RJR Nabisco Donates Building to WFU

Corporate Gift May Be Largest to Education

By CHRISTINE N. NABISCO
The News and Black Mountain News

RJR Nabisco Inc. announced yesterday that it has donated corporate headquarters building on Reynolda Boulevard in Wake Forest University. The company will move its corporate headquarters to Atlanta in 1993.

Last year, the company paid $10 million for the 150,000 square-foot building, which will be renamed Winston-Salem-Salem. The company plans to lease the building for up to three years. The building will be used by the Wake Forest University's School of Business.

RJR Nabisco's corporate headquarters will be located in Winston-Salem, where the company's headquarters are currently located. The building is expected to be occupied by the Wake Forest University's School of Business by the end of next year.

The company's decision to move its corporate headquarters to Atlanta is part of a larger strategic plan to focus more on its tobacco business. The company is expected to cut 5,000 employees as part of this plan.

RJR Nabisco's move to Atlanta is expected to have a significant impact on the Winston-Salem-Salem area. The company has been headquartered in Winston-Salem since 1900, and its presence has been a major influence on the local economy.

New System Receives Praise, Criticism

By LISA VARGAR
Assistant News Editor

Wake Forest students registered by computers for the first time Monday in the registrar's office for first time in university's history. The system, which was designed and programmed by Margaret Perry, registrar, has been called "first-rate" by many students.

The registrar's office said that the new system is easier to use and more efficient than the old system. The old system was manual and required students to fill out forms and hand them to clerks.

Students were able to register at the same time and were not required to wait in line. The registrar's office said that the new system will help reduce the amount of time students spend in the building.

Rhodes Scholar Scholarships to Study Philosophy, Physiology

By GERALD RENNER
The News and Black Mountain News

Marie Merritt recently became Wake Forest's second Rhodes Scholar in as many years. Merritt, a senior English major, has participated in track and helped to the Forest Women's track team.

The award was announced during the final day of the recent Rhodes Scholarship application. Merritt was selected for the award on the basis of her academic record, extracurricular activities, and personal qualities.

Merritt is a philosophy major at Wake Forest University and has been a member of the track team since her senior year.

Merritt said that she was surprised to learn that she had been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship. She said that she had never even considered applying for the award before.

FRATERNITIES BOLD MEETING

The Wake Forest chapter of the National Student Legal Services will host its annual meeting Monday at 4 p.m. in Tripple Hall. All students interested in participating in monthly resolution debates are invited to attend.

The fraternity will be meeting to amend its constitution. Changes to be proposed include requiring two-thirds approval for a quorum and no less than 72 hours' notice for meetings.

The meeting will be held in the room of the office of the dean of students at Davis Hall.

BROWNING BATTING

Cristina Bess and Allison Reid are brown-bagging an arsenal of thunderbolts. Students crowded the bookshop after registration Monday and Tuesday.

Museum of Man Moves to New Location; Open Monday

The United States' most popular museum moved to a new location, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and will be open to the public on Monday.

The museum, which used to be located in Reynolda Village, has been in storage for the past eighteen months. Its exhibits have been stored in the basement of Tribble Hall and in other buildings.

Wake Forest University, Marching In Parade

By Tom Legan

A 20-year-old member of the Wake Forest varsity football team, John B. Myers, was one of the original organizers of the Wake Forest University Marching Band, which competed against college bands from around the United States.

Myers said: "The United Way is one of the most important organizations of our time. Everyone working together in the same goal is necessary. Ten years of the experience of being a part of it makes an impact on the band." He was part of the band that performed at the Rose Bowl game in 1986. That year, he was named a Drum Major of the Wake Forest band, and he continued to play in the band for the next four years. He will major in political science.

The actual move was planned by the university. The physical plant will take care of the transport of all our items that we have in storage. Myers said: "The move took several days. We are pleased with our work so far and are looking forward to March with several exhibits set up."
Text of President Hearn's Remarks

Following is the text of President Hearn's remarks of the news conference.

I am very pleased by the announcement of the RJR Nabisco gift to the corporate headquarters building of Wake Forest University. This gift is exceeded only by the generosity of the gift. On behalf of the entire Wake Forest community, we say thank you to Mr. Bass and the chairman and directors of RJR Nabisco. Our program information indicates that this is one of the two or three largest corporate gifts made to higher education in the history of corporate philanthropy. It is the highlight of the company's generous support of support to the university since Wake Forest joined the medical school in 1964. During this time, gifts from the company to Wake Forest have been in excess of $30 million. This gift is an example of the relationship that can exist between private enterprise and private institutions, its contribution. It is also an example of the confidence that the educational institutions have in the future of our society.

The application process was very long and hard. Meritt felt as if she had spent hours and hours preparing for 40 minutes' worth of interviews. She said that the 30-second response represented the couple's interest in Rhodes and the Rhodes house will become a part of that decision. She said that the purpose of the Big Shows of the societies will be restricted for the first time—only society members and rushees will be allowed to attend. Let's suppose, president of the Big Shows and rushees will be allowed to attend. Let's suppose, president of the Big Shows and rushees will be allowed to attend.

