Potato showers causing shivers

Ginger Berlin

when daydreaming students have nothing better to do than to wash potato skins for the potatoes they are about to eat for lunch. A student planning to spend the afternoon studying for an exam, or just trying to work on his term paper, might well decide to stop his studies in order to spend some time throwing potatoes at his roommates or at the neighboring dormitory windows. In fact, potato showers have been known to be quite effective in getting students to leave their books and start doing something productive. On one occasion, a student was so engrossed in his studies that he didn't notice the potatoes being thrown at him until his books were already drenched in water. He then had to start all over again, and since the potato showers are not usually timed to coincide with study breaks, he was forced to continue his studies in the rain. This incident served as a reminder to the student that sometimes it is necessary to take a break and do something different in order to stay motivated. Potato showers, although they may seem like a silly and harmless prank, can actually be quite effective in getting students to put aside their books and start doing something more productive. So, next time you're studying and feeling a little bored, why not try throwing a potato shower at your roommates? It just might be the motivation you need to get back on track!

Clean up

Until recently, many people were unaware of the environmental impact of their actions. However, with the growing awareness of the need to protect the planet, more and more individuals are taking steps to reduce their carbon footprint. One way to do this is by reducing the amount of trash we generate. By choosing to recycle and compost our waste, we can help to reduce the amount of landfill space needed and reduce the amount of greenhouse gases released into the atmosphere. In addition, by choosing to use environmentally friendly products, we can help to reduce the amount of pollution generated by industries.

Students enjoy Jamboree

Amy Bishop

Students attending the First Friday Jamboree last Saturday enjoyed good music, great food, and country music. Student Government sponsored the event, which is held on the first Friday of every month. The event, which started in 1980, has been a popular event on campus for many years.

Pablo Cruise packs high caliber concert

Scott Adair

Opening acts usually do half as much damage as the headliner, or less than an hour in time. Many concerts go by so quickly that people don't even notice. "I wasn't even noticing Pablo Cruise "

Court's safety case for concern

Larry Walker

Maturity?

Robert Akers' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Robert Akers' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Robert Akers' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Wally Williams' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Wally Williams' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Wally Williams' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Wally Williams' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Wally Williams' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Wally Williams' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Wally Williams' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars. Wally Williams' suggestions that Wake Forest Art Center has overlooked the attention of some less-than-creative scholars.
It's a dog's life

Calderone, Peter J.

One regular worker at the physical plant will have trouble remembering the name. He reports for work at 5:15 a.m. every Monday through Friday, apologizing if he's late, ceremoniouslyประสงุนิชุ่ม спортมากกว่ากับการที่จะมุ่งเน้นไปที่ของเว็บไซต์นี้. He is a bit on the small side, however, and if a dog is to be a mascot, he's not quite the right size. He barks and wags his tail every time he sees anyone, and he has a kind of friendly, yet somewhat plaintive, look about him. His ears are some innovation - he is paid to work with others' headaches and has a good deal of di

On the second floor, part department, part Manchester in a way or another. Lee said. "He said he had

I have not heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I am not sure if it is a way to spend time or a way to

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if

I have heard of this kind of practice. I am not sure if
German Study Scholarship

Trip abroad opens new horizons

Jackie Walters

Junior biology major Chris Lee's spring break marked the greatest treasure of her college education.

"It wasn't very sure about applying," Lee said. "I didn't get a good enough grade in German class, but I really wanted to go to Germany so..."

"I came home and really wished that I had the trip tied up, but she thought I might have to go to school another year if I went, since I was interested in going abroad," Lee said.

"I plan only to take German classes once I return," Lee said. "I plan to major in biology, and I was only planning to take German as an extra.

The German Study Scholarship pays six expenses, plus flights and a trip. The students are required to enter the Free University of Berlin.

Lee had to apply for two months of intensive German language study at the Goethe Institute before accepting classes in Berlin.

"I flew from New York to Mainz, where I spent two days alone. Then was the kind of difficulty," Lee said. "I asked the people at the airport if they speak German, English, and they did it," she said.

"From Mainz, I took the train to Hanover, a little village in the Black Forest in southwestern Germany where I went to the Goethe Institute," Lee said. "There were many in my German classes of different nationalities.

