Preachers stir students' emotions

by SCOTT CARPENTER

Three evangelical preachers spoke to students at the Student Union on Wednesday, and later moved into Reynolda 'belle' - the board: which perversion. that tobacco chewing was management. participate in an extensive certification

According to Akinc, the two undergraduate and graduate school. Marlene Fulk, president elect; the house race, incumbents are going to give last year. Due to a prior due off are most likely going to be computer minors. recommendation has not yet passed the requirement. Waddill believes few students opt for the computer course and that those who require, calculus course. The mathematics department at Wake Forest recommends that the 173 private organization Ox Fam, for a World Harvest not only collected

The Wake Forest effort to combat the National-Safety Council, it's not the same figure until the presentation, he said it was

The message kept itself, when Helms convinced many people that the North Carolina Carter-Valcher and Gordon P. Stayers, for each day's

"The Fix" was outlasted by the computer, and those who are very likely going to be computer majors. The mathematics department has said the students who would be on hold in addition to the Ox Fam fast. Also, while Helms convinced many people that

"The Fix" went on to say that the only way that visual computing is

Helms rides Reagan tide to win

by TED BLOCH

The Reagan-Kennedy classic, "The Fix," was directed by Warren Beatty, who

Helms rode a tide of Reagan last year's Republican senatorial candidate, Ronald Reagan, to win a second term in the Senate.

"There's no question that Helms benefited from Reagan's victory," says political analyst Fred Fleis. "His name recognition skyrocketed during the campaign, and he capitalized on it." Reagan's name recognition had soared to 82 percent. Helms campaigned strongly on themes that Reagan had so far shied away from in his bid for the presidency. Helms targeted Reagan's economic policy as the corner stone of his campaign.

"Helms had a major role in Reagan's victory," says political analyst Fred Fleis. "His name recognition skyrocketed during the campaign, and he capitalized on it." Reagan's name recognition had soared to 82 percent. Helms campaigned strongly on themes that Reagan had so far shied away from in his bid for the presidency. Helms targeted Reagan's economic policy as the corner stone of his campaign.

"Helms had a major role in Reagan's victory," says political analyst Fred Fleis. "His name recognition skyrocketed during the campaign, and he capitalized on it." Reagan's name recognition had soared to 82 percent. Helms campaigned strongly on themes that Reagan had so far shied away from in his bid for the presidency. Helms targeted Reagan's economic policy as the corner stone of his campaign.

"There's no question that Helms benefited from Reagan's victory," says political analyst Fred Fleis. "His name recognition skyrocketed during the campaign, and he capitalized on it." Reagan's name recognition had soared to 82 percent. Helms campaigned strongly on themes that Reagan had so far shied away from in his bid for the presidency. Helms targeted Reagan's economic policy as the corner stone of his campaign.

"There's no question that Helms benefited from Reagan's victory," says political analyst Fred Fleis. "His name recognition skyrocketed during the campaign, and he capitalized on it." Reagan's name recognition had soared to 82 percent. Helms campaigned strongly on themes that Reagan had so far shied away from in his bid for the presidency. Helms targeted Reagan's economic policy as the corner stone of his campaign.

"There's no question that Helms benefited from Reagan's victory," says political analyst Fred Fleis. "His name recognition skyrocketed during the campaign, and he capitalized on it." Reagan's name recognition had soared to 82 percent. Helms campaigned strongly on themes that Reagan had so far shied away from in his bid for the presidency. Helms targeted Reagan's economic policy as the corner stone of his campaign.

"There's no question that Helms benefited from Reagan's victory," says political analyst Fred Fleis. "His name recognition skyrocketed during the campaign, and he capitalized on it." Reagan's name recognition had soared to 82 percent. Helms campaigned strongly on themes that Reagan had so far shied away from in his bid for the presidency. Helms targeted Reagan's economic policy as the corner stone of his campaign.
Day students feel forgotten

BY CATHARINE MALONE

While most students at Wake Forest choose to live in the residence halls, there are various reasons selected to live at home.

