North Carolina College in the last 10 or 4 years on NCAA probation, this year for "misconduct in the conduct of its basketball and football program." As a result of the decision, the Terps were not allowed to compete in NCAA tournaments for the remainder of the season.

The NCAA's announcement comes against North Carolina as an appeal is pending, and if all goes, the Terps could be in for a much tougher road. Commissioner John Bill Martin of the ACC, the United States' premier basketball conference, attended the NCAA hearing and notified the team of its eventual fate.

The hearing was held in New York City, and the result is expected to be announced within the next few weeks. The ACC has the power to appeal the NCAA's decision, and if it does, the decision could be overturned.

The NCAA's decision was based on allegations that the Terps' basketball and football programs were engaging in unethical practices. The NCAA investigation was triggered by a complaint from a former Terps player, who alleged that the team was receiving improper benefits from boosters.

The Blue Devils were a two and a half point favorite. The score was sixty-nine, nine, with eight seconds remaining in the game. Duke won the game seventeen to eight, their fifth victory in a row.

The Blue Devils met against St. Joseph's in the conference title game at New Haven Arena on Thursday. The Hawks were favored to win the game, but the Blue Devils won by thirty-five points, 70-35.

The Hawks staged a rally in the waning seconds of the game, making it a close game, 66-63, with twelve seconds left. Duke led at the half by ten points, 33-23. St. Joe's coach, Ed McGuire, said, "I think it's going to be a close one. We're not going to quit. Just be ready for anything." Duke coach, Joe Cameron, said, "I think our team played great. We played well. We played hard. We played smart. We played together."

The Hawks had been co-captains of the conference last year, but this year, they were the underdog. Duke was favored to win by fourteen points. However, the Hawks pulled within two points of the Blue Devils with two seconds left in the game.

The Hawks' rally was cut short by a Duke three-pointer with one second left in the game. Duke forward, Jim McCaffrey, said, "We knew they were going to come out strong, but we played well. We played hard. We played smart. We played together."

The Hawks' handset for the总决赛's title, which was held in San Francisco, was its fifth victory in a row. The Hawks were favored with the University of North Carolina to win the conference title.