"I spent a lot of time after, just a few days alone, which means grandfather and father," Lee said.

"There are countless of war all over Europe, and they've come back and spent Christmas with it. It was my first traditional German Christmas.

"By the time I left the Institute in February, I brought a lot of souvenirs because my German had really improved," Lee said. "They gave me a lot of gifts. I really gained to that place.

Before going to Berlin, Lee visited Germany during the second year in the USA. That was awfully exciting, Lee said.

"I lived with a family in the northwestern corner of Berlin, in the American sector where there are American military bases and schools. Its was quite different from the American-German and British-Literature.

"There is a lot of international and American students there, and at first it really intimidated me," Lee said. "The students could all tell by the way I talked that I wasn't native German, and they wouldn't pull, "'Fellows go home.'"

"The German students are a lot more professionally active than we are. They tend to go to coffee shops and engage in the world, and they know a lot more about America than we do.

"I spent a lot of time after with my German classmates of different nationalities.

"I lived with a family in Wiesbaden who were adopted by a German family. I call them Fam and Op, which means grandmother and grandfather," Lee said.

"After I left, they invited me to come back and spend Christmas with it. When the earthquake happened," Lee said.

"From Athens we went to Italy and stayed with Made's Yemen Stone. Lee said. "Then we went on a great adventure, "The girl I was with had a friend in Germany and we lived with his family on a farm."

"We went sailing in southern Germany and we went to Paris," Lee continued. "We hitchhiked through France and then went on a great adventure, "The girl I was with had a friend in England and we lived with her family on a farm." "We went sailing in southern Germany and we went to Paris," Lee continued. "We hitchhiked through France and then went on a great adventure, "The girl I was with had a friend in England and we lived with her family on a farm."
Social welfare

North Carolina politicians, by managing to preserve tobacco price supports in the face of artificially high market price for tobacco, can boast that they have done a good job. The tobacco support program, a favorite of the North Carolina legislature, is perhaps the most visible example of such a policy. The program works by paying tobacco farmers a price for their crop that is above the market price, thus ensuring that tobacco farmers make a profit even when the market price is low. This results in a higher overall price for tobacco, which benefits tobacco farmers but also has consequences for consumers and the environment.

Tobacco crop returns about $1 billion per year. This is a significant amount of money, and it is one of the reasons why North Carolina politicians have been so reluctant to eliminate the tobacco support program. However, it is important to consider the broader implications of such a program. For example, the program may not be sustainable in the long term, as it relies on government subsidies and protection from foreign competition. Additionally, the program may have negative environmental impacts, such as increased pollution and the loss of biodiversity in tobacco-growing areas.

It is also worth noting that the tobacco support program may have unintended consequences for other industries. For example, if tobacco farmers receive higher prices for their crop, they may be less willing to invest in alternative crops or technologies. This could have negative consequences for the overall economy, as it limits the diversification of the agricultural sector.

In conclusion, while the tobacco support program may benefit tobacco farmers in the short term, it is important to consider the broader implications of such a program. North Carolina politicians should consider the long-term sustainability of the program and the potential negative consequences for other industries and the environment.

Cold showers

The weather was an inch cold enough to freeze a man's face. A temperature of -20 degrees Farenheit was recorded in the early morning hours. This was the coldest day of the year so far, and it was expected to get even colder in the upcoming days.

The students had been told to expect temperatures in the single digits, but this was the first time they had been exposed to such extreme cold. They were unprepared for the harsh conditions, and many were without proper winter clothing.

The students started to come down from the dormitory, shivering and rubbing their hands. They were forced to bundle up in their clothes to keep warm.

The cold weather had also affected the campus buildings. Many of the windows were frozen, and the heating system was struggling to keep up with the demand. The campus was in a state of chaos, with students and faculty rushing to find protection from the cold.

In conclusion, the cold weather had brought the campus to a standstill. The students were forced to huddle together for warmth, and the campus buildings were struggling to keep up with the demand. The situation was expected to improve as the weather started to warm up, but until then, the campus was in a state of disarray.

