Central Baptist Church has called a new pastor to serve the 535-member church near Long View.

The Rev. William Keith Rustin will begin his pastorate with Sunday morning's services.

He and his wife, Gayle Bowden Rustin, and their sons, Benjamin, 3 1/2, Joshua, 2, and Jacob, 9 months, moved to the Hickory area this week after having served Alton Baptist Church in Alton, Va.

Rustin has had extensive study in Christianity, Greek, psychology and languages. He completed chaplaincy training at Jackson State Prison; was a workshop leader in the Georgia Baptist State Convention; and completed a 10-week practicum as a staff attendant at Central State Hospital in Milledgeville, Ga.

He is certified to teach the Masterlife and Disciple Youth Bible study programs and has been a member of a Home Mission Board Revival Team to Oregon and Washington.

He recently completed coursework for a master's degree in divinity at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest.

Rustin served as president of the Baptist Student Union while studying at Truett-McConnell College, and as vice president of the Baptist Student Union at Mercer University.

Rustin is stepping into a pastorate which has been served by interim pastor W.A. Huneycutt since the departure in April of the Rev. Darrell Webb.
A fund that will provide up to $2,000 in scholarships for deserving students has been started at Central Baptist Church on Highway 64-70, SW.

The church's Scholarship Fund will aid students who plan on going into full-time Christian service after graduation from college or seminary.

Rev. Darrell Webb, pastor of the church, said the scholarship is available to any person who is a member of Central Baptist or any other church in the Theron Rankin Baptist Association, to which Central belongs. Priority preference will be given to members of Central with the remainder being made available to other association church members, Rev. Webb said.

Anyone wishing to apply for this scholarship should write the church for a scholarship application at least six weeks in advance of the beginning of the school term for which the scholarship will be used.

The scholarship is available for college or seminary training. For further details, write Rev. Webb at 4101 Highway 64-70, SW, Hickory, N.C., 28601.
Central Breaks Tradition With New Service

First Worship Begins Sunday At 10 A.M.

By JEANNIE HODGES
Social Editor

Brushing the rules aside, the Rev. Tom Wagoner will break the monotony for churchgoers Sunday with a non-traditional service.

Central Baptist's First Worship service, a 50-minute program designed to bring soul saving into the '90s, kicks off Sunday at 10 a.m.

Gone are the neck ties and high heels, offering plates, the traditional invitation to come to the altar and the fire and brimstone sermons. Instead, the service will feature contemporary Christian music and the message will be geared toward the Bible's views on parenting, marriage, family and the end of time.

Innovative Approach

The church wanted an innovative approach to attract a new group of people without dividing the congregation. "This is a service that will meet a real need in our city," Rev. Wagoner said. "Dunn is very traditional. We wanted a service that would appeal to the younger generation of singles and couples looking for something current, exciiting and new. But we did not want to divide the church."

With morning services attracting an average of 450 people each Sunday, the church hit an all time high of 500 several Sundays ago.

"Knowing the building was not designed to seat more than 500 people, I knew we either had to stop growing or come up with something innovative," Rev. Wagoner said.

The program targets individuals who gave up on traditional church and its schedules — such as shift workers and senior citizens — and those who simply want to be part of something new.

"I noticed in the New Testament (Matthew 15:22) Jesus targeted a specific group of people and I also found so did Peter (Acts 2) and Paul (Acts 13:44)," Rev. Wagoner said.

"The service expansion was designed to attract more people to Christ. To get people on track," he said. "People have a lot more questions than they have answers. We don't have answers, but God's word has answers. We will present them in a caring, professional way so as to meet needs."

Emphasis On Spirit Ministry

The church continues to grow, Rev. Wagoner said, because of its orthodox Bible teaching and emphasis on the ministry of the Spirit.

"Baptists are viewed predominantly by Pentecostals as being dead," Rev. Wagoner said. "and Pentecostals are viewed by Baptists as being wild. Central is in the middle. It is on fire. The Spirit of God is absolutely at work, but at the same time traditional Bible doctrine is being taught with power to meet needs in the community."

Although the service is experimental and Rev. Wagoner expects to hit a few potholes along the way, he feels the overall effect will be explosive. "This service will not be perfect in the beginning," Rev. Wagoner said, "but it will grow in effectiveness each week. Its a new experiment and I encourage everyone to come and be a part of it the very first Sunday it begins."

