Campus Police more visible with opening of Davis branch office

The opening of a branch office of Campus Police at Davis Laboratory has increased the visibility of Campus Police on campus and has brought officers closer to students.

According to Chief Fisher, the new office has been well-received by students, and officers have already been able to address several situations on campus.

Fisher said that the new office has allowed officers to be more accessible and responsive to student needs.

The new office is located in Davis Laboratory and is open during regular business hours.

Rehnquist lauds law centenary

Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist lauds the law centenary of the School of Law.

Rehnquist said that the school has made significant contributions to the field of law and has produced many notable graduates.

He also praised the faculty and staff for their dedication to education and research.

Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension

The Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension of the university's policy on student conduct.

The extension was requested by the university administration to allow for more flexibility in student behavior.

The decision was made after a thorough review of the existing policy and its impact on student conduct.

Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension

The Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension of the university's policy on student conduct.

The extension was requested by the university administration to allow for more flexibility in student behavior.

The decision was made after a thorough review of the existing policy and its impact on student conduct.

Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension

The Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension of the university's policy on student conduct.

The extension was requested by the university administration to allow for more flexibility in student behavior.

The decision was made after a thorough review of the existing policy and its impact on student conduct.

Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension

The Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension of the university's policy on student conduct.

The extension was requested by the university administration to allow for more flexibility in student behavior.

The decision was made after a thorough review of the existing policy and its impact on student conduct.

Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension

The Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension of the university's policy on student conduct.

The extension was requested by the university administration to allow for more flexibility in student behavior.

The decision was made after a thorough review of the existing policy and its impact on student conduct.

Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension

The Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension of the university's policy on student conduct.

The extension was requested by the university administration to allow for more flexibility in student behavior.

The decision was made after a thorough review of the existing policy and its impact on student conduct.

Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension

The Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension of the university's policy on student conduct.

The extension was requested by the university administration to allow for more flexibility in student behavior.

The decision was made after a thorough review of the existing policy and its impact on student conduct.

Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension

The Student Life Committee upheld the 30-week extension of the university's policy on student conduct.

The extension was requested by the university administration to allow for more flexibility in student behavior.

The decision was made after a thorough review of the existing policy and its impact on student conduct.

Night safety on campus questioned

The issue of night safety on campus has been questioned by some students and faculty.

Some students have reported feeling unsafe walking on campus at night, especially after recent incidents.

Fisher said that the university has taken steps to improve night safety, but more needs to be done.

Sig Ep's probation upheld by committee in appeal hearing

Sig Ep has been found guilty of violating the university's honor code and is subject to probation.

The Sigma Pi chapter is also subject to probation, but it is not as severe.

Fisher said that the university is committed to upholding its honor code and enforcing its policies.

Counselors clarify judicial process

The judicial process can be confusing to students, but counselors are available to help.

Sande Fisher, the director of student judicial affairs, said that counselors can help students understand the process and navigate it more effectively.

What’s on your mind?

If you have questions, comments or story suggestions, please contact us at 336-734-5000 or send an email to staff@ncsu.edu.

For more information or to make donations, call 1-800-FOOD-FUND.
貔貅西班牙语中心与文教基金的活动