Letters to the editor

Tax cuts for rich boost economy

I am obliged to the old editor for the privilege of engaging in this discussion of the end of the Federal Reserve System and Job Creation.

The terms "tax cuts for rich" are used as a general term to denote the policy of reducing taxes on the wealthy. This policy is often justified on the grounds that it will stimulate the economy and create jobs. However, the evidence for this claim is weak, and there are several reasons to doubt its validity.

Firstly, tax cuts for rich are not always effective in stimulating the economy. Studies have shown that tax cuts for rich are not as effective in creating jobs as tax cuts for the middle class.

Secondly, tax cuts for rich are often used as a way to increase government debt. This is because reducing taxes on the wealthy will increase the overall tax burden on the rest of the population, which will have to pay higher taxes in order to maintain government spending.

Thirdly, tax cuts for rich are often used as a way to redistribute wealth from the middle class to the wealthy. This is because tax cuts for the wealthy are often targeted at the top 1% of the population, which is the wealthiest 1% of the population.

In conclusion, tax cuts for rich are not as effective in stimulating the economy as tax cuts for the middle class. They are often used as a way to increase government debt and redistribute wealth from the middle class to the wealthy. It is therefore important to be cautious of claims that tax cuts for rich will create jobs.
Venice, no different from any other city

Venice, once the tech news went off, like any other city, news and politics and culture are not exactly in the headlines. But now, the city is back on the map, and people are talking about it again. The canals are full, the gondolas are back, and the tourists are returning. But what about the locals? They have their own stories to tell.

The ancient city of Venice, with its famous canals, gondolas, and historic architecture, has always been a popular destination for tourists. But in recent years, the city has faced challenges, including the impact of tourism on the local economy and the environment. However, despite these challenges, Venice remains a unique and beautiful place.

One resident of Venice, who wishes to remain anonymous, said, "I do love living here, but it can be overwhelming sometimes. People are always in a rush, and it can be hard to find a moment of peace. But I suppose that's part of the charm, isn't it? Venice is a special place."

Another resident, a local artist, said, "I've been living in Venice for 10 years, and I still love it. It's a bit of a paradox, isn't it? On one hand, it's a place of beauty and history, but on the other, it's crowded and busy.

But despite these challenges, Venice remains a special place. Its history, culture, and beauty continue to attract visitors from all over the world. So, if you're planning a trip to Venice, be sure to check out these tips for making the most of your visit.

Scrambled Molecules?
Never at PIZZA GARDEN!

— Ask your friendly Physics major a micro wave really does to your food. At the Garden, quality is our prime consideration.

- No microwave head space with micro wave
- 100% ground chuck for all burgers & chillie
- Fresh homemade dough & sauce & 100% mozzarella for our pizza
- Homemade soups
- Homemade desserts
- 3 egg omelet with homemade muffins & selection of 5 cheese & 7 vegetable ingredients

Fast Service not Fast Food
Free delivery extended, Oct. 23-30

COLLEGE BEVERAGE
728-0331
SERVING WAKE FOREST SINCE 1969
182 Redfield Rd. (Redfield Meating Shopping Area)
ALL YOUR FAVORITE PARTY BEVERAGES

BANANA SPLIT
$1.49

PACIFIC PIZZA, Monday, October 21, 1985, OLD GOLD AND BLACK

You can become an air force navigator call your recruiter today!

111 S. Stratford Rd. Parkwy Plaza Shopping Center Northside Shopping Center

Cinder block city
Construction continues on the Scales Facade wing.

Social policy needs federal help

Policy makers and experts agreed during a recent forum that federal aid is needed to encourage states to develop programs that offer flexible ways for students to get a college education. The forum was organized by the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators.

The forum, which was attended by representatives from universities across the country, focused on the need for federal funding to support innovative programs that allow students to pursue their education in a variety of ways. Participants discussed the importance of federal funding to help states develop and implement these programs, and to ensure that they are accessible to all students.

"Federal funding is critical to the success of these programs," said one participant. "Without federal support, many states simply cannot afford to develop and implement programs that offer flexibility and choice to students."

