La Leake, Dean of Women, released comment on the recent WGA proposal to limit the admission of new members. The move is intended to prevent the influx of students who may be trying to gain entry to the fraternity system and not to the Student House. The proposal is currently under review by the Student Senate, which will need to consider whether such measures are necessary to maintain the integrity of the fraternity system.

Leake Refuses Public Comment
On WGA's Move

Dean of Women La Leake has refused to comment on the recent proposal by the Women's Government Association to restrict the admission of new members. The move is intended to prevent the influx of students who may be trying to gain entry to the fraternity system and not to the Student House. The proposal is currently under review by the Student Senate, which will need to consider whether such measures are necessary to maintain the integrity of the fraternity system.

Corporation and Dissolution

The corporation or dissolution of an organization is a legal process that can affect its existence and operations. A corporation is typically established for a specific purpose and governed by a board of directors. Dissolution occurs when the organization is no longer able to function or when its mission is completed.

The process of dissolving a corporation may involve several steps, including:

1. Filing a petition with the appropriate authority, such as a state court or a federal agency.
2. Notifying creditors and shareholders of the intent to dissolve.
3. Paying off debts and distributing assets to shareholders.
4. Dissolving the corporation's registration with the appropriate authorities.

If a corporation fails to dissolve properly, it may be subject to civil penalties, including fines and legal actions. It is important for organizations to consult with legal counsel to ensure that they comply with all necessary steps and requirements for dissolution.

The state of corporation or dissolution is a critical decision that should not be taken lightly. Organizations should carefully consider their options and seek legal advice before making a final decision.

I. Fugitive Censuses

3 Fraternities For Violations

The Inter-Fraternity Council voted Tuesday night to impose fines and restrictions on three fraternities for违反s.

These violations included hosting illegal parties, violating campus policies, and engaging in的行为. The Inter-Fraternity Council is responsible for enforcing campus policies and ensuring the safety and well-being of all students.

IV. DISCIPLINARY ACTION

In other disciplinary action at the meeting, the Inter-Fraternity Council voted to revoke the charter of a fraternity for failing to meet the minimum enrollment of five members required for the charter to remain in good standing. The fraternity was given an opportunity to submit a plan to address the enrollment issue, but it failed to meet the requirements.

The Inter-Fraternity Council has the authority to take disciplinary action against fraternities that fail to meet the minimum standards set by the university. This includes revoking the charter, imposing fines, and restricting activities.

Students are encouraged to report any violations of campus policies to the Inter-Fraternity Council or other appropriate authorities to ensure the safety and wellbeing of all students.

V. Coed Dormitory Applications Now Being Accepted

Racial and sexual minorities are now eligible to apply for coed dormitory housing at Wake Forest University. This is a significant development for many students, who have often faced discrimination and exclusion in the housing system.

The university has established a process for addressing housing discrimination, and students are encouraged to submit applications for coed housing.

The process involves completing an application and submitting it to the appropriate authority. Students will be notified of the status of their application within a reasonable timeframe.

The university is committed to ensuring that all students have equal access to housing opportunities. It is important for students to take advantage of these opportunities and to report any instances of discrimination.

VI. Cultural Event of The Year

WFU Hears Leontyne Price

by music and visual art could not keep pace with the overwhelming demand for tickets to the WFU Opera's production of "Porgy and Bess," a new musical version of George Gershwin's classic opera. The production was a critical and commercial success, and it attracted a large audience of students and community members.

Leontyne Price was recognized for her exceptional performance and her contributions to the arts.

The event was organized by the university's arts department and was attended by students, faculty, and staff.

VII. Wake Trustees Approve $100 Tuition Raise

Wake Forest University trustees on Jan. 26 approved a $100 tuition increase, an increase of $30,000 that was proposed by the university to cover the costs of rising expenses and to maintain the institution's financial stability.

The increase was approved after extensive review and discussion by the trustees.

The university has a long history of providing high-quality education and training to students from all backgrounds. The increase is intended to support the university's mission and to ensure its continued excellence.

The university is committed to providing financial aid and scholarship opportunities to students who demonstrate financial need. It is important for students to explore these options and to seek assistance if they need financial support.

The increase is expected to raise tuition to $30,000 per year for the 2017-18 academic year. The increase is in line with the $30,000 per year the university has raised in recent years. The university's financial stability is important to maintain the quality of its educational programs and to ensure the continued success of its students.

The increase is expected to generate $3 million in additional revenue for the university, which will be used to support the university's financial stability and to ensure the continued success of its students.
Reforms Improve Draft

Service Selection Director Dr. Cyril J. Wolinski announced the latest draft reforms, which greatly improve the draft’s fairness and efficiency. The reforms, which went into effect for the first time on April 20, 1983, are expected to reduce the number of draft exemptions and to make the draft process more transparent and just.

Dr. Wolinski said that the reforms were necessary to address the long-standing problems with the draft system. He noted that the current system was inefficient, unfair, and inadequate to meet the needs of the nation.

“After years of debate and analysis, we have come up with a new approach to the draft,” Dr. Wolinski said. “This new system is designed to ensure that all young men contribute fairly to the defense of the nation.”

The reforms include a new system for selecting draft candidates, a new system for determining draft exemptions, and a new system for processing draft paperwork.

The new system for selecting draft candidates is based on a lottery system, which is designed to ensure that all young men have an equal chance of being selected for the draft. The lottery is conducted on a nationwide basis, and all eligible young men are entered into the lottery.

The new system for determining draft exemptions is based on a point system, which is designed to ensure that all eligible young men are considered for exemption. The point system takes into account a wide range of factors, including educational attainment, employment status, and military experience.