Out of the 329 undergraduate students attending Wake Forest University, only 29 percent of students are from a single sex dorm on campus, according to student government. However, the students students are committed to the university, they might be the only ones on campus, but the studies show that the majority of students who live at home are from the single sex dorm.

This might be because the students who live at home are more likely to be involved and meet other students. They also have more flexibility to plan their own schedule and have more control over their own time.

The students who live at home are more likely to be involved and meet other students. They also have more flexibility to plan their own schedule and have more control over their own time.

Computer center notes

BY JEAN BERNARD

(1) BRIDGW is now available. BRIDGW will also remain in service until the end of the school year. The Bridge program will be used to replace BRIDGW.

(2) HOLIDAY TERMINAL. The terminal from disponible Bridge will remain available at least two weeks after Thanksgiving. The terminal will be open from Nov. 26th and 27th.

(3) FILE-NAME CONVENTIONS ON THE PRIME. With an increasing number of users in the computer center, it is necessary to establish guidelines for the use of computer language for language use.

(4) The following, BRIDGW relates to whatever you give as a program name.

(5) FRG. FT program written in HYS and standard COBOL.

(6) FRG. SPC. program written in Pentium version of COBOL.

(7) FRG. COL. program written in main COBOL.

(8) PASCAL. program written in the Prime version of PASCAL.

(Special for American National Standards Institute.)

SG committee presents housing alternatives

BY ROBERT WAGNER

In a recent development in the continuing effort for alternative housing options, the Student Housing Committee has proposed two new housing options for students. The proposed options are a co-operative housing association and an administration review.

The co-operative housing association, chaired by Professor William Duncan of the Department of Government, would be a new form of housing that would be owned and operated by students. The association would have the authority to make decisions about the management of the housing in the best interest of all students.

The administration review option would allow students to work with the administration to improve the current housing options. This option would provide a forum for students to voice their concerns and work with the administration to find solutions.

Both options would be open to all students and would be considered in the decision-making process. The committee hopes that these options will provide more choices for students and improve the overall housing experience.
Arts

Old Gold and Black 3

Wolfe comments

"I am happy with the production of course I had envisioned since I signed a little differently, but I am very pleased with the production of the moment. It is one of the many elements that make The Cherry Orchard a wonderful play." Wolfe added.

"With every performance of a play, there are minor adjustments to be made and little adjustments that are needed as the actors relate to each other. But the performances have otherwise been contained. "Not only is she the Cherry Orchard, "also the play, which subtly depicts the spiritual isolation of a formerly wealthy family and was accompanied by music of various degrees.

The performance was considered as one of the highlights of this season, and the audience was rapt as the company's repertoire was presented.

Jazz concert thrills Wake Forest audience

By JANET MURDOCK

Hall shows in gallery

JANET MURDOCK

"An exhibition of paintings and sculptures by various artists will be on display at the Wake Forest Exhibition Hall. The exhibition will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and will continue through the month of March."

"The exhibition features works by a diverse group of artists, including local, regional, and national artists. The works range in style and medium, from traditional paintings and sculptures to more contemporary works."

"The exhibition is part of the Wake Forest College Arts and Culture Series, which aims to bring a diverse range of artistic works to the campus community. The series includes events such as concerts, lectures, and performances, as well as exhibitions like this one."

"The exhibition is free and open to the public, and is a great opportunity to see a wide range of artistic works in a beautiful setting. I encourage everyone to come out and enjoy the exhibition, and to support the arts in our community."

Famous

Chicken'n Biscuits

Buy a Chicken Dinner at regular price and receive a...

Famous

Famous

Famous

"You're not limited to what you can eat, you're not limited to what you can do. The difficulty with a helpless brother Gayev. view of the characters movements. The stage design was wonderful of original designs. The stage design was not only a piece, but a set of five selections..."
The Saints’ visit

By now probably every Wake Forest student has had a glimpse of the veiled trio of the three evangelists who have been on the Quad Monday. Never in recent memory has a group of men or women been so studied, or so sacred, or so secular, sparked such mixed emotions (between页1464) feelings and many other feelings in many cases. Anger.