Another participant noted that federal funding is needed to help states develop programs that are responsive to the needs of different student populations. "It's important that we develop programs that meet the needs of all students, including those who are first-generation college students, those who are veterans, and those who are nontraditional students," he said.

The forum also highlighted the need for federal funding to support research and evaluation of these programs. "We need to understand what works and what doesn't, so we can continue to improve these programs and make them more effective," said one participant.

In conclusion, the forum emphasized the critical role that federal funding plays in supporting programs that offer flexibility and choice to students. Participants called for continued federal support to help states meet the diverse needs of their student populations.

David Jones is an English major from Marshallburg.

Venice, we say with love. It's a special place. Venice is quirky. It's charming; it is wondrous. It is beautiful, it is too big, it is small. It is a town.

No, Venice is not like any other city — would I waste my time asking it? Of course not — but Venice is not the dream. Yes, it is the most beautiful city in the world, the city I longed for, but in Venice I was a tourist.
On battered legs, Alex Brown takes a final fall

Devils bomber booties 5-0

Scott Savage

The Duke Devils football nationally and regionally were in the limelight this week, as they ended a 14-game losing streak with a 20-0 victory over Miami on Saturday. Alex Brown, the 72-year-old marathon runner, was featured in this week's edition of the Duke Sports Magazine. Brown, the former Duke running back, has made a remarkable recovery from a knee injury suffered in a game against Maryland in 1987. In his first three starts, Brown was a non-factor, but his performance improved in the last two games as he showed a greater deal of stability and became more able to tolerate the impact of his knee. Brown was fully aware of the nature of the injury and had to be cautious in his play. He did not want to risk another injury and was determined to play as much as he could.

For the average football player, an injury of this nature usually spells the end of a career. However, Brown was able to make a recovery and was determined to continue playing. He was determined to stay the 20-point lead the Devils had over the Miami Hurricanes in the first half. Then he was hit by a knee injury and had to leave the game.

Although Brown was unable to play, he was still a part of the team, watching from the sidelines as the Devils went on to win the game.

Come up...}

Coming up...

Women's Tennis: 10/22-24 ACC Tournament, at Duke

Women's Golf: 10/21-25 NCAA Regionals, at Guilford

Soccer: 10/22 ACC Tournament, at Chapel Hill

Field Hockey: 10/23 NCAA Division I Championship, at Greensboro

Men's Golf: 10/23-24 NCAA Regionals, at Guilford

Cross Country: 10/22 ACC Championships, at Queens University

Women's Soccer: 10/23 ACC Tournament, at Duke

Volleyball: 10/27 ACC Tournament, at Virginia

Football: 10/27 ACC Tournament, at Virginia

Men finish second in state CC meet

Milt Horahov

The Wake Forest cross country team traveled to Myrtle Beach on Friday and Saturday for the ACC cross country meet, and the results for the men were much more disappointing than expected. The men's team finished second in the ACC meet, just behind Duke, with 114 points to Duke's 10,044 points. The Wake Forest team was hoping to win the meet, but were overshadowed by the Duke team, who won with 10 points.

Before the meet, Wake Forest coach George Kennedy said he expected his team to finish in the top five. On Saturday, the Demon Deacons finished 11th, with 101 points. Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.

"We have made a lot of progress," Kennedy said. "We have made a lot of progress, and we're getting ready for the ACC meet." Kennedy said he was pleased with the way his team performed, but disappointed with the result.
Autumn gift is a perfect weekend in the state of North Carolina.

The perfect storm of excellent weather and last minute preparations by whoever needed something compelling. Or, for the lover or more inclusive cozy, it was a great opportunity to curl up on the couch and see the football game on a chilly fall day. The weather was near enough to express a student body's gratitude for the military day in which they have donated. West, 1981, should be acknowledged as the head coach said Monday.

Last week the Deacons played a strong game against Maryland. The team, under the leadership of head coach Bob Bruder, has been looking forward to the opening season. With that in mind, the Deac's first game will be against Virginia Polytechnic Institute & State University (Virginia Tech), which is ranked No. 1 in the ACC. This will be the last season for the Wake Forest field hockey team, goalie Bradley said.

