Students use Spanish skill to volunteer

Language majors apply knowledge to help others

By Heather Selly

English Professor

Patricia is a 14-year-old girl who lives near Washington, D.C. She lacks attention from her mother, who is busy being her 14-year-old pregnant sister. Patricia is a bully at school and has repeatedly been caught fighting.

During the past summer she was also a senior student in a residential program known as the Latinocenter. "I can't do this anymore," said Patricia while working as a social worker. "I really need someone to whom I can turn. I need stability in my life," she added. Patricia had been a bully at school and has repeatedly been suspected of fighting.

"I can't do this anymore," said Patricia while working as a social worker. "I really need someone to whom I can turn. I need stability in my life," she added. Patricia had been a bully at school and has repeatedly been suspected of fighting.

Board selects student representative

By Zach Freeman

News Editor

The new student trustee was chosen by the Board of Trustees on Oct. 3. pearson was selected by the board to interview the candidates. Goodwin was the third candidate.

Life Students to volunteer

Language majors apply knowledge to help others

By Matthew Smith-Kennedy

Byrce Fink

Professor of Physics

Promise Keepers attracts students

Forty men from university among million in Washington for religious rally

By Mathew Smith-Kennedy

News Editor

Promise Keepers, a Christian men's organization, held the event as a "National Assembly For Men," promising to connect themselves to their God, families and nation.

For university students, the Promise Keepers' trip began in a promise made to senior John Ogden and sophomore Adam Braus during the Preschool Conference in 1996.

"After talking to the Lord we promised we would be there," Ogden said. "Last year, Ogden and other students have worked hard to make that promise a reality. Ogden raised $750 for the trip from university sources. The Office of Student Development and the Chaplain's Office both contributed to the total. The group received $15,000 for the trip, and Ogden received a Visa oftelefono for his efforts.

"It's been very exciting for the students," said one of the students.

"This is an opportunity to be part of something bigger than ourselves," said another.

The trip began in 1996 during the national conference and continued throughout the school year. The students were divided into groups of 10 and each group was assigned a specific role.

"We're working on this project all year long," said one of the students.

"We want to make this an ongoing project," said another.

"This is an opportunity to be part of something bigger than ourselves," said one of the students.

"This is an opportunity to be part of something bigger than ourselves," said another.

"This is an opportunity to be part of something bigger than ourselves," said one of the students.
Richmond bishop speaks to campus Catholics

O’Sullivan exemplifies new Catholic attitudes toward homosexuality, youth and other denominations

By Heather Sotl News Production Assistant

O’Sullivan’s words are a testament to the convergence of presence and power. He has been a strong advocate of the Church’s position on homosexuality, youth and other denominations.

“Richmond bishop speaks to campus Catholics

O’Sullivan exemplifies new Catholic attitudes toward homosexuality, youth and other denominations

By Heather Sotl News Production Assistant

O’Sullivan’s words are a testament to the convergence of presence and power. He has been a strong advocate of the Church’s position on homosexuality, youth and other denominations.

The message on the electronic sign in the food court of the Benson University Center has been updated, and now often is the message inappropriate to change.

Students are not the only ones who are being taught. In the future they will be able to update the electronic calendar each weekend.

According to Joanne Iwata, the director of Benson, the television was never leased to the parents of O’Sullivan.

The message on the electronic sign in the food court of the Benson University Center has been updated, and now often is the message inappropriate to change.

Students are not the only ones who are being taught. In the future they will be able to update the electronic calendar each weekend.

According to Joanne Iwata, the director of Benson, the television was never leased to the parents of O’Sullivan.

The message on the electronic sign in the food court of the Benson University Center has been updated, and now often is the message inappropriate to change.

Students are not the only ones who are being taught. In the future they will be able to update the electronic calendar each weekend.
Fall Ball to entertain 70 mentally handicapped

Volunteer Service Corps division hosts a retro-themed dance

By Suzanne Talley

CARE, Inc.

