English 190 is a course devoted to different literary genres. Different sections emphasizing a variety of topics will be offered, including studies in genres with an emphasis on poetry, fiction, and drama, in the novel, the short story and the epic. “One of the things I do in each course is that core courses are a much better representation of what major courses are like because previously divisionals didn’t represent all the topics and discussions that we do in upper division classes,” Richard said.

“We think we’re going to get more students to take English as an elective than as a divisional class now,” Boyle said. The Core Curriculum Committee has also recommended that students who score a 5 on the AP literature examination can take a 300-level English course for the core and receive credit toward graduation for English 555. Another major change includes trying to cap classes at 18 students. “If (the changes) do come through, students will have a better faculty-student ratio and a better pedagogical experience,” Boyle said.

“The department’s major curriculum committee is also considering adding other gateway courses for majors. These may include intensive survey courses of one or two semesters that provide students with an understanding of literary periods, movements and genres. “We will offer a way of teaching students how to think critically and creatively about literature and using it to interpret the world in which they live,” Boyle said.

“Until the core courses changed we were stuck in this old system and we couldn’t figure out how to change, but university changes meant what we wanted to do could be made possible,” Richard said.

“The department’s major curriculum committee is also considering adding other gateway courses for majors. These may include intensive survey courses of one or two semesters that provide students with an understanding of literary periods, movements and genres. “We will offer a way of teaching students how to think critically and creatively about literature and using it to interpret the world in which they live,” Boyle said.

“Until the core courses changed we were stuck in this old system and we couldn’t figure out how to change, but university changes meant what we wanted to do could be made possible,” Richard said.

“Our goals definitely stayed the same but the way we were teaching core courses made it possible finally to change,” Richard said about the changes.

Continued from Page A1

English 185 is a global literature course with an emphasis on significant writers representing different nationalities, periods and genres.

Old classes are more writing-intensive than before through, students will have a better faculty-student ratio and a better pedagogical experience. “Our goals definitely stayed the same but the way we were teaching core courses made it possible finally to change,” Richard said about the changes.

Old classes are more writing-intensive than before through, students will have a better faculty-student ratio and a better pedagogical experience. “If (the changes) do come through, students will have a better faculty-student ratio and a better pedagogical experience,” Boyle said.

The department’s major curriculum committee is also considering adding other gateway courses for majors. These may include intensive survey courses of one or two semesters that provide students with an understanding of literary periods, movements and genres. “We will offer a way of teaching students how to think critically and creatively about literature and using it to interpret the world in which they live,” Boyle said.

“Until the core courses changed we were stuck in this old system and we couldn’t figure out how to change, but university changes meant what we wanted to do could be made possible,” Richard said.

“Our goals definitely stayed the same but the institutional structure made it possible finally to change,” Richard said about the changes.

CLASSIFIEDS

RETREATMYRTLEBEACH.COM SPRING BREAK/GRAD WEEK 1-800-645-3618 WE HAVE WHAT YOU’RE LOOKING FOR! $100 AND UP FOR THE WEEK 2003 VOLKSWAGON Passat GLS for sale Gold, 4 cylinder, auto, power everything, 59k, new Michelin, excellent condition, drive anywhere, asking $11,500, jeeps avail., call 918-0362 Child Sitting / Transportation Needed: We need a list of safe female drivers, with their own transportation, to shuttle our children to after school activities. We pay well. Call 716-5022 or 922-1100 for details. Strong references.

It’s Not Your Fault.

1.800.656.HOPE National Sexual Assault Hotline Free, Confidential. 24/7. (Operated by RAINN)

Answer phones, or answer the call. [You decide.]
Though last year’s changes to the class requirements that reduced the number of classes from 200 to 12 were largely met with approval and relief by the students, the English department, among others, has realized the effects on its livelihood and attracting potential majors.

In a bold but wise move, the English department has decided to change its teaching philosophy to fulfill Division II with the intention of reviving the interest of the current students and professors. Praise is due to the English department for recognizing impending problems from the divisional changes, but also for choosing to adopt the new requirements.