Evangelists are faced with two audiences. First is the one they call to witness in many cases, anger. Many students and to make it even more difficult, Evangelists are faced with two audiences. First is the one they call to witness in many cases, anger. Many students and faculty members are irritated by their presence. It’s hard to convert a person to new beliefs, especially when the other person is flatly hostile. Equally unnerving to the student is the prospect of trying to convert someone to whore, homosexuals or perverts. Equally unnerving to the student is the prospect of trying to convert someone to their own beliefs.

One is, however, the conversion to which the two audiences are subjected to in cases of conversion. In many persons’ eyes.

This is not to say that theology does not play a role in the topic of discussion. The hardening of. Some days of seemingly endless clouds mixed with. And yet the response elicited from the public has been waddling through the streets. And no longer stuffed with. We believe, firstly, that this is a part of the human condition. It is the result of two opposing forces. One is, the belief that theirs are views shared by the student. When the student is exposed to ideas that are contrary to their own, the result is synthesis. We sincerely hope that what we are trying to communicate will be heard by the student. If we have succeeded in convincing the student to alter his or her beliefs, we have succeeded in convincing the student to alter his or her beliefs.

Critique

I have been a member of the student body for the past three years and have had ample opportunity to observe the activities of the evangelists on campus. I believe that they have done a disservice to the student body by their actions. They have fed themselves on the more easily accessible beliefs, and have ignored the more difficult ones.

The evangelists have a right to their beliefs, and I respect their right to express them. However, I believe that they should be more respectful of the beliefs of others. They should not try to convert people to their beliefs, but rather try to understand and respect their own beliefs.

I believe that the evangelists should be allowed to continue their message. As long as they are not disrupting the normal activities of the student body, I do not see any reason why they should be stopped.

Rude talk

Last Monday, the Reverend John F. Kennedy, a rather dramatic character on campus. He is known to many as Mr. Hunt, Mr. Clark, or Mr. Fowl. He is a member of the faculty, and has been involved in many controversies on campus.

On this particular occasion, Mr. Hunt was speaking in the Student Center, and was being accompanied by a group of evangelical students. He was making a speech about the need for moral reform on campus, and how important it was for the student body to support him.

The crowd was small, and consisted of only a few dozen people. However, Mr. Hunt was not deterred, and continued to speak.

Mr. Hunt's speech was met with a loud cheer from the audience, and Mr. Fowl then took to the microphone and shouted, "This is our university, and we will not be silenced!"

The crowd was then filled with chants of "We want our campus!" and "Mr. Hunt, get out!"

Mr. Hunt was visibly shaken, and appeared to be considering his next move. However, he then stepped up to the microphone, and shouted, "This is our university, and we will not be silenced!"

The crowd was filled with cheers, and Mr. Hunt then began to speak again. However, his speech was met with even louder cheers, and he was eventually forced to leave the stage.

The incident was a reminder of the ongoing conflict between the university administration and the student body. It was a reminder that, despite the university's efforts to maintain order, there were always those who would challenge authority.

Security

Instead of a normal editorial, I wish to bring to your attention a question that is currently being discussed on campus. This question is, "What is the future of Wake Forest University?"

This question has been raised by many members of the student body, and has been discussed in various forums. One of the main issues being debated is the future of Wake Forest's athletics program.

Some students believe that the university should focus more on academics, and less on athletics. They argue that the university's athletic programs are too expensive, and that the money could be better spent on other areas.

Others believe that athletics are an important part of the university experience, and that they help to build a sense of community among the student body.

The conclusion to this dispute is not yet clear. However, it is clear that the university is beginning to take notice of the student's concerns, and is working to address them.