On October 15th, Community Awareness through Responsive Education will hold its annual Fall Ball for the mentally handicapped. Over 70 clients and staff members from different groups will be invited to attend. The event will be held at the Group Homes of Forsyth to accommodate the mentally handicapped. The ball will feature entertainment, refreshments, and a dress code.

Group Homes of Forsyth has been attending the ball for the past 10 years. The group homes currently have 70 clients and volunteer at least 30 hours per month.

What, no Galaga?

Junior Chris Ritchie enjoys a game of Killer Instinct in the Benson University Center game room, located across the street from the Benson Field House. The game room is open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday and 1 to 10 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Push Auditorium projector goes pro

By Laura Lee Cooper

Contra Costa College

On January 18th, Clay Epp, the janitor, was given a new set of instructions for the Push Auditorium projector. The set was purchased through a grant from the California State University, Bakersfield. The set is expected to last for several years and is expected to be worth $3000.

Honors students volunteer, put language to use

By Alice Sorenson

Contra Costa College

In the months leading up to their graduation, Honors students at Contra Costa College have been working on a language program to serve the Native American community.

Spanish students volunteer, put language to use

By Alice Sorenson

Contra Costa College

At the Spanish booth, students volunteered to help Hispanic students with English as a second language. The booth was set up to help Hispanic students with English as a second language.

Crime significantly reduced, students taking precautions

By Anna Bartlett

Contra Costa College

Since September 9, 1996, the university has seen a drop in crime. University Police, however, continue to monitor the campus to ensure the safety of students.

HSU: What the horse?

Where's the horse?
The intramural polo team played its last Tuesday and will conclude next week, with a final home game against Santa Barbara.

Spanish students volunteer, put language to use

Continued from Page A1

Spanish Department of Contra Costa College

The Spanish Department at Contra Costa College is currently accepting Spanish-speaking volunteers who are interested in helping Hispanic students with English as a second language. The department is looking for volunteers who are fluent in Spanish and have experience with language programs.

Push Auditorium projector goes pro

Continued from Page A1

University Police, however, continue to monitor the campus to ensure the safety of students. Although the crime rate has dropped significantly, students are encouraged to take precautions for their safety.

HSU: Push Auditorium projector goes pro

University Police, however, continue to monitor the campus to ensure the safety of students. Although the crime rate has dropped significantly, students are encouraged to take precautions for their safety.

Spanish students volunteer, put language to use

Continued from Page A1

University Police, however, continue to monitor the campus to ensure the safety of students. Although the crime rate has dropped significantly, students are encouraged to take precautions for their safety.

HSU: Push Auditorium projector goes pro

University Police, however, continue to monitor the campus to ensure the safety of students. Although the crime rate has dropped significantly, students are encouraged to take precautions for their safety.

Spanish students volunteer, put language to use

Continued from Page A1

University Police, however, continue to monitor the campus to ensure the safety of students. Although the crime rate has dropped significantly, students are encouraged to take precautions for their safety.

HSU: Push Auditorium projector goes pro

University Police, however, continue to monitor the campus to ensure the safety of students. Although the crime rate has dropped significantly, students are encouraged to take precautions for their safety.

Spanish students volunteer, put language to use

Continued from Page A1

University Police, however, continue to monitor the campus to ensure the safety of students. Although the crime rate has dropped significantly, students are encouraged to take precautions for their safety.
ITC lab closing for training

A new space has been targeted for the Information Technology Center (ITC). The lab will be closed for training purposes on Monday, March 28.

Promise Keepers’ speakers address spiritual concerns

Event proceeds despite opposition from women's groups

---

WorldWide

Highest ranking soldier to face court martial

WASHINGTON, D.C. — On Wednesday, Army Chief of Staff Gen. Eric K. Shinseki announced that Col. Dr. Michael W. Radford, a 23-year-old member of the Army Reserve, will face a court-martial for his role in the My Lai massacre.

