The Winston-Salem Coliseum is a multi-purpose entertainment, sports, and convention facility that serves the surrounding area with a wide variety of events. The facility is located in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, and is home to several local teams, including the Wake Forest Demon Deacons basketball team, the Winston-Salem Pilots baseball team, and the Winston-Salem Dash baseball team. The Coliseum is the largest indoor arena in North Carolina and is used for a variety of events, including concerts, conventions, and sports games. It is a popular destination for both locals and tourists, offering a unique space for entertainment and leisure activities.
“Pit” Now Features Greater Selection

Although many students have complained about long lines and huge crowds in the Pit, Chuck Hess, director of services, says the problem is no worse than in other years.

Hess claims, “the line situation is the same as it is almost two or three couple of weeks. As students get their first schedules and find that the lines are too long, the problem will worsen.” Hess also says he expects Tuesday’s opening of the Magnolia to alleviate some of the crowding.

Hess believes the crowding has second semester solutions, and says nothing needs to be done. He also notes, “Greater emphasis in the Pit, Chuck Hess says.”

A new expanded Deli area has been opened for the service of alcoholic beverages because of increased demand from Tuesday through Friday. Coffee, shakes, and burritos. The deli area has been expanded because of its popularity.

First Region ROTC Commander Visits Campus

Brigadier General Peter W. Lash, commander of the First Region Reserve Officers’ Training Corps (ROTC) Region, visited Wake Forest Wednesday in order to see the campus and talk with some university officials.

“General Lash has tremendous interest in anthropology and colleagues that support the ROTC. I think it makes a point to try to participate in and support the university officials and to gather their concepts,” Major Brown of the military science department said.

There would be no ROTC course without the college and university that offers them, so the interest in the course is not significant. It makes it important for the university to understand leadership and prepare to be added.

Large Freshman Class Has More Diversity

By CHRISTINE M. VARZOLI

For the second straight year, a large freshman class polarized a record number of applicants for acceptance into the freshman class. Director of Admissions William G. Failing noted that the number of applications remains strong, larger, and that the class also included a lower percentage of students.

“The more thorough admissions test is the class in the difference between the number of women,” Failing said. While the completion of the first year last year increased, the school space became available for female students. As a result, the classes of 1998 and 1999 included a larger percentage of women in the student body. The current freshman class is comprised of 50% women and 50% men. It was the greatest number of women in all my time at Wake Forest,” Failing said.

Greek GPAs Drop Below Average

Figures released last week by the office of the Dean of Students show that both the all-men’s and all-female academic averages fell below the all-men’s and all-women’s averages last spring.

After the first and second round of assessments, some issues of students, attributed the deep to the academic averages at the spring’s pledge-phrase change.

Browne said, “I do see a significant difference between the men’s averages and those of women. Four out of 100 points is a very insignificant difference.”

Jobs and Harold Tedford, director of student, attended the meeting and agreed in the spring and again in the fall.

“In the spring I talked about the importance of being a volunteer, but no problem,” he said, “however, a member with a poor GPA is not going to be a very effective volunteer.”

The competition for Fullbright — Hayes Competition

Whether a student attends the meeting, he or she may contact Tedford at his office, Room 219 FAC, or call him at extension 5294.

Enjoy working with people, animals or science? There is a place for you at the National Science Foundation. They are looking for volunteers for a wide variety of placements. They use volunteers per year and each week does a lot of opportunities to help.

The next volunteer training session will be Tuesday from 7 - 9 p.m. For additional information or an interview, call the center.

Center Recruits Volunteers

Although many seniors tend to put this off until the spring, it is increasingly important that they begin the process in teacher fairs in February and March.

“Creating a alumni network involves helping the seniors. The scheduled workshops considered. The first day can also be used by the seniors.”

Wake Forest has added an office of international students to encourage students to broaden their knowledge of other cultures, thereby strengthening the liberal arts experience.

University Adds New International Studies Office

Coordinated by professor Richard D. Davis of the political department, the office will not only provide information on current European study-abroad programs, but also encourage study in a variety of places. The office will also be available to students interested in study in the Soviet Union or Eastern Europe.

On campus, the International Studies Office will seek to process an intercultural understanding of the countries. No additional faculty will be added as of now, but the current faculty will be encouraged to introduce international components into present courses, or to develop new ones.

Anyone interested in International Studies will be presented to the Curriculum Committee for approval this fall and the office will seek to include the number of foreign students on campus to 5 percent by 1990.

The Wake Forest University Police Department has been able to present an excellent opportunity for seniors to attend the workshops and begin interviewing in the fall. For the second straight year, there will be more recruiters on campus fall semester than spring semester.

Pre-selection, a process already active at numerous schools across the country, begins this year at Wake Forest. It allows a company to review student resumes before coming to campus and select those whom they would like to interview.

Like other schools, Wake Forest has been able to receive many recruiting requests. One of the key trends Hasley noted was the greater respect for and need of liberal arts graduates. “It is more than just a rumor,” Hasley said. “It is real.”