The new changes to the English department were made partly out of self-preservation: because of the decrease in majors from the class of 2010 onward are only required to take one English class, instead of two, Division II, meaning they can fulfill the divisional without taking an English course.

A possible drawback is the fewer students taking English classes, the department has decided to make itself as attractive as possible. With the number of English majors declining over the past few years, this curriculum change is a huge issue not only at this university but as well as professors and students as well.

Ancillary to this is that the current curriculums have been set for this trend to spread to all areas of study. Although last year’s changes to the English department were likely to stir the challenge in a fashion that can enhance divisionals, classes whose passion for literature is more easily communicated to the students — and potential majors.

The new changes, however, are only meant to be tailored according to the professors’ areas of specialization. When a professor is able to teach the subjects he is most versed in and he cares most about, his or her knowledge was presented a challenge if his or her knowledge was not relevant to the student or author or genre. Professors could become disinterested in their passion toward teaching such divisional classes, hardly the kind of atmosphere that would attract more English majors.

The new courses, however, are better designed to allow students to study in depth one particular genre — classes that have rarely been the focus of the English department. Because of the decrease in divisionals, the department has decided to offer richer courses for those students who want to delve into the specific curriculum, it will allow students to study in depth one particular genre — classes that have rarely been the focus of the English department.

The English department, among others, has realized the effects on its livelihood and attracting potential majors.

I can’t wait to not donate to the Senior Class Campaign. Are you sure that you want to? I don’t claim to know everything about the way this university spends its money. But I’ve seen enough to know, right now, I don’t want to be a part of it. I don’t want to give Wake Forest and video the insane amount of money that was spent above anything else in my life.

I want to see the university improve — improvements which students have been calling for over the last couple years. Students have let the university know what they want — and until they can do what I demand, I’m holding my wallet shut.

I’m not donating because I feel that my one-campus campaign has been hindered by administrators who have not listened to the students. Not enough progress has been made in the department of faculty salaries since students began calling for their teachers’ raises. Parish regulations continue to push more freshmen off campus and now unreasonable student housing members are making many upperclassmen not wanting off campus for their final year.

One of the major things I do give pre-empted meals which will still be used because the university allowed ARAMARK to implement a real plan policy which, now going on two years, still fails from satisfactory. Where are things going to get from here? Will our new society give up the cause? By donating to the university, it will look like we are condoning administrators who have ignored the issues which have been important to us — and just don’t care with me.

I don’t believe I am a student, so let them know it to us all.

In the Feb. issue of the Old Gold & Black, Wake Forest students and administrators read to find “a real reason in the soul for moral dedication.” He preaches a belief in the “true hearts of education” — not to really do this stuff. He has been “changed profoundly” by my education, but I can’t say I would expect any less from an experience worth approximately $100,000.

As Savitz says himself, there are many reasons for affection towards the university, but not necessarily for love and philanthropy. And I would be the first to say that throwing a few dollars a Remitada could contribute to something “truly important,” I see my few dollars wasting away while class sizes continue to grow and more students walk off campus, making many seniors regret not moving to Tel Aviv. And the university is here to take my money.

Donate because you love Wake Forest University. Donate if you honestly think the money will be put to good use. Don’t donate just to boost the university’s ranking in U.S. News & World Report. Please.

Give because you love Wake Forest University. Donate if you honestly think the money will be put to good use. But don’t donate just to boost the university’s ranking in U.S. News & World Report. Please.

Don’t donate just to get your sympathy which, in the past, has been calling for over the last couple years. Students have let the university know what they want — and until they can do what I demand, I’m holding my wallet shut. I’m not donating because I feel that my one-campus campaign has been hindered by administrators who have not listened to the students. Not enough progress has been made in the department of faculty salaries since students began calling for their teachers’ raises. Parish regulations continue to push many freshmen off campus and now unreasonable student housing members are making many upperclassmen not wanting off campus for their final year.

One of the major things I do give pre-empted meals which will still be used because the university allowed ARAMARK to implement a real plan policy which, now going on two years, still fails from satisfactory. Where are things going to get from here? Will our new society give up the cause? By donating to the university, it will look like we are condoning administrators who have ignored the issues which have been important to us — and just don’t care with me.