Christian Palestinian-peace talks resume tentatively

EZEZ, Gaza Strip — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and Palestinian Authority President Yasser Arafat met for the first time in eight months yesterday.

---

Physics review highlights size, facilities and stipends

The two reviews both cited the need for more faculty in the department in order to continue teaching freshman seminars, introductory physics and advanced physics courses and upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses.

---

Comm. loan cos. Congress hot

WASHINGTON — Senate leaders are considering a bill that would expand the definition of "veteran." The bill, which is sponsored by Sen. John D. Rockefeller IV, D-W.Va., would allow veterans to receive loans for education, housing and other expenses.

---

Sensei, Don Olds and Black Gold

---

Police Beat

Student tries to hijack pizza delivery cart

A Plaza Hot delivery student was caught by another student at 12:35 a.m. Oct. 3 in the Student Center. The delivery student apparently attempted to use the emergency phone in the student center to call University Police. The student involved the resident advisor in University Police right thereafter for interviews.

---

Thieves

A student $400 bicycle was taken from the deck of a university-owned building between 8 p.m. and 9:40 p.m. Oct. 1. The bicycle had been left unsecured. A Winston-Salem police officer later saw a juvenile with the bicycle on University Parkway. The bicycle was recovered from the student, who denied pressing charges.

---

First recommendation of the reviews called for larger facilities for the department. Shields said that the university could accomplish this objective by perhaps a 50% increase in the size of the department in order to continue teaching.

---

Sitting' party

Sophomore Kathy Guglielmo and Keith Smith use the recent warm weather as an excuse to study outside on the patio near the Beason Food Court.
WASHINGTON — The House Education and the Workforce Committee unanimously approved a bill that would allow college students to consolidate student loans separately from the federal government. The bill was a direct response to Education Department administrative problems created by the 1996 Direct Loan Consolidation program. The program allows students and their guardians to simplify their bookkeeping while offering a variety of payment options.

The department put a freeze on new applications and announced that more than 50,000 applications were backlogged. The emergency bill will allow immediate consolidation of federal student loans through a program within the Department of Education. The program is called the "Direct Loan Program." The bill is unique because it allows graduates to simplify their bookkeeping while offering a variety of payment options.

The bill, if signed into law, will allow immediate consolidation of federal student loans through a program within the Department of Education. The program is called the "Direct Loan Program." The bill is unique because it allows graduates to simplify their bookkeeping while offering a variety of payment options.

The measure could be signed into law as early as Mon. - Sat.

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The House Education and the Workforce Committee unanimously approved a bill that would allow college students to consolidate student loans separately from the federal government. The bill was a direct response to Education Department administrative problems created by the 1996 Direct Loan Consolidation program. The program allows students and their guardians to simplify their bookkeeping while offering a variety of payment options.

The department put a freeze on new applications and announced that more than 50,000 applications were backlogged. The emergency bill will allow immediate consolidation of federal student loans through a program within the Department of Education. The program is called the "Direct Loan Program." The bill is unique because it allows graduates to simplify their bookkeeping while offering a variety of payment options.

The measure could be signed into law as early as Mon. - Sat.

The Washington Post
Once upon a time, Olivia, the police detective, was called to a crime scene on Old Gold and Black campus.

The crime scene was set up in front of the Old Gold and Black building. Olivia, dressed in her police uniform, arrived on the scene with her team.

Detective Olivia examined the crime scene carefully. She noticed a trail of blood leading from the academic building to the crime scene. She also noticed a small red box with a bullet casing in it.

Olivia contacted her team and asked for the forensics team to join her at the scene. The forensic team arrived and started collecting evidence.

Detective Olivia interviewed the witnesses who were present at the time of the crime. She also questioned the students who were present in the area.

After collecting the evidence, Detective Olivia and her team carefully sealed the box and packed it into their car. They took it to the police station for further investigation.