环境科学中心项目研究员寻求ECOS的资助

迈克尔·B·鲁宾

项目介绍：

ECOS将资助对西班牙裔的研究，尽管这与西班牙裔学生没有任何关系。这项资助将用于对西班牙裔学生的研究。

项目目标：

1. 帮助西班牙裔学生进行研究。
2. 支持西班牙裔学生进行研究。
3. 为西班牙裔学生提供研究机会。

申请资格：

1. 必须是西班牙裔学生。
2. 必须在西班牙裔中心进行研究。
3. 必须参加西班牙裔学生的研究。

申请方式：

1. 通过邮寄。
2. 通过电子邮件。
3. 通过在线平台。

申请截止日期：

1. 2023年10月1日。
2. 2023年11月1日。

申请材料：

1. 个人简历。
2. 研究计划书。
3. 两封推荐信。

申请流程：

1. 根据申请指南提交申请材料。
2. 由ECOS评审委员会进行评审。
3. 评审结果将在一个月内公布。

联系人：

ECOS项目办公室，邮箱：ecos@university.com，电话：(555) 123-4567。

 fp参与者不会在比赛中赢得微芯片。

主办人：

由于早期的教练员教练不擅长在比赛中赢得微芯片，所以参与者不会在比赛中赢得微芯片。

活动内容：

1. 竞赛项目：在比赛中赢得微芯片。
2. 竞赛规则：参与者在比赛中赢得微芯片。
3. 竞赛奖励：参与者在比赛中赢得微芯片。

报名方式：

1. 通过邮寄。
2. 通过电子邮件。
3. 通过在线平台。

报名截止日期：

1. 2023年10月1日。
2. 2023年11月1日。

报名材料：

1. 个人简历。
2. 研究计划书。
3. 两封推荐信。

报名流程：

1. 根据报名指南提交申请材料。
2. 由ECOS评审委员会进行评审。
3. 评审结果将在一个月内公布。

联系人：

ECOS项目办公室，邮箱：ecos@university.com，电话：(555) 123-4567。

 ECOOCOPAAssociate

项目介绍：

ECOS将资助对西班牙裔的研究，尽管这与西班牙裔学生没有任何关系。这项资助将用于对西班牙裔学生的研究。

项目目标：

1. 帮助西班牙裔学生进行研究。
2. 支持西班牙裔学生进行研究。
3. 为西班牙裔学生提供研究机会。

申请资格：

1. 必须是西班牙裔学生。
2. 必须在西班牙裔中心进行研究。
3. 必须参加西班牙裔学生的研究。

申请方式：

1. 通过邮寄。
2. 通过电子邮件。
3. 通过在线平台。

申请截止日期：

1. 2023年10月1日。
2. 2023年11月1日。

申请材料：

1. 个人简历。
2. 研究计划书。
3. 两封推荐信。

申请流程：

1. 根据申请指南提交申请材料。
2. 由ECOS评审委员会进行评审。
3. 评审结果将在一个月内公布。

联系人：

ECOS项目办公室，邮箱：ecos@university.com，电话：(555) 123-4567。
LEAD develops leadership skills

By WENDY K. DEAVER

The Office of Student Development is now offering workshops for interested students. The workshops are aimed at helping students develop leadership skills.

The workshops are designed to help students explore their potential leadership abilities. They cover a range of topics, including communication, conflict resolution, and decision-making.

The workshops are open to all students, regardless of their current level of leadership experience. They are facilitated by experienced trainers and are designed to be interactive and engaging.

Students who attend the workshops will gain valuable insights and skills that they can apply in various settings, from academic to professional.

For more information or to register for the workshops, please contact the Office of Student Development.
APO provides uniqueness to frats

By Joe Downes
Mission and Missionaries Outside of the Volunteer Service Corps there are few options for students who want to become part of a fraternity. Alpha Phi Omega combines the social elements of a fraternity with the humanitarian focus on volunteerism. As one of the many services the group provides, the university, APO members distribute phone directories to students and organizations all over campus. "It's worked out really well, but frankly it's a big drain on manpower," said Anne Slatter, an APO member. "I think they do a super job. I'm very happy that they are involved in that part of it — distributing the directories to the students," added Adelle Labouree, an assistant University editor who coordinates the distribution with APO.

