Controversy continues over Bush visit

Deacon’s appearance angers Democrats

By JENNIE SMICK

Last week the Wake Forest Democrat and College Democrats approved the visit of George Bush. The approval was taken at the only student meeting regarding Bush at Wake Forest, where the Deacon later joined hands with administration and found out later that the Deacon, the cheerleaders, and the student body were not invited to the rally. As a result of the meeting, some students have begun to claim that Wake Forest has endorsed any Bush rally after Cindy Griffen political statement by anything he did. They were not supposed to speak to the administration, for, as Cameron Reynolds Gymnasium continues to be a catalyst of the problem. A problem with alcohol-related issues.

Odetta, a female folklore singer, performed last Sunday afternoon in Rockefeller Hall. Her appearance at Wake Forest was made possible by Maria Angeles, a friend of Odetta's and the Rockefeller Foundation scholar at the University. Odetta was born in NNFRICON, Alabama. At the age of 29, her family moved to Los Angeles, California. Having a consuming interest in folk songs and their caretakers, Odetta taught herself to play the guitar.

The Rockefeller Foundation is cordially invited to attend the opening of the show on November 2.

The show will be open Monday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The show is sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation. For more information, call 377-2208.

The Art and Music department of the Forsyth County Public Library presents an exhibition of photography by Henry Sapi and Ted Dovizio throughout the months of August and September in the Main Library gallery. The exhibition will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

The authors have been working on their English captions, both cocker and quint, and the exhibit is sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation.

Director of "See How They Run" Harold Telford.

"See How They Run" opens

The play, "See How They Run," is a British satire written by Peter Shaffer and directed by Harold Telford. The play has been performed in New York and London.

Telford said this is a perfect play to play in a theater because it requires performances from all of the actors. "The play is a perfect marriage of the play and the director," Telford said. "The actors must keep running, even at the slowest pace, which makes the audience understand what is happening."

Telford also said his future plans to make more plays like this in the future. "Although the play has a serious issue, it makes us laugh, and the laughs we are waiting for at our society," said Telford.

Originally performed in London in 1963, the play was also performed in Paris in 1964. It is a perfect play to play in a theater because it requires performances from all of the actors. College Democrats

By RANDY GRIFFIN

The College Democrats is an organization which serves to advise students on political issues and to encourage student participation in the political process.

The primary body is made up of Cindy Griffin, president, Bill Serjeant, vice-president, and Gayle Styles, secretary.

College Democrats work to identify voting patterns, their positions, and the overall issue in the election. They promote responsible citizenship and involvement in the political process.

Federalist society now open to undergraduates

By SCOTT SCHEINER

Undergraduates at Wake Forest can now join the Federalist society for Law and Public Policy Studies, an organization that was previously open exclusively to law students.

According to Bill Lyons, the president of the Wake Forest chapter, the Federalist Society is founded to promote the principles of the Constitution, the rule of law, and federalism. The organization provides a pipeline for members entering the legal field in government or the private sector.

Members, as Lyons testified to, are law students interested in the rights, protections, and responsibilities of the Constitution. The number of students entering the legal field is not known, but members do plan to attend events.

The Federalist Society seeks to sponsor a forum on government relations and the legislative process. The organization hopes to sponsor a forum on government relations and the legislative process.

The Federalist Society sponsors a number of symposia to be held on March 3 and 4 at the University of Delaware.

College Republicans

By BEVERLY RYDER

The College Republicans of Wake Forest are gearing up for an election and are actively seeking students for their party's ticket.

The group of students who is to be selected for the College Republicans is the College Republicans, an organization that is specifically involved in the selection of student representatives to the state level of the College Republicans. The group is not as large as it would normally be due to a lack of administrative officials. Most of the students are new to the College Republicans, and a few are new to the College Republicans organization.

The club, although it is partisan, does not have partisan prejudices for membership. Members do not have to be Republicans, North Carolina citizens, or even registered voters.

The student activists currently involved are working to build a state-wide organization with as many students serving as possible.

The decision of the student club is to back the candidates of the Republican party. The club will hold a dinner honoring the candidates of the college Republicans.

The fourth question will focus on another opportunity to meet Congressional candidates who have been nominated.

Reagan's religious weapon backfires

Endorsement

In an attempt to appeal to a broader range of voters, the Republican Party has introduced a religious plank into its platform. The plank, which supports the rights of religious organizations to operate as they see fit, has been controversial and has divided the party. While some members have expressed concern that the plank could alienate secular voters, others have hailed it as a way to assert the party's conservative values. Despite the controversy, the religious plank has been included in the final platform and will be considered by voters at the party's convention. It remains to be seen how effective this strategy will be in the upcoming election.
Dems response to rally

This fall the exclamation of the political campaign is going to be heard loud and clear. With the Reagan-Bush rally beginning the school year's campaigning, we hope that every student has made up their minds to vote for whom they believe is the best candidate for the office of President.

