraternity’s election of officers has been completed. The new officers are President: Carleen Richter, President-Elect: Donald B. O’Neil, Vice-President: Robert B. Scott, Secretary: James D. Smith, Treasurer: John W. Johnson, and Sergeant-At-Arms: David L. Smith.

Wake Forest Forest—Defeated by System

With character?

There are three kinds of boys, said one pretty, blond, coed. "Lizard, grit, and well-bred," and it’s all of the good ones have been defeated by the system. Fraternity men definitely aren’t the only ones with a slow week. Boys here are imma.

Students interested in:

March 13, 1969

State Minority leader, John Nicholson, McElwee, the classical training of the Wake Forest players has been immaculate. They’re taught to handle the music in a certain way, and the best are taught to handle the music in a certain way. The Wake Forest Forest boys are not as skilled as the University men, but they make up for it in enthusiasm.

What a Stay-at-Home?

Updated: March 13, 1969

The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system. The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system. The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system.

The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system. The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system. The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system. The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system. The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system. The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system. The Wake Forest Forest boys are not defeated by the system. They are the boys who have been defeated by the system.
Wise Revision

Although we would not be surprised to hear some entry from certain quarters, we approve the College Union Board's recommendations in its election procedures.

The CUB selection committee will need tomorrow night to select its new officers. The post of president and secretary are the best roles to choose C.U. leaders.

C.U. is not a political organization and its officers do not necessarily need political skills. This fact has been reflected in the past in the way candidates for College Union offices have not run under the banner of a campus political party.

As a point of advice, there is little real argument for campus-wide election of C.U. officials at all. It makes more sense, as J.O. Williams pointed out, for those who know C.U. executives—whether they be elected or not—to choose the person with the necessary experience and skills.

There are inherent dangers in such a system of limited elections, however. It could be that certain constitutional revisions have adequately provided for some problems. The primary danger, and the one most students are apt to complain of, is that of C.U. officials being more touchy about their positions after all, they do get to spend a considerable portion of student time.

The new system of elections, however, is designed to strengthen rather than to decrease the influence of the C.U. Class representatives. In C.U., Class representatives will still be chosen by the present system. They will still need not already be members of C.U. These representatives will be increased by one per class, and, since the C.U. executive committee is made up of three class representatives, the number of Class representatives will increase. There will no longer be Class representatives that need to be on the majority five-whites.

The second main political danger in the new system is that of overload committees and unnecessary unity. If one were to be liberal, and took the viewpoint of the rightist student body, it would seem that such a system could be more than one could ever attain. If one wished to be liberal, but not totally at ease with the right, then there are three-cornered systems that could still be at ease. But if one is too interested in the problem, then it may be true that everyone will be completely at ease with the right.

The second main political danger in the new system is that of overload committees and unnecessary unity. If one were to be liberal, and took the viewpoint of the rightist student body, it would seem that such a system could be more than one could ever attain. If one wished to be liberal, but not totally at ease with the right, then there are three-cornered systems that could still be at ease. But if one is too interested in the problem, then it may be true that everyone will be completely at ease with the right.

The second main political danger in the new system is that of overload committees and unnecessary unity. If one were to be liberal, and took the viewpoint of the rightist student body, it would seem that such a system could be more than one could ever attain. If one wished to be liberal, but not totally at ease with the right, then there are three-cornered systems that could still be at ease. But if one is too interested in the problem, then it may be true that everyone will be completely at ease with the right.

The second main political danger in the new system is that of overload committees and unnecessary unity. If one were to be liberal, and took the viewpoint of the rightist student body, it would seem that such a system could be more than one could ever attain. If one wished to be liberal, but not totally at ease with the right, then there are three-cornered systems that could still be at ease. But if one is too interested in the problem, then it may be true that everyone will be completely at ease with the right.

The second main political danger in the new system is that of overload committees and unnecessary unity. If one were to be liberal, and took the viewpoint of the rightist student body, it would seem that such a system could be more than one could ever attain. If one wished to be liberal, but not totally at ease with the right, then there are three-cornered systems that could still be at ease. But if one is too interested in the problem, then it may be true that everyone will be completely at ease with the right.

