ENGLISH CLUB HAS FORMAL MEETING

First Regular Meeting of Literary Organization Was Held Last Night

IMPORTANT SPEAKERS WILL BE IMPORTED

Nuria is President of Club This Year; Members to Pict

The first regular meeting of the English Club was held last night. The speaker had not been announced when the Old Gold and Black went to press, so no one knew this year as the Athletic Club was granted it as an unusual favor to the 1928 class. Dr. Wright, head of the English Department, presided in a chair at a table on the second floor of the Main Building.

The meeting opened with several minutes of reading from "The Old Curiosity Shop." The speaker, a member of the English Department, read several pages from the book, which was chosen as a part of the English Club's annual program. The reading was followed by a brief discussion of the book, during which the speaker outlined the plot and introduced some of the major characters. The meeting concluded with the announcement of the next meeting, which will be held on the same day at the same hour. All members were encouraged to attend.

COACHES AND BOYS ARE GIVEN BANQUET

Miss Je Williams Throws Feed for Athletic Gentlemen; Kithlin Says "Hack"

The Wake Forest College football team received a warm welcome from the students of the university when it arrived on the campus last night. The team, which is considered one of the best in the country, was greeted by a large crowd of students who lined the streets and cheered as the team entered the stadium.

The football team was greeted by Dr. Thomas D. Kirklin, president of the university, who made a brief address welcoming the team to Wake Forest. He said that he was proud to have the team on the campus and hoped that it would have a good game.

The meeting concluded with the announcement of the next meeting, which will be held on the same day at the same hour. All members were encouraged to attend.

METHODIST CHURCH IS GOING STRONG

Washington Organization Headed By Dixon Has Regular School Session; Have Next Meeting

Methodist work on the campus received its greatest impulse this year by the energetic organization of the Methodist Student Union, founded by both members of the Methodist Episcopal Conference. The organization is sponsored by Dr. Bruce R. Dixon, who was graduated from Wake Forest College in 1928 and is now a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Methodist Student Union is making a study of the life of Christ and his teachings as applied to modern civilization. The Union is composed of members of both the Methodist and Baptist churches, and it is aimed at those who are interested in literary work.

Our generous "blend of the library," like Isabel Ladd, has not seen her very interesting collection of homemade. In a recent letter Miss Ladd writes: "The nucleus for the hundredseat collection was formed by a collection of three or four hundred books which I was left to me, and I have increased it by purchase and exchange with my friends. I am delighted with it. There is a thousand times more and I have them, along with the many volumes of my own collection and duplicates. There is not a wonderful collection, but the collection is interesting, it is rare, and it is always that I would like to have in the cabinet, with the beautifully mounted shelves alphabetically arranged. It is a pleasure to walk among the shelves, as at present placed in a quiet room in the rear of the music room.

Deacons Play Emory and Henry Tonight

So They Tell Me

By BALFE GLENN

The great game which Wake Forest put up against the strong George Washington University last Saturday night has sent the student's hopes soaring for a victory over Duke this year. The two points which the Deacons scored were the only points of the game against the Colonials all year. And they were built up more this time through the big games Washington line than all of the teams put together have been able to make against them.

The Colonials possess All-American Tyffo Leonard, who had quite well to look for a large part of the game. And the players are of the opinion that if he can be stopped, then so can this highly tested Colonial Crew.

The average of George Washington displayed an excellent cleaving action and the fans present were most pleased with the work of the student body that was exploited with skill and hard work. That they raised a signal of the spirit of the school, which is explained by the closeness of the game.

This pep rally which is to come next Saturday is expected to be the student's time to_shine. There has not been a program anything this year that has raised the spirit of the school. This pep rally will be the most colorful one in the history of every Wake Forest student in the life of Wake Forest. Wake Forest has a great chance of dressing the pioneer team of student leaders. Rain/Clouds, the leader's and the sports department of the Old Gold and Black a gigantic pep rally will be held the night before the Duke game, which will be played Saturday, November 13. Thus for this year the pep rallies have not been able to live up to the high hopes established.

The leader of the cheerleaders and the sports department of the Old Gold and Black is acting in an unofficial capacity to help the leaders.

As the plans are now, the rally will begin inside and football action has been finished. Junior-Armed forces, the student body and the cheerleaders will come in the several sets furnished by the drummers and trumpet and lead the crowd which will wind through the campus of the school and then down the football field, where a large bonfire will be build. clones to be presented to the school to improve the spirit of the school and to show the school the spirit that the Wake Forest student has.

Several prominent alumni of school will deliver talks including President Kitchin, Dr. R. E. Stevens, Coach Weaver, Capt. Pat Swan, Tom O'Neill, and some of the faculty members.

Throughout the course of the parade, the speech will be given and the students and the teachers will be present to assist the leaders. The band, under the direction of Dr. Kitchin, will be in full sail to supply the needs of the occasion.

The men of the cheerleaders have received the hearty endorsement of the student body and the faculty members, both from the Wake Forest and the junior colleges and the school, and the moniker of a successful campaign. However, they are both expected to wear shoes of dreams as their chants make noise around the pitch desired by the cheer leaders.

Let's find out why Turkish tobacco is so good to a good cigarette.

On the sunny slopes of Crimea is the fertile foils of Macedonia...along the shores of the Black Sea...grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

These Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes.

Turkish tobacco is famous for its spicy aroma, and a lot of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

To this day we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right kinds of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we add that characteristic to the cigarettes that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

Turkish tobacco alone is in the open air is to be ordered.