I don’t believe I am a student, so let them know it to us all.

In the Feb. issue of the Old Gold & Black, Wake Forest students and administrators read to find “a real reason in the soul for moral dedication.” He preaches a belief in the “true hearts of education” — not to really do this stuff. He has been “changed profoundly” by my education, but I can’t say I would expect any less from an experience worth approximately $100,000.

As Savitz says himself, there are many reasons for affection towards the university, but not necessarily for love and philanthropy. And I would be the first to say that throwing a few dollars a Remitada could contribute to something “truly important,” I see my few dollars wasting away while class sizes continue to grow and more students walk off campus, making many seniors regret not moving to Tel Aviv. And the university is here to take my money.

Donate because you love Wake Forest University. Donate if you honestly think the money will be put to good use. But don’t donate just to boost the university’s ranking in U.S. News & World Report. Please.

I can’t wait to not donate to the Senior Class Campaign. Are you sure that you want to? I don’t claim to know everything about the way this university spends its money. But I’ve seen enough to know, right now, I don’t want to be a part of it. I don’t want to give Wake Forest and video the insane amount of money that was spent above anything else in my life.

I want to see the university improve — improvements which students have been calling for over the last couple years. Students have let the university know what they want — and until they can do what I demand, I’m holding my wallet shut. I’m not donating because I feel that my one-campus campaign has been hindered by administrators who have not listened to the students. Not enough progress has been made in the department of faculty salaries since students began calling for their teachers’ raises. Parish regulations continue to push many freshmen off campus and now unreasonable student housing members are making many upperclassmen not wanting off campus for their final year.

One of the major things I do give pre-empted meals which will still be used because the university allowed ARAMARK to implement a real plan policy which, now going on two years, still fails from satisfactory. Where are things going to get from here? Will our new society give up the cause? By donating to the university, it will look like we are condoning administrators who have ignored the issues which have been important to us — and just don’t care with me.

I don’t believe I am a student, so let them know it to us all.
Monologues help females grasp their own identity, especially in acting out roles

Stuart Moore
Guest columnist

So many of us in this materialistic world are seeking fulfillment by buying the “right” clothes, going to the “right” school, or being associated with the “right” people. We all want to be accepted. We all want to be noticed. Yet many of us still search for something more.

This is evident from the women who were interviewed about their most private thoughts and feelings. Some were asked to share their thoughts on the importance of identity. Others were asked to describe the role of education in their personal identity. Still others were asked to reflect on the significance of gender appreciation, sexual orientation, and personal fulfillment. All were asked to share their experiences with rape, abuse, and violence and to talk about the impact of violence and abuse on their personal identity.

Through this process, the women became aware of the changes that they have experienced. Each woman’s personal experience serves as a reminder that our lives are full of challenges and opportunities. We must learn to embrace these experiences and use them to our advantage.

In conclusion, we must remember that our identity is not something that we can control. It is something that is shaped by our experiences and our choices. We must use our personal identity to help us navigate through the challenges of life.

The award for “best acting like a moderate” goes to...

Stuart Moore is a third-year business student at Salem College, VA.

Writer air out dirty laundry

Fair criticisms reconsider considerations of reviews in previous columns

Candace Bias
Guest columnist

The laundry room in each dorm is a very special place to clean your dirty clothes. A week of wearing the same clothes can become overpowering. Some of us simply need a moment to ourselves.

I remember how I used to take part of the laundry out of my room, fold it, and put it away. I would then spend the next few days looking for it. It was my way of escaping reality. I was running away from myself. I was running away from the reality of who I was.

That’s why I’m happy to say that I’ve been able to overcome this. I’ve learned to deal with my problems on my own. I’ve learned to take responsibility for my actions and to make choices that will benefit me.

When I look at my laundry, I see a reflection of who I am. I see the person I’ve become. I see the person I’m becoming. I see the person I want to be.

As I continue to grow and change, I will continue to see that reflection. It will be there to remind me of who I am and who I can be.

The award for “best acting like a moderate” goes to...

Candace Bias is a freshman from Chugiak, Alaska.

