Project Pumpkin to begin Oct. 29

The steering committee to oversee Project Pumpkin is headed by Davey, Joseph, and Libby Bell. The committee, which will include 122 members who serve on 13 committees, will coordinate the activities of each committee and link the college and community agencies involved in the project.

Project Pumpkin will bring 800 children from 15 community agencies~ Game Scouts, Kappa Epsilon, Delta Epsilon, and the fraternity's Rub-a-dub-Dub activity off the fraternity house on Polo Road. The last year, 2 percent of the faculty and 15 percent of the student body. All proceeds will go toward candy and prizes. The project is an opportunity to help energize groups and send them off until Election Day, the candidate for state Auditor and many other local candidates.

Where's your ducky? Senior John Quire does time in the punchbowl. "It's a joke," said sidewalks. The college bookstore will be open Saturday, Oct. 3, 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. The Deacon Shop will be open Saturday Oct. 3, 9:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Sunday Oct. 4, 12:00 noon-4:00 p.m.

BRASILIA, Brazil — Hundreds of thousands of demonstrators gathered Tuesday at the congressional building to cheer their legislators, who voted overwhelmingly in favor of impeaching Fernando Collor de Mello. Collor was the first freely elected president in Brazil in 29 years. The vote stripped Collor of power up to next March while the Senate decides whether to remove him permanently.

Collor was inaugurated in 1985. He has been accused by the Chamber of Deputies of "loss of integrity" and gross corruption, which includes receiving $6.5 million from a slush fund run by a former language teacher. Proponents of impeachment claim that Collor’s actions have seri­ously destabilized Brazil’s economy, which has the highest foreign debt in the Third World.

The ANC secured several concessions from the South African government and the African National Congress ended negotiations. These concessions include the immediate release of 150 political prisoners, the holding of political party conferences, and the formation of a national unity government before running elections.

The ANC has also been involved in the negotiations with the state of Zululand, which has been heavily involved in the conflict. The ANC has also been working with other African liberation movements to bring about a united Africa.

The ANC has been criticized by some for its close ties with the Soviet Union and its support for the Cuban Revolution. However, the ANC has been able to maintain its popularity in South Africa, and its leader, Nelson Mandela, has been praised for his leadership.

Five hundred years after Columbus 'discovered' the American continents, scholars re-examine the voyages, contest, legacy

By Boaz Shubert

By Joaquin Ramirez

October 1, 1992

Students in the departments of history's "Origins of the American" class examine pre- and post-Columbian civilizations in the Americas.

What is the Columbus event that occurred half a millennium ago? Time magazine celebrated to the October 8th issue of 1992. World's Discoverers." What is the American continent? It is a symbol of a people and technological revolution. It was once again associated with something else: the beginning of the 15th century, a symbol of the importance of the New World to the Atlantic.

We are entering a third of a millennium in the new pre-Columbian, native cultures — seeing, what was once again, a new way of understanding the world and the continent.

MEYERS AND Sarah Warmsley convoked the "Origins of the American" class, intending to examine the "discovery" of the American continent.

"We're entering a third of a millennium in the new pre-Columbian, native cultures — seeing, what was once again, a new way of understanding the world and the continent.

That's what history is: an unmasking. The historian is exposed to the world around him.

The "Origins of the American" class felt they had learned something about the Columbus experience beyond what they had been previously taught.

"We've learned a lot about pre-Columbian society," said Meyer. "It's about how people lived and their culture, how we can see in "classical" history that what we don't want to recognize.

Junior 30 Alliens, another member of the class, said: "Three people in the class, myself included, walked up to the front of the room. Today, the class is a mixture of politics, history and critical analysis. We're not as interested in the "classic" history, but we want to understand how we're connected to the world around us.

"It's a good," said Meier. "It may be unorthodox, but it is a necessary and beautiful."

"It's good," said Myer. "It may be painful, but it's good. Because we're connected to the world around us."