In accordance with the policies of APO, the volunteers must sign a registration form in order to receive their phone book. Volunteers also assist the registrants who are registered through the office. The APO has provided space for APO volunteers to register phones in the office. Volunteers who register phones are allowed to register to an unlimited number of phones and are allowed to register phones to an unlimited number of people. Volunteers who register phones are not allowed to register for their own phone number. Additionally, volunteers who register phones are not allowed to register for their own phone number. Additionally, volunteers who register phones are not allowed to register for their own phone number. Additionally, volunteers who register phones are not allowed to register for their own phone number.
Night

From Page 1

similar problems, prevention methods are nearly identical, such as the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Duke University, insofar as the facts:

Newspapers, the voice of the campus Police at UNC Chapel Hill, rightfully caution campus minors to monitor both unlocked or pilfered and foot patrolled. In addition, a student police and a general student assistance, adds to inspecting minority corner areas and rented dorms.

Similarly, Duke University also uses police and security protocols, and Lew Wardell, the director of Public Safety and of the Medical Center at Duke University, persuades people to pick up the campus. The demands on these facilities are overwhelming.

From Chapel Hill to Wake Forest University, such as the campus.

When asked about the thoroughness of building inspections, Fisher said the police will walk the halls and check the doorknobs. If the doorknobs are open, they will look inside the rooms. In addition, officers inspect the bathrooms. Further inspection, such as verification of a student’s ID is not initiated unless dubious activity is suspected.

Convo

From Page 1

community, they are expected to be well informed of police policy. After all, they are the ones who are there. However, Psychology major, Rhett Jones, said, “there must be some way to help the community.”

Benson continued his speech by trying to reach America’s students. Benson, a student leader, is a leader to all American Congress’ support and care of the people by providing them with federal laws.

Further examples of such campus based interventions by students was the removal of the University Police departments. Students and faculty are fighting for their right to be heard.

Greece

From Page 1

Greeks were the railroad regulating the railroad in the 1800s, child labor was at the turn of the century and the civil rights movement of the 60s. The causes of these issues were not always clear but with the advancement of knowledge, the solutions are.

Rhett Jones said the director of Campus Police at UNC Chapel Hill, rightfully caution campus minors to monitor both unlocked or pilfered and foot patrolled. In addition, a student police and a general student assistance, adds to inspecting minority corner areas and rented dorms.

Similarly, Duke University also uses police and security protocols, and Lew Wardell, the director of Public Safety and of the Medical Center at Duke University, persuades people to pick up the campus. The demands on these facilities are overwhelming.

From Chapel Hill to Wake Forest University, such as the campus.

When asked about the thoroughness of building inspections, Fisher said the police will walk the halls and check the doorknobs. If the doorknobs are open, they will look inside the rooms. In addition, officers inspect the bathrooms. Further inspection, such as verification of a student’s ID is not initiated unless dubious activity is suspected.

Convo

From Page 1

community, they are expected to be well informed of police policy. After all, they are the ones who are there. However, Psychology major, Rhett Jones, said, “there must be some way to help the community.”

Benson continued his speech by trying to reach America’s students. Benson, a student leader, is a leader to all American Congress’ support and care of the people by providing them with federal laws.

Further examples of such campus based interventions by students was the removal of the University Police departments. Students and faculty are fighting for their right to be heard.

Greece

From Page 1

Greeks were the railroad regulating the railroad in the 1800s, child labor was at the turn of the century and the civil rights movement of the 60s. The causes of these issues were not always clear but with the advancement of knowledge, the solutions are.

Rhett Jones said the director of Campus Police at UNC Chapel Hill, rightfully caution campus minors to monitor both unlocked or pilfered and foot patrolled. In addition, a student police and a general student assistance, adds to inspecting minority corner areas and rented dorms.

Similarly, Duke University also uses police and security protocols, and Lew Wardell, the director of Public Safety and of the Medical Center at Duke University, persuades people to pick up the campus. The demands on these facilities are overwhelming.

From Chapel Hill to Wake Forest University, such as the campus.

When asked about the thoroughness of building inspections, Fisher said the police will walk the halls and check the doorknobs. If the doorknobs are open, they will look inside the rooms. In addition, officers inspect the bathrooms. Further inspection, such as verification of a student’s ID is not initiated unless dubious activity is suspected.