In addition to offering First Worship at 10 a.m., Central Baptist Church will simultaneously hold its regular Sunday School classes. The traditional morning worship service, now called Second Worship, will begin at 11 o'clock.
CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH —
Sunday — The church will begin showing the Dr. James C. Dobson film series entitled “Turn Your Heart Toward Home” at 7 p.m. The other five parts of the series will be shown on consecutive Sundays at 7 p.m.

More than 50 million people saw Dobson’s first film series, “Focus on the Family.” In the new series, the family expert brings his experience to bear on one of society’s most pressing challenges, the protecting of the family.

The films will be shown on the following days: “A Father Looks Back” on Sunday; “Power in Parenting the Young Child” on Aug. 31; “Parenting the Adolescent” on Sept. 7; “The Family Under Fire” on Sept. 14; “Overcoming a Painful Childhood” on Sept. 21; and “The Heritage” on Sept. 28.

The Rev. Darrell Webb, pastor, invites the public. Admission is free but a love offering will be taken to help defray the cost of the films.

MOUNT ANDERSON BAPTIST CHURCH, Maiden — Thursday — Music and evangelism with “the singing engineer” James C. Carraway will be held at 7:30 p.m.
Associate pastor accepts call to Central Baptist

An associate pastor has been called to Central Baptist Church and will begin his duties there June 15.

A Roxboro native, the Rev. Freddie Braswell, will be in charge of Youth and children’s ministries and establish an outreach program for the church, along with serving as assistant to the church pastor, the Rev. Darrell Webb.

Braswell took his undergraduate training at Appalachian State University where he graduated with a bachelor of science degree in history. His graduate studies were at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest where he graduate with a master of divinity degree.

Braswell and wife Wanda are expecting their first child. They will make their home at the church parsonage in Hickory.
Marriage Enrichment Weekend Scheduled

Central Baptist Church, 4101 Highway 64-70, SW, will offer a marriage enrichment weekend on the subject, "Making a Good Marriage Better."

The program will be available to the first 12 couples who sign up.

It will be held Feb. 26 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. and all day the following day.

The Rev. and Mrs. Jim Rowles, certified marriage counselors, will lead the program. Rowles is the former pastor of Penelope Baptist Church.
Special services planned at Central Baptist Church

Sherri McDowell, a deaf interpreter, will sign an entire concert of the Bethany Believers today at Central Baptist Church on Highway 64-70 east of Hildebran.

The group of 10 singers and several instrumentalists that will be performing comes from the First Baptist Church of Bethany, Okla. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The concert will include gospel, traditional and contemporary types of sacred music. Ms. McDowell will sign each of the songs and all of the special features of the concert.

The Bethany Believers have traveled throughout the United States and overseas. The group is directed by David Dale, minister of music at the Oklahoma church.
Music, Youth Minister Called

Central Baptist Church has called Jeffery Olds to become its new minister of music and youth. Olds will begin his work at Central Baptist on Sunday.

He is a graduate of Lenoir-Rhyne College, where he received a bachelor's degree in music education, and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas, where he received a master's degree in music. Olds originally is from Tulsa, Okla., and is the son of a Baptist minister.

He will reside at the church parsonage at 935 Forty-first St., SW, Hickory.

The pastor, the Rev. Darrell Webb, and the congregation invite the public to attend Sunday's services and worship with their new minister. The church is at 4101 U.S. 64-70, SW.

Sunday morning service and continue at 7 each evening.

Regional Medical Center reported on the progress of the Chaplain's Volunteer Assistant program under development at the hospital. Ministers interested may contact Ford.

The association's next meeting will be Nov. 23 at 10 a.m. at Mountain Grove Baptist Church. Paul Johnson of Amnesty International will be the speaker. All area ministers are invited to attend.

Childress, who currently is pastor of Florida Gardens Baptist Church in Lake Worth, joined World Literature Crusade in 1978 as an instructor for "Change The World School of Prayer." He later became founder, president and teacher of "Biblical Studies on Prayer."

The public is invited to participate in the series.
Decency Group Leader Leaving

A Hickory pastor responsible for the initial push to remove pornography from the Unifour is carrying his ministry to another area of the state.

But it won’t include rallying for the removal of pornography, said Darrell Webb, pastor of Central Baptist Church and the first president of Unifour Citizens for Decency.

Webb is leaving the Hickory church after nine years of service to get closer to his hometown near Asheville. He will be the new pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Canton.

“I was ready for some new challenges, new goals,” he said, adding that he will miss his Hickory church.

