Snow Blankets Wake Forest Over Vacation

By Jan A. Arnesen

Wake Forest University suspended two of its public safety officers without pay Dec. 4 pending the conclusion of an investigation of a possible break-in to the university's art and sculpture buildings, university officials announced Thursday.

The Wake Forest Journal reported that the two officers suspected were Robert L. Johnson and M. Randy Hodges, security C.

Conor Tighe, chairman of the Wake Forest police information office, and John Paul, the official who was in charge of the incident, did not disclose the identity of the two officers.

Tighe said the investigation was related to an incident that occurred in late November, she said.

Tighe declined to comment further, saying only that the investigation is continuing and that notices will be kept open until the investigation is complete.

The investigation is being conducted by the Wake Forest Police Department, the Wake Forest University Police Department and the Wake Forest Fire Department.

December registration for the coming semester is "absolutely necessary," University Registrar Harriet Chapman said. A total of 3,100 students are registered for the fall semester, and 3,900 are registered for the spring semester. "We have been working on registration since the end of May," Perry said. The registrar's office received comments from students throughout the registration process about the new system and the procedures that have been put into place.

The registrar's office made a major announcement at a meeting with freshmen and sophomore students in September. Perry said the registrar's office went to all dormitories where they had students enrolled and asked them if they had been to the registrar's office to fill out their schedule for the fall semester when they were home for Christmas.

"If you didn't fill out a schedule for the fall semester when you were home for Christmas," Perry said, "the registrar's office made a phone call to the living area to make sure you registered for your classes for the fall semester.

Luther

His wife, Annette Hefner Luther, said most people were surprised that Luther had lived so long. He was very well known for his long life and his many contributions to the field of philosophy and religion.

Luther described himself as a man who was deeply interested in the study of scripture. He was always eager to learn more about the Bible and its teachings, and he was known for his scholarly approach to the study of religious texts.

Luther's influence extended far beyond the walls of Wake Forest. He was a respected scholar and a respected member of the academic community.

The committee will meet regularly to discuss issues related to the university's academic programs and policies. The committee will also be responsible for reviewing and recommending changes to the university's academic programs and policies.

BOOKSTORE BLUES

Early registration cut the crunch of book-buying this semester. But those students upstairs found juggling bags and books while lining up to check out was a different story.

Flag Lowered

K.A. Takes Positive But Late Step

A few days ago, as the nation paused in remembrance of the Holocaust, the flag at Kappa Alpha was lowered to half staff as a sign of respect for the victims of this tragic event. This gesture was a symbol of our collective sorrow and a reminder of the importance of remembering the lessons of history.

Religious Freedom

Divinity School's Time Has Arrived

President Thomas E. Hearn, Jr., has mentioned the recent foundation of the Wake Forest Divinity School. This decision could have a positive impact on the future of the university. The establishment of a divinity school would allow the university to plan the possibility of establishing a divinity school at Wake Forest, as it has been a long-standing dream of many.

A School of Religion was included in the original plans for Wake Forest. And from 1943 to 1957, a School of Religion existed on the old Wake Forest campus until Southeastern Seniors was established.

A distinct feature of Kappa Alpha is its historical and cultural traditions, which have been instrumental in shaping its identity. Members of the fraternity have always been active in promoting and preserving these traditions, and their contributions have been significant.

One of the key aspects of Kappa Alpha is the careful consideration of its symbols, the national Kappa Alpha officials have taken considerable steps to ensure that these symbols are used appropriately.

Votes For Rover in the '88 Election

I am writing this column for The Wake Forest Witness, the student newspaper of Wake Forest University. In this column, I express my support for Rover, the university's beloved mascot, and encourage students to vote for him in the upcoming election.

I think it is important to recognize Rover's unique role in the university community. He is a symbol of pride and unity, and his presence on campus is a source of joy for many students.

Volunteerism in the United States

The importance of volunteerism in the United States is widely acknowledged. It is a critical component of our society, and its contributions are invaluable.

A study conducted by the Corporation for National and Community Service revealed that approximately 68 million Americans volunteer annually, spending an estimated 8.1 billion hours on behalf of their communities.

The latter could not be achieved. The former is the fact that the Red is highly uneven and the latter is the fact that Burt's Union is much stronger and is not going to go up in the polls. The question of whether or not the student association of which Burt is the president is a lot of insignificant who are either Republicans or Democrats who have no idea what the student association of which Burt is the president is about. Of course, the question of whether or not the student association of which Burt is the president is a lot of insignificant people who have no idea what the student association of which Burt is the president is about.

Meanwhile, back at the Democratic table, the party's fate is still undecided. But it is likely that the party will not support the Direct primaries and instead will support the PSYCHOPATHIC贏得了the New York state primary. The Republican ticket from head to toe, except for one of the candidates, in N.C., will be under minute. If Hart is in the lead, it's a good sign that he will actually get caught this time.

veloped into which bands like Willie and the Hues."

Turn over to side two, however, and you will find "Rain." It's pop-groove replaced with strong dialect and citing symbolism. The album as a whole may be sort of soulful, but if "You All Gave duplicated the difference.

keeping the "Rain."
Women's Team Improves Overall Mark to 12-1
In Front of Capacity Crowd at Reynolds Gym

By Tammy Colby
Daily and Black Sports

Up and coming has been to describe Coach Joe Logan's women's basketball program in Wake Forest, but their rise has got a greater meaning as the Deacons enter nationally-ranked Duke 95-97 at Reynolds Gym on Tuesday.

"It's a great way to start off the season," Logan said. "A win over Duke at Reynolds would be a great start to the season for us."

The Deacons, who are currently 9-2, are looking to improve their season record to 10-2. Logan said that the Deacons have been working hard in practice, and that they are ready to face Duke.

Sophomore forward David Carlyle scored five of the Deacons' 12 points in the first half to lead the Deacons to a 20-15 halftime lead. Carlyle said that the Deacons are looking to keep their momentum rolling.

The Deacons beat the Blue Devils for the second time this season, and are now 7-0 in Wake Forest history.

Carlyle Leads Late Surge as Wake Forest Holds Off Winthrop

With only two minutes remaining in the game, the Deacons were down by 12 points to Winthrop. Carlyle scored five of the Deacons' 11 points in the final two minutes to help Wake Forest win 70-61.

Carlyle said that the Deacons are looking to build on their momentum heading into ACC play.
