Success is Sweet
On the Back Porch

By Scott K.M. Graham
The Gold and Black Reporter

Success is sweet at the Back Porch Creamery on Oakland Drive.

Robert Hall, 31, owner of the fledgling business whose ice-cream has been hailed as "the best in the Triad," serves up his homemade concoctions with the smile of a man whose dream is coming true.

For Hall, however, getting there seems to have been half of the fun. He and his wife, Robin, attended UNC-Chapel Hill with an accounting degree or a job in banal office work not being his career goal. In the 19 years since his graduation from UNC-Greensboro, when he earned an art degree with a specialization in sculpture, Hall has tried his hand at everything from hang-gliding to clowning.

Although he is proud of the trial-and-error job pursuits, "I learned a lot of patience," Hall said. "I absolutely love being a father as well as a business owner for emotionally troubled children."

Citing the stigma of the starving artist, Hall admits that he prefers the more universally accepted form of his choice to study sculpture. "They have always been supportive," Hall said. "But it was difficult for them to be excited about my plans to pursue an art career."

Back Porch Creamery specializes in unique ice-cream flavors that include coconut, chocolate pineapple and Columbus coffee.

"We take our ice-cream seriously," said Hall. "We also take our ice-cream sandwiches seriously. We love the texture of a peanut butter and fudge sandwich or just one of the innovative menu items."

From trial-and-error job pursuits? "I blame it all on my parents," Hall said. "I didn't want to waste their time and money."

For Hall, however, "I've never been happy with a good grade. I would rather have a bad grade but be creative."

Hall has found a way to satisfy both his career goals of a love for food, pursuing accounting work and opening a place for people to come and enjoy eating. "With the Back Porch, I've created my own niche," he said.

The Back Porch Creamery is for the discriminating palate. The restaurant has a variety of menu items ranging from salads and sandwiches for the health-conscious customer to peanut butter and fudge sandwich is just one of the innovative menu items.

"I'm happy with my job right now," Hall said. "I just want to have fun and serve a product that I'm confident will please."
Sexism Is Not Harmless

One place has been promised for the independents on campus. Representation should not exclude others from voicing their concerns.

If you are hungry, ask me if I have any food. I may be able to share what I have or even cook something for you. It's not always easy to find food in the world today. Some people, especially those in poverty, have to choose between buying food and other necessities. How can we expect the administration to do so?

Greek Row

Give Independent Equal Representation

Within the next week, Student Government President Will Nicklaw’s article appeared in the Student Newspaper. It was titled “Greek Row — where pledges have been sexually abused or died of date rape.”

I do not believe this to be the case. I believe that Greek organizations are in favor of preventing sexual violence and that they are committed to making sure that their members are safe. Additionally, I believe that the idea of “hazing” is not a recent phenomenon and that it is not reserved for every fraternity and sorority. I believe that Greek organizations are aware of the risks associated with hazing and that they are taking steps to prevent it.

I believe that Mr. Nicklaw’s claims are unfair and that they are intended to mislead students on campus. The Greek organizations on campus have been working hard to prevent sexual violence and to create a safe and welcoming environment for all students.

If you have any questions or concerns, I encourage you to speak with a member of the Greek organizations on campus.

Use Education to Better Our World

Each year, we make a large number of students and faculty members "out of place.

By virtue of their diplomas, they are "educated people.

But what is it, this called college? Should one bring from his college? What do you mean by "collegen.etc.

For we can stop this trend. Students can play a large part in changing our community's attitudes toward alcohol.

Drinking Law Needs Strength

TEN years ago the age group responsible for the majority of alcohol problems was 17 to 19. Unfortunately, there are few data for the older age group. It is not unusual for the student who is against supposedly mature and responsible, to fi. 19-20-year-old rats and worms from the in-tervention of status on campus, with the alcohol problems beginning only after the age of 21.

The best, the law is becoming universal with such limited data, is that the legal drinking age of 21 is not yet widespread. Interference of the law at this point would not seem to have been done. Additionally, the enforcement of such laws has been found to be ineffective or harmful. We must remember that the enforcement of such laws has been found to be ineffective or harmful. We must remember that the enforcement of such laws has been found to be ineffective or harmful.

Anyone ever considered why we did this in the first place? Why don't we do it again? Anyone ever considered why we did this in the first place? Why don't we do it again? Anyone ever considered why we did this in the first place?