Moderate acting in politics

Participation of parties has left a vacancy for those who have views that are more mainstream

Matt Brumm

In the contemporary United States, I believe we live in an institution-based society where we are constantly being bombarded with new ideas. We have a history of unmoving to support anything other than what we think is happening for the better. We have a history of standing together and standing against what we see as wrong.

I believe we have a history of standing together and standing against what we see as wrong. We have a history of standing together and standing against what we see as right.

Let us take a moment to consider the current political system. We have a system that is based on parties, not on the individuals who make up these parties. We have a system that is based on ideology, not on the individuals who make up these parties.

One of the main issues that we face today is the lack of representation in our political system. We have a system that is based on ideology, not on the individuals who make up these parties.

Let us take a moment to consider the current political system. We have a system that is based on parties, not on the individuals who make up these parties.
Wake Forest starts season off with sweep of Kent State, loss to App. St.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

Wake Forest capped the three-game sweep of Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and against App. St. on Feb. 20.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.

The Demon Deacons opened the baseball season on the road against Kent State from Feb. 16-18 and traveled to Winston-Salem Jan. 30, the Deacs top Miami but fall to Georgia Tech Feb. 17, but they quickly fell once again below .500 when they were swept by App. St. on Feb. 20 at Hooks Stadium.
Surrender to Sudoku

5 8 1 3
6 9 2 7
9 6 8 1
6 7 1 2
5 1 6 3
3 1 6 2
8 1 2 3
9 2 3 7

DOUBTFUL DIFFICULTY RATING: ★★★★☆

Check next week’s issue for the solution to this week’s problem. If you hadn’t noticed, we like to keep you on your toes!

Lummock | By William Warren

Serving as narrator and the play’s intellectual voice, Berdine’s commentary on human existence is often comic, but points to the brains behind the ditzy exterior of Chicklet. Though Chicklet may draw laughs as she constantly reminds the audience that her pet peeve is my big priority. “A girl who can and will talk to a brick wall.”

The play follows the friendship of Chicklet and Lummox, who plays Chicklet’s existentialist best friend, earnest performance of senior Laura Halsey, as the two went in for the best on-stage kiss of the night. Credit should be given to the producer, but the two are defined by their intellectual voice, Berdine’s commentary on human existence is often comic, but points to the brains behind the ditzy exterior of Chicklet. Though Chicklet may draw laughs as she constantly reminds the audience that there’s something deeper going on.

If you hadn’t noticed, we like to keep you on your toes!

When putting together the dresser, you’ll probably need a quick refresher on the basic steps. First, you have to assemble the dresser parts and attach them to the frame. Then, you have to install the drawers and install the top. Finally, you have to install the handles and knobs. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

It’s important to make sure that the dresser is level before you put it in place. You can use a level to check that the dresser is straight, and then you can use a ruler to make sure that the dresser is level. If the dresser is not level, you might have to adjust the legs or the base to get it to sit properly.

You’ll also want to make sure that the dresser is sturdy. You can do this by checking to see if the dresser is evenly distributed on all four legs. If the dresser is not evenly distributed, it might tip over.

Finally, you’ll want to make sure that the dresser is dry. You can do this by checking to see if the dresser is free of moisture. If the dresser is wet, it might rot over time.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.

Alternatively, you could try to do it yourself. You can buy a dresser at a home improvement store, and you can follow the instructions that come with it. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.

Alternatively, you could try to do it yourself. You can buy a dresser at a home improvement store, and you can follow the instructions that come with it. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.

Alternatively, you could try to do it yourself. You can buy a dresser at a home improvement store, and you can follow the instructions that come with it. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.

Alternatively, you could try to do it yourself. You can buy a dresser at a home improvement store, and you can follow the instructions that come with it. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.

Alternatively, you could try to do it yourself. You can buy a dresser at a home improvement store, and you can follow the instructions that come with it. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.

Alternatively, you could try to do it yourself. You can buy a dresser at a home improvement store, and you can follow the instructions that come with it. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.

Alternatively, you could try to do it yourself. You can buy a dresser at a home improvement store, and you can follow the instructions that come with it. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.

Alternatively, you could try to do it yourself. You can buy a dresser at a home improvement store, and you can follow the instructions that come with it. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.

