Ingram Moving to South Carolina

W. Frank Ingram, superintendent of missions in Mount Zion Association since 1964, has resigned effective Jan. 1 to accept a similar position with the Broadriver Association which includes the area in and around Gaffney, S. C.

Ingram came to Mount Zion from Anson Association where he served in the same capacity. A layman, his service in the Mount Zion Association has seen a marked emphasis on missions, training, and lay involvement.

On an average of more than 50 times a year, Ingram has taught foreign mission study groups and at least 40 times a year, has done the same for home missions, usually reaching about 8,000 people a year in both studies. While traveling in South America, he conceived the idea of a world mission fair and incorporated the idea in his Mount Zion ministry.

Other innovations he began include Pastor Appreciation Day, a Sweetheart banquet for pastors and their wives, a ministry to men at the Alamance Correctional Unit, and his direction of the Larry Love Witnessing Memorial group.

A new office building for the superintendent of missions in Mount Zion was dedicated last May.