The Wake Forest administration is currently reviewing their athletics budget, and is considering ways to cut costs while still maintaining high-quality athletics programs.

I hope that this editorial has helped to bring the student's concerns to your attention. It is important that we all work together to find a solution that will benefit everyone at the university.

Old Gold and Black

Daniel Fonda

Harry R. Smith

Karen Blackwell

Lori Anton

Randall Porter

Brenden Eggert

Michele Bell

Mark Baskin

Voda Ondr

Thomas W. Smith

Trey Mitchell

Ken Li

Shana Killebrew

Martha Bickel

Mary N. H. Miller

Bob Byrd

John B. Church

Larry Darroch

Karen B. Daniel

Genevieve D. Baker

Elizabeth Haynes

Heather F. Smith

Casey B. Hines

Dr. Kerry C. Clark

Shari C. Johnson

Billy Carter

The Wake Forest editoterial board meets weekly to discuss issues that affect the student body. The discussions are conducted in confidence and are not subject to outside influence.

The opinions expressed in this editorial are those of the editorial board and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the university administration or the student body.
Reagan war threat

Throughout the presidential campaign this year, Ronald Reagan has been making a running theme of world peace. He has been talking about the need for world peace and the need to end the arms race. He has been saying that he will work towards a world where there is no threat of nuclear war.

The issue of arms control has been a major issue in the presidential campaign. Reagan has been emphasizing his desire to reduce the size of the American nuclear arsenal and to work towards a world without nuclear weapons.

Reagan has also been making a case for the need to increase military spending. He has been arguing that the United States needs to have a strong military to be able to protect itself from any potential threats.

In his campaign, Reagan has been making a strong case for the need to have a strong military. He has been saying that the United States needs to be able to protect itself from any potential threats.

Reagan has been making a strong case for the need to have a strong military. He has been saying that the United States needs to be able to protect itself from any potential threats.

In his campaign, Reagan has been making a strong case for the need to have a strong military. He has been saying that the United States needs to be able to protect itself from any potential threats.
Features

Innovative MBA students identify gourmet fruitcake business

By MARKET STULLP

Several weeks ago, my grandmother's 90th birthday was celebrated with a bang. John Davies especially looked forward to the party because it was the first time he had visited his hometown, Winston-Salem, N.C., since his grandmother Bessie's passing. Davies had been working on a fruitcake business, based on Davies' grandmother Bessie's age-old recipe, passed on to him through the years.

Davies and fellow second year Babcock MBA student Pavele White were among the first to recognize the potential of the fruitcake business. White was one of the hardest tasks in developing the cake, which is made up of eggs, butter, flour, walnuts, sugar, and sherry, has a distinctly rich flavor. Davies and Springs believe that a liberal arts major has several advantages in this type of work, especially in terms of management skills, which the MBA students believe is crucial to the success of the business.

However, no one has found living in the dorms to be without its challenges. In spite of this, Richardson does see the arrangement was to provide problem than around the dorms. He believes the new arrangement seems to be working out well for both students.

So far the new arrangement seems to offer a great opportunity for a better family experience. The grand prize winner this year was a brand new kitchen set, which is a great prize for any family. The arrangement was to provide a more independent living experience for both students and families. The reasons for liking the new arrangement are many, but the most important is the feeling of meeting people, which is one of the hardest tasks in developing the cake.

Freshman takes honors

By JOY PARKER

The grand prize winner of the 1986 Wachovia Bookstore Reading Challenge was John Davies, a junior at Babcock School of Management. Davies won the prize for having read the most books in the past year.

The prize package included a new personal computer and a three-year subscription to the Reader's Digest. In addition, Davies was invited to the Wachovia Bookstore in Winston-Salem to receive his prize.

Davies has always been an avid reader, and he enjoys sharing his love of books with others. He plans to continue his reading habit in the future, and he hopes to inspire others to read as well.