Alternatively, you could try to do it yourself. You can buy a dresser at a home improvement store, and you can follow the instructions that come with it. If you don’t have a lot of experience with this kind of work, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you.

If you’re having trouble with any of these steps, you might want to hire a professional to help you. They can help you to assemble the dresser, install the drawers, and install the top. They can also help you to make sure that the dresser is level, sturdy, and dry.

If you’re not sure how to put together the dresser, you might want to hire a professional to do it for you. They can help you with all of the steps, and they can make sure that the dresser is properly assembled and ready to go.
Senior Christine Simpson returns a volley in a recent match. Simpson did not play in the Deacs’ first loss of the season to No. 2 Notre Dame.

“I hope the teams is hungry. We still have an opportunity to turn the table against a team we beat last year. We can be a whole different team this year, so we need to step it up,” she said.

The teams are preparing for their first match Feb. 25 against the 24th ranked Tennessee Volunteers in Knoxville, Tenn.

Despite the tough loss, the coach is staying optimistic about an impressive outing the day prior to ensure that teams maintain their momentum.

After their match against Tennessee, the Demon Deacons’ schedule won’t get any easier, as they soon enter conference play.

Miami came into the second half leading by ten, 10-5, as Wake Forest slowly built a small lead to put them ahead of Miami.

Mature commented on his team’s performance in the match and said that it was the team’s best overall. On the second day of the ACC championships, Miami Hurricanes faced the Deacs win over Miami.

The Demon Deacons’ win over Miami was its best overall. On the second day of the ACC championships, Miami Hurricanes faced the Demon Deacons win over Miami.

In the second half, the teams started off strong, scoring 16 points in the Deacs win over Miami.

This scare was shortlived though, as Wake Forest slowly built a small lead to put them ahead of Miami.

Wake Forest once again led to maintain their lead with a win over Tara Buck and Tefft dominated the Deacons’ schedule won’t get any easier, as they soon enter conference play.

Wake Forest once again led to maintain their lead with a win over Tara Buck and Tefft dominated the Deacons’ schedule won’t get any easier, as they soon enter conference play.
I F E

N I L A T : -

-.

any birth or medical records.

the shelter and see which dogs she clicked with.

we fostered," Patel said. "Katie would go out to

at a time.

from two weeks to a month and were there one

Katie and her dad felt particularly drawn to the

in their off-campus apartment after a suggestion from Neibert's dad.

"Katie's dad heard about a collie rescue center near us so we couldn't take any more dogs in and because the Neiberts had always owned collies.

but he felt pretty darn close to the cares.

The dogs stayed in the apartment anywhere from two weeks to a month and there was one at a time.

"Typically we had some control over which dogs were fostered," Patel said. "Katie would go out to the shelter and see which dogs she clicked with.

Katie Neibert, all seniors, began fostering collies in Greensboro last semester.

roommates fostered from a Collie Rescue Center in Neibert's room, taking frequent trips to a dog park near Old Salem and learning the habits and preferences of each new dog.

The third, Scarlet, was adopted by the Neibert

family in New Jersey.

Scarlet may come back to the apartment this semester when Scarlet returns from her accounting internship in New York over spring break. Or the girls may decide to foster more dogs at that point.

Who knows? But the good news is – Scarlet is no longer peeing on the floor.

For more information on the Collie Rescue Center in Greensboro, visit www.colliecentre.org

Top: The first foster dog, Phoenix, were boxers around the apartment during his stay.

Bottom right: Scarlet rests with her new housemate, Maddie.

Bottom left: Casey is the second dog the girls took in from the Collie Rescue Center.

The beautiful thing about

uncreative cheering at

or maybe it's not wist;

wistful. Or maybe it's not wist;

but, I mean, it's

be funny too. But, I mean, it's cease existing at midnight."

"Of course, it was always difficult to say goodbye

at the end of their tenure. The first, Phoenix, was adopted by a family who lives in Long Island, N.Y.

The second, Casey, had to be returned to the shelter after some behavioral problems, including

biting Duffy and a few of the girls' friends.

The third, Scarlet, was adopted by the Neibert

family in New Jersey.

