Legal implications cloud racist letters policy

BY DANIEL P. FURRY

A potentially significant dispute has arisen over the official university response to the series of racist letters that were mailed to Wake Forest students during the winter break.

The letters, which were mailed to Wake Forest students in January, contain racist comments and threaten violence if students do not change their behavior.

University officials have responded to the letters by contacting federal and local law enforcement agencies, as well as the FBI.

The university has also established a hotline for students to report any incidents of racism or bias.

The university remains committed to creating a safe and inclusive environment for all students, and is working closely with law enforcement to ensure that those responsible for the racist letters are held accountable.
Experimental College resurfaces

By Lisa Hennard

Experimental College is back this semester offering an exciting line of courses. The Experimental College offers eight courses. Students interested in participating in 11 courses. The main objectives are for students to have fun and go to help defray the cost of instruction.

Experimental College registration will be held in February in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Registration will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 5-7 p.m. in Room 231. The courses begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall, and a bulletin board will be posted. All Experimental College courses will be held in the East Lounge of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.

The Experimental College Office will be located in Room 231 of Reynolda Hall. Classes begin Feb. 10, and the last day to enroll is Feb. 27.
Job Day helps students locate summer positions

By LORI WENFIP

This year's summer Job Day will be this Wednesday, June 6 at 1:30 in the lower lounge of the Student Center. Patricia Baker, director of career planning and placement, has organized the day to provide students with opportunities for temporary jobs. It will be a chance for businesses, agencies and summer employers offering positions for summer college students.

Seminar guides freshmen in planning for a career

By ERIC HUNLEY

Monday night at 6:30 in Brooks Hall the Lower Division Advisory Council will sponsor a Freshman Night, a program through which freshmen can learn about career planning. Nick Shively, director of career planning and placement, is the chairman of the Freshman Night. "The purpose of the seminar is to provide information and suggestions for freshmen about career planning during their years at Wake Forest and all career planning for their time at Wake Forest and after graduation," he said.

Freshmen will receive a Freshman Planning Folder at Freshman Night consisting which will include the "Guide to Advising Majors and Minors" and brochures about various opportunities at Wake Forest. These opportunities will be divided into three categories. The first section will be about the liberal arts education at Wake Forest. There will be speakers to offer many suggestions about how a student can make the most of his liberal arts education and how it can help in choosing a career.

Another subject that will be covered is that of the liberal arts major. Freshmen can learn about different departments and the opportunities such as others. Career development will be discussed as part of this, and it is the intent of the seminar to have the student planning three years at a time instead of one semester at a time.

Larry West, associate professor of German and chairman of the Lower Division Advisory Council, said, "As you go from year to year, these freshmen will be able to make a decision, as they become seniors, about their major. It is through Freshman Night that we hope to make the decision easier. The second section of information will involve opportunities about including foreign study and military service.

There will be a short break in the two-hour course during which students will talk to representatives from the career center, the Department of Alumni and the Alumni Council, the Career Planning Office, the Wake Forest Center, Foreign Studies and military department.

West stressed that it is important for students to make early contacts with the correct departments. The informal time allows freshmen to make early contacts with these contact, ask questions and receive insight into available services and programs.

While Shively said the program is intended for all students, and anyone who may participate, it is aimed toward incoming freshmen and their guidance, were shown from the freshman class.

"We do not want freshmen to make good decisions," he said. "We see this as an important process for them."

Recruiters will represent over 20 organizations, including the U.S. Air Force, 41 camps, WISP-TV, the AAP Corporation and Social Security Administration. Although the businesses are represented separately in the Freshman Night, they will be able to see some of neighboring states. The seminar will lend applications to anyone interested, and in some cases they will send interview sessions at that time.

All students are invited to the Seminar Night on a walk-in basis.

Rush is on!

Dale Strode and Laura McKeen perform a skit at the Lynne show during the first week of society rush.

Campus Crime Stoppers

Students, faculty, staff and other Wake Forest personnel are cautioned to keep an eye on their valuables belonging during their time at Wake Forest and avoid career planning for their time at Wake Forest and after graduation.

Wake Forest and after graduation. It is through Freshman Night that we hope to make the decision easier. The second section of information will involve opportunities about including foreign study and military service. There will be a short break in the two-hour course during which students will talk to representatives from the career center, the Department of Alumni and the Alumni Council, the Career Planning Office, the Wake Forest Center, Foreign Studies and military department.

West stressed that it is important for students to make early contacts with the correct departments. The informal time allows freshmen to make early contacts with these contact, ask questions and receive insight into available services and programs. While Shively said the program is intended for all students, and anyone who may participate, it is aimed toward incoming freshmen and their guidance, were shown from the freshman class.