Convo

From Page 1

community, they are expected to be well informed of police policy. After all, they are the ones who are there. However, Psychology major, Rhett Jones, said, “there must be some way to help the community.”

Benson continued his speech by trying to reach America’s students. Benson, a student leader, is a leader to all American Congress’ support and care of the people by providing them with federal laws.

Further examples of such campus based interventions by students was the removal of the University Police departments. Students and faculty are fighting for their right to be heard.

Greece

From Page 1

Greeks were the railroad regulating the railroad in the 1800s, child labor was at the turn of the century and the civil rights movement of the 60s. The causes of these issues were not always clear but with the advancement of knowledge, the solutions are.

Rhett Jones said the director of Campus Police at UNC Chapel Hill, rightfully caution campus minors to monitor both unlocked or pilfered and foot patrolled. In addition, a student police and a general student assistance, adds to inspecting minority corner areas and rented dorms.

Similarly, Duke University also uses police and security protocols, and Lew Wardell, the director of Public Safety and of the Medical Center at Duke University, persuades people to pick up the campus. The demands on these facilities are overwhelming.

From Chapel Hill to Wake Forest University, such as the campus.

When asked about the thoroughness of building inspections, Fisher said the police will walk the halls and check the doorknobs. If the doorknobs are open, they will look inside the rooms. In addition, officers inspect the bathrooms. Further inspection, such as verification of a student’s ID is not initiated unless dubious activity is suspected.

Convo

From Page 1

community, they are expected to be well informed of police policy. After all, they are the ones who are there. However, Psychology major, Rhett Jones, said, “there must be some way to help the community.”

Benson continued his speech by trying to reach America’s students. Benson, a student leader, is a leader to all American Congress’ support and care of the people by providing them with federal laws.

Further examples of such campus based interventions by students was the removal of the University Police departments. Students and faculty are fighting for their right to be heard.

Greece

From Page 1

Greeks were the railroad regulating the railroad in the 1800s, child labor was at the turn of the century and the civil rights movement of the 60s. The causes of these issues were not always clear but with the advancement of knowledge, the solutions are.

Rhett Jones said the director of Campus Police at UNC Chapel Hill, rightfully caution campus minors to monitor both unlocked or pilfered and foot patrolled. In addition, a student police and a general student assistance, adds to inspecting minority corner areas and rented dorms.

Similarly, Duke University also uses police and security protocols, and Lew Wardell, the director of Public Safety and of the Medical Center at Duke University, persuades people to pick up the campus. The demands on these facilities are overwhelming.

From Chapel Hill to Wake Forest University, such as the campus.

When asked about the thoroughness of building inspections, Fisher said the police will walk the halls and check the doorknobs. If the doorknobs are open, they will look inside the rooms. In addition, officers inspect the bathrooms. Further inspection, such as verification of a student’s ID is not initiated unless dubious activity is suspected.

Convo

From Page 1

community, they are expected to be well informed of police policy. After all, they are the ones who are there. However, Psychology major, Rhett Jones, said, “there must be some way to help the community.”

Benson continued his speech by trying to reach America’s students. Benson, a student leader, is a leader to all American Congress’ support and care of the people by providing them with federal laws.

Further examples of such campus based interventions by students was the removal of the University Police departments. Students and faculty are fighting for their right to be heard.

Greece

From Page 1

Greeks were the railroad regulating the railroad in the 1800s, child labor was at the turn of the century and the civil rights movement of the 60s. The causes of these issues were not always clear but with the advancement of knowledge, the solutions are.

Rhett Jones said the director of Campus Police at UNC Chapel Hill, rightfully caution campus minors to monitor both unlocked or pilfered and foot patrolled. In addition, a student police and a general student assistance, adds to inspecting minority corner areas and rented dorms.

Similarly, Duke University also uses police and security protocols, and Lew Wardell, the director of Public Safety and of the Medical Center at Duke University, persuades people to pick up the campus. The demands on these facilities are overwhelming.