Majestic musical

I just wanted to commend the article written in the Feb. 17 issue of the Old Gold and Black about the circumstances of North and South. I feel that the misconceptions people have about the different regions of our campus are ridiculous. By taking the time to respectfully read and understand the viewpoints of those who do not identify with the music of a place, the reader is able to appreciate and respect the differences. We should be proud of being a part of a diverse and inclusive community. I encourage others to read the article and learn more about the different perspectives.

Negative political advertising manipulates unwary voters

In the 1992 presidential election a new kind of campaign ad was unleashed. It was so confusing that even those who are not familiar with the political history of George Bush and Dan Quayle had to be sure that they knew what they were doing before they cast their vote.

Instead of telling us what they will help the candidate achieve, these new ads seem to support an existing myth that has nothing to do with the candidate or his or her policies. These ads were aimed at those professors at this university, and these are the main points made:

1. The fact is, we are all here as students, so why am I not allowed to have an opinion of my own?
2. The second point is that we are all here as human beings and are not allowed to have any freedom of speech.
3. The third point is that we are all here as human beings and are not allowed to have any freedom of thought.
4. The fourth point is that we are all here as human beings and are not allowed to have any freedom of action.

In short, these ads are designed to suppress our freedom of speech, thought, and action. They are meant to make us feel inferior and to make us believe that we are not capable of making our own decisions. They are meant to make us feel that we are not capable of thinking for ourselves. They are meant to make us feel that we are not capable of acting for ourselves.

In conclusion, these ads are a form of political censorship that is designed to suppress our freedom of speech, thought, and action. They are a form of political manipulation that is designed to make us feel inferior and to make us believe that we are not capable of making our own decisions. They are a form of political manipulation that is designed to make us feel that we are not capable of thinking for ourselves. They are a form of political manipulation that is designed to make us feel that we are not capable of acting for ourselves.

Communication skills essential to effectiveness of professors

A student at prestigious Newth University, who has been very successful in his studies, is writing his senior thesis. The thesis is about the communication skills that are essential to the effectiveness of professors.

In a recent survey, students were asked to rate their professors on a number of different factors. The factors that were rated included:

1. Clarity of communication
2. Ability to engage students in meaningful discussion
3. Knowledge of subject matter
4. Fairness in grading
5. Availability for help outside of class

The results of the survey showed that students rated their professors highest in their ability to communicate clearly and to engage students in meaningful discussion. Students rated their professors lowest in their knowledge of subject matter and in their availability for help outside of class.

In conclusion, communication skills are essential to the effectiveness of professors. Professors who are able to communicate clearly and to engage students in meaningful discussion are more likely to be successful in their teaching. Professors who are not able to communicate clearly or who are not able to engage students in meaningful discussion are less likely to be successful in their teaching.
INTERNATIONALLY KNOWN PUBLIC ENEMY SURPRISES BY PERFORMING AT LOCAL CLUB

BY TRAVIS McCULLUM

People attending Friday's show believe that the rock group Public Enemy actually performed a concert in Winston-Salem. Even more amazing than that is the fact that the group did not play at the Lawrence Joel Coliseum, but at Ziggy's Tavern, a small night club located in downtown Winston-Salem.

With a large audience, the band displayed an energetic performance that left the audience wanting more.

The concert started around 8:30 p.m. with the group playing their hit song "Fight the Power." The crowd was enthusiastic and sang along with the entire band.

Public Enemy's lead vocalist, Chuck D, took the stage and greeted the audience with energy.

Chuck D: "Hey, Winston-Salem! We're here to rock your world!"

The song "Can't Truss It" was played next, followed by "911," which caused problems around the country. The crowd got into every song, singing most of them word for word.

The performance itself was choreographed by Linda Kent, a master teacher at the Julliard Art School, and is a traditional "dramatic piece," which suggests the techniques that she has cultivated over the years.

Chuck D: "This is a special performance just for you, Winston-Salem!"

The performance ended with the group playing "Public Enemy," which received a standing ovation from the crowd.

Chuck D: "Thank you, Winston-Salem! We'll be back soon!"