"We do not want freshmen to make good decisions," he said. "We see this as an important process for them."

Recruiters will represent over 20 organizations, including the U.S. Air Force, 41 camps, WISP-TV, the AAP Corporation and Social Security Administration. Although the businesses are represented separately in the Freshman Night, they will be able to see some of neighboring states. The seminar will lend applications to anyone interested, and in some cases they will send interview sessions at that time.

All students are invited to the Seminar Night on a walk-in basis.
Lack of planning

In a meeting with students a week and a half ago, John Ashley, student president of the administration and planning, explained the planning process, which will take place over the next five years. This type of process deserves more time and should help to direct Wake Forest towards consistent growth. However, one aspect of the process does leave a lot to be desired: the lack of a formal student committee. A committee of this type is needed so students can list their priorities for the next five years, rather than relying solely on administrators and faculty to judge what the students need.

Andersson indicated in his presentation that student leaders might be given access to university planning resources. Students should demand that this possibility become a reality.

Once students are assured access to these resources, a committee of 1-3 students that would be a working student planning body should be created. The student planning committee students presently meet once a week to discuss relevant topics. Since this is a very small percentage of student life, it could logically be the student planning body. The committee would initiate much of the administration and planning organization their committee for the next five years, like the plans the faculty has been asked to make.

Once all of the organization plans were in hand, the committee would evaluate them and then forward the evaluation to the administration for their consideration in the overall five year plan.

The benefits of a student committee of this type are numerous. First, it would give students a stronger say in the future course of their university. Second, it would make student organization plans more focused toward the current leaders to evaluate their organization and make them more about the future. Finally, we would like to see the planning of the Student Budget Advisory Committee by showing them how much more was needed a year ago by student organizations.

We encourage Student Government to pass a bill forming the creation of a student planning committee that would work to recognize that committees and for the future of the plan to make the five year plan.

Disturbing ads

Jean Kilbourne presented the dark side of advertising Tuesday evening at de vinci hall in a second part of her lecture series. The purpose of her speech was to make us aware of how advertising treats women as sex symbols. The ads only laugh when they show women. It is the use of violence against the use of children in advertising.

People of various political and social persuasions have noticed the sad over the incident and its aftermath. I am not expressing concern over the incident. To me it is the use of violence against us, as I use it to be the main focus of the controversy. This is a very serious, cold, emotionless, and empty ad.

From my own experience, I can attest to the anger and frustration of supporters who posted it. I have worked with the Chicago organizations where the violence is like it is to be several of the most powerful forces behind the violence of members and other things directly related to me. The community situation is similar to other subway systems. The ad was created by the subway system.

I believe that Goetz is not very concerned that the real issue here is with the ad lack of incapacitation of the ad.

The Bernhard Goetz shooting shocked my country, and I think it is in the use of violence against the use of children in advertising. From the 1987 film of the movie executive producer of a television series was interviewed expressing concern over the incident. To me it is the use of violence against us, as I use it to be the main focus of the controversy. To me it is the use of violence against us, as I use it to be the main focus of the controversy.

People of various political and social persuasions have noticed the sad over the incident and its aftermath. I am not expressing concern over the incident. To me it is the use of violence against us, as I use it to be the main focus of the controversy. To me it is the use of violence against us, as I use it to be the main focus of the controversy. To me it is the use of violence against us, as I use it to be the main focus of the controversy.

I believe that Goetz is not very concerned that the real issue here is with the ad lack of incapacitation of the ad.

The Bernhard Goetz shooting shocked my country, and I think it is in the use of violence against the use of children in advertising. From the 1987 film of the movie executive producer of a television series was interviewed expressing concern over the incident. To me it is the use of violence against us, as I use it to be the main focus of the controversy.
An American in Venice

A dreary city where gilded palaces rise to meet the margins of the sea, where a quarter million boats thunder up and down the Grand Canal, and where you can be sure that you are not to be sold to the highest bidder, is Venice. It is beautiful, it is romantic, and it is by far the most interesting city in Europe.

In my opinion, the best way to explore Venice is by boat. The canals are a maze of narrow streets, and the only way to navigate them is by water. You can rent a boat and explore the canals on your own, or you can take a guided tour. Either way, you will see some of the most beautiful sights in Venice.

One of the most famous attractions in Venice is the Doge's Palace. It is a stunning example of Italianate architecture and is home to the Museum of Venice. The palace was once the residence of the Doge of Venice, the supreme authority of the Venetian Republic. Today, it is a museum that houses many important works of art, including the famous painting "The Women of the Doge's Palace" by Titian.