The second main political danger in the new system is that of overload committees and unnecessary unity. If one were to be liberal, and took the viewpoint of the rightist student body, it would seem that such a system could be more than one could ever attain. If one wished to be liberal, but not totally at ease with the right, then there are three-cornered systems that could still be at ease. But if one is too interested in the problem, then it may be true that everyone will be completely at ease with the right.

The second main political danger in the new system is that of overload committees and unnecessary unity. If one were to be liberal, and took the viewpoint of the rightist student body, it would seem that such a system could be more than one could ever attain. If one wished to be liberal, but not totally at ease with the right, then there are three-cornered systems that could still be at ease. But if one is too interested in the problem, then it may be true that everyone will be completely at ease with the right.
Students See Improved Relationship With Administration

MIDDLESHI, Competence Take Turns

By CLAUDE MUSELL

The University took on a new face last week. That face was the new administration of Miss Misses Misses Raskin and Misses J. The result was a change for the better. While the new administration is not perfect, it has made some bold and important moves. Most of the issues that plagued the old administration have been addressed. Misses Raskin and Misses J have worked hard to ensure a positive change in the university. The new administration has shown a willingness to listen and respond to the needs of the student body. It is clear that the new administration is committed to improving the relationship between the university and its students. The changes that have been implemented are a step in the right direction, and it is hoped that they will continue to make progress in the future.

Double-Barrel Castling Backfires

By DOUG LEMZA

The University lost a key player when Misses Fuller of the Women's Tennis Team was injured last week. Misses Fuller is a critical player for the team, and her absence will be felt. However, the loss may not be as devastating as it seems. The team has other strong players who can step up in her absence. This could be an opportunity for the team to improve and develop their skills. The game against the rival university this weekend will be a good test for the team. The team will need to play well to have a chance of winning. It will be interesting to see how they perform.

Sleuth Film Getting Worse and Worse

By CLAYTON LEMZA

The film "Sleuth" has continued to decline in quality. While it started off as a promising adaptation of the play, it has failed to live up to the expectations. The performances of the main actors have been lackluster, and the direction has been weak. The film lacks the suspense and cleverness that made the play so famous. It is difficult to understand why the adaptation was made in the first place. It seems to be a missed opportunity. The film should have been a success, but it has fallen flat. It is a disappointment to both fans of the play and those who were looking forward to seeing the film. It is recommended to skip this one and look for something else.

Hyder Runs Unopposed For WGA Presidency

By BRANNE JONES

Betty Hyder, a junior of Raleigh, is running unopposed for the WGA presidency. She has been an active member of the WGA and has shown strong leadership qualities. Her platform emphasizes the need for better representation and more involvement from the student body. She has a clear vision for the future of the WGA and is determined to work towards achieving it. With her experience and dedication, she is well-suited to lead the WGA. The election is scheduled for next week, and it is expected to be a straightforward process. Hyder has promised to work hard to ensure a positive change in the WGA. She is looking forward to the opportunity to serve as the WGA president.

Challenge Begins To Look At Urban Crisis Thursday

By CLAYTON LEMZA

The Urban Crisis seminar series will begin Thursday with a discussion on "Race and the Policy of Segregation." The event will be held in the Student Center from 12 noon to 2 p.m. The seminar will bring together experts to discuss the historical and contemporary implications of segregation. The panel will include experts from academia and the policy-making world. The goal is to create a platform for dialogue and to encourage a deeper understanding of the issue. It is expected to be a thought-provoking event and an important step towards addressing the issue of segregation.

English Professor Receives 2 Grants

By DOUG LEMZA

Dr. Jane Brown, an English professor, has been awarded two grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities. The first grant is for a research project on the works of William Shakespeare. The second grant is for a workshop on teaching Shakespeare to high school students. These grants will enable Dr. Brown to further her research and to develop new teaching materials. The grants are significant and reflect the high regard in which Dr. Brown is held by her colleagues and the wider academic community.
Junior Will Study Abroad

Three-student speakers participated in a panel discussion with the members of the Global Studies Club. The panelists included Dr. Robert T. Meyer, Department of Sociology, and Dr. Thomas F. O'Brien Jr., associate professor of medical ethics. The panelists also discussed the implications of globalization and the role of students in promoting international understanding.