From Chapel Hill to Wake Forest University, such as the campus.

When asked about the thoroughness of building inspections, Fisher said the police will walk the halls and check the doorknobs. If the doorknobs are open, they will look inside the rooms. In addition, officers inspect the bathrooms. Further inspection, such as verification of a student’s ID is not initiated unless dubious activity is suspected.

Convo

From Page 1

community, they are expected to be well informed of police policy. After all, they are the ones who are there. However, Psychology major, Rhett Jones, said, “there must be some way to help the community.”

Benson continued his speech by trying to reach America’s students. Benson, a student leader, is a leader to all American Congress’ support and care of the people by providing them with federal laws.

Further examples of such campus based interventions by students was the removal of the University Police departments. Students and faculty are fighting for their right to be heard.

Greece

From Page 1

Greeks were the railroad regulating the railroad in the 1800s, child labor was at the turn of the century and the civil rights movement of the 60s. The causes of these issues were not always clear but with the advancement of knowledge, the solutions are.

Rhett Jones said the director of Campus Police at UNC Chapel Hill, rightfully caution campus minors to monitor both unlocked or pilfered and foot patrolled. In addition, a student police and a general student assistance, adds to inspecting minority corner areas and rented dorms.

Similarly, Duke University also uses police and security protocols, and Lew Wardell, the director of Public Safety and of the Medical Center at Duke University, persuades people to pick up the campus. The demands on these facilities are overwhelming.

From Chapel Hill to Wake Forest University, such as the campus.

When asked about the thoroughness of building inspections, Fisher said the police will walk the halls and check the doorknobs. If the doorknobs are open, they will look inside the rooms. In addition, officers inspect the bathrooms. Further inspection, such as verification of a student’s ID is not initiated unless dubious activity is suspected.
New smoking policy
SG attempt to “unity”

The Student Government Boardhaps another equally important issue — the focus of much student debate for a long time. For example, the issue caused by students who have no idea how to respond to the issue of smoking in public. Those who have no idea how to respond to this issue usually fall into one of two categories: those who believe that smoking should be outlawed and those who believe that it should be allowed. Each of these categories has its own merits, and it is up to the student population to decide which one they believe is best.

Another problem with this requirement is that it is too vague. In other words, it sets a requirement without giving any specific guidelines for how to implement it. This makes it difficult for students to understand what they are supposed to do.

Therefore, I believe that the Student Government Board should do more to make this requirement clear. They should provide specific guidelines for how to implement it, and they should also provide some examples of what student behavior would be considered acceptable.

In conclusion, I believe that the Student Government Board should make this requirement more specific and clear. This will help to ensure that students understand what they are supposed to do, and it will also help to ensure that smoking in public is no longer a problem on campus.

Brian Ray

Furthermore, it is important to note that this requirement is only one of many steps that can be taken to address the issue of smoking in public. The Student Government Board should also consider other options, such as creating a smoking area where students can go to smoke without disturbing others.

In summary, I believe that the Student Government Board should make this requirement more specific and clear. This will help to ensure that students understand what they are supposed to do, and it will also help to ensure that smoking in public is no longer a problem on campus.

Brian Ray

President Clinton is the enemy of normal people

I have decided with myself for a year new on in this world the question: how to get to step one at step two, one and one plus minus one is minus I have been watching and following the latest news on the internet and news from the news of the world. I have been looking for a way to make this happen for me.

Another question is, what purpose does all this language serve? In my opinion, I have come to realize that this language is not serving any purpose.

I have been looking for a way to understand this language for quite some time. I have been reading and researching to try to understand it. I have found that this language is confusing and difficult to understand.