Restaurant Review

By RICHARD HAM

So you've got your downtown and you reveal to students that you're interested in the business world. The challenge is to find a way to get the students interested in the business world and to engage them in the process. This is where the entrepreneurial leadership curriculum comes in.

The curriculum is designed to help students develop the skills necessary for success in the business world. It includes courses on entrepreneurship, marketing, and finance, as well as hands-on experience in starting and running a business.

The curriculum begins with a basic understanding of the business world, including the different types of businesses and the different types of skills necessary for success in each. Then, the students are taught how to start a business, including how to conduct market research, how to create a business plan, and how to finance a business.

Once the students have a basic understanding of the business world, they are then taught how to manage a business. This includes how to handle employees, how to handle finances, and how to handle marketing.

The curriculum is designed to help students develop the skills necessary for success in the business world, but it is also designed to be fun and engaging. The students are encouraged to take advantage of the resources available to them, including the professors, the classmates, and the library.

The curriculum is designed to help students develop the skills necessary for success in the business world, but it is also designed to be fun and engaging. The students are encouraged to take advantage of the resources available to them, including the professors, the classmates, and the library.

Shoney's Fisherman's Buffet

By CARLA ATKINS

The Shoney's Fisherman's Buffet is a popular restaurant in downtown Winston-Salem, N.C. The restaurant is named after the famous fisherman, Shoney's鱼erman, who is known for his catch of the day.

The restaurant offers a variety of seafood dishes, including grilled salmon, shrimp, and crab. In addition, the restaurant offers a variety of other dishes, including steak, chicken, and pasta.

The restaurant is open from 11:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. daily. It is located at 601 S. Main St., Winston-Salem, N.C. 27101. For more information, call (336) 727-7777.

Shoney's Fisherman's Buffet

By CARLA ATKINS

The Shoney's Fisherman's Buffet is a popular restaurant in downtown Winston-Salem, N.C. The restaurant is named after the famous fisherman, Shoney's Fisherman, who is known for his catch of the day.

The restaurant offers a variety of seafood dishes, including grilled salmon, shrimp, and crab. In addition, the restaurant offers a variety of other dishes, including steak, chicken, and pasta.

The restaurant is open from 11:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. daily. It is located at 601 S. Main St., Winston-Salem, N.C. 27101. For more information, call (336) 727-7777.

Shoney's Fisherman's Buffet

By CARLA ATKINS

The Shoney's Fisherman's Buffet is a popular restaurant in downtown Winston-Salem, N.C. The restaurant is named after the famous fisherman, Shoney's Fisherman, who is known for his catch of the day.

The restaurant offers a variety of seafood dishes, including grilled salmon, shrimp, and crab. In addition, the restaurant offers a variety of other dishes, including steak, chicken, and pasta.

The restaurant is open from 11:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. daily. It is located at 601 S. Main St., Winston-Salem, N.C. 27101. For more information, call (336) 727-7777.

Shoney's Fisherman's Buffet

By CARLA ATKINS

The Shoney's Fisherman's Buffet is a popular restaurant in downtown Winston-Salem, N.C. The restaurant is named after the famous fisherman, Shoney's Fisherman, who is known for his catch of the day.

The restaurant offers a variety of seafood dishes, including grilled salmon, shrimp, and crab. In addition, the restaurant offers a variety of other dishes, including steak, chicken, and pasta.

The restaurant is open from 11:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. daily. It is located at 601 S. Main St., Winston-Salem, N.C. 27101. For more information, call (336) 727-7777.
Movie Review

Lange stars in “Country”

By STEVE LA MARRA

Sam Shepard’s performance is lauded for its authenticity and rawness, but it is also a bit of a sacrifice for the actor, who had to put his own life into the role. The film, directed by Oscar-winning director Craig Zinn, is a testament to the power of acting and a reminder that sometimes the best performances come from within.

Lange stars in a bitter, rugged, and alone man from the town of “Country,” who is trying to make a go of farming. Despite the challenges, she perseveres and ultimately finds success. Lange’s performance is raw and honest, and she brings a level of intensity to the role that is both mesmerizing and disturbing.

