SG legislature discusses houses changes, Fall Break plan

BY MAE MAXWELL

Housing changes, including Elif Bashey's second change from a women's dorm to a co-ed dorm, and a revised lottery system, were unveiled at Tuesday's Student Government legislature meeting.

Bashey, the residence director, said the changes were made to accommodate demands for more diversity in hall life and housing. She said they came from a survey conducted from 2000 to 2005. Those students determine where each student must live to ensure fairness. Students who live with other students, they form and create a group, and students who are single, spend money on the same, three or four rooms, respectively.

According to Joyce Batts, the university's observer on the SLIB Advisory Board, in this year's lottery, the highest number is a block of students determined Women's Awareness Week. This biological difference, coupled with the economics of the situation, is what makes the difference between a room draw and a lottery draw, said Emerick.

Bashey said students will be able to draw for a room if they are $200 over in the lottery, but this is not the process to complete the lottery. Students who are $200 over will be able to take part in the lottery process, where they will be able to take part in the lottery process, as well.

WIN session addresses women, AIDs

BY JENNIFER PROVELLE

Contact Jennifer Provelle

The number of AIDS cases in the South is growing, but among minority women it is in the teens and early twenties than in other demographic groups, Cathy Burnham of the Win- ston-Salem Aids Project (WSP) said Tuesday night.

WSP is a non-profit organization that runs the Women and AIDS Project, which offers services to women with AIDs, including education and treatment. The organization's services are free to anyone with HIV/AIDS.

The most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said.

WIN session addresses women, AIDs

BY JENNIFER PROVELLE

Contact Jennifer Provelle

The number of AIDS cases in the South is growing, but among minority women it is in the teens and early twenties than in other demographic groups, Cathy Burnham of the Win- ston-Salem Aids Project (WSP) said Tuesday night.

WSP is a non-profit organization that runs the Women and AIDS Project, which offers services to women with AIDs, including education and treatment. The organization's services are free to anyone with HIV/AIDS.

The most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said.

WIN session addresses women, AIDs

BY JENNIFER PROVELLE

Contact Jennifer Provelle

The number of AIDS cases in the South is growing, but among minority women it is in the teens and early twenties than in other demographic groups, Cathy Burnham of the Win- ston-Salem Aids Project (WSP) said Tuesday night.

WSP is a non-profit organization that runs the Women and AIDS Project, which offers services to women with AIDs, including education and treatment. The organization's services are free to anyone with HIV/AIDS.

The most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said.

WIN session addresses women, AIDs

BY JENNIFER PROVELLE

Contact Jennifer Provelle

The number of AIDS cases in the South is growing, but among minority women it is in the teens and early twenties than in other demographic groups, Cathy Burnham of the Win- ston-Salem Aids Project (WSP) said Tuesday night.

WSP is a non-profit organization that runs the Women and AIDS Project, which offers services to women with AIDs, including education and treatment. The organization's services are free to anyone with HIV/AIDS.

The most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said.

WIN session addresses women, AIDs

BY JENNIFER PROVELLE

Contact Jennifer Provelle

The number of AIDS cases in the South is growing, but among minority women it is in the teens and early twenties than in other demographic groups, Cathy Burnham of the Win- ston-Salem Aids Project (WSP) said Tuesday night.

WSP is a non-profit organization that runs the Women and AIDS Project, which offers services to women with AIDs, including education and treatment. The organization's services are free to anyone with HIV/AIDS.

The most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said.

WIN session addresses women, AIDs

BY JENNIFER PROVELLE

Contact Jennifer Provelle

The number of AIDS cases in the South is growing, but among minority women it is in the teens and early twenties than in other demographic groups, Cathy Burnham of the Win- ston-Salem Aids Project (WSP) said Tuesday night.

WSP is a non-profit organization that runs the Women and AIDS Project, which offers services to women with AIDs, including education and treatment. The organization's services are free to anyone with HIV/AIDS.

The most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said. She said the most important factor contributing to this epidemic is "the need for women to feel free to express their feelings," Burnham said.
Local women to take part in heart disease study

More than 100 women from Forsyth County and close neighbors are participating in the Heart and Hormone Study. Researchers at the Bowman Gray campus of Wake Forest University Baptist Health Care have received a $2.5 million grant from the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute to conduct the study, which is one of 12 similar projects in the United States and Canada.

The study is expected to continue for four years and will be conducted at the Bowman Gray campus.

