The Rev. Mr. M.L. Cadd, pastor of Edgemont Baptist Church, Durham, will be the visiting evangelist at New Hope Baptist Church during revival, April 5-10.

A native of Roanoke, he graduated from Campbell College, University of Richmond, and Southeastern Baptist theological Seminary. Before answering the call to be pastor at Edgemont he pastored in Virginia with his last pastorate being in Roanoke.

In the spring of 1961 Rev. Cadd was visiting evangelist at New Hope, and the Rev. Maurice Gilliam, pastor, is pleased to announce his return for revival services which begin each evening at eight o'clock.
Cadd Coming As Evangelist

The Rev. Mr. M.L. Cadd, pastor of Edgemont Baptist Church, Durham, will be the visiting evangelist at New Hope Baptist Church during revival, April 5-10.

A native of Roanoke, he graduated from Campbell College, University of Richmond, and Southeastern Baptist theological Seminary.

Before answering the call to be pastor at Edgemont he pastored in Virginia with his last pastorate being in Roanoke.

In the spring of 1961 Rev. Cadd was visiting evangelist at New Hope, and the Rev. Maurice Gilliam, pastor, is pleased to announce his return for revival services which begin each evening at eight o’clock.

APR 1 1971
Edgemont Sutton 1902
NEW PASTOR—The Rev. Malcolm L. Cadd, who tomorrow will become pastor of the Edgemont Baptist Church, Cadd, a native of Roanoke, Va., and a graduate of Campbell College, the University of Richmond and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, has served for six years as the pastor of the Red Hill Baptist Church at Roanoke. The Cadd family will live at 621 Lavender St. He succeeds Dr. John Freeman, who has served as interim pastor since Dr. John H. Bunn retired July 1, 1963.