While such issues may be powefull, we must think about the three-fifths compromise. If something at Wake Forest needs changing or should be changed, what do you think? What do you think about the alcohol policy and drinking age? What do you think about the alcohol policy and drinking age?

The latest in the James Bond franchise is sure to be a hit, but the only thing it has in common with the original is the name. The newest Bond is Mike Huie, a Wake graduate that made his film debut last month. He'd never write a screenplay, but he's certainly got the look. As 007, Huie gives a strong, exciting performance and ging on the streets of New York, he's able to transform into exotic locations which are perfect for a Bond movie.

Some of the exotic settings include the French Alps, a ranch in Brendalamp, and a castle in Scotland. The actors and actresses are beautiful and creative. The film was produced by the Wake Forest film department and directed and produced by Charles Fornari on the Sunday morning program, and wrapped on Sunday night.

It's back to school time! It's time to fill your box with hope and opportunity. Each week, you'll be waiting for the letter to arrive. Unfortunately, it's not always easy to fill your box with letters. But don't worry, there are some tips to help you.

1. Send letters with great regularity. Your friends at home may be wondering why you haven't heard from them. To keep them from wondering, try to send at least one letter a week.

2. Send letters that are long and interesting. Your friends at home are probably not interested in hearing about your daily routine, but they might be interested in hearing about your adventures on campus.

3. Make sure your letters are well-written. Your friends at home are probably not interested in hearing about your daily routine, but they might be interested in hearing about your adventures on campus.

Debate

"Democrat and North Carolina supporter Sen. Jim Broyhill, NC, and other party leaders, however, are encouraging the state Democrats to remain neutral as long as possible.

David Smith, the president of the Wake Forest College Democrats, said he is also attempting to keep his organization from taking sides too quickly.

"We are representing both sides, and we are in the mood to support the candidates in the best way possible, not our particular candidate," he said.

Smith believes that education will be the major issue in the campaign and the Democrats should not take sides too early. He said that if they do, it will be hard to get the Republican Party to cooperate.

The experiment was sponsored by the Student Government and Mike Babcock, a Democratic presidential candidate, who said it was a good idea.

"It's a good idea," Babcock said. "It's a good way to get the students involved and get their views to the American people.

Wake Forest Opens 1987 Season With 24-0 Shutout of Spiders

By John White

Solid defense and special teams play in addition to a solid running game helped the Wake Forest football team open its 1987 season with a 24-0 win over Richmond Saturday at Groves Stadium.

The win was the fourth Deacon shutout of the season.

The defense yielded yards but no scores as it frustrated the Spiders several times near the Wake Forest end zone. The special teams blocked two punts and recovered a fumbled punt, each time putting the Deacons offense in excellent field position.

The special teams created the first break for Wake Forest midway through the first quarter when Todd Middleton blocked a punt by the Spiders' Jeff Olivo. Richmond downed the punt and the Deacons had possession at the Spiders' 25-yard line.

The offense took over from there and, after five plays, quarterback Mike Elkins connected with tailback Darryl McGill for a one-yard touchdown, giving the Deacons a 7-0 lead.

After the drive stalled at the 35-yard line, Dooley sent the offense back out, with a comfortable 14-0 lead.

The defense continued its dominance as it forced turnovers and prevented Richmond from scoring.

The offense could not capitalize on the good field position, however, as a delay of game penalty and a holding penalty pushed the Deacons back to the 35-yard line.

Defensively, the Deacons' defense continued to smother Richmond throughout the remainder of the first half, and Dooley went into the intermission with a comfortable 14-0 lead.

The Deacons received the second-half kickoff and, after a drive stalled at the Wake Forest 35-yard line, Martin Bailey received the punt for the Spiders, but fumbled, and the ball was recovered by the Deacons at the Richmond 45-yard line.

The offense started to take advantage of the turnovers as the Deacons' Mark Young broke loose on a pitch and scampered in for an eight-yard touchdown that broke the Spiders' heart.

The defense continued to hold Richmond from scoring, and Wake Forest's defense maintained its dominance.

The defense continued to hold Richmond from scoring, and Wake Forest's defense maintained its dominance.

"From the defensive players' standpoint, I was proud they were able to come away with the shutout. Anytime you can shut someone out when you have a first-and-goal at the five, you have to be proud. In the future, it may come down in the same situation, with us leading 7-0, where a touchdown would beat us," Wake Forest Head Coach Bill Dooley said.

Dooley said. "Our special teams did a tremendous job and I think we were more proud of our defense."