Spend your vacation with Vermin and Dangerously

Vermin and Dangerously is a...
They each competed in a tournament. Stefan Dallwitz advanced seeded doubles team from Clemson, a big boost for the remainder for the spring, really came on to have UNC-Charlotte finish at the District on to Nationals and Winning the individual race was Doug to 14th at the districts.

Injured Karen Dunn and Jennifer next year as the team will lose no from Florida in a time of 16:56 over qualified for Nationals. The 2nd, third and fourth and thus the team ended fall was 128th. Times on these runners were remembered.

This year the team had their season ever. Seeley and Dallwitz had course at Furman. depth hurt the team throughout the

The win with the Ohio Delta the Ducks have assumed themselves if a very impressive effort of the season in the ACC, making all of the top ten teams. Their Gelbaugh's 31 yards at Penn State. Presently White is being involved in this.

By KAREN MAHKE
For Wake Forest senior field hockey player hockey, this player her team the women's team was top six for the 1st time in the ACC.

Wake Forest Intramural Sports Tournaments
Men's Volleyball

Women's Water Polo Tournaments

Women's Soccer Tournaments

SPORTS

Deacs eager to wreign Tech

By BOB ROVER
For the distinction. This streak has included be particularly important to Deacon

by a Physical Education major, Owens. Though field hockey

Wake Forest Challenge set for Saturday

The Intramural department held their annual weigh-in meet this Tuesday. For the first time this year we had a different weight class in the event. The three women competitors were in a different weight class than the automatically won. Women won by Kita Long, Maria Dibiasi and Mark and Mark Smith. The first women's event was the 100 meter dash. These events are always an exciting event and the women's weight class races are always exciting.
Deacons strike oil

By MARK LATI

Kenny Green and Darley Ford combined for an second half points as the Deacons pulled out a 76-70 victory over the Monarchs, 76-70, in an exhibition game.

"I've never seen Kenny so comfortable offensively," Ford said. "The ball was always in his hands, which is rare for him. He didn't show a lot of pressure, but he was able to make some good decisions and find his teammates." Ford finished with 20 points, including four 3-pointers.

The Deacons got out to an early lead, but struggled in the second half as they fell behind by 15 points. Green and Ford combined to close the gap and eventually take the lead in the final minutes of the game.

"We have a lot of work to do," Ford said. "We need to improve our defense and get back on the floor after the game."
Pizza Hut Introduces A Course In Economics.

Take a crash course in dollar stretching at Pizza Hut. Better hurry to your hometown Pizza Hut.

DOUBLE DATE
Any Large Pizza and a Pitcher of Soft Drink – $9.95
Every Tuesday Evening 4 to 9 p.m.
at participating Pizza Hut® Restaurants

Pizza Hut

Announcing Wake Forest University’s New Microcomputer Center

Wake Forest is now opening a center where any qualified* student, employee, or faculty member may purchase a personal computer. The microcomputer center will offer you your choice of three major brands of personal computers:

APPLE IBM WANG

At discounts of 20% to 34%

Also, you are personally invited to attend our

Open House

Nov. 27 & 28
9:00 – 5:00
Room 00-A Reynolds Hall

Apple will have two representatives on hand both days offering hourly seminars and demonstrations.

IBM will be represented all day on Wednesday, Nov. 28.

Wang will have representatives present on Tuesday, Nov. 27.

Call for a complete schedule of seminars!

Refreshments will be served.

Door prizes will be given.

Orders may be placed before the open house, beginning Monday, Nov. 19 by contacting Lydia Langley at the center, 751-5541. Between the hours of 9:00 A.M. & 2:00 NOON, permanent hours of the center. After the open house will be MWF 9:00 – 12:00; 1:30 – 5:00; & TH 3:00 – 6:00.

Must be full-time student, employee, or family at Wake Forest.