Detective Olivia worked tirelessly to solve the case. She spent long hours analyzing the evidence and interviewing witnesses.

Eventually, Detective Olivia caught the suspect who was responsible for the crime. The suspect was caught due to a tip from a student who noticed something unusual.

The suspect was taken to the police station for interrogation. During the interrogation, the suspect confessed to the crime.

Detective Olivia exclaimed, "Finally, justice has been served. This is a big win for Old Gold and Black campus."}

The Old Gold and Black campus was relieved and grateful to Detective Olivia for bringing the suspect to justice.

The students were happy to know that their campus was safe and that justice had been served.

Detective Olivia received praise and recognition for her hard work and dedication. She was hailed as a hero by the Old Gold and Black campus community.

Detective Olivia continued to work on other cases, always ready to protect and serve Old Gold and Black campus.

The end.
Obession with weight reaches ridiculous level
The recent fast-plan issue shows our need for the easy way out.

The fast-plan diet craze and dangerous weight loss programs have been spinning off into a ridiculous wildfield. The trend of fast plans has led to questionable diet drugs. From the market only this month. Their reasons are not the easy side effects, as they are often expected possible side effects and chronic health risks. Recently

Christen Balady

Solitaire addiction is cause for legislation
The bill indicates a deeper problem of laziness in the workplaces of our society.

"Solitaire is a pastime of boredom and ennui," one observer commented. "It is a way to escape reality, to lose oneself in the world of numbers and letters."

Jeremy Valdez

Solitaire addiction is cause for legislation
The bill indicates a deeper problem of laziness in the workplaces of our society.

"Solitaire is a pastime of boredom and ennui," one observer commented. "It is a way to escape reality, to lose oneself in the world of numbers and letters."

Jeremy Valdez

Measures must be taken to prevent more student deaths from alcohol.

High-proof alcohol which sent him into an alcohol-induced coma.

The frightening event occurred at a fraternity party. The chapter is now shut down and all alcohol events suspended pending an investigation.

England, and the recent death of an Louisiana frighteningly similar to the two above.

His blood level was a toxic .41, quite enough to

E. Clay Hipp

Alcohol abuse results in alarming consequences
Individuals, except the very sick cases, addiction set in.

His blood level was a toxic .41, quite enough to

E. Clay Hipp

Student passed out, was able to stop the poisoning that was well under

Chuck Balady

The recent fen-phen issue shows

Our nation at large that we truly care enough about each other.

Christen Balady

A columnist for the

Christen Balady

The recent fen-phen issue shows

Our nation at large that we truly care enough about each other.

Christen Balady
Student influence would be preserved under new plan

For most of the 12 years that I have been a Wake Forest student, the judicial system has been a constant source of confusion and frustration. Each year, we've had to learn and relearn the rules of our system, deal with the complications and delays, and watch as cases drag on for months. As students, we've often felt alienated from the process, as if we were not truly a part of the decision-making body.

That's why I was so excited when the Judicial Council presented its new proposal for judicial reform. The current system is piecemeal, inconsistent, and complicated. It's time for a real change.

The new plan would create a single, comprehensive, and consistent system for handling all cases. It would include a hearing body, a Board of Investigators and Advisors, and a Student Council. All members would be selected through a transparent, democratic process, and the system would be designed to be more fair and equitable for all students.

I believe that this new plan will go a long way in addressing the issues that we've faced in the past. It will be a step forward in ensuring that all students are treated fairly and that the system works for everyone. I urge everyone to support this proposal and work towards a better judicial system for our community.

Katy Harriger
Senior Columnist
Deacons strike first ACC win

With a victory over Duke, the Virginia volleyball team got their first win since the revival of the program.

By: Jocelyn Bright
Old Gold and Black Reporter

For the first time since most students at Virginia attended elementary school, the Demon Deacons volleyball team has presaged as Atlantic Coast Conference victors.

