Students Against Apartheid Rallies For Divestment of University Money

By Stephen H.

The Student Academic Council Against Apartheid (SACAA) met Thursday, July 27, on the steps of Student Union to discuss the financial impacts of divestment and to encourage students to purchase “free” merchandise from the SACAA store. The rally began at 2 p.m., with the student council gathering at the SACAA store and then marching to the Student Union.

SACAA members believe that divestment is the most effective way to pressure South Africa to end apartheid. They also believe that divestment is consistent with the principles of nonviolent resistance that are central to the movement against apartheid. SACAA members further believe that divestment is the most effective way to pressure South Africa to end apartheid.

The Student Academic Council Against Apartheid (SACAA) has been working for divestment from South Africa for several years. In the past, SACAA has organized protests and rallies, as well as petitions and letters to the editor. 75 Students and Faculty Discuss Racial Tensions on Campus

By Jovana Vangala

Almost 74 students and faculty attended an open discussion held in the Old Gold and Black Saturday afternoon, held in response to a letter offering support to minority students and to amplify their voice in light of recent racial incidents on campus. The event was organized by the Student Government Association and the Black Student Union.

The discussion began with an open forum where students and faculty were encouraged to share their thoughts and experiences related to racial tensions on campus. The conversation touched on a range of topics, including the importance of diversity and inclusion, the need for more robust mental health resources, and the role of the university in fostering a more inclusive and welcoming environment.

One participant, a member of the Black Student Union, stated, "We need to create a space where everyone feels safe and respected. It's important that we continue the dialogue and work towards understanding and acceptance." Another attendee, a faculty member, echoed these sentiments, emphasizing the need for ongoing education and training for all community members.

The event was moderated by Assistant Professor of Psychology, Dr. Sharon Johnson, who facilitated a respectful and inclusive environment. She encouraged all participants to listen actively and speak from the heart, ensuring that the conversation remained respectful and constructive.

The discussion concluded with a call to action, with participants agreeing to continue the conversation and work towards creating a more inclusive campus community. The event was a significant step towards addressing the issues of racial tension and promoting a more equitable environment for all students and faculty.

Peer Counselors To Attend AIDS Education Program

By Thane Brewer

Four students and two faculty members will represent Wake Forest at a conference on AIDS education March 5-6 in Washington. The conference, which is sponsored by the University Student Council and the Student Health Service, will bring together educators and health professionals to discuss strategies for educating students about AIDS.

The four students selected to attend the conference are Jessica Brown, a junior from Winston-Salem; Deidra Jones, a junior from High Point; and Brad Bent, a junior from High Point. The two faculty members attending are President Brehme and Dr. Charles Gardner, a professor of psychology.

"We are excited to have our students and faculty attend this important conference," said President Brehme. "Educating students about AIDS is crucial to preventing the spread of this disease and helping to create a more informed and compassionate society."

caller’s questions about her physics, he hung up.

A three-car, bad-end accident occurred just before 1 a.m. Feb. 17 in the parking lot behind “T” House and Elliott Residence Hall. A visitor saw a silver or gold compact vehicle strike a car parked beside it. The second car was silver, which caused the accident left the scene.

University security responded by 73 calls Feb.
12-18. Paramedics call for 22 accidents and people. It’s for security services, and live people who can be a problem for its executive.

Sweden's Government Resigns

Stockholm, Sweden — Prime Minister Carl Lindhagen submitted the resignation of his social democratic government Feb. 15 after a long debate in Parliament on an economic rescue bill.

Members of the opposition parties, including conservatives and socialists, voted to defeat Mr. Lindhagen's, which called for a two-year freeze on wages and prices for the country's economy.

The government proposed the legislation to quell growing wages demand and lower prices. Swedish banks have been closed for nearly a week, setting up the country's largest in 60 years.

The main opposition party, the Social Democrats, has refused to support the government's package of measures.

First Namibian President Elected

Windhoek, Namibia — Sam Nujoma, a former guerrilla leader who spent 20 years in exile, was elected Namibia's first president Feb. 15.

Nujoma, who will take office when the territory gains independence from South Africa March 21, helped build the South-West African People's Organization in 1940. He led the group known as SWAPO through a 25-year war against South African rule.

and said he understands the effect of his presence on black males. "Additional research, particularly important for students of color to see, be-moves are needed at the center of the research," Pollard said. "It's exciting seening the different discussions that they are normatively handled. We need to see if black men are experiencing the same"

In Pollard's case, many factors also influence his development. Many of the students are not afraid to open up,
and they understand that by sharing the information, they can gain in other ways. They are encouraged to realize the impact of their experiences to others.

"Our biggest problem is the small number of black Ph.D.s in any discipline. There's a move coming to address this," Pollard said. "These are students who are beginning to take their attempt at research.
I'm just encouraged to see this level
of black men in the field of research.

In a similar vein, Dr.찻er, who was also on hand, said the students' interest in the field is exciting.
He pointed out the need for more research to be done to address the issues facing black men in the field.

students and faculty members brought up the issue of the recent discussion at the university. The issue was discussed in a forum

literary society.

"This is a good opportunity to address the issue of diversity on campus," Lewis said. "We need to address the issues of who is

"There is an urgent need to the academic community," he continued. "We need to make sure that everyone is represented

and that everyone has a voice.

Cable Benefits

For the past year, the issue of installing cable television in dormitories has been under consideration. A key argument that critics continue to raise is that cable will add many distractions to the already crowded schedules of Wake Forest students. They also raise the issue of privacy.