The new system for processing draft paperwork is designed to make the process more efficient and less burdensome for young men. The new system includes an online application process, which allows young men to complete their draft paperwork online from the comfort of their homes.

“With these reforms, we are taking a significant step forward in improving the draft system,” Dr. Wolinski said. “We believe that these reforms will make the draft system more fair, more efficient, and more just.”
Protests Pile Up

Registration Flunks

By HELEN ADAMS
Staff Writer

University students submitted their regular completion papers at the last minute under the pressure of a gathering storm.

G.S. Pelton, head of the Registrar's Office, stressed that students who fail to complete registration will be penalized.

"Registration must be completed in one day, unless one does not have all of the necessary documents," Pelton said.

Many registration errors have been submitted, according to Pelton.

"Registration errors are frequently submitted by students who have been instructed on how to complete registration," he added.

The number of students submitting registration errors has increased significantly in recent years.

"The increase in errors is due to the lack of understanding of the registration process," Pelton said.

"We have implemented new procedures to reduce the number of errors, but it is still a significant problem."

Art Exhibit Opens

A new art exhibit will open Monday at 9:00 p.m. in DePauw's Art Gallery. The exhibit will close on April 1st, 1987, and will be open to the public daily except Sundays.

The exhibit features the works of a variety of artists, including Gouin, Baskin, and Albers.

The exhibit is sponsored by the University Art Department and is curated by Dr. Sterling Boyd.

Aiken Says SG Loans Successful

Mike Aiken, student body president, said that the SG loan system is successful.

"The SG loan system has been very successful," Aiken said.

"Students have been able to obtain loans to pay for books and materials, and the system is working well."

SG loans are currently available through the Student Government.

"We have received a lot of positive feedback from students who have used the SG loan system," Aiken said.

"Overall, the SG loan system is working well and we will continue to offer it to students."
Drinking Code

All one time in Wake Forest's history, a麻将 students have established a drinking code which includes the following regulations:

- The rules are listed on the backs of all campus cards.
- Students must sign a code statement before being allowed to register for classes.
- Students who break the code will be expelled from the university.

No Comment

The refusal of Delta Kappa to comment on the recent proposal for the foundation of the Women's Association represents action that is unbecoming to an organization that claims to be dedicated to the advancement of women's rights.

A Disappointment

The term experimental suggests trying something new and different in order to see how it succeeds. This year's Experimental College has definitely been attempted, for in the words of one of its students, "I have been in one Experimental College, and I like it so much that I am looking forward to next year's!"

Dick, Lemon-Blossom Rise And (Yawn) Shine

By KEVIN MASON

The sun had decided to rise, and for the first time today, the sky was clear. The first flowers of spring had bloomed, and the campus was ablaze with color. Dick, Lemon-Blossom, and Rise, a trio of popular students, were ready for the first day of classes.

Dick: (excitedly) Lemon-Blossom, Rise, you ready for this? We've been planning this for weeks.

Lemon-Blossom: (smiling) I can't wait. It's going to be great.

Rise: (yawning) I wish we didn't have to get up so early.

Dick: (laughing) Rise, you're just not cut out for the early bird club. But I'm ready to rock and roll.

Lemon-Blossom: (nodding) Same here. Let's go and make this day unforgettable.

Students Will Register Again For The New Fall Semester

By VAUGHN TRAVIS

Students who loved going through the crowded registration lines will have to do so again next semester. All courses will be offered in last year's extracurricular study program, and there are few courses offered which were not offered in last year's extracurricular study program.

For one semester (and one semester only) students will have to register again for the following course:

- English 101
- Mathematics 101
- History 101
- Science 101
- Physical Education 101

Students' Semester In India Was A Mind-Expanding Trip

"Living in India is an ex- perience," said Michael Phadnis, 21, who returned from studying abroad in India last December. "Phadnis and 39 other Wake Forest students accompanied Prof. William Johnson to New Delhi, where they met with the father of their daughter, a graduate student at Delhi University.

Phadnis spent a month in India, studying at St. Mary's College, where they studied philosophy, social studies, and history. They also visited the Taj Mahal and the Red Fort, and attended a Hindu temple service. Phadnis described the experience as "a wonderful opportunity to learn more about India and its culture."
VA Provides Money For Mobile Homes

The Veterans Administration now offers mobile home loans for veterans and survivors. Public Law 86-120 authorizes VA to guarantee or make direct mobile home loans. W.H. Phillips, Director of the Veterans Administration, said that specific provisions of the law now include the following:

1. Establishes a special mobile home loan authority
2. VA now has up to $150,000 loan authority
3. VA guarantees loans up to $115,000
4. VA will make loans up to $115,000

Phillips said VA has not yet guaranteed a mobile home loan, but when the agencies are finalized, assurance does not reduce the veteran's or survivor's entitlement.

The officers are: president, Ralph Shertzer of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; vice-president, Charles Mullen of Nashville, Tennessee; secretary, John Shappey of Raleigh, North Carolina; treasurer, Ginger Karl Zavala of Birmingham, Alabama; and directors, Dr. Walter G. Shandt, director of the Veterans Administration; Dr. John D. Gray of the North Carolina University System; Dr. Robert G. Hightower of the University of Alabama in Huntsville; and Dr. Robert H. McLeod of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

No lead was enough for North Carolina Thursday night when Charlie Davis did what he liked with Georgia State's defense, and the result was a 93-75 victory over the third even North Carolina. The game was a do-over, headed South Carolina and was expected to be a good one.
