Horne Accepts Local Pastorate

Rev. Lee Horne of Kinston will begin his work as pastor of Dunn's Grove Baptist Church near Albemarle on July 30.

Mr. Horne succeeds Rev. Grady Blakley who left in April to become pastor of Oxford Memorial Baptist Church in Taylorsville.

Mr. Horne is well known in this section of the state, having been pastor of Oak Ridge Baptist Church, Concord for five and one-half years. Prior to that, he served one and one-half years at Old Hundred Baptist Church, Rockingham, his home town. He has also served as pastor of Germantown Baptist Church. For the past year he has been at Rivermont Church, Kinston.

Mr. Horne attended Wingate College and Fruitland Bible Institute. He is married to the former Miss Agnes Rivers of Chesterfield, S. C. They and their three children, Brenda, 19, Pat, 15, and Leslie, 19 months, will move to Albemarle on July 25.

A spokesman for the church said the congregation is very happy over the prospect of having Mr. Horne as pastor. They will live in the church parsonage on Ridge Street Extension, Albemarle, Route 2.
The Rev. Lee Horn, pastor of Germanton Baptist Church for three years, has resigned. His resignation is effective Sunday, July 31. He has accepted a call to become pastor of Rivermont Baptist Church in Kinston.

Horn came to Winston-Salem from Concord where he had been a pastor for more than five years. Before that he served in his hometown of Rockingham at Old Hundred Baptist Church.

He attended Wingate College and Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute. He and his wife, the former Agnes Rivers of Chesterfield, S.C., have two children.

A pulpit committee has been selected to call a successor to Horn. It is composed of Kemp Savage, Arziel Montgomery, Jack Gough, Charles Sapp and Jim Kiser.
Rev. Lee Horne is the new pastor of Rivermont Baptist Church.

A native of Rockingham, he attended schools in that City and Wingate Junior College for one year. He was graduated from the Fruitland Baptist at Hendersonville and comes to the Rivermont church from Germanton Baptist Church at Winston-Salem. Other pastors he has served are Oak Ridge Baptist Church at Concord and Old Hundred Baptist Church at Laurel Hill.

Rev. Mr. Horne is married to the former Agnes Rivers of Chesterfield, S. C., and they have three daughters.

Mr. Horne is a veteran of World War 2, during which he saw action in the Atlantic and Pacific theatres. He was in the Navy, serving with the rank of boatswain's mate, for six years.