“Maybe sometime in the future I’ll get involved in campaigns against pornography again. But in Canton, I will be spending most of my time getting to know and learn the church.

“I’ve not enjoyed it (fighting against pornography) — it’s a dirty job and somebody has to do it,” he admits. Webb served as president from 1983 until 1986 and since then has held the secretary/treasurer position for the organization.

Webb gives 25th District Attorney Robert Thomas and Sheriff L. David Huffman credit for stamping out numerous adult bookstores and X-rated movie theaters from across the Unifour.

They deserve a gold star or a crown. If they hadn’t done it, nothing would have been done. The decency group didn’t raid or picket stores. We were sort of like John the Baptist — a voice crying in the wilderness asking them to enforce the law. It’s not up to us to say what’s legal. Only the DA can say what’s legal and arrest those who violate the law,” Webb said.

Yet it was Webb who in 1983 called Unifour ministers to a meeting at Sweetwater Baptist Church. At that time, Webb was chairman of the Christian Life Committee of the Theron Rankin Baptist Association, a local fraternity of churches which is part of the 14 million-member Southern Baptist Association.

“I was ready for some new challenges, new goals,” he said, adding that he will miss his Hickory church.

At that time, Webb was chairman of the Christian Life Committee of the Theron Rankin Baptist Association, a local fraternity of churches which is part of the 14 million-member Southern Baptist Association. Before, we had only fought liquor-by-the-drink votes and things of that nature. We decided to make people aware of the problem of obscenity in this area."

Four years earlier, Webb and other citizens began complaining of local massage parlors, adult bookstores and theaters, many of which he saw everyday along U.S. 64-70 as he carried out church duties. But the final insult was when the manager of the Icard Jack-B-Quick convenience store refused to cover the fronts of Playboy magazines "with women's breasts in full view of any 3-year-old," Webb said. "We even asked him just to place them somewhere that he, children and women couldn't see them," Webb recalled.

Baptists, Catholics, and Lutherans alike — as well as many who were not affiliated with any church — banded together. The first order of business was to determine specific goals. Unifour Citizens For Decency wanted to create awareness in the general public, encourage the enforcement of obscenity-governing laws and serve as a medium to distribute information protesting such material.

That law was modeled after a California court case (Miller vs. California) in which the court determined that obscene material is not protected by the First Amendment. This law is the basis for the Decency members' argument against obscenity.

Decency members keep a watchful eye on business as they visit stores and note whether or not pornography is sold. Business cards are left behind — either thanking the store for not selling pornography or letting them know that Decency members will not purchase from them because they sell pornography.

Rallies are held often, featuring speakers such as Huffman, Thomas and other law enforcement officials. Meetings are held on the third Monday of each month at various churches and members discuss progress in the fight against pornography on the local and national levels.

Other local groups are doing great work, too. Films like Dr. James Dobson's "Winnable War" occasionally are shown. Dobson served on the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography.

Webb has written the group's monthly newsletter since the group was established. The newsletter, sent to more than 400 churches, is the group's main source of educating the public. The local and national fight against obscenity are updated and the effects of obscenity are emphasized based on accounts from various authors and entities such as the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography. Churches include the newsletter in Sunday bulletins. The newsletters also are handed out at meetings and mailed to members.

Despite public ridicule — and sometimes contempt — Webb feels the Unifour Citizens For Decency group has been successful. "When we first started, people got upset and called us censors. They compared us to the Russians and said we were trying to take away their rights. Most were yelling freedom of the press but the First Amendment never intended to protect obscenity," Webb said.

"Obscenity has never been protected by the law. I doubt Thomas Jefferson had pornography in mind when he helped write the constitution."

Threatening and harassing phone calls made Webb's wife and children appreciative of his relinquished Decency presidential duties, he said. "Sometimes this business to sell it worldwide. I thank the neighborhood people of the Unifour who've helped make the area a more decent place to live," Webb said. "It's all helped. I didn't dream we would accomplish all that we have at that first meeting."
Central Baptist Church Scholarship Fund

By DAVID BOREN
Record Staff Writer

Central Baptist Church, U.S. 64-70, SW, has announced the continuation of its $2,000 church scholarship fund program to assist Baptist young people who wish to pursue a career in the full-time ministry.

The Rev. Darrell Webb, pastor of Central Baptist, said the scholarship fund was founded two years ago by an anonymous donor from the church. The money is available first to young people from the church, and then to students from any of the approximately 37 churches in the Theron Rankin Baptist Association.