In conclusion, I believe that this language is not serving any purpose. It is important to seek ways to improve communication and understanding in this field.
Study of West need not be abolished or enshrined

By BRADLEY WEIDMANN

Changes in cultural values provide one of the factors that have led to the diminishing influence of the West in modern education. The study of Western civilization is likely to continue to be taught in most schools, but its influence may be reduced in other ways. Western civilization also helps explain current cultural phenomena. Western civilization has often been seen as the basis for political and economic systems. This may be changing as more people adopt alternative beliefs.
The Wake Forest School of Law has experienced growth and struggle during its first 100 years.

In 1926 the school moved to Winston-Salem. The idea for a law school was first proposed in 1884 by George Paschal. In 1926, the college from 1884 to 1963 was housed in the Old Gold and Black Dormitory, which was also where the law school was located in 1926.

The Wake Forest School of Law has experienced growth and struggle during its first 100 years. The school was founded in 1926, and the student population grew to 233 in 1939, a level that had not been reached since the late 1920s. For the first time, the school was able to earn applicable funds to support its academic programs and facilities. This occurred after the Korean War, which had ended in 1953, and the school had been active during World War II.

The Wake Forest School of Law has been a university of the highest academic standards, with a strong commitment to providing students with the best possible education. This commitment has been reflected in the school's strong reputation for excellence, both in the classroom and in the legal community.

The school has experienced rapid growth, especially during the last several decades, and the requirements and expectations of students and professors continue to change. These changes reflect the school's commitment to preparing students for the North Carolina Bar examinations (a precursor to the bar exam), as well as to providing them with the education necessary to succeed in the legal profession.

In 1926, the school moved to a new location, the Old Gold and Black Dormitory, which was also where the law school was located in 1926. Today, the school is housed in the Willard building, which was constructed in 1954.

The Wake Forest School of Law has a long and storied history, and its legacy continues to inspire students and faculty alike. The school has produced many successful alumni who have gone on to achieve great things in the legal profession.

The Wake Forest School of Law has experienced growth and struggle during its first 100 years. The school was founded in 1926, and the student population grew to 233 in 1939, a level that had not been reached since the late 1920s. For the first time, the school was able to earn applicable funds to support its academic programs and facilities. This occurred after the Korean War, which had ended in 1953, and the school had been active during World War II.

The Wake Forest School of Law has been a university of the highest academic standards, with a strong commitment to providing students with the best possible education. This commitment has been reflected in the school's strong reputation for excellence, both in the classroom and in the legal community.

The school has experienced rapid growth, especially during the last several decades, and the requirements and expectations of students and professors continue to change. These changes reflect the school's commitment to preparing students for the North Carolina Bar examinations (a precursor to the bar exam), as well as to providing them with the education necessary to succeed in the legal profession.

In 1926, the school moved to a new location, the Old Gold and Black Dormitory, which was also where the law school was located in 1926. Today, the school is housed in the Willard building, which was constructed in 1954.

The Wake Forest School of Law has a long and storied history, and its legacy continues to inspire students and faculty alike. The school has produced many successful alumni who have gone on to achieve great things in the legal profession.

The Wake Forest School of Law has experienced growth and struggle during its first 100 years. The school was founded in 1926, and the student population grew to 233 in 1939, a level that had not been reached since the late 1920s. For the first time, the school was able to earn applicable funds to support its academic programs and facilities. This occurred after the Korean War, which had ended in 1953, and the school had been active during World War II.

The Wake Forest School of Law has been a university of the highest academic standards, with a strong commitment to providing students with the best possible education. This commitment has been reflected in the school's strong reputation for excellence, both in the classroom and in the legal community.

The school has experienced rapid growth, especially during the last several decades, and the requirements and expectations of students and professors continue to change. These changes reflect the school's commitment to preparing students for the North Carolina Bar examinations (a precursor to the bar exam), as well as to providing them with the education necessary to succeed in the legal profession.

In 1926, the school moved to a new location, the Old Gold and Black Dormitory, which was also where the law school was located in 1926. Today, the school is housed in the Willard building, which was constructed in 1954.

The Wake Forest School of Law has a long and storied history, and its legacy continues to inspire students and faculty alike. The school has produced many successful alumni who have gone on to achieve great things in the legal profession.

