Pastor graduates

EDEN — The Rev. Jeff Eanes, founding pastor of Lighthouse Baptist Church and chairman of the Rockingham County Board of Education, recently graduated from Southern Baptist School for Biblical Studies in Jacksonville, Fla. with a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

He earned his master's degree in Christian ministries. Now, he has begun work on his doctorate within the same field and plans to publish his thesis on the Holy Feast Days and their relation to prophesy.

Eden minister files
for school board
seat in Rockingham

EDEN — A local minister filed Wednesday to run for a seat on the Rockingham County Board of Education.

Jeff Eanes will run in District 6, which includes part of Eden and areas west of the town. Eanes, 40, is pastor of Lighthouse Baptist Church in Eden. Earlier this year, he served on a school redistricting committee, and he is past president of the PTSO at Douglass Elementary. His two sons attend Holmes Middle School and Douglass Elementary.

Incumbent Wink Hoover will not be on the school board ballot because he is running for Rockingham County commissioner.

The filing period ends Aug. 2. Four seats will be decided in the Nov. 5 election.

Jeff Eanes is in his eighth year as a minister in Rockingham County. The Eden native served more than three years as pastor at Oak Grove Baptist Church in Reidsville before returning to Eden as an associate minister at Osborne Baptist Church.

Eanes is now pastor of Lighthouse Baptist Church, which meets in the El Bethel Community Building on Roberts Road west of Eden. The church, which now has about 170 members, was organized by Eanes in April 1992. A new church building is planned on N.C. 14 north of Eden.

Eanes focuses his ministry on the needs of families. He proudly says that everything he does in life is for the glory of God, and he is especially glad to serve as a pastor in the community where he grew up.

His wife, Teressa, is employed by the Rockingham County Consolidated Schools. The couple has been married 15 years and has two children, Joshua, 8, and Benjamin, 5.
