The statement was the first in the University's history of bringing its talents to bear on the problem of life expectancy in the United States.

The convention began on Monday, March 22, with Dr. Humber delivering his keynote address. The meeting continued through Thursday, March 25, with a special session on Friday, March 26.

The keynote address was titled "The Future of Science in the United States." It focused on the role of science in meeting the challenges of the future, including problems such as energy, the environment, and health care.

Dr. Humber emphasized the importance of international cooperation in addressing these challenges. He highlighted the need for continued investment in research and development, and the importance of fostering a culture of innovation and collaboration.

The keynote address was followed by a panel discussion featuring prominent scientists and policymakers, who discussed the implications of the keynote address for the future of science and society.

The meeting concluded with a special session, "The Future of Science in the United States: A View From the Front Lines." This session featured keynote speakers who provided perspectives from the front lines of scientific research, including a range of topics such as education, funding, and policy.

The meeting was attended by a diverse group of participants, including scientists, policymakers, and members of the public. Overall, the meeting was well-received, with many attendees expressing enthusiasm for the future of science in the United States and a commitment to working together to address the challenges of the future.
New Baptist Student Union Heads Take Posts

Peggy Glavine To Guide
17-Man Religious Council

The Baptist Student Union Council for the 1951-'52 school year met last week for its organizational work. Council elections, enough for the entire term of office, were held on Sunday evening, March 4, before the Student Union Council meeting.

The new group, which is comprised of the veterans honored previously for their services to the Student Union, plus the officers of last year, was installed after careful and extended discussion. The council officers were elected for the remainder of the college year, and, in addition, will guide campus religious activities through the Fall and Winter semesters.

Benedict R.S., President Charles Glavine, who has been elected to the highest religious task at Wake Forest this year, now heads council members, their two year's old experience as active members of Student Union.

Yates, D., First-year student, junior from Elizabeth City area, general chairman; Thomas H., junior from Gloucester, publicity chairman; Jones, J., sophomore from Louisburg, chairman of the Baptist Student Union Council; and Henderson, C., sophomore from Roxboro, extension director.

Besides the Baptist Student Union Council, another group is being organized for the religious extension of the church, the Youth Board, whose members are working with the church in the various areas of the Student Union Council.

The council met the second week of the following officers, first vice-president, Louie White, sophomore from Raleigh, N. C.; second vice-president, Bob White, junior from Morganton, N. C.; third vice-president, Ray Green, junior from Norths, N. C.; recording secretary; May Fry, junior from Roxboro, N. C.; secretary-treasurer, Peg Ballew, junior from Raleigh, N. SPORTS WARNINGS

By "Red" Pope

With the baseball season thoroughly underway, Wake Forest has had a slow start and is one of the better teams in the entire nation, for it has already proven itself to be once again a power in the东南 Conference. The Deacon squad, under the leadership of Coach Preston, has made a strong showing in the conference's opening games.

Booster members, who are revenues derived from the sale of athletic tickets, have committed their dollars to buy season passes for the Wake Forest football and basketball teams. The tickets are being sold at $125 each for football and $50 each for basketball. This year, the Deacons have made a strong showing in both sports, and the tickets are in high demand.

The Wake Forest football team has already played its first two games, winning both. The team is currently ranked second in the conference, and is expected to make a strong showing in the remainder of the season. The Wake Forest basketball team has also made a strong start, and is currently ranked third in the conference. The team is expected to continue its strong performance in the remainder of the season.

The Wake Forest baseball team has also made a strong showing, and is currently ranked fifth in the conference. The team is expected to continue its strong performance in the remainder of the season.

Principles In Woman's Government Presidential Election Race

For the first time in the history of the University of North Carolina, the campus societies and the student government have voted in the presidential election races. The organization of the women's student government, the Women's Government Association, was opposed by a substantial majority of the student body. The only organization that is now in existence is the Women's Government Association, which was established by the women's organization, the Women's Student Government, on April 15.

The Women's Government Association is a student organization that is independent of the university. It was founded in 1920 and has been in existence ever since. The organization is made up of all the women in the university, and it is run by a board of directors that is elected by the women of the university. The organization has a president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer, and it is responsible for the organization of all the events and activities of the women's student government.

The organization is also responsible for the management of the women's student government office, which is located on the second floor of the Student Union. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and it is staffed by a full-time secretary and a part-time assistant secretary.

The organization is also responsible for the maintenance of the women's student government newsletter, which is published weekly. The newsletter is available online and is also available for pick-up at the women's student government office.

The organization is also responsible for the organization of all the events and activities of the women's student government. These events include the women's student government elections, the women's student government social events, and the women's student government sports events.

The organization is also responsible for the management of the women's student government budget. This budget is used to pay for the organization of the events and activities of the women's student government, and it is also used to pay for the salaries of the women's student government employees.

The organization is also responsible for the organization of the women's student government scholarships. These scholarships are awarded to women who are in need of financial assistance to continue their education at the university.

The organization is also responsible for the organization of the women's student government internships. These internships are offered to women who are interested in gaining work experience in the field of women's studies.

The organization is also responsible for the organization of the women's student government research projects. These research projects are conducted by women who are interested in conducting research in the field of women's studies.

The organization is also responsible for the organization of the women's student government publications. These publications include the women's student government newsletter, the women's student government yearbook, and the women's student government magazine.

The organization is also responsible for the organization of the women's student government grants. These grants are awarded to women who are interested in conducting research in the field of women's studies.