However, in the midst of the political campaign, we provide an atmosphere in which there appears to be a liberty and freedom of expression for both ideas. By providing a forum for the College Democrats, we want to prevent any announcement or personal belief which would be against the ideas of the group. If you are for the Reagan-Bush rally and you feel that your beliefs are not being heard, then you are free to say so. The College Republicans have really been a model of free expression and we hope that the little bit will stop any further names.

We, as a society, see a majority party and want to prevent any thing that favors one group. That is why we made up the College Democrats and we will not reconvene the society of our preference for the Democratic candidates for the 1984 election.

We have always promoted the candidates of the Democratic party here on campus and will continue to do anything that is fair and just for the democratic candidates and in this instance, the candidates made with these ideas in mind and not the "beneficiaries of a Republican rally." By the result of the activities of the Reagan-Bush rally, the College Democrats have gained more followers than we ever had. The College Democrats and their ideas, as a matter of principle, would not stop the demonstration. The College Democrats Party has always defined the President as a centrist, and we would never have freedom to say what we believe in and that is why we have decided to go to our organization that day.

As we prepare for our rallies and receptions within the next few days, we fully expect the College Republicans to adhere to the written agreement and if, there are any signs of campaign activities within the day, we ask that you will be aware of the College Republicans. Also, this is a good time to remember that we are in a country and we have a freedom of speech and are doing our organization that day.

For those of you who are interested in the upcoming rally, we want to take the time to introduce to our students the College Republicans. Aside from their dedication to the welfare of the country, they are a very serious group and have a strong commitment to the principles of the Republican party. However, as a political group, the College Republicans have a strong commitment to the principles of the Republican party. However her long term challenge trying to budget her time. The scuba and outing clubs, lecture and a.m just to collapse, only to get up again. In fact, the only bad experience she's been worth for several students and their parents with alumni from the freshman dorms. Students who are anxious to be the U.S. Manager, Saleil, is now Mullen, Dean Taylor and the admissions department to actively create more spirit.

Pro Poe, 1984, Idlewild Harvey presented the demonstration, Meet Lynks, in 6-7 p.m. Tuesday. Harvey just returned from the University of South Florida, where she and every other university student has a right to their respective student convention. Lynks are an advisory council to the Student Association and are made up of students from each of the colleges and must be composed of at least 20% of the student population. However, the organization may not include more than 50% of any one college. The members of the organization are elected by the student body. The members are appointed by the president of the university to serve for a term of two years. The organization is responsible for the preparation and presentation of the annual student convention. The convention is held annually and is attended by students, faculty, and staff from each college. The convention is an opportunity for students to share ideas and concerns about student life and to learn about the services and resources available to them. The meeting was attended by students from each of the colleges and included representatives from the Student Association and the faculty. The meeting was a success and the students were able to provide valuable feedback and recommendations for improvements to the Student Association. The next meeting will be held in the spring and will focus on the upcoming Student Association elections and the budgeting process.
Wadsworth paces golfers

Helen Wadsworth

Being a golf cages player and the head coach of the golf team for the Deacons, Helen Wadsworth is a part of the golf team at Georgia Tech. As a former collegiate golfer, Wadsworth has the experience and knowledge needed to lead the team to success. Under her leadership, the Deacon golf team has shown impressive performances and has come close to winning tournaments. Wadsworth's dedication to the sport and her coaching skills have contributed to the team's success.

Deacons and Wolfpack tangle

By HOWARD MOUNTAIN

Seeking revenge for a 14-7 loss to the Wolfpack last year, the Deacons are ready to face their ACC foe. The Deacons have a strong offense, with a balanced attack led by senior quarterback Will McKeller. McKeller, who was selected by the ACC in pre-season polls, is expected to be a key player in this game. The defense, led by senior linebacker Steve Schmid, is also expected to be a formidable force.

Baldinger leads Deacon defense

By RON GLOVER

When most people think about Wake Forest football, one of the things that quickly comes to mind is the impressive defensive line. The Deacons have a strong front seven, which is led by senior defensive tackle Gary Baldinger. Baldinger is a force to be reckoned with, and he has been named to several All-American teams. He is known for his strong presence and his ability to stop the run. Baldinger has worked hard to improve his game, and this year he is expected to be even more dominant. He is ready to lead the Deacons to victory.

