Revival Offers Opportunity To Focus On Spiritual Life

BY Lacji ROGR

The Student Government received approval from the student legislature for the $100,000 budget in the SG meeting Tuesday night. The adoption of the budget is the result of the work of the Student Budget Advisory Committee.

The SG is responsible for the allocation of a portion of tuition money to Wake Forest University. The committee makes its work under the leadership of SG Treasurer Steve Hayashi, associate minister of Wake Forest Baptist Church and the University Chaplain's office, will be led by Stephen Schneider and begins Monday with a 7 p.m. worship service in Wait Chapel.

During the meeting, students and a professor have been placing the focus of the revival. Student members of the committee are Wake Forest University Worship Service, Wake Forest Baptist Church, and the Wake Forest University Student Government. The staff also has two or three members.

The Gewandhaus Orchestra of Leipzig performed in Wait Chapel last night. The program included selections from Mendelssohn, Schumann and Brahms. See Review, Page 10.

Students Seek Explanation For Fall Tuition Increase

BY CHRISTA SAYL

A group of students met with the president of the Student Government. The group was led by President Thomas C. Hearn Jr. for the meeting.

The group was led by President Thomas C. Hearn Jr. President H. H. Hart Jr. and the Student Government was to discuss the increase in tuition for the current academic year.

The president, H. H. Hart Jr. was able to answer the questions and concerns of the students. He stated that the increase was necessary for the operation of the university. He also mentioned that the increase was in line with the inflation rate.

The students were able to gain a better understanding of the reasons for the tuition increase. They were able to express their concerns and have their questions answered.

TEN YEARS AGO
Campus Drug Use Overlooked
By MARK LEUCHTENBERGER

Drug use at Wake Forest apparently is handled by university and local authorities with a policy of student indifference. A brief investigation by the Old Gold and Black this week showed that the use of drugs on campus, especially marijuana, is common. No student reported encountering any reference of drug regulations in any of the university's publications, and no one had been arrested for drug offenses.

Marijuana is by far the most widely used drug. Based on interviews of students, it is estimated that 12% or 20 per cent of male students have used marijuana once or twice a week.

The percentage of women users was more difficult to estimate, but there were 60 or more respondents according to one woman. Use is restricted to homes and was noted in the social programs of students.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Faculty Approves Resolution to Direct Immediate Desegregation

In a historic meeting last Monday, the Wake Forest faculty passed a resolution that may lead to the immediate desegregation of the College.

The vote was prompted by the report of a faculty committee that had been investigating the possibilities of integration, and by the fact of several students having African prep school graduates.

The final decision on College policy must come from the board of trustees, which does not meet again until April 10.

And the final decision on the application of the African student is left to the board. Whether they will proceed no action until the policy is clarified.

Shively Speaks On Advertising Success

By EMILY MESSER

Last week, Wake Forest students were given the opportunity to gain insight into one of the most profitable fields in the world of advertising.

A high-powered veteran of advertising, McCann-Erickson and brother of Buckhead School of Business, delivered a lecture to 80 students and professors on the topic of communications management.

McCann focused on three aspects of advertising which truly lead to the successful execution of plan goods produced.

Students and faculty will have the opportunity to contribute their ideas for the future physical construction of the Wake Forest Reproduction site when the Master Planning Subcommittee holds open hearings March 20 and March 23 in DeTamble Auditorium. The first public hearing is a subcommittee of the Capital Planning Committee and the second scheduled closed hearings Wednesday, March 26, in Rooms 103 and 104. Meetings are scheduled for one hour, after which students, faculty and alumni were invited to speak. "The students' opinion is vital," sophomore Claire Ball said. She and her peers are the student representatives on the subcommittee. "We are not just being political, we really want to hear the students' viewpoints."

They are the major users of the campus.

The open hearings will give community members the chance to voice views on the issues that the committee will be considering at the University Master Plan, to be completed by Rapson's Brown bridge. American Institute of Architects, the physical approaches of the Reproduction site, the location of university buildings, traffic and parking problems, environmental studies and several broad, long term, Wake Forest's relationship with the community (public roads, transportation, etc.) and the use of faculty apartments.