It may be used either for college or seminary education, and is open to candidates for all the full-time ministerial areas, including Christian education, music and the pastorate.

Webb said that since the program was started, the fund has helped three young men and women from Central Baptist and four students from other churches in the Theron Rankin Association.

Anyone wishing to apply for the scholarship should write the church for an application before the beginning of the school term for which the scholarship will be used.

For further details, write the Rev. Darrell Webb, 4101 U.S. 64-70, Hickory 28601, or stop at the church office to pick up an application.
Central Baptist Church, located on Highway 64-70 SW, Hickory, announces that it has added a new member to the staff.

Ed Yount, of 1818 1st St. NE, Hickory, has been hired to become minister of youth education and outreach.

Yount is a native of Hickory. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Yount and is married to the former Tanya Roberts of North Wilkesboro.

Yount is a senior at Lenoir-Rhyne College where he will be graduating in August.

Webb is a graduate of Tuscola High School, Western Carolina University, and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary.

He is married to the former Jane Sentelle, also formerly of Waynesville. They have two children, Misty, 7, and Amy, 4.

Webb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Webb of 604 Oakdale Rd., Waynesville.
Church Establishes Scholarship Fund

A scholarship fund has been established at Central Baptist Church in Hickory. The church will award $2,000 in scholarships annually to deserving people who are going into full time Christian Service after graduation from college or seminary.

The scholarship is available to anyone who is a member of a church in the Theron Rankin Baptist Association. Priority preference will be given to members of Central Baptist Church with the remainder being made available to Theron Rankin Church members.

Anyone wishing to apply for this scholarship should write the church for an application in advance of the beginning of the school term for which the scholarship will be used.

The scholarship is available for college or seminary training. For further details, write the Rev. Darrell Webb, 4101 Highway 64-70, SW, Hickory 28601, or go by the church office to pick up an application.
Drug Awareness Clinic At Church

Central Baptist Church, 4101 Highway 64-70, SW, will sponsor a drug awareness clinic at 7 p.m. Sunday. Officer Ken Razza of the Hickory Police Department will speak on the use of drugs in the area and tell parents what to look for and what to do about the program. The Rev. Darrell Webb, pastor, has invited the public.
Hickory Pastor Receives Honor

The Rev. Darrell Webb, pastor of Central Baptist Church of Hickory since July 1979, has been selected by the Theron Rankin Baptist Pastor's Conference as 1984 man of the year. Webb received a plaque and a certificate Tuesday at the regular Pastor's Conference. He received the honor for his "outstanding work in the association and for his untiring task in fighting pornography in the Unifour."

Webb is a graduate of Western Carolina University and the Southeastern Theological Seminary in Wake Forest. He was pastor at Crossroads Baptist Church in Tuberville, Va., before coming to Central.

He is married to the former Jane Sentelle and they have two daughters, Misty and Amy.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH — Sunday — The church will hold special homecoming services to mark its 25th anniversary. Central was organized into a church on June 18, 1961, near its current location. Members, former members and friends of the church are invited to help it celebrate.

Also on Sunday, the church will celebrate being debt-free by burning the note on the building. The sanctuary was built in 1975 at a cost of $325,000.

The church will celebrate these events with a special service at 11 a.m. Lunch will be served a 12:30 p.m. and special evening services will begin at 1:30 o’clock.

The Rev. Darrell Webb, pastor, invites the public. The church is at 4101 U.S. 64-70, SW.
Central Baptist Church of Hickory will participate in a series of Good News America simultaneous revivals being held throughout North Carolina March 23-27.

Services will be at 7 p.m. each night with the Rev. Eddie Deitz of Sylva as guest evangelist.

The minister, former member of the Inspirations Quartet, will sing and preach at each service. The public is invited, according to the Rev. Darrell Webb, Central Baptist pastor.
Central Baptist Plans To Show Decency Film

The film "The Fight for Decency: What's at Stake?" will be shown at Central Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The 47-minute film features Donald E. Wildmon, executive director of the National Federation for Decency. In the film, Wildmon discusses the importance of the fight for decency and what the battle is all about.

"The fight for decency is not about dirty words and dirty pictures," Wildmon says. "It is about the very foundation on which our society exists."

Wildmon has appeared on several television programs including Nightline, Good Morning America, The Tomorrow Show, Donahue, The Today Show, Inside Story, PTL and other syndicated and local programs. He also has been featured in a number of nationally circulated news magazines and periodicals.