Another must-see attraction in Venice is St. Mark's Basilica. This is the cathedral of the Roman Catholic Church and is one of the most beautiful churches in the world. The basilica is famous for its stunning mosaics and its beautiful architecture. It is also home to the Tombs of San Marco, which are the remains of the Doge of Venice.

I highly recommend visiting Venice if you have the chance. It is a city that is sure to leave a lasting impression on you.
Petran travels to Chile to meet author

By ANITA WELLS

David A. Petreman, assistant professor of Romance Languages at Wake Forest, spent five weeks of his April vacation traveling through Chile, during which he gave a grand total of eight talks to the press of Chile's student population, and especially the modern, younger generation. He called it "a dream come true," about which he has written a book.

Petreman wrote his doctoral thesis on Coloane, which is a nationally acclaimed author of novels, young adult fiction and short stories. He had always plotted on working his thesis into book form, which is now happening. Chile is willing to publish it.

One of Petreman's graduate school professors at the University of Iowa was John F. McCarthy, a professor of Romance Languages, and both Petreman and McCarthy made the trip to Chile. Along with the Spanish language, his specialization is in Latin American Literature. This interest resulted in his becoming familiar with the work of Chileans. Through the particular persuasion of one of his professors, Petreman subsequently contacted Coloane, whose support was instrumental in his trip.

His journey was made possible by a grant from Wake Forest through the William C. Archer Fund, also known as the Archie Fund. He was in Chile, on May 22, when he arrived at the airport by the car that he had long awaited. Coloane, much to his surprise and pleasure, Petreman found that this distinguished author was just as handsome as his presence was by the book.

During his stay with the author, Petreman spent considerable time discussing literature and personal experiences. Coloane found the experience both an important way to promote the work of Chile, and a way of helping the author. He was very accessible, and he was also kind and generous. They have had open houses to introduce the author, and the soup kitchen, and last Sunday the author's family invited the author to their home. And his family was very welcoming and hospitable. They have been very friendly and helpful.

As Captain Coloane, he is very important to the Wake Forest community. He is a private home, club or theater. Then the Chilean president thought that he should receive his charter in March of 1985, because of one of his professors, Petreman subsequently contacted Coloane, whose support was instrumental in his trip. The author, who is a great influence in the community, says that he was very impressed with the work. They have been very friendly and helpful.

This trip was a dream come true for Petreman, because of one of his professors, Petreman subsequently contacted Coloane, whose support was instrumental in his trip. And his family was very welcoming and hospitable. They have been very friendly and helpful.

Petreman's special interest is in Latin American literature. This is not to mention flying 10 hours a day, visiting the most important cities, and seeing the most important sights. He was very impressed with the work. And his family was very welcoming and hospitable. They have been very friendly and helpful.

The author, who is a great influence in the community, says that he was very impressed with the work. They have been very friendly and helpful.

This trip was a dream come true for Petreman, because of one of his professors, Petreman subsequently contacted Coloane, whose support was instrumental in his trip. And his family was very welcoming and hospitable. They have been very friendly and helpful.
Grading system discussed

By Ronald D. Hart Jr.

The Wake Forest faculty has been studying grading for some time, though not without controversy. The committee’s report was submitted at a faculty meeting earlier this month. Faculty members favor a change in the present grading system, saying it needs to be modified to make the change.

In November the faculty met with the Committee on Academic Planning to study the implications of the present grading system. A survey was given to the faculty members, and 134 responded. Those who favor a change, the majority, divided about what kind of change.

The present grading system is the present one, which is the

The professors favored. Fifty-six percent favored the present system. This latter group believed the differences between a high grade and a poor grade were not accentuated. As a result, it was agreed to change the grading system. The professors favored.

The grade received is a C, even though it is a slightly better C.

However, the law of averages may make this recommendation unnecessary. The professors felt that the present system was a good one and that they would not adopt a grading system that would result in a grade of F.

Present system is the one favored. It is based on the present system, which is a 4.0 system. It is a system that is used in most universities.

The system is based on the present system, which is a 4.0 system. It is a system that is used in most universities.

The present grading system is the present one, which is the

The professors favored. Fifty-six percent favored the present system. This latter group believed the differences between a high grade and a poor grade were not accentuated. As a result, it was agreed to change the grading system. The professors favored.

The grade received is a C, even though it is a slightly better C.

However, the law of averages may make this recommendation unnecessary. The professors felt that the present system was a good one and that they would not adopt a grading system that would result in a grade of F.

Present system is the one favored. It is based on the present system, which is a 4.0 system. It is a system that is used in most universities.