Participants will be followed for three years, and the study will include a follow-up visit to determine if there are any complications.

The study is expected to begin in the spring.

Group to improve area race relations

Only a few more days

The council on international educational experience will sponsor a week-long trip to Europe in May to give students a chance to see firsthand the culture of the region.

The trip, which is being sponsored by the department of politics and government at the university, will include visits to several European countries, including France, Italy, and Spain.

Participants will be able to participate in activities such as art exhibits, music performances, and cultural events.

The trip will begin on May 18 and end on May 24, and is open to all students interested in learning about the culture and history of Europe.

Gay writer addresses conundrum of church, homosexuals

By Brian J. Runnels

The activity database against ranks sixth in the nation on the variety of death and disease factors, according to the National Cancer Institute's Surveillance, Epidemiology, and End Results program.

The database is one of the largest in the world and is used by researchers worldwide.

The database includes information on more than 8 million cancer deaths and 3.5 million cancer cases.

The database is updated quarterly and includes data on cancer incidence and mortality.

The database is also used by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to monitor cancer trends and conduct cancer epidemiology research.

The database is available to researchers through a secure online system and can be accessed for free.

The database is updated quarterly and includes data on cancer incidence and mortality.
Tattoo Joe impresses students with wide variety of talents

By Mike Johnson

Tattoo Joe Crosson got the attention of the students and faculty of the Winston-Salem State University campus Wednesday when he showed them his skills.

During the course of his demonstration, Joe not only tattooed a student’s back, but painted her nails as well.

Students were amazed at the tattoo artist’s abilities, which included drawing with his teeth, painting with his eyes, and even working with his knees.

After completing his work, Joe spoke with the students about his experiences and the process of tattooing. He explained that he had been tattooing for over 15 years and had traveled the world to hone his craft.

His work is highly detailed and includes a variety of styles, such as traditional, black and grey, and color.

Joe’s work has been featured in several magazines and he has won numerous awards for his artistry.

He encourages students to explore their own creative talents and to never give up on their dreams.

Weekly series shows Spanish films

By BENEDICTA AGNOLI

Continued

A series of Spanish and Latin American films sponsored by the Department of Romance Languages opened at the beginning of the semester and will continue after Spring Break.

The first film in the series features four more films for the festival as possible due to the movie’s popularity. The next film, which will also be shown, is "The Pit." Sanderson said. Howe said.

The second film, "One Week," will be the beginning of a number of festivals. Howe said. It is a great opportunity for people to see Latin films for free, making it accessible to everyone.

Another Spanish film titled "Moonlight" will be shown the following week. The series will continue with two more films before wrapping up.

Howe said. It is a great opportunity for people to see Latin films for free, making it accessible to everyone.

The third film, "The Black and the Blue," will be the beginning of a number of festivals. Howe said. It is a great opportunity for people to see Latin films for free, making it accessible to everyone.

The fourth film, "The Last of the Mohicans," will be the beginning of a number of festivals. Howe said. It is a great opportunity for people to see Latin films for free, making it accessible to everyone.

The fifth film, "The Last of the Mohicans," will be the beginning of a number of festivals. Howe said. It is a great opportunity for people to see Latin films for free, making it accessible to everyone.

"The Pit," "One Week," "The Last of the Mohicans," "The Black and the Blue," and "The Last of the Mohicans" will all be shown in March. Howe said.
The move came after an attack when a Jordanian militant held up a group of Christians, who were returning to their home in the area where their village is situated.

Despite the potential of the peace accord, it is still not clear whether the parties will agree to the terms of the agreement. The move is seen as a step towards stabilizing the region.

In another development, the Public Information Office (PIO) issued a statement today that the attack in the village yesterday was a false alarm. The PIO said that the situation in the area is under control and that there is no need for concern.

Management program helps service

BY: BRAD POSSNER

Total Quality Management (TQM) is a management program being used by many universities in order to improve work processes and create a more efficient environment. TQM activities are ongoing and have been implemented in Residence Life and Housing since the early fall.

March 15 at 8 p.m. in Wait Chapel

Tickets are on sale now in Benson 335 from 1-4 p.m. and during the show.

The Lemonheads

At 8 p.m. in Wait Chapel.

March 15 at 8 p.m. in Wait Chapel

Tickets are on sale now in Benson 335 from 1-4 p.m. and during the show.

The Lemonheads

At 8 p.m. in Wait Chapel.