Student Tours
The National Student Travel Association (NSPA) has announced plans for students to visit a number of countries and cities. The tours will include a variety of activities, such as sightseeing, cultural experiences, and educational programs. The tours are designed to provide students with a deeper understanding of different cultures and to foster global citizenship.

Lunch And Dinner
SFRATFORD ROAD
"SPECIAL FEELING" To those participating are described:

Symbol Of Students

Take a close look, and you'll see the simple patterns of some of the most important events in your life. These symbols are based on the concept that the universe is connected and that everything is interrelated. The movie tickets and the date book illustrate the importance of events to forget and the importance of events to remember.

Two Win Circle K Auto Rally

Dionne, the son of Dionne and John, was selected as the winner of the Circle K Auto Rally. He will receive a brand new car as a prize.

COMING FROM A MENTORSHIP TO A GUIDANCE ROLE

Jeff, a senior at Northwestern University, was recently named the consultant to the Office of Student Development. He will be responsible for guiding students through the mentorship program.

Dr. William S. McCune, clinical professor of surgery at the University of Louisville, will be the special guest speaker for the seminar. The seminar will focus on the latest developments in surgery.

Celebrate Spring with Lovely Flowers from...

Long's Florist is the perfect choice for all your flower needs. From elegant bouquets to simple posies, Long's Florist has it all. Visit us today and experience the difference.

FLORA MIR CANDY

The Most Luxurious Chocolates in the World.

Flowers With Flavor Service"
Successful Season

When the North Carolina Tar Heels defeated Wake Forest in the final game of the ACC tournament, the race was essentially over for the Deacons, and it ended with twice as many wins as losses. The Deacons went to Charlotte with high hopes of winning the conference championship or at least gaining a bid to the National Invitational Tournament in New York. These hopes fell flat in the wake of a second-half Carolina comeback, but whatever was left was the spirit, determination, and boundless support by the Wake players. But it wasn't just in the ACC regular season and playing in the NIT, defeated Wake Forest.

Wake Forest beat Duke Twice during the regular season, and then lost to the Blue Devils by 82-63 in Greensboro. Third-ranked Davidson defeated Wake Forest by eight at Clark Memorial Gym in Charlotte. The second Southeastern Classic, Wake later defeated State three times before the season ended.

Throughout the season, the Wake players continually gave the game their best and the climate came in the tourney.

In the first round, the Deacons were down by five at the second half against State, and they could have easily retired, but Montgomery, who carried the Deacons onto the court and eventually saw it by eight, learned a valuable lesson. Montgomery, especially in the second half, was captain Jerry Montgomery. He led all five of his field goals in the last five minutes. In the second half, Montgomery had two of his three assists in the ACC tournament. He made 16 of 28 field goal attempts and scored 30 points in two games. If anyone ever deserved to make the all-tournament team, Montgomery did. Somewhere he made only second team.

What Montgomery did in the tournament was what Deacons fans had hoped he would do all season. After being plagued with injuries during his first two varsity seasons, Montgomery's sole acumen was the start of the season, but unfortunately, he didn't find the clock to his sincerity came later. A Wake Forest win would have made it perfect.

Against USC, Montgomery set seven of 12 shots and 12 consecutive free throws. For the tournament he hit 15 of 20 shots and 33 consecutive free throws. The team is led by a versatile Deacon, Lewis, who averages 16 points per game. Lewis has scored 25 points or more in four of the last five games. The Deacons must win at least one game in the ACC tournament to win the conference championship or at least gain a bid to the National Invitational Tournament in New York.

During the season that Wake Forest might be invited to the NIT. During the regular season and playing in the NIT, Wake Forest will be played by Bob Rhoads, Neil Pastushok, and the rest of the team. Montgomery neverQuiet on any last year's standout. Montgomery was a Dean's List student and will enter his senior year as the 11th player in the history of Wake Forest to win a championship. He was also the only Deacon to make the ACC all-tournament team.

For a buy such as Montgomery, basketball is not everything. He is also a Dean's List student and will enter next year's standout. Montgomery was a Dean's List student and will enter his senior year as the 11th player in the history of Wake Forest to win a championship. He was also the only Deacon to make the ACC all-tournament team.

The university of Virginia School of Law announces it's...