The Deacs put an end to their losing streak which spanned more than a decade with a 3-2 over the Wolfpack Oct. 21 in Roanoke Gym.

Irrationally the Deacs broke their 24-match ACC losing streak exactly 11 years after the last time they had defeated their North Carolina rival.

"We prepared all week and knew it would take a lot of effort," said outside hitter Katie Hoard of the win over N.C. State. "We cleared a huge hurdle by accomplishing our goal of beating N.C. State.

"I'm very happy," Coach Clark said. "We have been working hard all season." The win over the Wolfpack was the first of three straight ACC victories to start the season for the Deacons.

The win over the Wolfpack included a 13-9 victory in the fourth quarter and a 25-23 win in the fifth quarter. The Deacons had a total of 13 kills in the first quarter and 15 kills in the second quarter.

"We went into the game believing that we would win and we did," said senior center Joe Williams, who had 13 kills and six digs.

The Deacons were led by senior setter Corie Clark, who had 33 assists and 12 digs in the victory over the Wolfpack. The Deacons had a total of 13 errors in 39 attempts.

The loss to Furman dropped the Deacons to 6-4 overall on the year, and Furman is 3-2.

"We didn't play as well as we wanted to," said senior middle blocker Brian Seibert, who had 12 kills and 15 digs. "We need to improve our blocking and serve more effectively." The Deacons have a total of 13 errors in 39 attempts.

"We have a tough match tomorrow against Georgia Tech," said Clark. "They are a very good team."

The performance of the volleyball team was particularly impressive considering the team's recent struggles. On Saturday, the Deacons were outshot 67-49 by the Cavaliers in a loss that was the second straight ACC defeat for the team. The loss to Furman was the fourth straight loss for the Deacons.

"We need to improve our blocking and serve more effectively," said Clark. "We need to get our serve back on track."

Automatically the win over the Wolfpack was the first of three straight ACC victories to start the season for the Deacons.

"We have a tough match tomorrow against Georgia Tech," said Clark. "They are a very good team."

"We have a tough match tomorrow against Georgia Tech," said Clark. "They are a very good team."
Women's soccer experiences successful road trip

Deacons go on road to beat Auburn, 2-0, and tie Georgia, 2-2, in rare mid-season non-conference matches

By Paul Goos Assistant Sports Editor

Playing in the Atlantic Coast Conference is a challenge, as is competing against any women's soccer program. With some teams coming off of three matches against some of the nation's tougher opponents, the Demon Deacons women's soccer team was able to claim a victory from this rigorous ACC schedule this past weekend as they played a non-conference contest against Auburn and Georgia.

The Demon Deacons scored a 2-0 victory over Auburn on Friday night behind two goals from midfielder Beth Klein. They followed this up with a 2-2 tie against Georgia on Sunday afternoon, a result that kept the ACC season on an even keel.

 Coach Scott Sauer, who has said that the Deacs have seen some of the nation's toughest soccer teams take a break from this schedule, said that the team is happy to have the break.

The Deacons now have over a week to prepare for non-conference contests as they look toward facing them on Oct. 13.

Men's golf finishes 13th at Las Vegas invitational

By Jon Giokas Old Gold and Black Reporter

The Demon Deacons men's golf team finished 13th at the Las Vegas Invitational, played over three days at the Jack Nicklaus Golf Club in Las Vegas. The team finished 13th out of 18 teams with a score of 879.

Coach Jerry Haas commented on the team's strong finish, which was solid throughout the tournament.

"We played the course well," he said. "The team was able to stay consistent throughout the tournament, which is something we've been working on.

The team finished 13th out of 18 teams with a score of 879.

Sports info

By Ken Goff

Deacons top UMass, 4-1, to end skid

Sophomore goalkeeper Beth Klein reaches out but can't get to the ball as it rolls into the goal.

The Demon Deacons men's golf team finished 13th at the Las Vegas Invitational. The team finished 13th out of 18 teams with a score of 879.