Golden Moment

New initiatives to the Golden Key National Honor Society stand while pledging to uphold the society's ideals Feb. 24 in Benson 401.
RSA grabs awards at state event, wins bid to host next conference

By Jennifer Jankowski

The Research Student Association recently represented the university at the North Carolina Association of Residence Halls Conference.

NCARH was held Feb. 18 at Appalachian State University. The event attracted over 300 attendees from 11 state colleges.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

"It was something truly exciting and enthusiastic presented at the conference," junior Jamie Chokel said.

Chokel, president of the student organization that coordinates NCARH, said the event was a job to work with the university's delegation in the conference.

NCARH, he said, through the hard work of the Choker, 18, and the efforts of the students/researchers, was able to attend the conference.

The theme for this year's conference was "The Making of a Classic," and participants were encouraged to choose a movie theme for their delegation.

For the event, Chokel's group won several awards based on their creative interpretations of the movie A League of Their Own.

They won the Best Rail Call award, given for outstanding introductory call at the Best Rail Poet award for reciting a poem that gave them the school and RSA a voice in the competition. There were 15 teams that were named, according to the delegation's theme bus ride.

On the second day, the group addressed to the conference, The Chokers, the associate director of Residence Life and Housing, and Chairman of the board of trustees, were presented for their outstanding presentations of the conference. The conference's Evaluation Committee, Choker, said that the Chokers' presentation was "outstanding NCARH and will attend all conference during the same year as the state office.""We are looking forward to attending the next conference NCARH in 1997, believing it will be a year of new experiences," the group said.

Their proposal was accepted and the university will host the conference next year.

New controller settling into role

By Lisa Marzlin

After a month in his new position as the university's controller, Tom Gilsenan has spent his time becoming acquainted with his post, as well as exploring new opportunities and challenges.

Gilsenan moved into the position of controller after serving eight years at the years of the Great Depression Conference.

From the experience, among other things, he feels that the university's business has several aspects that are not typical of other universities.

His experience allows him to take a positive approach to the challenge associated with the new position.

"My philosophy is that I'd like to provide a voice to add value to the student's education," said Gilsenan.

In order to do this, he plans on carefully reviewing expenditures and providing clear lines of services on campus, through processes such as accounts payable, accounts receivable, and financial reporting. He said the office is in the midst of several comprehensive projects with which Gilsenan is involved, such as the budget preparations and accurate and timely collection of funds from students.

Although he is familiar with financial and financial reporting, many of the principles of which he does not consider business are primarily public. This includes the value of financial reporting, and "the bottom line," said Gilsenan.

"My vocabulary is expanding," Gilsenan said, "but the transition over the past months has been difficult because the rules and rules systems are a lack of time in which to gain everything there."

Gilsenan and one of his main concerns for switching positions was that he wanted to maintain his position on the market, which could be accomplished in the new position.

The group was also honored with the Most Spirited Delegation award, the Intercollegiate Baseball Association, the Intercollegiate Association for Women Students, and the Intercollegiate Athletic Association of the South.

The conference held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals. The event attracts over 300 attendees from 11 state colleges.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.

The conference is held annually as a forum for ideas and the exchange of knowledge among residence hall directors and related professionals.
Teleevangelists blaspheme for big bucks

What the teleevangelist? A teleevangelist is a person who proclaims the good news of Jesus Christ to the world.
Take time to leave lasting mark

Wendy Brubaker

I think we all know someone who struggles with finding a sense of purpose. It’s the feeling of being lost, of not knowing where you fit in or what you are supposed to be doing with your life. It’s the feeling of being stuck, of not being able to move forward or find a way out. It’s the feeling of being overwhelmed, of not being able to process what is happening around you.

When I think of my Wake Forest experience, I am often reminded of a place where I felt alive. A place where I was challenged and pushed to my limits. A place where I was forced to confront my fears and my doubts. A place where I was able to find my voice and my purpose.

As I look back on my time at Wake Forest, I am filled with a sense of gratitude. I am grateful for the people who have touched my life, for the experiences that I have had, and for the lessons that I have learned. I am grateful for the wakefulness of my spirit, for the beauty of my heart.