LEGAL EDUCATION OPPORTUNITY PROGRAM FOR MINORITY-GROUP STUDENTS

June 13 - July 24, 1969

Sixty college graduates interested in law careers will be awarded one-year post-baccalaureate scholarships (living and room board, legal aid) to work 30 hours per week for another semester, provided they are a member of a minority group and have completed a four-year college program. The aim of the program is to provide the graduates with the knowledge and skills necessary to succeed in law school. The program is open to students of any race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, or handicap. For further information, contact Professor Daniel L. Schuck at the office of the dean of the college of law, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Virginia 22901.
Baseballers Open Season, Play Ohio University Today

BY TOM JENNING - 1969 FEB. 15

The Dechain baseball squad has played outdoor in preparation for the forthcoming season, which begins tomorrow.

The squad began on with their first practice on Friday. In the practice there were both hitting and fielding exercises. The players also played with other teams at the practice field in town.

Large attendance of fans, including Ohio University's own baseball fans, gathered at the practice field. The players were able to score ten runs.

Next Monday and Tuesday, the baseballers will play against Ohio University. The game will be played at the practice field. Both teams are expected to put up a good showing.

The Dechain baseball squad is known for its strong hitting. In addition to their hitting, the players are also expected to show good fielding skills.

The game on Tuesday will be followed by another game on Wednesday. The players are looking forward to the upcoming season and are ready to take on any challenge that comes their way.

The Dechain baseball squad is expected to do well in the upcoming season, and fans are eagerly anticipating their performance.

---

Pirates Blanked As WF Wins Second

The Wake Forest men's tennis team continued their winning streak with a second straight blanking of the Deacon team. The Deacons failed to score a single point against the Demon Deacons.

The match was held on the Wake Forest University campus. The Demon Deacons were victorious in all three sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

The Demon Deacons, led by their star player, Richard Ashcraft, were able to dominate the Deacons throughout the match. Ashcraft was able to outplay his opponent in both singles and doubles.

The Demon Deacons are looking good for a strong season, and fans are excited to see what they will do in the upcoming matches.

---

Ashcraft Outstanding In Third Position

The Dechain baseball team continued their winning streak with a second straight blanking of the Deacon team. The Demon Deacons were victorious in all three sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

The match was held on the Wake Forest University campus. The Demon Deacons were victorious in all three sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

The Demon Deacons, led by their star player, Richard Ashcraft, were able to dominate the Deacons throughout the match. Ashcraft was able to outplay his opponent in both singles and doubles.

The Demon Deacons are looking good for a strong season, and fans are excited to see what they will do in the upcoming matches.

---

Walker Innocent

The Wake Forest men's tennis team continued their winning streak with a second straight blanking of the Deacon team. The Demon Deacons were victorious in all three sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

The match was held on the Wake Forest University campus. The Demon Deacons were victorious in all three sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

The Demon Deacons, led by their star player, Richard Ashcraft, were able to dominate the Deacons throughout the match. Ashcraft was able to outplay his opponent in both singles and doubles.

The Demon Deacons are looking good for a strong season, and fans are excited to see what they will do in the upcoming matches.

---

The CASTAWAY CLUB

Of Greensboro, N.C.
WELCOMES ALL WAKE WOOD STUDENTS!

Thursday, March 20

LADIES' NIGHT

MUSIC BY

Inmen, Ltd.
Friday, March 21

MUSIC BY

Collegiates

Saturday, March 22

MUSIC BY

The Fabulous Affairs

MUSIC BY

The Original Drifters

---

Challenge '69

Paperback Titles For Timely Challenge Reading

1. "HABIT," Blaine M. Thomas, 1968. 80c

2. "THE ALIEN DIMENSION," Aladdin, 1968. 95c

4. "ATOMIC WEAPONS," Aladdin, 1968. 95c

5. "THE CHALLENGE," Aladdin, 1968. 95c

6. "THE CHALLENGE TO MAN," Aladdin, 1968. 95c

---

SNEAK SHOP Special

40c

Snack Shop

Banana Split

---

The MANCHILD

In BLACK AND WHITE,

BEATLES,

THE PROMISED LAND, Brown . . . $9.50

THE REALITIES

MANCHILD

URBAN AMERICA

GREEN

BLACK AND WHITE,

THE PROMISED LAND, Brown . . . $9.50

THE REALITIES

MANCHILD

URBAN AMERICA