A goal of the rush process is to allow more people to rush as quickly as possible. It is the responsibility of the Rushers at a society to promote a society that is to rush and that is a responsibility which we will willingly and gladly discharge.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Tolerance Necessary

I am not an enemy of Wake Forest, and I was extremely disappointed to discover that the student legislature has defeated a resolution that would have condemned educational and research activities with the all too familiar quote of "the invisible hand of heterosexism." The quality of the arguments presented against the resolution were thoroughly unpersuasive, consequently, the comments I have made. Why is common cause precisely the cause of the careful analysis of the student body? I am not sure whether their policy can withstand criticism.

Mr. Barnes is quoted in the "Old Gold" as saying that they would be a part of a very conservative campaign.

On this, I believe that the views of Mr. Barnes should at least be aware that many students are in agreement with some of the views expressed by the conservative (but not necessarily homosexual) group. To dismiss them as "insane," I believe, would be a grave mistake. The only way that the student legislature can be a part of a very conservative campaign.

Resolutions Are The Deciding Factor

Mike Bowers

Old Gold and Black Columnist

Attitudes are generally scrutinized at the beginning of the year at Wake Forest. This is the time of year when the administration is looking for any demographic details of how to be a student. This includes those in the dormitory. Our university president, S. P. Sperry, is a student who takes the initiative and makes the first step in raising the forum by any law they put up. Whether they are in the dormitory or second semester.

The most important single force that makes for male heterosexism is the principle of majority. This follows from the simple fact that if the number of gay people was increased by any law they put up. Whether they are in the dormitory or second semester.

There are other, less widespread trends, though not necessarily feel a moral obligation to the same extent.

We should be able to see the fruits of this trend by the time the administration draws up new resolutions.

Graffiti Offends All

I feel compelled and inspired to write this letter to the black students of Wake Forest College. On behalf of the millions of americans, on behalf of the black students of Wake Forest, I am writing this letter to express my support and solidarity.

These graffiti that appeared in the September 1987 issue of the "Wake Forest Review" are examples of the continuing and often escalating racism that affects people of African origin. It is unfortunate that Wake Forest is only a part of a much more widespread pattern of discrimination that affects all segments of our society.

As this issue of the "Wake Forest Review" goes to press, I am writing this letter to express my support and solidarity.

Examine Racial Attitudes

Reports of racial tensions at Howard University and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill have been followed by a similar atmosphere at Wake Forest. We can see the NAACP's optimistic goal, "Harmony for Everyone," as being an achievable one. The question of what the University Administration and the student body can do to ensure this goal is also an achievable one. Diversity in the student body and the University Administration is crucial to the success of the University's efforts to achieve a "colorblind" education. One Man's View of the Afterlife

D o you believe in the afterlife?

I thought about that last night. I'm not sure I have any desire to believe in it, my eyes were heavy. I don't want to believe in it. I've always thought that if there is a life after death, it would be a place where we can all be together.

"Convince me that all you care about is yourself."

If you think about that sort of thinking, you see that the end result is something that will affect people who are far from you, it will start to affect your fellow man.

"That's right."

It's a matter of getting people to see that they are not alone.

"Yes, there is a great deal of love in this world." I could tell that I wasn't going to change the subject. As long as he was interested, I could listen for a few of my minutes. Maybe I could catch him later.

"And what about you?" I thought about a few minutes. My eyes were closed. "Tell me." I said.

"I think that the most important thing is to be true to yourself." I said.

"Yes, that's right."

It's a matter of getting people to see that they are not alone.

"You and I will see what we can do."

I thought about that sort of thinking, you see that the end result is something that will affect people who are far from you, it will start to affect your fellow man.

"Yes, we will."

I could tell that we weren't going to change the subject. As long as he was interested, I could listen for a few of my minutes. Maybe I could catch him later.

T he past six weeks have seen a number of constituent months of the need for good government. The need, this is especially true in the light of the recent track record of the government. Throughout this period, there have been a number of constituents who have been vocal about the need for good government.

As a result, it is quite clear that the need for good government is more than ever a matter of concern.

Women Beat Blue Devils

BY CRAIG KUBEKIEWICZ
Sports Editor

DURHAM, N.C.-Denise Staak, who had 16 points and 14 rebounds in Tuesday's 75-72 win over Wake Forest last week, scored 17 points and pulled down 21 rebounds on Saturday. The Duke girls beat the Demon Deacons 66-56 with their fourth straight win of the season. It was the biggest win of the season for Duke, who has been struggling against ACC competition. The Blue Devils are now 6-1 in the ACC and 12-3 overall.

Clemson was able to take advantage of Wake Forest's poor shooting and went on to win 75-72. The Deacons committed 26 turnovers and shot only 37 percent from the field. Wake Forest was outrebounded 56-48 and was outscored 48-29 in the second half.

The win was the 600th in the history of the Wake Forest program. It is the second straight year that Wake Forest has been able to beat Duke. The Deacons are now 4-13 overall and 0-9 in the ACC.

Wake Forest's leading scorer was forward Kim Hunter, who scored 19 points. The Blue Devils were led by guard Paula Anderson, who scored 15 points. Duke forward Cindy Meier had 14 points and 10 rebounds, while Wake Forest forward Bennie Bolton had 12 points and 11 rebounds.

The Deacons are now 6-1 in the ACC and 12-3 overall. The Blue Devils are now 5-2 in the ACC and 14-3 overall.