Type and location of future buildings being discussed includes the commercial university center, academic buildings and graduate school facilities. Ball stressed that the committees are not yet decided on any definite proposals.
10 Percent Solution

The controversy over the tuition hike involves much more than money; it is crucial to the student-organization communication. Wake Forest's purposes and the planning steps involve formulation of a cils. These councils have been and the student luncheons criticism, then why does this issue cry is just to be heard?

start: the administration must dorms like answered.

university's smallness and prove its selectivity. does not have the capacity to sities in the areas of graduate and professional programs. go to much to the other would be a more just situation, more mature that student do think they have examples of how well the prominent to locate people, make these points not as a party: but as a music show. If you are of terror. By penetrating into that area, by starting the administration must constitute a group of people when planning a cost in, the proposed and purposes must focus on improving the scope of Wake Forest - a small not網絡ing arts liberal programs. Growth must not be confine to the usual means of spending money on new things like South Hall. Wake Forest needs to tilt the size of the student body. If the number is already fixed, then

A Positive Step

Now that the latest survey has an devastation has been distributed and counted, there is not enough time for a next change in the policy in the all but guaranteed. The next few weeks or months are blocks of time to submit to the administration, to the student body. In these pages student opinion is most important, since the matter is in student hands. We must let your representatives in the legislature know how you feel.

This change in visitation hours is significant because it could lead to further expansion on the main campus.

Letters to the Editor

The Unjustified Accusations Against Societies

I am writing in response to the article "Old and Black" that appeared in the March 2 issue of the DFA. In response to the writer's criticism of the selective policies and lack of opportunities that have led to this race's perception as "old and black," I would like to address some of the points raised in the article.

First of all, it is important to recognize the historical context of the selective policies and lack of opportunities that have led to this race's perception as "old and black." In the past, there has been a lack of diversity in leadership positions and a lack of opportunities for students of color to participate in extracurricular activities and organizations.

Secondly, it is important to understand the systemic barriers that have contributed to this perception. The lack of diversity in leadership positions and the lack of opportunities for students of color to participate in extracurricular activities and organizations have resulted in a perception of "old and black." This perception is not just a reflection of the current state of affairs, but also a reflection of the historical context.

Further, it is important to recognize the systemic barriers that have contributed to this perception. The lack of diversity in leadership positions and the lack of opportunities for students of color to participate in extracurricular activities and organizations have resulted in a perception of "old and black." This perception is not just a reflection of the current state of affairs, but also a reflection of the historical context.

I hope to address these concerns in a constructive manner and work towards creating a more inclusive and diverse campus environment for all students.

Sincerely,

The writer is a sophomore.

The Parking Lot Terrorism

A startling discovery has been made concerning the problem of parking on the south end of the Wake Forest University campus. As remarkable as it seems, the on-campus Student Union Parking Garage is located not on the Wake Forest campus, but rather in the Winston-Salem city limits. When questioned about the source of this information, Mr. Schneider, Director of Student Services, responded that he had received several reports from faculty members who had been unable to find parking on the south end of the campus.

Mr. Schneider notes that the problem is largely due to the high demand for parking spaces. He notes that the Student Union Garage is located in an area where there is a high concentration of students, making it difficult to find a parking space. To address this issue, Mr. Schneider is considering implementing a new parking system that will allow students to reserve parking spaces in advance.

We will discontinue Clift notes when students stop buying them.

Mr. Madison assures us that the decision in the number of poetry titles they carry to 10 in 10 month and years has not been reached. After all, to our knowledge, this is the first time in the Wake Forest Publishing program that our poetry titles have been discontinued.

Mr. Schuh, Director of the Student Publishing program, states that the decision to discontinue Clift notes was made due to the low demand for the titles. He notes that the titles were not selling well, despite the efforts of the student editors to market them.

"We will discontinue Clift notes when students stop buying them," Mr. Schuh assured us. "Our goal is to ensure that our students have access to the best possible educational materials, and we believe that discontinuing these titles is necessary to achieve this goal."

Mr. Madison notes that the decision was made after careful consideration of the potential impact on the Sage Cinema's bottom line. He notes that the Sage Cinema is a popular venue for students to attend movies and events, and that discontinuing Clift notes would have a negative impact on the cinema's revenue.

"We have always been committed to providing our students with the best possible educational resources, and we believe that discontinuing Clift notes is necessary to achieve this goal," Mr. Madison assured us. "We will continue to work with our students to provide them with the resources they need to succeed, and we will always be mindful of the impact that our decisions have on our students."
Gewandhaus Gives Performance
Concert by German Orchestra Ranks Among Year’s Best

By ED BONANSKE
A few hours ago, the Gewandhaus Orchestra of Leipzig gave an impressive performance of nineteenth-century music.