The concert was a huge success and has left the audience excited for more Public Enemy shows in the future.
Dottie's Diner delights deacons with daring, delicious delectables

By Paxton Helms and Camile June Finch

DOTTIE'S DINER: On the right just past Rock on Blocks, you'll find Dottie's Diner near the old Acme. A string of dogs run in and out.

Hyphenated yourself whimsically? Dottie Krumm is rock, roll, not you're breakfast. For something rather different, order the Dottie's Diner's house specialty, the Dottie's Diner's chili. It's not your standard chili. The name just sounds like it might be delicious, but Dottie's chili is rock, roll, not something you'd expect. It's a mix of spicy and savory, a little bit of everything that you'd expect from a diner. The chili is served in a red bowl, and it's topped with a generous amount of cheese. The spicy flavor is perfectly balanced with the savory, and the cheese adds a creamy, rich layer to the dish.

Dottie is a daringly delightful diner, offering a picture of fresh, flavorful breakfast. Additionally, Dottie's diner's delicious offerings can be seen on the humungous photograph fold-out menu. Put in a pizza, what with a concept of personalizing each slice. But don't be fooled by the name (i.e. we do not make a V8 pizza), we shall probably mention the Dottie's Diner's special dressing, the Dottie's Diner's mushroom sauce, the Dottie's Diner's special Entrepreneurship

The World Bank Group, with support from the United States, is launching the New Ventures Fund, a $50 million investment fund aimed at helping small and medium-sized businesses in developing countries.

The fund will focus on investments in companies that have the potential to create jobs and generate economic growth. The fund will support businesses in a variety of sectors, including agriculture, manufacturing, and technology.

The fund is expected to make investments ranging from $50,000 to $5 million, with a focus on companies that have demonstrated a strong track record of success and are poised for rapid growth.

The fund will be managed by the World Bank Group’s existing private sector division, which has a long history of investing in small and medium-sized businesses in developing countries.

The fund is part of a broader effort by the World Bank Group to support entrepreneurship and job creation in developing countries, and builds on the success of the Small Business Development Fund, which has made more than 5,000 investments in the past 15 years.

The World Bank Group is working with a range of partners, including governments, international organizations, and private sector firms, to ensure that the New Ventures Fund is successful.

On Oct. 4, the branch of the University of Connecticut's student government, the Student Athletes Advisory Committee (SAAC), is hosting the first annual "SAAC's Athletes Care Team - Bowl-A-Rama" at the Sunoco Pavillion. The event is open to all students and the goal is to raise money for the homeless.

"We feel that the homeless are a big issue on campus and we want to make people aware of that," said SAAC President Michael Novak. "We're hoping to bring awareness to the issue and at the same time have fun and raise money for a good cause."

The Bowl-A-Rama will feature a bowling alley, a dart tournament, and a silent auction. The event will take place from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. and admission is $5 for students, $6 for faculty, and $7 for non-students. Food and beverages will be available for purchase.

The foul-plagued match at the lowerright corner of the net, for Wake Forest, was ruled to be the victor, and a win over the No. 4 team in the nation is always pleasing to the fans. "It wasn't pretty, but it was done," Dooley said.

"It's about making sure the ball is not lost," said Head Coach Steve Adducci. "We want to be aggressive and get the ball moving."

"You know, it's so ridiculous. If I don't call my parents every Sunday at exactly 5 o'clock, they think I was kidnapped by aliens, or something. Anyway, one Sunday me and Mark, we decide to take-off and checkout the city. So we're hanging out and I look at my watch. 5 o'clock. Alright, so my calling card and I head down to the local pool hall. (which I happen to know has a payphone) And I tell the folks the Martians send their best."

No matter where you happen to be, the AT&T Calling Card can take you home. It's also the least expensive way to call state-to-state on AT&T, when you can't dial direct. With the new AT&T Call and Save Plan, you'll get special discounts on AT&T Calling Card calls* And once you have your card, you'll never need to apply for another. If you get your Calling Card now, your first call will be free And you'll become a member of AT&T Student Saver Plus, a program of products and services that saves students time and money. All of which makes the AT&T Calling Card out of this world.

To get an AT&T Calling Card for off-campus calling, call 1 800 634-0471 Ext. 830.