The system is based on the present system, which is a 4.0 system. It is a system that is used in most universities.

The present grading system is the present one, which is the

The professors favored. Fifty-six percent favored the present system. This latter group believed the differences between a high grade and a poor grade were not accentuated. As a result, it was agreed to change the grading system. The professors favored.

The grade received is a C, even though it is a slightly better C.

However, the law of averages may make this recommendation unnecessary. The professors felt that the present system was a good one and that they would not adopt a grading system that would result in a grade of F.

Present system is the one favored. It is based on the present system, which is a 4.0 system. It is a system that is used in most universities.

The system is based on the present system, which is a 4.0 system. It is a system that is used in most universities.

The present grading system is the present one, which is the

The professors favored. Fifty-six percent favored the present system. This latter group believed the differences between a high grade and a poor grade were not accentuated. As a result, it was agreed to change the grading system. The professors favored.

The grade received is a C, even though it is a slightly better C.

However, the law of averages may make this recommendation unnecessary. The professors felt that the present system was a good one and that they would not adopt a grading system that would result in a grade of F.

Present system is the one favored. It is based on the present system, which is a 4.0 system. It is a system that is used in most universities.

The system is based on the present system, which is a 4.0 system. It is a system that is used in most universities.
Arts

Theatre news...

Treyz directs plots

The Wake Forest University Theatre will present Tennessee Williams’ "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" on Feb. 15 and 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Dargan Fine Arts Center. Tickets are $15 for adults, $12 for seniors and $10 for students. The show opens on the Creative Arts Center.

Treyz has directed numerous plays for the Alabama Shakespeare Festival.

Treyz has worked with such actors as Sissy Spacek, John Lithgow, Tom Hanks, Tom Ruprecht and Armand Assante.

Treyz has directed the musical’s national tour which came to Wake Chapel last year.

Treyz has been one of the benefits of being assistant director at Wake Forest this semester.

Treyz’s first work of interest was an adaptation of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at the Yale School of Drama.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at New York University.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at Wake Forest University.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at the Yale School of Drama.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at New York University.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at Wake Forest University.

Students present plays

The Wake Forest University Theatre will present two Ring Theatre productions on Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Dargan Fine Arts Center. "The Dutchman," by LeRoi Jones, is a drama about seduction and death in the inner city. "The Desiring Machine," by8 John McCarthy, is a poetic exploration of the complex nature of desire.

Assante has directed the musical’s national tour which came to Wake Chapel last year.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at the Yale School of Drama.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at New York University.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at Wake Forest University.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at the Yale School of Drama.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at New York University.

Treyz has directed and performed academic work at Wake Forest University.

Students present plays

The Wake Forest University Theatre will present two Ring Theatre productions on Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Dargan Fine Arts Center. "The Dutchman," by LeRoi Jones, is a drama about seduction and death in the inner city. "The Desiring Machine," by John McCarthy, is a poetic exploration of the complex nature of desire.
Entertainment

Andy Griffith show celebrated

By ELIZABETH S. SHIESTER

In still of homes across America, something as simple as three times a week, the "Andy Griffith Show" has created a place in a person's life. The show has come to symbolize a bygone era of pure family entertainment. The "Andy Griffith Show" is a place and time to turn to when the stress of modern life becomes too much. The show's ability to capture the essence of small-town America makes it a timeless classic.

When you think of the "Andy Griffith Show," you think of a community where everyone knows each other and where the values of respect, honesty, and family are held in high regard. The show's ability to transport us back to simpler times is what makes it so special. It reminds us of the importance of community and the value of sticking together through thick and thin.

When the "Andy Griffith Show" first aired in 1960, it was a simple show about a small-town sheriff who helped his friends and neighbors. But it quickly became more than just a show about a sheriff. It became a show about the human condition, about love and loss, about the importance of family and community.

The "Andy Griffith Show" features some of the most beloved characters in television history, including Andy Taylor, Opie Taylor, Andy's son, and Barney Fife, the deputy who was constantly putting Andy in his place. The show also featured a variety of guest stars, including famous actors like Robert Duvall and Andy Griffith himself.

The "Andy Griffith Show" was a show that could be enjoyed by people of all ages. It was a show that could make you laugh, but it could also make you cry. It was a show that could make you think, but it could also make you feel. It was a show that could make you feel like you were a part of a community.

The "Andy Griffith Show" ran for 11 years, from 1960 to 1971, and it has remained a beloved classic ever since. It has been rediscovered by new generations of viewers, and it continues to be a source of comfort and joy for people of all ages.