The Wake Forest study abroad program involves the Third World country. Although this program probably would provide a field director, a host would not be included, according to better expose the student to the people of the country. On Saving My Nervous System and Pacifying My Senses

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank Godzilla Woodrow for his very witty color tables that appeared in the Aug. 18 issue. I think his "BID Overrider" or other such powerful music and not bumbling rock 'n roll like Stevie and Cateartuff or the Is.

With gratitude,

An organization does not survive by selling the products the market desires, but only by constantly seeking to expand the market and continuously planning and educating the consumer as to how he can best use the equipment and facilities offered him. It is not enough for a corporation to satisfy the customer, it must also train him as to how to use its products better.

I was interested in Mr. Woodrow's piece because I have a problem of my own. We have a apartment in the West End of London and the washing machine is located in the living room. The decible levels of rock music are enough to make me lose my hearing.

I am therefore writing to you to see if you could possibly do something about this problem.

Sincerely yours,

Ralph Lauren Polo shirt. But you don't think that since it was inevitable, it can't be changed. The problem is, you can't change the music, but you can change how you listen to it.

I have decided to turn off all the music and instead listen to the radio. It is not as bad as I thought it would be. I can feel the difference in my hearing and I no longer feel as though I am going deaf.

Yours truly,

Yours truly,
The steady rises and preeminent growth of the winter of the First semester of this year may be a little unusual, even for North Carolina. I would like to offer a few words for students and friends of Wake Forest who are undoubtedly new to this climate in their scholastic atmosphere.

We native North Carolinians are proud of the cold. Snow, the cold, all things that hint at the pursuit of academic growth. It's not the cold we have to worry about, but the pursuit of knowledge. Each year, the academic community comes back to campus, which then involves group meetings, and discussions. The goals of the organization are then set, and to meet these goals, the group must take action. This action is facilitated by training. Each person on your paper must have a clear understanding of their role and responsibilities. Your group must be prepared to make the R.A.s enforce the new law. If they see someone breaking the law, they must report it to the authorities. This new law is not violence that they represent, but rather, it is a part of their goal to survive. If the corporation sees an opportunity to make money, they will do so. Perhaps you are jealous that you should label corporations and foot soldiers. We know that football is not a sport that is represented. It is not something that you can label. You can label it as being sporty, but you cannot label the corporation. The corporation may see an opportunity to make money, and they will take it. Maybe you are jealous that you should label corporations and foot soldiers. We know that football is not a sport that is represented. It is not something that you can label. You can label it as being sporty, but you cannot label the corporation. The corporation may see an opportunity to make money, and they will take it.

Now, I would like to personally welcome you to our academic community. All letters must be typed on a single sheet of paper, and signed with the author's phone number. Anonymity will be preserved after consultation with the editor. By the way, many corporations have sought to acquire individuals who are qualified to work for them. Students Research Hypertension on Caribbean Island of Saba

By JONI JAMES

These sun-filled works on a small Caribbean island with college students and a professor—would sound great! Add in the sound of calypso and reggae tracks, fresh coconut, endless oceans, and friendly natives—would selling it in six college credits—interest you?

In June 1988, Wake Forest students with Wake Forest professor of anthropology to Saba Island, the Dutch West Indies, during May and June. The Island, located in the Caribbean Sea, is the southernmost of the Leeward Islands. The students interviewed by conducting interviews to determine their level of stress and their types of dreams they have. Other questions have arisen since the initial visit to the island.

The small island (only 1.4 square miles in area) is the only safe sporting pool belongs to the hotel in Windwardside and the pier is the only safe entrance to the ocean.

Other wearers have also uncovered data in the Leeward Island of Bona, in the Central America country of Panama along the panamanian black. Literature was not available that would support the studies. As a result, the Wake Forest teams have not only sought self examination of the high blood pressure, but also evidence to support the hypothesis that being black is not a genetic risk factor, but rather a socio-cultural factor.

Washington, DC (CPS) - The number of American college campuses that are hiring fewer professors (AAUP) says in its annual report: "The number of new hires in American campuses is declining because it's cheaper to hire part-time professors than full professors."

"The colleges are "dribbling" themselves in the bar" by focusing on part-time professors, says Dr. Hershel Kreiser, the AAUP's senior vice president for academic and faculty affairs. "In my opinion, we have reached a point where a college can hire a tenured professor who are the same salary as a tenured professor who are the same salary as a part-time professor."

"The trend, thanks mostly to a growing number of temporary part-time professors, is a definite trend," says Dr. Kasper, the AAUP's senior vice president for academic and faculty affairs. Colleges Hiring More Temporary Faculty Members

Washington, D.C. (CPS) -- Colleges are hiring more temporary faculty members, and thus are creating a kind of teaching staff that is damaging higher education, the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) says in a new report. The new temporary faculty members, most of whom are paid less and have less academic freedom than their regular faculty counterparts, add to the growing number of nontenure-track employees -- jobs for colleges to try new courses and to distribute the classes among temporary teachers to try the courses. The AAUP adds.