Scarlet may come back to the apartment this

semester when Scarlet returns from her accounting

internship in New York over spring break. Or the girls may decide to foster more dogs at that point.

Who knows? But the good news is – Scarlet is no longer peeing on the floor.

For more information on the Collie Rescue Center in Greensboro, visit www.colliecentre.org

Top: The first foster dog, Phoenix, were boxers around the apartment during his stay.

Bottom right: Scarlet rests with her new housemate, Maddie.

Bottom left: Casey is the second dog the girls took in from the Collie Rescue Center.

The beautiful thing about

uncreative cheering at

or maybe it's not wist;

wistful. Or maybe it's not wist;

but, I mean, it's

be funny too. But, I mean, it's

cease existing at midnight."

"Of course, it was always difficult to say goodbye

at the end of their tenure. The first, Phoenix, was adopted by a family who lives in Long Island, N.Y.

The second, Casey, had to be returned to the shelter after some behavioral problems, including

biting Duffy and a few of the girls' friends.

The third, Scarlet, was adopted by the Neibert

family in New Jersey.

Scarlet may come back to the apartment this

semester when Scarlet returns from her accounting

internship in New York over spring break. Or the girls may decide to foster more dogs at that point.

Who knows? But the good news is – Scarlet is no longer peeing on the floor.

For more information on the Collie Rescue Center in Greensboro, visit www.colliecentre.org

Top: The first foster dog, Phoenix, were boxers around the apartment during his stay.

Bottom right: Scarlet rests with her new housemate, Maddie.

Bottom left: Casey is the second dog the girls took in from the Collie Rescue Center.

The beautiful thing about

uncreative cheering at

or maybe it's not wist;

wistful. Or maybe it's not wist;

but, I mean, it's

be funny too. But, I mean, it's

cease existing at midnight."

"Of course, it was always difficult to say goodbye

at the end of their tenure. The first, Phoenix, was adopted by a family who lives in Long Island, N.Y.

The second, Casey, had to be returned to the shelter after some behavioral problems, including

biting Duffy and a few of the girls' friends.

The third, Scarlet, was adopted by the Neibert

family in New Jersey.

Scarlet may come back to the apartment this

semester when Scarlet returns from her accounting

internship in New York over spring break. Or the girls may decide to foster more dogs at that point.

Who knows? But the good news is – Scarlet is no longer peeing on the floor.

For more information on the Collie Rescue Center in Greensboro, visit www.colliecentre.org

Top: The first foster dog, Phoenix, were boxers around the apartment during his stay.

Bottom right: Scarlet rests with her new housemate, Maddie.

Bottom left: Casey is the second dog the girls took in from the Collie Rescue Center.

The beautiful thing about

uncreative cheering at

or maybe it's not wist;

wistful. Or maybe it's not wist;

but, I mean, it's

be funny too. But, I mean, it's

cease existing at midnight."

"Of course, it was always difficult to say goodbye

at the end of their tenure. The first, Phoenix, was adopted by a family who lives in Long Island, N.Y.

The second, Casey, had to be returned to the shelter after some behavioral problems, including

biting Duffy and a few of the girls' friends.

The third, Scarlet, was adopted by the Neibert

family in New Jersey.

Scarlet may come back to the apartment this

semester when Scarlet returns from her accounting

internship in New York over spring break. Or the girls may decide to foster more dogs at that point.

Who knows? But the good news is – Scarlet is no longer peeing on the floor.

For more information on the Collie Rescue Center in Greensboro, visit www.colliecentre.org

Top: The first foster dog, Phoenix, were boxers around the apartment during his stay.

Bottom right: Scarlet rests with her new housemate, Maddie.

Bottom left: Casey is the second dog the girls took in from the Collie Rescue Center.
Concert Review | Bloc Party

By Caryn Kesler | Contributing writer

Bloc Party in London. I tried to get tickets months before coming to England, only to find they were sold out. Then, around noon on one of the first days of the festival, I ran into one of those odd serendipitous moments that are our company and I are currently working for. I got tickets for the band’s first of five consecutive shows in London the same day my boss headed over to see the last of Arcade Fire’s sold-out shows in the city. Meanwhile, my boss handed over to see a show he didn’t want to miss because he didn’t want to lose his ticket. These are both band and audience were fantastic. This show was the most memorable modern rock shows (for better or worse), and never has an audience so enveloped me. Kids were just screaming their lungs out as lead singer Kele Okereke shouted with his unique voice with its simple, driving snare drum, sent thousands into unified, triumphant finale.