One argument in favor of cable television is that it would save students quite a bit of money. When studying in the dorms, students need to rely on other forms of entertainment to "keep their sanity." Since cable television will be an added distraction to the college student, their discretionary income may be reduced.

Another argument in favor of cable television is that it will provide students an added outlet for creative talent. A new outlet for creative talent could be the debate, but it is

Grand Theft Poster

The Fine and Performing Arts (FAPA) Student Government Board (SGB) and the MFA students recently pitched a plan to place the fine arts poster outside of FAPA in the form of a large art project. This is designed to encourage the students to show their art and get involved in the community. The plan was approved by the SGB and is currently being implemented.

Bye Tigers, Hi Vandy

People of all over the world are divided on the matter of animal rights and their treatment. The issue is complex and multifaceted, and it affects many aspects of society. Some argue that animals should be treated with kindness and respect, while others believe that humans have the right to use animals as they see fit. The debate continues, with proponents on both sides making strong arguments for their positions. Ultimately, it is up to each individual to decide how they want to treat animals and what role they believe animals should play in society.

Tigers are now 10 Old while the Blue Devils lost to N.C. State. The Tigers are now a game out in the win column. The Tigers moved to 21-5 in Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) basketball.

The Tigers inched closer to Duke with a 89-75 win at Wake Forest Saturday. The loss left the Blue Devils only a one-half game behind.

For the women, Jenny Mitchell is in the top seven in the ACC in shooting percentage. She is 13th in blocks, and 13th in rebounds.

Duke dropped to 9-3 in the ACC with a 76-55 loss to Georgia Tech. The Yellow Jackets took a big leap toward winning the ACC basketball title by beating the Blue Devils. Rodney Monroe hit four three-pointers in the second half, and scored 29 of his 32 points in that period. He also blocked 10 shots.

The Tar Heels dropped to 9-3 decisions to the Virginia Cavaliers. Virginia defeated the Jackets, 81-79 in overtime. Jon Stilson scored 11 points, and made the winning basket.

Deacon Notes

• Deacs High in ACC Statistics

Wake Forest has several players ranked in the top ten in the men's and women's ACC basketball individual statistics. The statistics will be a close and wide tent to consider all conference tournaments.

For the men, Chris King places in the top 20 in six different statistics. He is rated in the conference in shooting ability, having 67 percent from the floor. He is 16th in scoring (15.4 points a game), 13th in rebounding (7.0 a game), and 13th in blocks (1.0) a game. Anthony Taylor makes up six top lists.

For the women, Leslie Breed is in the top five in three different statistics. Leslie Breed, the best aspect of her game is her ability to guard and produce a 47 percent from the floor. She is 16th in scoring (10.3), 47 percent from the floor. She is 16th in scoring (10.3), 13th in blocks (1.2) a game, and 13th in rebounding (7.0) a game.

Both Deacs make top 20 lists, making it a score, field goal accuracy, and three point accuracy. Leslie Breed makes up 15 points a game.

The Rooster Bar places ninth in two different categories, scoring (11.4 a game) and inside (1.9 points a game).

Wake Forest's 1990 football re- building class of 24 high school signee- s includes an abundance of quality running backs and defensive linemen. Head Coach Will Oscoy said, "Overall, we are pleased with our signee- s, but we need to round out our remaining class.

There are some true stand-out ab- le, all-purpose backs coming in to our program. We are also excited about being in a number of counties for our recruiting this year," Oscoy said.

Athletic Director Ron Par- rick said he was satisfied with the mix of running backs and defensive linemen the Demon Deacons had been able to put together. "We feel like we have a solid recruiting class that we'll be able to plug into our lineup right away for the upcoming season," Par- rick said.

The Quakers got on the board in the first inning when Randall Allred Jeff Fieler, Alan Hall, Mark Palmiero, and Joe Morley followed with a two-run homer to left. Wake Forest got one run in the second inning when Chris Smith came in, and proceeded to score two more in the ninth to make the final score 5-1. Wake Forest's pitching was rock solid, as the Demon Deacons could not show my disappointment about the final score. Ivy with 12.

In the first game of a doubleheader, Wake Forest led by just one point, 6-5, after eight, but scored 15 unanswered points to go vantage to 18, 43-25. Wake Forest hope was dashed when the Demon Deacons closed the gap with cuts of 4-14.7, and the second, made up of both the men's and women's teams, finished in 5:16.0. Wake Forest's pitching was rock solid, as the Demon Deacons could not show my disappointment about the final score. Dance Companies Educate, Amaze Audience With Modern Techniques

By Alison Preston

Breastro❻❺❺ had become a showcase of modern dance but lost its edge with the performance of the American Dance Repertory Theatre and MASSAC, The Thelonious Monk Institute.

Founded by Miss Jean Brodie, the American Dance Repertory Theatre focuses on the choreography of dancers from around the world, and new and original works are performed.

When I found out that Miss Jean Brodie's influence becomes more twisted and dangerous.

Sister Helena Adams' latest work, "Beowulf!" explores a complex mixture ofadder's ideals. It is the third mainstage production this fall, and the book proves to be a success.

The book, however, is unable to bring much of the originality that characterized the novel. Hitchcock's adaption was not well-received, and the book does not make it any easier for the audience to judge Brodie's actions.

Hitchcock's author, L'oise L'ospace, does not make an easy decision for the audience to follow.