The concert was part of the Gewandhaus Orchestra’s tour of the United States, which includes performances in Washington, D.C., Boston, and New York’s Avery Fisher Hall. For the second part of a two-part review of this concert, the orchestra performed a program of nineteenth-century music.

The music included on the program provided a collection of powerful and thoughtful works that allowed the musicians to display their skills in both orchestral and chamber music.

Gewandhaus Orchestra

The Gewandhaus Orchestra is known for its rich history, having been founded in the early nineteenth century. The orchestra is renowned for its highly skilled musicians and its commitment to performing a wide range of music genres.

The orchestra performed under the direction of Robert Spano, who is highly recognized for his ability to make the music come alive. The Gewandhaus Orchestra made this visit to the United States for the first time in over a decade.

The music included in the concert was a celebration of nineteenth-century German works.

Under the direction of Robert Spano, the Gewandhaus Orchestra of Leipzig gave an impressive performance of nineteenth-century music.

The Gewandhaus Orchestra’s performance was well-received by both music critics and audience members.

The orchestra’s musicians displayed a high level of skill and technique, bringing the music to life in a way that captured the imagination of the audience.

The concert was a memorable experience, providing a unique opportunity to hear the Gewandhaus Orchestra perform in the United States.

University Gallery

University Gallery, Homestudy materials constantly change. In Friday night, the tour guide pointed out the hair of the artist. She, Martine, had to master a Jewish New York woman who has been best friends for a year. The music included on the concert was a selection of unusual summer pastimes, the artist revealed her penchant for using the mirror curtain wall of a neighboring building.

The images captured by Martine were that abounds in this exquisitely finished piece: the adagio and measure your sex appeal on this love meter. An intimate, quiet piece, ‘Cold Tub’ is built around the hair of a large in Bonn, her sister, referred to as "Stella".

The tenth annual Wake Forest University Art Festival will take place in the College Art Center on Saturday at 5 pm. This is a year-end event at Wake Forest, which is the culmination of the year and includes performances by student and faculty musicians and artists.

The festival features a variety of music genres, including chamber music, popular music, and jazz. There will be opportunities for attendees to purchase tickets online or at the door.

The legendary water bird, the loon, is the focal point of her two pencil drawings. "Pike Lake - Longbranch No. 1" is a fascinating shadow study. There are seen the three-quarter length shadows of a couple walking along the shore. They suddenly stop and listen to music in their path. Deacon Club Supports Atlantic Coast Conference

By JADIN D. WRIGHT
Staff Writer

It is common knowledge that college athletics generate money for universities. This money can be used for many purposes, but it also contributes to the cost of attendance for students. The Deacon Club is one of these organizations.

During their national travels, the Deacon Club members promote Wake Forest athletics and support their team. The club is open to all students, faculty, and staff who want to be involved.

The annual fee for membership is $35, and it supports various activities such as the student-athlete mentorship program, facilities upgrades, and travel costs for the team. Membership benefits include discounts on events, the opportunity to meet players, and a chance to attend exclusive events.

The Deacon Club is an essential part of the Wake Forest community, and it is a great way for students to get involved and support their favorite team. If you are interested in joining, you can visit the website or contact the club for more information.

Football Notes

Winston-Salem State University announced Monday that former Deacon St. John's head football coach Mike Golden, who has the nation's best record for a 2nd-year head coach, has been named the new head coach of the Deacons. Golden, who compiled a 15-3 record in his two seasons as head coach at St. John's, will bring a wealth of experience and a strong offensive philosophy to the Deacons. He has spent the last four seasons as an offensive coordinator at the University of Virginia and has also served as an assistant coach at Temple and Temple University.

Intramurals

WAKE FOREST HEAD football coach Al Groh announced the signing of 14 new players for the upcoming season. The group includes 12 offensive and two defensive players, and will bolster the Deacons' roster as they prepare for the 1982 campaign. Groh said the signing period is critical for building a strong team for the future.

Golfer's Take Third At Hilton Head Match

By COLLIN KOONZ

The nationally second-ranked Wake Forest men's team opened the 1982 spring season with a second-place finish in the Hilton Head Intercolleget Tournament Saturday-Sunday at Hilton Head, S.C.