The Wake Forest School of Law has experienced growth and struggle during its first 100 years. The school was founded in 1926, and the student population grew to 233 in 1939, a level that had not been reached since the late 1920s. For the first time, the school was able to earn applicable funds to support its academic programs and facilities. This occurred after the Korean War, which had ended in 1953, and the school had been active during World War II.

The Wake Forest School of Law has been a university of the highest academic standards, with a strong commitment to providing students with the best possible education. This commitment has been reflected in the school's strong reputation for excellence, both in the classroom and in the legal community.

The school has experienced rapid growth, especially during the last several decades, and the requirements and expectations of students and professors continue to change. These changes reflect the school's commitment to preparing students for the North Carolina Bar examinations (a precursor to the bar exam), as well as to providing them with the education necessary to succeed in the legal profession.

In 1926, the school moved to a new location, the Old Gold and Black Dormitory, which was also where the law school was located in 1926. Today, the school is housed in the Willard building, which was constructed in 1954.

The Wake Forest School of Law has a long and storied history, and its legacy continues to inspire students and faculty alike. The school has produced many successful alumni who have gone on to achieve great things in the legal profession.

The Wake Forest School of Law has experienced growth and struggle during its first 100 years. The school was founded in 1926, and the student population grew to 233 in 1939, a level that had not been reached since the late 1920s. For the first time, the school was able to earn applicable funds to support its academic programs and facilities. This occurred after the Korean War, which had ended in 1953, and the school had been active during World War II.

The Wake Forest School of Law has been a university of the highest academic standards, with a strong commitment to providing students with the best possible education. This commitment has been reflected in the school's strong reputation for excellence, both in the classroom and in the legal community.

The school has experienced rapid growth, especially during the last several decades, and the requirements and expectations of students and professors continue to change. These changes reflect the school's commitment to preparing students for the North Carolina Bar examinations (a precursor to the bar exam), as well as to providing them with the education necessary to succeed in the legal profession.

In 1926, the school moved to a new location, the Old Gold and Black Dormitory, which was also where the law school was located in 1926. Today, the school is housed in the Willard building, which was constructed in 1954.

The Wake Forest School of Law has a long and storied history, and its legacy continues to inspire students and faculty alike. The school has produced many successful alumni who have gone on to achieve great things in the legal profession.

The Wake Forest School of Law has experienced growth and struggle during its first 100 years. The school was founded in 1926, and the student population grew to 233 in 1939, a level that had not been reached since the late 1920s. For the first time, the school was able to earn applicable funds to support its academic programs and facilities. This occurred after the Korean War, which had ended in 1953, and the school had been active during World War II.

The Wake Forest School of Law has been a university of the highest academic standards, with a strong commitment to providing students with the best possible education. This commitment has been reflected in the school's strong reputation for excellence, both in the classroom and in the legal community.

The school has experienced rapid growth, especially during the last several decades, and the requirements and expectations of students and professors continue to change. These changes reflect the school's commitment to preparing students for the North Carolina Bar examinations (a precursor to the bar exam), as well as to providing them with the education necessary to succeed in the legal profession.

In 1926, the school moved to a new location, the Old Gold and Black Dormitory, which was also where the law school was located in 1926. Today, the school is housed in the Willard building, which was constructed in 1954.

The Wake Forest School of Law has a long and storied history, and its legacy continues to inspire students and faculty alike. The school has produced many successful alumni who have gone on to achieve great things in the legal profession.

The Wake Forest School of Law has experienced growth and struggle during its first 100 years. The school was founded in 1926, and the student population grew to 233 in 1939, a level that had not been reached since the late 1920s. For the first time, the school was able to earn applicable funds to support its academic programs and facilities. This occurred after the Korean War, which had ended in 1953, and the school had been active during World War II.