The future is not predetermined, and we still have the opportunity to ensure pride in our legacies. Work to leave behind a tradition, a building of a sense of friendship. Leave behind your own legacy.
A friend and I were recentlyabituatedtoward undergraduate community offerings. The college should fulfill the community while you're here because you'll have no such opportunities later. A great deal of magic is in the world, and you'll need to find and experience it. It seems that those who are able to find it and embrace it are the most successful in life. This is not to say that everyone should go off and find it, but it is to say that everyone should be open to the possibility of finding it. This is why I believe that the arts are so important. They provide a way for us to connect with our deepest selves and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

There are so many wonderful things happening on campus. There is no dearth of plays, concerts, and other cultural events. These events are not just for the students, but for everyone in the community. They provide a way for us to connect with each other and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

The university is meant to embrace the arts. This is why I believe that the arts are so important. They provide a way for us to connect with our deepest selves and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

I believe that the arts are important because they provide a way for us to connect with each other and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

The university is meant to embrace the arts. This is why I believe that the arts are so important. They provide a way for us to connect with our deepest selves and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

I believe that the arts are important because they provide a way for us to connect with each other and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

The university is meant to embrace the arts. This is why I believe that the arts are so important. They provide a way for us to connect with our deepest selves and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

I believe that the arts are important because they provide a way for us to connect with each other and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

The university is meant to embrace the arts. This is why I believe that the arts are so important. They provide a way for us to connect with our deepest selves and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

I believe that the arts are important because they provide a way for us to connect with each other and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

The university is meant to embrace the arts. This is why I believe that the arts are so important. They provide a way for us to connect with our deepest selves and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

I believe that the arts are important because they provide a way for us to connect with each other and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

The university is meant to embrace the arts. This is why I believe that the arts are so important. They provide a way for us to connect with our deepest selves and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.

I believe that the arts are important because they provide a way for us to connect with each other and to understand the world around us. They also provide a way for us to express ourselves and to create something beautiful. The arts are not just for the few who have time to pursue them, but for everyone. They are a way for us to connect with each other and to find meaning in our lives.
Confusion, conflict surround academic role's predecessor

By Meleah Parks

Since David Brown's appointment as provost at Wake Forest University, faculty members have expressed their concerns over the university's future. The new provost, under James Harriger, is grappling with the complexities of a new role for the university, one that traditionally has been more administrative in nature.

Brown said, "The university has needed a person who can be a part of the faculty and understand the express and formal process by which the university is organized, people with understanding of that system of getting things done that has been established at Wake Forest University. And one who understands the communication and operating an understanding of that system to be able to facilitate the getting of things done by the faculty." Harriger said.

Brown added that although he is sometimes within departments, he has tried to become accustomed to the concept, but is still in a great deal of administrative university's structure and the need to balance departmental differences among faculty.

"I think it has been a learning process for us. The faculty have been very open to our ideas. The administration is trying to impress on us that we don't want."

Harriger said, "As we become this community, there is a problem in the college being lost within the university. The provost's role is to be a liaison and education and the commitment to undergraduate education is sort of getting lost in the demands of being a nationally recognized university in several fields.

National recognition and competitive departments are the way the administration sees things, he said. Brown has recognized the need for it. Brown said.

Reflecting on his four years with the university, Harriger said, "Our department's style is more focused on a temporary position in a field. That is what we do in the arts."

"I mean that departments should accept the provost's role is to be more open to the university to remain in the university to remain in a temporary position. The provost's role is to be more open to the university to remain in the relationship of the arts, society.

"We are trying to develop a system for the provost position."

"I know clearly that I have been in a forced discussion of the administrative of the university and in coming to raise the university some of the questions of the past, and how that led to some discussions within the campus about the future of the university."

"I clearly have been in a forced discussion of the administrative of the university and in coming to raise the university some of the questions of the past, and how that led to some discussions within the campus about the future of the university."

David Brown, Provost

"I think that the provost's role is to be more open to the university to remain in the relationship of the arts, society."

"I know clearly that I have been in a forced discussion of the administrative of the university and in coming to raise the university some of the questions of the past, and how that led to some discussions within the campus about the future of the university."

"I clearly have been in a forced discussion of the administrative of the university and in coming to raise the university some of the questions of the past, and how that led to some discussions within the campus about the future of the university."

David Brown, Provost

"I clearly have been in a forced discussion of the administrative of the university and in coming to raise the university some of the questions of the past, and how that led to some discussions within the campus about the future of the university."

David Brown, Provost

"I clearly have been in a forced discussion of the administrative of the university and in coming to raise the university some of the questions of the past, and how that led to some discussions within the campus about the future of the university."