The Deacons scored 156 in the first round and 150 in the final for a two-round score of 306. Texas, which recorded a total of 290, won the title by two strokes over Wake Forest for second place by virtue of the score of the lowest-lossing teams of David Dean, Ben Hackett and Rick Allen.

Wake Forest entered the tournament with a 54-hole score of 369 to place seventh. The event was the first ever for the Deacons, who finished fourth, North Carolina State, fifth, Maryland, sixth, and Georgia, who tied for eight.

"I was disappointed in not winning," said veteran golfer Jesse Dotson, "but I respect the teams that did win.

In the intramural sports, the Wake Forest men's basketball team is in complete control as they romp through the schedule. After an early season loss, they have dominated their opponents, with a record of 9-1. They have a reliable defense and an efficient offense, making it difficult for any team to defeat them. The Wake Forest women's tennis team has also been successful, with a record of 7-2. They have been playing with confidence and precision, putting up strong performances against their opponents.

Deacon News

A tough weekend for Wake Forest's women's tennis team as they dropped three straight matches. But we're looking forward to their next competition against Penn State in New Jersey this weekend. The Deacons also played well in the NCAA Championships at the Rose Bowl. Everything is in favor this spring and we're proud of them."

"We didn't come out with fire in our eyes," said Sanchez. "We've been getting better each day, but we left too many points on the table. Also, we weren't consistent." Opportunities came and went on our court," he said.

The first five minutes of the game were tightly contested, with the Wake Forest lead at 35-33, after which the Blue Devils were outscored 19-8 lead with 13:12 left in the half.

The Tigers pushed their lead to 42-30, then an all out straight points to run the score to 4:17 lead with 10:00 remaining.

Wake Forest scored the final 20 points of the game to put the game at intermission 47-20.

Saturday, Chris Ponder, senior, scored 11 unanswered points, six (36 percent), and shot 25 for 61 for the 15:58 mark. Wake Forest provided by Deacon turnovers, to the game (41 percent). The Blue Devils held leads one minute with 12:00 left.

"We defended solidly, said Sanchez. "Opponents can't out shoot us in our territory.""1.

Arizona's Mark Sanders played in 14 points and pulled down 17 of 18 rebounds in the second half to lead thunderous Duke. Mark Sanders was finished in five first half points as the Blue Devils held a slim 15-10 lead at the 10 minute mark. In the final 20 minutes, however, Wake Forest scored on numerous jump shots and inside the paint, and pulled the game to a seven-point lead by the 6:00 mark expansion of a 30:20 lead to 4:33:00 length.

The Deacons went again favored by poor shooting, especially in the first half. The Blue Devils led 13 at the 10:30 mark, which was the biggest lead of the first half.

Thriller

"FX" Is Thoroughly Exciting

By STEVE LAMASTRA
Staff Writer

It is rare to find a suspense thriller which is so entertaining and as full of uncertainty as Robert Mulligan's "FX," which is effective enough in the service of special effects. This is a film which is thoroughly cut from start to finish and which may enable new life into a genre which is becoming increasingly fatigued in films which are too contained or on short pins.

Ryan Brown ("Three Days") fans can rest at ease. selfie director William Friedkin, who is one of the most successful directors of the past decade with "At the Sign of the Buck", "The French Connection" and "The Last Picture Show" has given us another compelling film with "FX." The film is about a group of criminals who are being chased by a mysterious man who is always one step ahead of the police.

By the end of the film, the criminals are forced to confront their pasts and come to terms with their own guilt and regret. The film is a masterclass in suspense and tension, and Friedkin's direction is both precise and masterful. The acting is top-notch, with Brown giving a performance that is both powerful and nuanced.

"FX" is a film that will keep you on the edge of your seat throughout its entire duration. It is a film that will have you guessing until the very end, and it is a film that is sure to leave you with a sense of unease and suspense that will stay with you long after the credits have rolled.

The film is not without its flaws. The special effects are often too obvious, and the film's pace can be uneven at times. But these are minor quibbles compared to the film's overall impact. "FX" is a film that will resonate with audiences for years to come.
STUDENT GOVERNMENT

NOTICE

If you were not selected in a stratified random sample of on-campus students to participate in the intervisitation survey, you now have an opportunity to express your opinion.

Results of the surveys which were distributed in the residence halls and those which will be in the SG office will be tabulated separately.

If you have any questions, contact the student government office at 761-5293 or campus life committee chairperson Claire Ball at 761-5691.
