Feasible Solution Is Repeated For Football Seating Plan

A solution to one of Wake Forest's most perplexing problems has been found.

Dave Topolski, chairman of a committee of three appointed by the president to study the problem, has come up with a plan that could go into effect this football season.

The plan provides for one of the student veteran squads to be assigned to any section to which the students will like it.

Smashing Affair Hits Rollins' Pocketbook

By ADRIAN RING

Rollins' first dance of the year, scheduled for Saturday night at 9 p.m., was a smashing success.

The ballroom was packed and the crowd was enthusiastic.

Two hundred and fifty dollars was the total take for the dance.

There were about fifty couples present.

Enrollment Sets Record of 2,853

More students than ever before have enrolled this fall at Wake Forest College.

The total enrollment is 2,853 students, an increase of 103 over last year.

The increase is due to an increase in both undergraduate and graduate students.

F. Lee Bailey, president of the college, said, "We are very pleased with the increase in enrollment. It is a reflection of the College's continued growth and success."
Frosh Are Introduced To College Life

By Jim McDermott

The Class of 1968 officially began its year by marching into the dome of the Student Union on Monday night, Sept. 17, 4:15 P.M., and carrying with them the spirit and enthusiasm of the Class of 1967. The Frosh were introduced to the traditions and expectations of college life.

The march was followed by a reception at the Student Union, where the Frosh were welcomed by members of the college administration and faculty. The reception was held in the Student Union Center, and was attended by the entire class of 1968.

College Institutes New System; Frosh Boys Greet 'Big Brother'

By JIM BARTON

New guys and girls are walking around campus with something new that has never been seen before. This is the new "Big Brother" system. Originally this was a scheme for keeping frosh from going "crazy" their first year, and for keeping allergy, eye, and hearing students out of trouble. This year it is also being used as a form of "Big Brother" system.

The program was initiated by the freshman class officers that the idea of having an older student to work with each of the new students would make it easier for them to adjust to college life. The idea is to have a "Big Brother" assigned to each frosh, and also to have a "Big Sister" assigned to each of the new female students.

The "Big Brother" system is being used in many colleges throughout the country, and it is expected that it will be a success at Wake Forest.

"The thing we intend to do is make it easier for the freshmen to get along with each other and to adjust to college life," said John R. Barbee, "for which purpose the Big Brother program was established."

The Enrollment Boom

By ED CHRISTIAN

Four scores and twenty years ago, a guns armed Watene State College, Bernard, Adams and others, in the midst of a historical school of 2,500 students, gained a new life. The enrollment boom, which started a century ago, has continued to this day. The university is currently home to more than 30,000 students, making it one of the largest universities in the United States.

The university's growth has been fueled by a number of factors, including the increasing demand for higher education, the expansion of the economy, and the rise of technology. The university has also been successful in attracting students from a wide range of backgrounds, and has expanded its offerings to meet the needs of its diverse student body.

The university's growth has also been marked by a number of challenges, including the competition for students, the need to attract and retain faculty, and the pressure to maintain high standards of academic excellence. Despite these challenges, the university has continued to thrive, and has established itself as a leader in higher education.

The university's future is bright, and it is poised to continue its growth and success in the years to come. With its rich history and traditions, and its commitment to excellence, the university is well-positioned to meet the needs of its students and the world.

The Barnyard College

By JULIO RIOS

The Barnyard College is a unique institution located in the heart of the city. It is known for its innovative approach to education, and its focus on interdisciplinary studies. The college offers a wide range of programs, including liberal arts, business, and engineering, and is home to a diverse student body.

The Barnyard College is committed to preparing students for success in the 21st century. Its faculty and staff are dedicated to providing a high-quality education, and the college has a strong track record of producing graduates who are well-prepared for success in their careers.

The Barnyard College is open to all students, regardless of background or experience. Whether you are a traditional student or a non-traditional student, the college offers a range of options to help you achieve your goals.

The Barnyard College is a place where you can explore your interests, challenge yourself, and grow as a person. It is a community of scholars, where you can learn from the best and become part of something special.

Program is Outlined By Chapel Committee

The Chapel Committee is responsible for planning and overseeing the activities of the college's chapel. The committee meets regularly to discuss the schedule of services, the selection of music, and other matters related to the chapel.

The committee is made up of students, faculty, and staff, and is chaired by the assistant chaplain. The committee's goal is to provide a space for students to come together and reflect on their faith, and to offer a place for worship and prayer.

The Chapel Committee is also responsible for organizing special events and programs, such as guest speakers, concerts, and community service projects. These events are designed to bring students together and to strengthen the college community.

The Chapel Committee is committed to providing a welcoming and inclusive environment for all students, and it is dedicated to fostering a sense of community and belonging.

OFF-BEAT

By BRUCE BACH

Off-beat is the student newspaper of Watene State College, and it is dedicated to providing a voice for the college community. The newspaper covers a wide range of topics, including news, features, and opinion pieces.

The newspaper is published weekly, and it is available online and in print. It is distributed to students, faculty, and staff, and it is also available to the public.

The newspaper is run by a team of students, who are responsible for writing, editing, and design. The newspaper is an opportunity for students to develop their writing and communication skills, and it is a platform for students to express their ideas and perspectives.