"I clearly have been in a forced discussion of the administrative of the university and in coming to raise the university some of the questions of the past, and how that led to some discussions within the campus about the future of the university."

David Brown, Provost
Finally, something for college that just got less expensive.

Right now, when you buy an already affordable Macintosh LC 475 with an Apple SuperWriter II LaserWriter, you'll receive a $100 mail-in rebate from Apple. That's a hundred bucks now on a computer with fast 940 performance. Plus the Macintosh LC 475 is upgradable to PowerPC performance in the future, if you need it. But that's not all. You'll also take home seven popular software programs while supplies last. That's a complete Macintosh system with a lot of goodies, at a really unbeatable price. So, what are you waiting for? College may last four years, but this offer won't.

For more information contact Wake Forest Microcomputer Center
Room 20 Reynolda Hall • 759-5543
Hours: 8:30am - 4:30pm
The Lemonheads, riding wave of success, to bring jovial alterna-pop rock to campus

By Donna Reid

On March 15, Waft Chapel will be awash with the presence of the Lemonheads, the immensely popular band whose record seems to have established their reputation in immediate popularity. Their debut release, "Forced良 record company Atlantic Recoding Corp. coworking
the Lemonheads' mainstream breakthrough act, "It's a Shame
When Atlantic tacked on the group's name of Paul Stainton and Art Garfunkel's "Mitt, Rockers," reconting for an entertaining video session. The Lemonheads' debut album "Forced良 because it became an international sensation.
One of the newer entries from Duran Duran, the track's commercial success, Evans Daniels, lead singer, guitar player, and original member of the Lemonheads, began gaining exposure in a number of episodic and film roles.

New releases run the gamut from hard-core industrial to zydeco and folk. Among the most anticipated are The Lemonheads, with its catchy, upbeat tunes.

By Craig Joseph

Our Guest-Columnist Reviewer

The Problem is Hidden in This Picture, the two one-acts featured in the Season's Finale of the Graduate, was an important feature as well. It is a stellar album in its own rights and will be seen on campus everywhere.

The Problem, directed by senior Mary Renner, follows a professor and his wife as they come to the realization that she is suddenly visibly pregnant. This is easily the most sexually lurid work yet to come.

Senior Lauren Kirby was "amusing as the stern, by the book, man of the house," as she "spins lies to give the impression that she is not pregnant." She precedes her lies by saying that she is not pregnant, and the consequence of her lies is that her husband is not interested in her.

"In the end, "the little girl" is the cause of her pregnancy and a solution for resolving the problem sets the stage for the goal of the rest of the play: the couple's relationship.

Seniors once again hit the jackpot with second set of one-acts

The Problem and Hidden in This Picture, the two one-acts featured in the Season's Finale of the Graduate, was an important feature as well. It is a stellar album in its own rights and will be seen on campus everywhere.

The Problem, directed by senior Mary Renner, follows a professor and his wife as they come to the realization that she is suddenly visibly pregnant. This is easily the most sexually lurid work yet to come.

Senior Lauren Kirby was "amusing as the stern, by the book, man of the house," as she "spins lies to give the impression that she is not pregnant." She precedes her lies by saying that she is not pregnant, and the consequence of her lies is that her husband is not interested in her.

"In the end, "the little girl" is the cause of her pregnancy and a solution for resolving the problem sets the stage for the goal of the rest of the play: the couple's relationship.
Winston

From Page 11

This instant. While the left hand maintains an undercurrent of melody, the right hand delivers the poundings of the right hand. Mr. Brubeck pointed out that this kind of rhythm is something inherent in this music and something subtle in the way the hands and fingers are jingled together, as it were, by the strength of the strike and the force of the sound.

Winston

Page 11

"It is with the force of the strike and the sound of the selection that there is something inherent in this music and something subtle in the way the hands and fingers are jingled together, as it were, by the strength of the strike and the force of the sound."} cinematic and stands for them and frames their life stories for wear, labeled the situations that occur, and signs the simplicity of the situation in the industry between vivid and fluid or the fad of a Hollywood "sensation." Chasing Art, the play focuses on the artists and the events of a fad in Hollywood. All of the artists and their work are used as a backdrop for the main events that occur in the film. This happens in a brief moment that evening. History music and socializing with an audience is being made, and the students are pleased.

plays

From Page 11

The following are the top 10 albums played on WAKE Radio for the week of Feb. 20 - 27:

1. Crowded House — "Don’t Dream It’s Over"
2. Jethro Tull — " dark Horse"
3. On Your Own — "Pickering"
4. U2 in the Chain — "Under the Skin"
5. Michael Whipp — "Goodbye"
6. Pat Pashar — "Eldie in the Cockpit"
7. Spinners — "Music"

Ring Sing to benefit two local charities

By: Scott Cumings

Picture is Thousands of students, starting from before the actuality of the 2001-02 school year. For the Performing Arts. A musical comedy. $16, $11 students, $18 seniors. For reservations call 282-2585. Tickets will be available at Wait Chapel or by calling 282-2585. Adults $16, students $11, seniors $18. For reservations call 282-2585. Tickets will be available at Wait Chapel or by calling 282-2585.

if so, you may qualify for a research study which may involve pain-relieving medications. If you have had a muscle spasm for less than 2 years, are 18 years of age or older, and are currently experiencing pain, please call us for more information.

Qualified volunteers will receive medical evaluations of no charge and up to $80 in compensation.

If you are interested in participating, call

768-8062

Piedmont Research Associates
Women's tennis continues unbeaten streak with win over Tech

By Max Colmore

It is unlikely that the women's team is in need of a precise boost heading into the SEC Tournament. That their record is 13-0 this season, and that the Deacons have won 14 straight, speaks for itself. In their third and most of the sec

The team's stats are impressive. For the second consecutive season, one or two of the top eight may not even make the SEC tournament, as the Deacons defeated the rival Tigers with ease in the SEC Tournament. The team will head to New Orleans this week for the SEC Tournament, where they will seek to continue their streak.

Neill takes sixth at Arizona golf meet: Deacons eighth

By David Weinberg

The Aztecs golf team kicked off their spring season by securing a victory in the Aztec Invitational Championship. The team's score of 909 (-39) was enough to secure the win.

The Deacons shot 676 (-47) to win the event, while the Aztecs shot 690 (-41) to finish in second place. The conference leaders were the University of Arizona, who shot 669 (-52) to claim the overall title.

Women's basketball connects with win at Maryland

By Karen Nelms

The women's basketball team will take some well-deserved rest before gearing up for the upcoming season. They have secured a win over Maryland, 57-52, and will look to build on their momentum.

The team's victory followed a strong performance against the Terrapins, who had started the season with a 2-0 record. The Deacons' defense held Maryland to just 52 points, while their offense scored 57.

Diamond Deacons split two with Georgia in Athens

By Brian Bracken

After starting their first season of the year with a 5-1 record against rival Tech, the Diamond Deacons moved on to take on the Georgia Bulldogs. The Deacons lost to Georgia, 5-4, but then went on to defeat them again, 6-4, in the second game of the series.

The Deacons played well in both games, but were unable to overcome Georgia's strong pitching. The Bulldogs' starters limited the Deacons to just three hits in the first game, while their own offense scored five runs.

The second game was a different story. The Deacons scored four runs in the first inning, and held on to win, 6-4. However, they were unable to score in the second inning, and Georgia took control, winning 9-6.
Deacons end losing streak with 63-45 win over Cavaliers on road

By BRUCE WILLIAMS

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — Randolph Childress, the senior guard, and junior Quentin Huff, had been waiting for this moment.

The Deacons are the first ACC team the Cavaliers have faced indoors, and the senior point guard from Clinton, Md. has been the key all season.

If there were any previous doubts about the Deacons as they grabbed an early 11-point lead, "We played very well," Huff said. "With a lot of effort, we were up by 14. We just went cold. The momentum changed very quickly. N.C. State did a good job of breaking us down.

"The Deacons played a good basketball game and outscored us, but we were able to get it going. At the end was stopped by N.C. State's perfect performance. The Joe Louis Arena人工智能无法准确理解该文档。
Special Summer School Course

"LEADERSHIP IN DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY"

Recognize and Assess Your Leadership Abilities in a Non-Traditional Learning Experience
- Work with the Center for Creative Leadership
- One Day Outdoor Challenge Course
- Mentoring Project with Community Leaders
- Theme House Living Arrangements

Information and Application Forms Available From:
Politics Department Trible C301 (Ext. 5449)
Dr. Katy Harringer Trible C309 (Ext. 5450)

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATIONS: MARCH 28, 1994

Financial Aid Available for Qualifying Students
WAKE STUDENTS
PRE-REGISTER ON APRIL 25 1-6, PM.