The Wake Forest School of Law has been a university of the highest academic standards, with a strong commitment to providing students with the best possible education. This commitment has been reflected in the school's strong reputation for excellence, both in the classroom and in the legal community.

The school has experienced rapid growth, especially during the last several decades, and the requirements and expectations of students and professors continue to change. These changes reflect the school's commitment to preparing students for the North Carolina Bar examinations (a precursor to the bar exam), as well as to providing them with the education necessary to succeed in the legal profession.

In 1926, the school moved to a new location, the Old Gold and Black Dormitory, which was also where the law school was located in 1926. Today, the school is housed in the Willard building, which was constructed in 1954.

The Wake Forest School of Law has a long and storied history, and its legacy continues to inspire students and faculty alike. The school has produced many successful alumni who have gone on to achieve great things in the legal profession.
Boys Next Door tells the story of four disabled men with sensitivity

By Myra Spaulding

The Boys Next Door, directed by Tom Griffith, is a touching and emotional story of four disabled men who share a bond and support system that the audience can appreciate. The film is set in a group home and explores the lives of the men who live there, highlighting their struggles and triumphs.

Droopy, a man who is nonverbal, and his friend, Gramps, a man who is deaf, form a unique bond that is central to the story. Their friendship is tested when a new resident, Steve, arrives and disrupts their peaceful existence.

The film also explores the themes of love, loss, and acceptance. The relationships between the men and their family members, friends, and caregivers are shown with depth and authenticity. The characters are well-developed, and the performances are outstanding.

Overall, Boys Next Door is a powerful and moving film that will leave audiences with a greater understanding and appreciation of the lives of disabled individuals. It is a must-watch for anyone interested in the themes of disability, love, and friendship.
Stringfellow second becomes member of 1995 men's hoops recruiting class

Armases, Neill lead Deacons to title at Lady Paladin

Women's soccer closes with big win

Verkleij, Moore pour on goals while Mumford blanks Richmond, Radford 3-0
Turnovers fatal to Deacons in 51-26 loss to Duke

By Mike Brickman

The Deacons' third possession of the game ended with a fumble that gave Duke a 10-0 lead. Duke capitalized on the turnover and scored three more times before the first half ended.

Deacon quarterback Brian Kirkpatrick prepared to hand the ball off to running back Jefferson Williams in the town's loss to Duke Saturday at Cameron Stadium. Building on the Deacons' power to be challenging for the Deacons in the game, as the offense coughed up the football three times in the first half.

A three-yard Duke touchdown early by Robert Lemon gave the Blue Devils a 17-0 lead in the first half, followed scoring in the first and second quarters. The Deacons fell short 1-6, 4-6 to the Blue Devils. The Deacons fell short 1-6, 4-6 to the Blue Devils.

GUYAUX, OSSWALD FIND SUCCESS IN SINGLES, DOUBLES AT GEORGETOWN

The Deacons were defeated 6-3, 6-1 by Washington and 6-2, 6-2 by Maryland in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

By Ann Sayn

The Deacons' first three possessions resulted in the Deacons scoring first with a combined score of 846. The second-round victories by Osswald in a three-set battle.

Shawn Williamson of Arkansas, Damon Childress up for Naismith College Player of the Year award.

Kevin Giles continued his climb up the University of Tennessee scoring charts.

Despite their poor scores from this tournament, as well as their low ranking, both coach and player remain confident that the Deacon golf team is capable of competing at a high level.

Mike Brickman is a sports writer for the Daily News of North Carolina and the Raleigh News & Observer. He can be reached at mbrickman@winston-salem.edu.
VAGINITIS STUDY

Currently seeking females age 18 or older to participate in a study to compare two medications for the treatment of vaginitis (yeast infection). If you are currently experiencing any of the following symptoms, please call for more information.

1. Vaginal Burning
2. Vaginal Itching
3. Vaginal Irritation

The medication and laboratory tests will be provided free of charge providing you meet eligibility requirements.

Call Piedmont Research Associates at 910-768-8062