Coach Jerry Haas commented on the team's strong finish, which was solid throughout the tournament.

"We played the course well," he said. "The team was able to stay consistent throughout the tournament, which is something we've been working on.

The team finished 13th out of 18 teams with a score of 879.

Sports info

By Ken Goff

Deacons top UMass, 4-1, to end skid

Sophomore goalkeeper Beth Klein reaches out but can't get to the ball as it rolls into the goal.

The Demon Deacons men's golf team finished 13th at the Las Vegas Invitational. The team finished 13th out of 18 teams with a score of 879.

Coach Jerry Haas commented on the team's strong finish, which was solid throughout the tournament.

"We played the course well," he said. "The team was able to stay consistent throughout the tournament, which is something we've been working on.

The team finished 13th out of 18 teams with a score of 879.
Poor play lands Deacon golfers second place finish

Women's team surrenders lead on final day to ACC rival Duke

Jan Giebir
Old Gold & Black Reporter

The Demon Deacon women's golf team went into the Lady Tar Heel Invitational last weekend in Chapel Hill and firmly established its position as one of the elite teams in the ACC. Finishing second in the season's opening event, The Demon Deacons lost their lead in the tournament after two rounds when they were two strokes behind the Deacons, was another bitter lesson that the best four out of five individual scores might not be enough to win.

The team remained in first place after two rounds, three strokes ahead of Kentucky and 10 ahead of eventual champion Duke. However, on the final day, the Deacons could not finish as well as they had hoped, and had to use scores of 79 and 82 on the final day of the tournament competition, whereas the best four out of five individual scores each count towards the team total.

The Deacons finished just three strokes behind conference rival Duke University, who is currently one of the hottest teams in the nation. In third place, two strokes behind the Deacons, was another in-the-mix ACC team, the Tar Heels of North Carolina.

In the individual competition, Deacon senior Alexandra Armstrong came up short to take a tie for third place. She will be the only senior on next year's team, and she will be hard to replace.

The team remained in first place after two rounds, three strokes ahead of Kentucky and 10 ahead of eventual champion Duke. However, on the final day, the Deacons could not finish as well as they had hoped, and had to use scores of 79 and 82 on the final day of the tournament competition, whereas the best four out of five individual scores each count towards the team total.

The Deacons finished just three strokes behind conference rival Duke University, who is currently one of the hottest teams in the nation. In third place, two strokes behind the Deacons, was another in-the-mix ACC team, the Tar Heels of North Carolina.

In the individual competition, Deacon senior Alexandra Armstrong came up short to take a tie for third place. She will be the only senior on next year's team, and she will be hard to replace.

The most important factor the Deacons' performance in addition to the always stellar play of Armstrong was the steady play of the rest of the team, which in recent weeks has been lacking. Junior Nicole Stillig was right behind Armas in the individual standings, finishing in a third-place tie with a three-day total of 213, four strokes behind Jerzy Chojnacki of Duke, who was the only player on the final day of the tournament competition, whereas the best four out of five individual scores each count towards the team total.

The most important factor the Deacons' performance in addition to the always stellar play of Armstrong was the steady play of the rest of the team, which in recent weeks has been lacking. Junior Nicole Stillig was right behind Armas in the individual standings, finishing in a third-place tie with a three-day total of 213, four strokes behind Jerzy Chojnacki of Duke, who was the only player on the final day of the tournament competition, whereas the best four out of five individual scores each count towards the team total.

The most important factor the Deacons' performance in addition to the always stellar play of Armstrong was the steady play of the rest of the team, which in recent weeks has been lacking. Junior Nicole Stillig was right behind Armas in the individual standings, finishing in a third-place tie with a three-day total of 213, four strokes behind Jerzy Chojnacki of Duke, who was the only player on the final day of the tournament competition, whereas the best four out of five individual scores each count towards the team total.
HOW TO FEED A STUDENT BODY FOR UNDER $3

Tired of the school cafeteria? Just because you’re a student doesn’t mean you have to eat like one. TIAA’s future-focused Dining provides fresh, tasty pizza, every priced under $3.50.