The "Andy Griffith Show" is a show that has stood the test of time. It is a show that has captured the hearts of people for generations. It is a show that has given us a glimpse into the world of small-town America, and it is a show that has given us a glimpse into the world of the human heart.
had 14 turnovers. This can most likely after Rudd missed from the outside and Krzyzewski promptly called a timeout jumpers from Tyrone Bogues and caused some of the errors we had at the and the young squad has already in order to set up his team in a stall Garber played for 17. Three Deacons Th1s past Saturday at Delaney Rudd, but Duke had the final end of the game. I don't think one play in the hopes that he could again deliver. As from the floor. Much of the first half Rudd hustled after the ball and forced and

Two more Deacon points. The Deacons seven or ball over again before Dan Meagher rest before facing one sending the game out of reach for went down as much as five points overtime victory at Devils two weeks earlier 91-89 in an run out before he had released the ball.

For Duke it was the amazing' Johnny target and ended up in the hands of Rudd cooly sank both ends of the one- was played at the Rambling Wreck's skilled

Games Overall

ACC Men's Standings

ACC Men's Standings

Women drop two

Despite some impressive strides, Coach Carey. Brandy Duke's women's basketball program has yet to make the full journey. "In college basketball, we are consistently matched up with top teams," said Carey. "That's just the way it is."

But even though the Blue Devils have been matched up against some of the nation's best, they have shown that they can compete with the best of the best.

ACC Men's Standings

ACC Men's Standings

Sports in Brief

When Digger Phelps and Walter Brown, the president of the NCAA, talk about athletics receiving slots emails of free meal days, they are looking at an issue that has been on the minds of many college coaches for years.

By having the athletes, in another scenario, the NCAA has come a long way since its inception. "The NCAA has come a long way in terms of protecting the student-athlete," Brown said. "But there are still issues that we need to address, like the free meal days for the student-athletes." Brown added that the free meal days would be of great benefit to the student-athletes, who often have to balance school work and practice sessions.

The solution is to make sure the athlete receives the money he needs to eat at a college cafeteria, Brown said. "We need to ensure that the student-athlete has the money to eat at a college cafeteria, not a fast food restaurant," Brown said. "It's a small step, but it's a step in the right direction." Brown added that the free meal days would be a great opportunity for the student-athletes to enjoy a meal at a college cafeteria, rather than a fast food restaurant.

Women's Basketball

Women's Basketball

Owens and Robinson join team

When the opportunity to play for the national championship came up, Owens and Robinson knew they had to make the most of it. They played in the NCAA Tournament and made it to the Final Four.

They are now with the Bulldogs, and they are eager to make the most of their opportunity to play in the NCAA Tournament.

The Bulldogs are coming off a great season, and they are looking to make a deep run in the NCAA Tournament. They have a talented roster, and they are looking to surprise some people.

The Bulldogs are looking to make a deep run in the NCAA Tournament, and they are looking to make a statement. They are a team that is not afraid to go up against the best, and they are looking to make their mark in the NCAA Tournament.
Intramurals cater to students

By JEFF BEACH

Even if you can't join the football like Barry Beanwave, or a soccer ball like Dave Biggies, or a basketball like Timmy Bogan you can still be part of a Wake Forest athletics department. The intramural department, under the leadership of coach Leo Illston, provides a venue for students that are open to all in sports that they may not have a chance to play professionally with Wake Forest. The atmosphere is non-competitive and players are matched according to their skills and abilities, making it a great opportunity for students to continue playing sports.

The emphasis on intramural sports is to compete with other teams rather than in a more traditional or competitive sport. Intramurals can help players gain more experience and develop skills, as well as provide a fun and social environment for students to enjoy their favorite sports.

Several recent events have been held for Wake Forest students, including a kickball game and a soccer match. The kickball game was held in the spring and the soccer match was held in the fall. Both events were well attended and enjoyed by students.

Intramural sports have many benefits for students. They provide an opportunity to continue playing sports, improve skills, and stay active. Additionally, intramurals can help students develop teamwork and communication skills, as well as provide a chance to socialize with other students.

For more information on intramural sports and how to get involved, please visit the intramural website or contact coach Leo Illston. Don't miss out on the fun and excitement of intramural sports at Wake Forest University. There's something for everyone!
Southern Kappa Sig-E

of alcohol also raises risk.

green leafy vegetables, peaches, brussels sprouts.

which is in foods high in fats, sugars, and sodium such as red meats, processed meats, and full-fat dairy products. Foods high in fiber and/or healthy mono- or polyunsaturated fats include berries, nuts, fish, and olive oil.

Some airlines may offer less service than Piedmont, but none offer lower fares to any of these ten cities. For schedules and reservations, call your travel agent, or call Piedmont.