This rather melancholy tune gives life to the greyAutomation’s), continues to show the band’s potential. "Welcome, Guests" continues in the vein of the opening track, blasting through its trademark Explosions in the Sky’s new album, All of a Sudden I Miss Everyone. (No more great shows to keep the band's fans happy, but you would clearly want them to play like they are about to be the next big thing in the world.) English-speaking audience.

One of the few songs that carries The Decemberists’s post-revolutionary sentiments. This album’s thematic sentiments. It's the delivery of his particular brand of post-rock tradition that is a record that marks the start of the beginning of a new era.
Ciccione’s offers homestyle Italian and cozy atmosphere

By Amy Smerdzinski | Staff writer

The Reynolda Campus may get all the snow this winter, even if it is bio-degradable and fake. This snow is just one part of the Student Union president’s plan to make the spring semester more fun. “We want it to be another campus wide event,” said senior Shannon Mag and a Wake All Night. “We haven’t had many big events in the spring with the exception of Spring Mag and a Wake All Night. ”

The Student Union president is planning on having a snowball fight will take place Feb. 24 on Manchester Plaza. Wake Frost is an attempt to have another major event outside of Spring Mag and a Wake All Night during the spring season.

“We want it to be another campus wide event, something like the Mag and a Wake All Night,” said senior Shannon Mag. “It will create the illusion that it is snowing and people will begin to think about winter.”

As this is the event’s first year, student organizers are trying to keep the event as harmless as possible. “We welcome people to come out,” O’Donnell said. “It’s completely free, and it’s going to be a lot of fun. We’re really excited about it.”

But, I would recommend Ciccione’s for its authentic Italian taste and friendly service.

You're invited to Kaplan's free PRACTICE TEST EVENT

You’ll love Kaplan’s free PRACTICE TEST EVENT.

Select the free webinar or class that works best for you.

Experience the exam under proctored conditions
Receive a detailed score analysis
Learn exclusive strategies to help you prepare for Test Day

February 24th
Wake Forest University

WEBINAR
GRE 9:30 a.m. Greene Hall, Room 162
SAT 9:30 a.m. Greene Hall, Room 308
DAT 10:00 a.m. Greene Hall, Room 233
MCAT 10:15 a.m. Greene Hall, Room 145
GMAT 10:15 a.m. Greene Hall, Room 313

Enroll today. Limited seats are available.

1-800-KAP-TEST | kaptest.com/practice

---

Creating a national model of engaged learning in legal education

Concentrations in business, litigation, public interest, general practice
Signature program in leadership education
New high-tech facility in downtown Greensboro
Preceptors, practicing local attorneys, mentor students
Home of North Carolina Business Court

Scholarships available
Apply online and get more information at law.elon.edu

E-mail: law@elon.edu
Toll-free: (888) ELON LAW

Old Gold & Black - Thursday, February 22, 2007

Weekend Forecast for Greensboro, North Carolina - Checking 11

- Engaged Learning

- Ciccione’s offers homestyle Italian and cozy atmosphere

- Restaurant Review

- O’Donnell, Student Union president.

- aWake All Night,” said senior Shannon Mag and aWake All Night. “We want it to be another campus wide event that

- Inaugural Wake Frost promises to be a winter wonderland

- Staff writer

- By Elliot Engstrom |

- Initially it may seem that this restaurant is too out of the way. But, in reality, Ciccione’s is only a quick walk from campus — which isn’t inconvenient at all, especially considering the quality of the food that is served.

- Though they serve “superb pizza,” according to a student review, their subs, pastas and stombolis are not

- The Reynolda Campus may still get some snow this winter, even if it is bio-degradable and fake.

- O’Donnell said. “It’s completely free, and it’s going to be a lot of fun. We’re really excited about it.”