The newspaper is committed to providing a diverse and inclusive voice for the college community, and it strives to cover a wide range of topics and perspectives.

The newspaper is open to all students, and it welcomes contributions from anyone with an interest in writing or publishing. The newspaper is an opportunity for students to get involved in the college community and to make a difference in the lives of their peers.
First Stage Reached In College Expansion

By CHARLES OOLIN
Wake Forest's expansive growth has reached the first stage in its fulfillment with the completion of the Life Sciences Building and one wing of the new women's dormitory.

The Life Sciences building, on which construction was halted in April of 1959, will be opened soon, Dr. Charles E. Ford, dean of Wake Forest College, announced.

Opening ceremonies will be held on Sept. 29. Although the completion of the university's $1,880,000 project was held up last fall, the building will be ready in time for the student body to be on hand for the dedication.

The building will house the health sciences department on the Charles E. Randolph Floor. The building will accommodate medical, dental, veterinary and pharmaceutical schools.

The dedication will be followed by the opening of the women's dormitory.

Registration Finished Despite Registration

BY RAY SOUTHDAN
Registration, that process which students are forced through, has stepped this fall into the realm of the rational.

Students are expected to make the best of their four years of college life and thus it is important for them to register.

Most of the activity amounting toward the registration was a result of the students' desire to complete the necessary requirements for graduation.

The registration process was handled by the registrar and his assistants. The registrar is responsible for the overall process and is assisted by his assistants who work in the registrar's office.

By the time registration is completed, the students will have had all their classes scheduled.

Biography Studies Provide Material for Honors Classes

Students who wish to study the history of the university may consider the study of the university's history a meaningful way to complete their requirements for graduation.

During the fall semester, the university will offer courses in the history of the university.

These courses will be taught by Prof. R. C. Smith, who has been appointed to teach the history of the university.

The courses will cover the history of the university, from its founding in 1838 to the present day.

Faculty Increases By 13

Tribble Lists Appointees

President's appointment to the Wake Forest College faculty have been announced by President Donald W. Tribble.

The appointments reflect the increase of 13 in total faculty strength, mostly because of the number of faculty who have moved to other positions within the College. The other new teachers, researchers, and veterinarians who have joined us are from various university and professional backgrounds.

The new teachers are members of the College's faculty, and are in the departments of biology, chemistry, history, mathematics, and physics. They each have modern languages and education, and are in the departments of psychology, religion, physical education, political science, government, philosophy, and the School of Business.

Dr. Robert H. Dubert

The new associate professor in the Department of Psychology, Dr. Robert H. Dubert, has been appointed to the faculty of Wake Forest College. Dr. Dubert received his B.A. from Duke University in 1957, and his M.A. from Harvard University in 1959. Dr. Dubert has taught for the past three years at Wake Forest College.

Dr. Dubert has taught in the Department of Psychology at the University of Virginia since 1957. He has taught in courses such as "Psychology of Behavior" and "History of Psychology." Dr. Dubert is currently teaching classes in the field of personality and social psychology.

Dr. Jennifer L. Johnson

The new associate professor in the Department of History, Dr. Jennifer L. Johnson, has been appointed to the faculty of Wake Forest College. Dr. Johnson received her B.A. from Wake Forest College in 1970, and her M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Virginia in 1972 and 1975, respectively. Dr. Johnson has taught for the past three years at Wake Forest College.

Dr. Johnson has taught in courses such as "American History" and "The History of the United States." Dr. Johnson is currently teaching classes in the field of American history.

Dr. James A. Smith

The new associate professor in the Department of Mathematics, Dr. James A. Smith, has been appointed to the faculty of Wake Forest College. Dr. Smith received his B.S. from the University of North Carolina in 1970, and his M.S. and Ph.D. from Duke University in 1971 and 1974, respectively. Dr. Smith has taught for the past three years at Wake Forest College.

Dr. Smith has taught in courses such as "Calculus" and "Linear Algebra." Dr. Smith is currently teaching classes in the field of mathematics.

Dr. Barbara E. Stearns

The new associate professor in the Department of Political Science, Dr. Barbara E. Stearns, has been appointed to the faculty of Wake Forest College. Dr. Stearns received her B.A. from Wake Forest College in 1970, and her M.A. and Ph.D. from Duke University in 1972 and 1975, respectively. Dr. Stearns has taught for the past three years at Wake Forest College.

Dr. Stearns has taught in courses such as "American Government" and "Comparative Politics." Dr. Stearns is currently teaching classes in the field of political science.

Dr. Richard L. Thomas

Career Cues

Cure for job boredom: I made my favorite pastime my career.

Robert Bertran, President

Berton Yacht Co., Division of Nautec Corp.

"With the right attitude, the percent of my total weekly hours is spent reading, listening, you realize how much I enjoy it for what it is. The primary goal is to become a better coach.

Besides trying away late, I reduce chances of success to just about zero. I know ... because it almost happened to me.

After college I did what I thought was neat, and joined a social, Manhattan-based insurance firm. I soon found office routine wasn't for me.

And of course the financial rewards way beyond the financial security it has also provided.

The manner's obvious. You have an escrow chance for success and happiness working at what you enjoy most - what comes naturally. And if it's not just frivolous; your life's work could be just a pastime. It's certainly worth thinking about, anyway!