Grad selected as swim coach

Former ACC Wake Forest swimming coach Steve Higgie was named the new swim coach at Georgia Tech. Higgie, who guided the Demon Deacons for 11 years, is expected to bring the same intensity and dedication to the Tech program. He will be joined by former Olympic swimmer Richard Funk, who served as Higgie's assistant coach at Wake Forest.

Short Sports

Gregg returns

Wake Forest basketball player Gregg French is expected to return to the Deacons' lineup after missing last season due to a knee injury. French, who was a key player for the Deacons in 1983, is expected to add depth to the team's lineup. He will be joined by senior forward Tom Stead, who is also returning after missing last season due to an injury.

Netters win

The Wake Forest Women's Tennis team opened the fall season with a win against Virginia Tech. The team won 7-0 in the opening match, led by senior captain Stephanie Phipps, who was named to the All-ACC team. The Deacons are off to a great start, and they will be looking forward to the rest of the season.
The Deacons have scored six goals in their last two contests and they have not allowed a goal since the first half of their 1-1 draw with Catawba. Assistant coach John McDonald said the team has been working on its defense, and he believes the team is ready to go against the University of Virginia.

Reiner makes successful comedy

By ELIZABETH ADLEY

In "Tomlin," on the other hand, Edwina is more of a role model than a character. She is a rich, whiny lady who is slowly but surely dying. Edwina is very bitter about life and unable to enjoy her immense wealth. She wants from life something that she has never had - true companionship. Cobb is apparently going to get her a stableman's daughter. Edwina and Cobb start out "plotting," but then she threatens to leave. They reluctantly give up and the fun begins. Cobb's ODy begins with a soft arrangement, as "She Never Had It." The first full song is "She Was a Man," and the rest of the album is a steady album. The only song that could be called a disaster is "She Never Had It." The rest of the songs are all good as the eccentric invalid getting a healthy life, she lowers up and they start to get along. They set out to find Terry Tomlin, who is enjoying her new, healthy life, as it turns out, she is not the nice girl that Edwina and Cobb presumed she was. In fact, she is a down right nasty person. She is addicted to go along with the plot and is grabbing out to provide Edwina with a chance through the moment that was once Edwina's and her soul is transmigrated into the proper body. The movie ends very neatly in the plot, linearly pairing a budding relationship between Cobb and Edwina.

It is heating as well as funny, both realistic that they have grown to like each other.

Edwina helps Cobb through his mid-life crisis and provides him with companionship. Cobb teaches Edwina to live life as she never had. Cobb realizes how he has changed and actually loves Edwina when her soul is transmigrated out of his body. Martin is good in his game, but Reiner makes successful comedy. Edwina has a laugh of "The Ladies' Day" in it, as he is really funny. This is certainly a step in the right direction for Martin and it is more than just a bunch of one-liners thrown together. He has well-defined character roles to plot to contain his sometimes overwhelming persona.

Tomlin is as good as her role allows her to be. She certainly can't put her foot in her mouth. The movie ends very neatly, and the music is as good as her role allows. Cobb and Edwina make a good team. "All of Me" may be just the thing after a long day of studying.

‘Victims’ entertains heavy rock fans

By KEN RYAN

Heavy-duty rock ‘n’ roll seems to be making a comeback in this age of new metal bands. The electrifying sounds of such bands as Ratt and Twisted Sister have drawn public attention. Aside from these solo efforts, artists like Steve Morse, the guitarist of Deep Purple, have also been doing successfully by Carl Reiner...
County-wide effort aimed at ear break-ins

Breaking, entering and larceny from vehicles have always been problems in Winston-Salem and are to continue as long as vehicles are parked, the officers say. The efforts of the officers are increasing to combat the problem.

County Crime Stoppers

There were six break-ins from auto parts and five from home. Winston-Salem Police Department officials said some break-ins appear to be related to the fact that the peaceful suburbs are trying to minimize the trend.

The other, financial opportunities to contribute is greater because students are more concerned about financial aid than students are about financial aid. Wake Forest offers many opportunities, two of which are the Golden Opportunity Program and the Black Students Association.

Financial awards aid grads and alumni

by Susan Rawley

Although many people may not realize it, a food service is as much a part of our community as the businesses, restaurants, schools, faculty, and students. As it is, this food service, as a whole, has had a bigger impact on Wake Forest University for more years than we realize. We have taken for granted the food service, but this is not the only service that can affect the progress and eligibility of its alumni.

Scholarships available to upperclassmen

The Committee on Scholarships and Financial Aid annually reviews a list of scholarships to students who are enrolled in the school. If you are interested in a scholarship that is available, please contact the financial aid office.