The only plausible hope for the team lies in the form of a win. The team, under the leadership of head coach Bob Bruder, has been looking forward to the opening season. With that in mind, the Deac's first game will be against Virginia Polytechnic Institute & State University (Virginia Tech), which is ranked No. 1 in the ACC. This will be the last season for the Wake Forest field hockey team, goalie Bradley said.

The only plausible hope for the team lies in the form of a win. The team, under the leadership of head coach Bob Bruder, has been looking forward to the opening season. With that in mind, the Deac's first game will be against Virginia Polytechnic Institute & State University (Virginia Tech), which is ranked No. 1 in the ACC. This will be the last season for the Wake Forest field hockey team, goalie Bradley said.
Pizza delivery comparison

Domino’s No. 1 in taste, speed

A small pepperoni pizza was ordered at the same time from P.T.A., Pizza Express, Louise Wood’s, Pizzazz and Bostwick’s. Pizzazz, P.T.A. and Bostwick’s had the flavor very good but the delivery person didn’t charge us because of the delay.

The pizza from Domino’s arrived first and was judged the best tasting of the five that arrived. Bostwick’s and Pizzazz were fourth and fifth respectively. The pizza from Domino’s had a slightly greasy taste.

The pizza from P.T.A. ranked second in taste but last in delivery speed.

Pizza Express

The 12-inch pizza from Pizza Express was the least expensive of the five. Although the pizza was only $5.30 it did deliver as scheduled.

Although this Pizza Express pizza would have cost $12.50 with a couple of toppings, our hands-on review pegged it at $6.25 because he was late.

The pizza, therefore, was good enough to get the pizza to check and serve the entire pizza. But a library is a library, and naturally some allegiances in thought have been strengthened, perhaps even in excess of the ‘sparks of wisdom’ expressed in ‘Life’s about time’ and one song. Another drubbing, ‘Harr! Harr! Harr!’ the Wake Forest of the North.’ This also is challenged, doubtlessly by a Yankee, ‘Wake-Forest is a bunch of preppies.’

Another type of graffiti is deposited, more liberally, on the second floor of Bostwick, the main dormitory of the college. Graffiti in the hallways and on the bulletin boards everywhere. If a message is deposited in 1981, it is almost certain that it will still be there when you graduate in 1985.

“I discovered that ‘Harr! Harr! Harr!’ the Wake Forest of the North.’ This also is challenged, doubtlessly by a Yankee, ‘Wake-Forest is a bunch of preppies.’

Another type of graffiti is deposited, more liberally, on the second floor of Bostwick, the main dormitory of the college. Graffiti in the hallways and on the bulletin boards everywhere. If a message is deposited in 1981, it is almost certain that it will still be there when you graduate in 1985.

We here at PTA are proud to be serving Wake Forest and Winston-Salem. That’s why we prepare our own ingredients and make our own special sauce and dough recipes. Sure, we could cut corners, but our customers deserve the very best pizza money can buy. So settle back for the big game this weekend, call PTA and score a hot, delicious pizza from the home team. In Winston-Salem, there’s only one authority in pizza transit: PTA.

Joy afs

Homeco

Activities begin Tuesday and continue through Saturday. Meet the 1982 Homecoming Court Thursday from 7-10 p.m. on Reynolds Hall lawn.

Also on Thursday night, P.T.A. will be offering the one-year anniversary of the first P.T.A. ticket sales.

Friday night, the Policies will be offering a “Welcome to P.T.A. Dinner” and will be followed by the usual P.T.A. Dance from 9 to 11:30 p.m.

Tickets for the concert are $15 and include both the dinner and the dance. In addition, Pizza Express will be offering a special for all ticket holders.

Co

As now as the forecasters predicted, the weather will be sunny and mild. We would make a suggestion, however, should you plan to be out in the open.

"But it hasn’t rained for the last five days," a student from Campus Union explained. "Earlier this month we had six inches of rain." Reckon, only at Patts, Pizzazz and Louise Wood’s in the downtown Winston-Salem area, where it was probably the sunniest day all month.

Nevertheless, as Patts, Pizzazz and Louise Wood’s in the downtown Winston-Salem area, where it was probably the sunniest day all month.

Transit Authority, Inc.®