- The event is being funded by the Student Activities Fee.

- "We haven't had many big events in the spring with the exception of Spring Mag and a Wake All Night," said senior Shannon Mag and a Wake All Night. "We want it to be another campus wide event, something like the Mag and a Wake All Night," said senior Shannon Mag. "It will create the illusion that it is snowing and people will begin to think about winter."

- As this is the event’s first year, student organizers are trying to keep the event as harmless as possible. “We welcome people to come out,” O’Donnell said. “It’s completely free, and it’s going to be a lot of fun. We’re really excited about it.”

- Creating a national model of engaged learning in legal education

- Concentrations in business, litigation, public interest, general practice

- Signature program in leadership education

- New high-tech facility in downtown Greensboro

- Preceptors, practicing local attorneys, mentor students

- Home of North Carolina Business Court

- scholarships available

- apply online and get more information at law.elon.edu

- E-mail: law@elon.edu

- toll-free: (888) ELON LAW

- Old Gold & Black - Thursday, February 22, 2007

- Weekend Forecast for Greensboro, North Carolina - Checking 11

- Engaged Learning

- Ciccione’s offers homestyle Italian and cozy atmosphere

- Restaurant Review

- O’Donnell, Student Union president.

- aWake All Night,” said senior Shannon Mag and aWake All Night. “We want it to be another campus wide event that

- Inaugural Wake Frost promises to be a winter wonderland

- Staff writer

- By Elliot Engstrom |

- Initially it may seem that this restaurant is too out of the way.

- Though they serve “superb pizza,” according to a student review, their subs, pastas and stombolis are not Learn how to make chicken salad with an Asian twist.

The Old Fourth Street Filling Station's Chinese chicken salad with sesame ginger dressing.

Ingredients:
- 1/2 cup chicken
- 1/2 cup sesame oil
- 1/2 cup rice wine vinegar
- 1/2 cup soy sauce
- 1 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 1/2 tablespoons dry mustard
- 1 1/2 tablespoons ground ginger
- 1/4 cup white and black sesame seeds
- White bread sticks
- Green onion sliced
- Wonton wrappers, julienned and fried
- Cabbage
- Mixed greens
- Mandarin oranges, bell pepper, and white and black sesame seeds
- Bread sticks

Dressing:
- White and black sesame seeds
- Bread sticks

Toss greens with dressing, dress salad with mandarin oranges, bell pepper, and white and black sesame seeds. With a whisk, mix all of the ingredients together for 10 seconds, except for the salad oil. Slowly add the oil until all is mixed. Toss greens with dressing, dress salad with mandarin oranges, bell pepper, and white and black sesame seeds. The dressing is an excellent option for those looking for an exotic alternative to the salad oil.

The Chinese chicken salad is filling enough to make a meal and an excellent starter course, this salad.

The Old Fourth Street Filling Station is located at 871 W. Fourth St. You can reach us by phone at (336) 724-7009 or visit our website at http://www.theoldfourthstreetfillingstation.com.

The Secret Artists Series presents...

Yin Mei: "Nomad, The River"

Yin Mei is a choreographer who explores themes of artistic and spiritual significance arising at the intersection between Asian traditional performance and Western contemporary dance theater. The impacts of memory, history, and cultural traditions are revealed with stunning clarity in her work. In this piece, "Nomad, The River," the subject is Yin Mei's own experience during China's Cultural Revolution.

Thursday February 22, 7:30 p.m.
Friday February 23, 7:30 p.m.
Brendle Recital Hall

By Dawson Cooper | Staff writer

The Old Fourth Street Filling Station is perhaps one of Winston-Salem’s most cherished restaurants. With the city atmosphere and downtown location, it is surrounded by Fourth Street. A delicious appetizer of sesame chicken is served with sesame ginger dressing — a salad with a delicious Asian twist sure to leave you asking for more.

By Caitlin Kenney | Staff writer

Psycho Beach Party

University Theatre's Psycho Beach Party shows audiences a good time.

By Six Beach | Staff writer

The Old Fourth Street Filling Station's Chinese chicken salad with sesame ginger dressing.