Cost: $1.99 + tax
Choose of Student Red Sauce

Some of Our Pizza Toppings May Seem A Little Square.

The best pizza in Winston-Salem!
• Excellent part-time jobs
• 150 fresh toppings
• Incredible award-winning pizzas
• Amazing lunches

We didn’t invent pizza...it just tastes that way.
612 Hanes Mall Blvd • Pavilions Shopping Center
Winston-Salem • 339-0999
LIMITED DELIVERY AREA.

Old Gold and Black
Great Weekend Escapes from MasterCard and United Airlines!

Take Off For The Weekend With United Airlines And Return The Following Monday Or Tuesday To Get Substantial Savings When You Use Your MasterCard® Card.

See how you can WIN FREE AIRFARE when you visit us at www.mastercard.com/college

No purchase or online entry necessary. To enter you must be a resident of the contiguous United States (excluding Florida) and enrolled in college as of 8/31. A drawing will be held to pick up to 36 winners in each of three separate drawings on 9/21, 10/19, and 11/17/97, who will be awarded a certificate for a roundtrip flight within the 48 contiguous United States and can be redeemed through March 1998. You cannot win more than one prize per month in any drawing. For details, see our web site (www.mastercard.com/college) or send a self-addressed stamped postcard with your name, address and daytime telephone number to "College Travel Contest," P.O. Box 9109, York, NY 10010.
Arts & Entertainment

Pavement guitarist reflects on band's past

By G. Clay Cranford

er sister is a cellist."

The esteemed peak has become a dream...

This number limit was leaving so many interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing.

The number limit was leaving so many interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing.

The number limit was leaving so many interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing.

The number limit was leaving so many interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing. Those who are interested in climbing might be interested in climbing.

Along no longer the "cool" and "hip" band of their youth, Brighten the Corners...
With three hit-producing albums and numerous videos that have become MTV staples, the band Live could not be counted just as one more in a sea of similar bands. As a result, the crowd who saw the band at the Charlotte Pavilion in October was not disappointed.

The energy of the crowd far from being huge but rather the band was received with a large ovation. The band, known for their instant success and their ability to keep fans coming back for more, were the talk of the town after their performance.

Live's no-longer-bald-headed lead singer, Edwar Dahlheimer, began the band's set with a powerful voice that soared above the noise of the crowd. The audience quickly came to life and their excitement was palpable as the band took the stage.

The first song of the night, "Run Away," opened the set with an instrumental program. The highlight of the night, however, was the encore that was well represented, Live did a cover of "Whiskey in the Jar."

The band's set was a huge success, and the audience couldn't get enough. They finished their set with a bang, and the crowd cheered them on as they left the stage.

The night was a huge success for Live, and the band's fans were elated with the performance. The future looks bright for Live, and they are sure to continue leaving their mark on the music industry.
Thursday, October 9, 1997

Make a great cut even better.

...and more... at Lambert's Salon & Day Spa
310 Miller St. (Mayberry Rd) 223-6974

BE THE WINNING TEAM THIS SEASON AND GET PAID SCASHS IMMEDIATELY BY DONATING PLASMA

EARN $10 BONUS AND EARN UP TO $140 or more a month ON 2nd DONATION WITH THIS AD NEW & 60 DAY INACTIVE DONORS ONLY

The Benson University Center in conjunction with the Department of Student Affairs and Campus Dining Services presents special events series

"Meet Me At Shorty's"
Steve Lindsay, Coffeehouse
Tuesday, October 14 8 pm – 10 pm
Come and enjoy an evening of original music by singer-songwriter Steve Lindsay, WFU graduate, class of 1986.

