were accepted by the members February 12, 1927. A Sunday School department with four auditoriums and twenty-two classrooms was built at an approximate cost of $5,500. The exterior of the building was erected by a contractor, and the interior work was completed by the church members. The cemetery was enlarged east to the property line north and to the back corner of the church June 12, 1926.

September 31, 1927, Calvary withdrew from South Yadkin Association to join Rowan Association. Huneycutt preached the first sermon to the Rowan Baptist Association after it was organized in 1927. He also served two terms as Moderator. Huneycutt resigned as pastor August 13, 1927.

Mrs. Huneycutt was a great inspiration and helper in her husband's ministry. They were well known for their ministry to the sick and as a singing duo.

From the beginning of our history to the present, it was not unusual for people during revivals to shout, walk the aisles, and speak to the unsaved, pleading with them to accept Christ. People were less reserved and showed their emotions more freely than is customary today.

Reverend Eli Franklin Eagle was born December 25, 1889, in Rowan County, near Ellis Cross Roads, about four miles west of Salisbury, N. C. He was twice married. He first married Edna Viola Ridenhour, and they had eight children. She died November 1, 1931. His second wife was Susan Inez Smith, and they had four children.

He was licensed to preach November 13, 1926, at Calvary Baptist Church, Salisbury, N. C. He was ordained August 26, 1928, at Calvary Baptist Church. He was called as pastor from October 23, 1927, to June 22, 1930, at Calvary. The church auditorium was finished in July 1929 while Eagle was pastor. The Education Building, back of the church, was built about 1930 while Eagle was pastor. The first communion set was bought June 14, 1928. Eagle held offices as Sunday School superintendent, deacon, and Baptist Training Union director before he was called to preach. Even though this was a time of depression, our church continued to grow because of dedicated church members. There was a steady growth in membership as well as building improvement. Eagle was called as pastor at Calvary the second time from November 1936 to October 1937. He died January 6, 1975, and was buried at Calvary Baptist Church.