Nearly a half of all the first-time nontenure-track employees are expected to be the most pedagogical tasks, and the time nontenure-track employees say about the quality of their notes. They should have their mind made up on curriculum flexibility by saying 'There are junior faculty positions - jobs for colleges to try new courses and adds. The style of these films varies greatly from the traditional American silent as directors explore new themes and scenes concerning the full potential of the film medium. The first showing will be a screening of works by Halis Pompeus and Jonas Mekas. Because the films are generally shorter than the usual ninety minutes, each night will have an average of four different films. This will, in most cases, show more than one per day and facilitate a more dynamic style of evaluation by the director.

The trend, thanks mostly to state and federal budget cuts, is continuing, the AAUP report found. Nearly a half of all the time non-tenure-track junior faculty positions -- jobs taken right out of graduate school -- are nonexistant. Benefits in-...

QUESTION #1

WHAT IS THE RIGHT CHOICE FOR MOST COLLEGE STUDENTS?

a) AT&T — for everyday discounts of 40% to over 50% off weekday rates on out-of-state calls.
b) Short bursts of intense study followed by hours of frantic partying.
c) AT&T — for exceptional value and high quality service.
d) AT&T — for collect, third-party and operator-assisted long distance calls.
e) Any class that does not conflict with "The Love Connection."

If you picked A, C and D, you’re destined for great things. Like AT&T Long Distance Service. AT&T offers so many terrific values. Like a 40% to over 50% discount off our day rate on night, evening, and weekend out-of-state calls. Imagine what you’ll do with the money you could save. Imagine what your parents would do if they found out.

Of course, you can count on AT&T for clear long distance connections any place you call. And AT&T gives you immediate credit for wrong numbers. To find out more about why you should choose AT&T, give us a call. And if you picked B and E, call anyway. You could probably use someone to talk to.

Call toll-free today, at 1-800-222-0300.

The road to success has been a long one for Shaw Kelley.

Kelley, 21, has exceeded Wake Forest this semester after a near-fatal car accident in May 1985. The fact that he made it to school is unbelievable. The fact that he is alive is a miracle.

Two years ago Kelley had an on-campus car accident. "It was a very, very bad accident," said president John Capel. "Kelley had to go to the hospital but he was not expected to make it. He had a couple of broken ribs, punctured lung, a broken bone in his arm - it was a very scary accident."

Kelley has made it through the school's Student Support Program. "It is a very difficult program to get into," said Capel. "Not everyone who applies gets in. Kelley had to go through a very extensive interview process. He was one of the very few who were accepted." Kelley has been enrolled in two courses this semester and is expected to make good grades.

Kelley credits his recovery to the support of his family, friends, and coaches. "I have a lot of support from them," said Kelley. "They have been very important to me." Kelley has been practicing with the team since the beginning of the semester and is expected to return to the lineup soon.

Kelley's return to the team is a testament to the fact that anything is possible.

"We are very proud of Kelley," said Capel. "He has shown that anything is possible with hard work and dedication."

Ridle Service Is Tomorrow

A memorial service for Deacon tennis player Nikos Ridle will be held at 2 p.m. at Morehead Chapel. Ridle, who would have been a junior this year, was killed in a car accident early last summer in Billings, Montana. The car he was driving fell off a bridge and plunged into the Missouri River.

Ridle's family will be in attendance at the service. All friends of Ridle are invited to attend.

Also in attendance will be President Thomas Heron, Chaplain Ethel Coleman, and director of tennis and men's tennis coach Jack Creswell. All friends of Ridle are invited to attend.

Kiser, Greene Chosen All-ACC

Wake Forest football players Paul Kiser and A. J. Greene have been named to the pre-season all-ACC football team.

Kiser, a 6-3, 237 pound senior guard out of Craftsbury, Vermont, and Greene, a 5-10, 165 pound sophomore wide receiver from Lyly Springs, and Greene, a 5-10, 165 pound sophomore from Billings, Montana. The car which he was driving fell off a bridge and plunged into the Missouri River.

As director, Chyzowych was in charge of overseeing the coaching education for all levels of the coaching community appointed by the President. Let me tell you about Walt Foremost, asking him if he was interested in coaching at Wake Forest. Walt was the school that he was willing to go back to. Chyzowych for the job if the wanted coach for the 1976 and 1980 United States squads. Chyzowych said he is not only very en- raged about his return to the college in general, but also to being in a school that has the outstanding academic and athletic reputation that Wake Forest possesses. "Wake Forest has a lot to offer younger student-athletes," Chyzowych said.

"I am impressed with the attitude of the players that far," Chyzowych said. "In order to compete with people like Clemson and Virginia, we are going to have to be dedicated and organized." Chyzowych's new coaching duties will include directing soccer's dealings alongside Kennedy going to know the players. "It is going to be a lot of work, but it has been the latest dream for some great things," Chyzowych said. "I want the American soccer community to know that Wake Forest is ready to coach the best soccer.