"Old Gold and Black. Your Neighborhood Food Market"

The Benson University Center "Discovery Series" presents

The Tara Mandala: Sacred Dance of India

Tuesday, October 14
11 am – 12 pm
BUC, third floor rotunda

Featuring Premo Dasaro and Anahara Inradho
Moderator: Joanna Iwata (Benson University Center)

Schooled in the traditions in India, Nepal, Tibet, and Bali, Premo Dasaro has created ritual dances of great depth, power, and beauty. Captivated by the wisdom of Tibetan Buddhism, she has choreographed sacred dances and has toured the world teaching communities on this exquisite expression of empowerment and liberation. Come and discover more about the sacred dance of India. Discussion and demonstrations to follow.

The Benson University Center "Discovery Series" presents

Harris Teeter
Your Neighborhood Food Market

Sale Starts Wednesday, Oct. 8th
8:10:75 oz. Budget Gourmet Entrees

99¢ With VIC Card

EARN $10 BONUS AND EARN UP TO $140 or more a month ON 2nd DONATION WITH THIS AD NEW & 60 DAY INACTIVE DONORS ONLY

HOURS M–W–Th–F 7–9 M-Sa 7–9

SERA-TEC BIOLOGICALS
1900 S. Hawthorne Road
723-0791

The Benson University Center in conjunction with the Department of Student Affairs and Campus Dining Services presents special events series

"Meet Me At Shorty's"
Steve Lindsay, Coffeehouse
Tuesday, October 14 8 pm – 10 pm
Come and enjoy an evening of original music by singer-songwriter Steve Lindsay, WFU graduate, class of 1986.

"Old Gold and Black. Your Neighborhood Food Market"

The Benson University Center "Discovery Series" presents

The Tara Mandala: Sacred Dance of India

Tuesday, October 14
11 am – 12 pm
BUC, third floor rotunda

Featuring Premo Dasaro and Anahara Inradho
Moderator: Joanna Iwata (Benson University Center)

Schooled in the traditions in India, Nepal, Tibet, and Bali, Premo Dasaro has created ritual dances of great depth, power, and beauty. Captivated by the wisdom of Tibetan Buddhism, she has choreographed sacred dances and has toured the world teaching communities on this exquisite expression of empowerment and liberation. Come and discover more about the sacred dance of India. Discussion and demonstrations to follow.

The Benson University Center "Discovery Series" presents

Harris Teeter
Your Neighborhood Food Market

Sale Starts Wednesday, Oct. 8th
8:10:75 oz. Budget Gourmet Entrees

99¢ With VIC Card

EARN $10 BONUS AND EARN UP TO $140 or more a month ON 2nd DONATION WITH THIS AD NEW & 60 DAY INACTIVE DONORS ONLY

HOURS M–W–Th–F 7–9 M-Sa 7–9

SERA-TEC BIOLOGICALS
1900 S. Hawthorne Road
723-0791

The Benson University Center in conjunction with the Department of Student Affairs and Campus Dining Services presents special events series

"Meet Me At Shorty's"
Steve Lindsay, Coffeehouse
Tuesday, October 14 8 pm – 10 pm
Come and enjoy an evening of original music by singer-songwriter Steve Lindsay, WFU graduate, class of 1986.

"Old Gold and Black. Your Neighborhood Food Market"

The Benson University Center "Discovery Series" presents

The Tara Mandala: Sacred Dance of India

Tuesday, October 14
11 am – 12 pm
BUC, third floor rotunda

Featuring Premo Dasaro and Anahara Inradho
Moderator: Joanna Iwata (Benson University Center)

Schooled in the traditions in India, Nepal, Tibet, and Bali, Premo Dasaro has created ritual dances of great depth, power, and beauty. Captivated by the wisdom of Tibetan Buddhism, she has choreographed sacred dances and has toured the world teaching communities on this exquisite expression of empowerment and liberation. Come and discover more about the sacred dance of India. Discussion and demonstrations to follow.