The Rev. Darrell Webb, pastor of Central Baptist Church, invites the public. The church is located on U.S. 64-70, SW, Hickory.
Area Student Part Of Mission Project

Kirk Baker, an East Burke High School student, returned Jan. 10 from Barbados in the West Indies, where he participated in a mission field trip with the Brotherhood of the N.C. State Baptist Convention.

Each year the Baptists choose high school student applicants for participation in an overseas work project.

Baker accompanied eight other youths and four adults on a two-week trip during the Christmas holidays to help with light construction work on the chapel and seminary buildings of the Barbados Baptist College.

Baker is the son of Lewis and Jeannine Baker and is an active member of Central Baptist Church.
Film Focuses On Testimony

"Twice Given," the story of a family’s battle with death and their victory of love, will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. Sunday at Central Baptist Church on U.S. 64-70, SW.

The film includes testimony of evangelist Tom Williams whose wife, Pam, contracted bacterial meningitis in 1978 during a tour of the Holy Land.

Although Mrs. Williams fell into a coma and was not expected to survive, she awoke after seven months with no medical explanation for her recovery.

Williams, who preaches throughout the mid-West, was urged by friends to make a movie about the experience. "Twice Given," chronicles his wife's illness.

Robert Black of Hickory, a lay preacher and friend of Williams, said Mrs. Williams is "a walking miracle" and "an inspiration to see." The story is also available on two cassette tapes at Hickory Bible Center.
Youth ministers honored by church

Formal ceremonies were recently held at Central Baptist Church in honor of three young members who have accepted ministerial positions.

Kelly Childers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berl Childers, is new minister of youth at Temple Baptist Church in Hickory. He is a ministerial student at Gardner-Webb College.

Chris Alley, who has been working as minister of youth and activities at Central, has accepted a position as associate pastor. A graduate of Lenoir-Rhyne College, he is the son of Mrs. Gerald Alley of Hickory and the late Rev. Alley.

Susan Poteat, freshman at Lenoir-Rhyne, is new minister of youth at Pleasant View Baptist in Drexel. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Poteat of Valdese.
CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH — Sunday through Thursday — The church will take part in the "Good News America, God Loves You" simultaneous revivals being held across North Carolina. Services at Central Baptist will be at 7 p.m. daily. The Rev. Eddie Deitz from Sylva will be the guest evangelist. Deitz is a former member of the Inspirations Quartet. He will sing and preach each evening. The Rev. Darrell Webb, pastor of the church, which is at 4101 U.S. 64-70, SW, invites the public to attend.
A visiting evangelist believes battle lines are being drawn between Moral Majority and Southern Baptist factions.

Bob Phillips of Augusta, Ga., who is preaching a revival this week with his wife, Janet, at Central Baptist Church in Hickory, said he was espousing a "conservative Southern Baptist point of view" in his criticism of an editorial that appeared in the Hickory Daily Record on Monday.

Phillips said he and other Southern Baptists in the area are offended that "the editorial used the (Southern Baptist) state convention as an instrument to attack the Moral Majority when a lot of Southern Baptists agree with Jerry Falwell."

They are particularly offended, he said, about a syndicated cartoon that appeared with the editorial he described as "in poor taste."

The cartoon depicted member of the Moral Majority accusing Jesus of turning the other cheek and being "weak on defense."

"Jesus never talked about defense spending in the scriptures. There wasn't any such thing back then," Phillips said.

During the Baptist State Convention, which Phillips attended, a resolution was adopted rejecting "all attempts to use political power to enforce religious opinions."

Phillips said the editorial "might have misread what the convention was trying to say. The vote (to adopt the resolution) was not directed at Falwell, but at the political power of those who support the Equal Rights Amendment, sex education and abortion.

"If these things are being legislated by liberals, then conservatives should have the opportunity to voice their opinions as well, and be opposed to it," he said.

Before the vote, "the delegates were not really given a chance to express how they felt," Phillips said.

The editorial said Baptists "have sense enough to know it is difficult — no, well nigh impossible — to legislate morals. This is something many Moral Majority people haven't learned."

"The editorial seems to be saying it's immoral to legislate morality, but OK to legislate immorality," Phillips said.

Phillips said he and other conservatives do not necessarily think morality should not be legislated.

"There is a moral majority within the Southern Baptist convention as well, but these people are not as concerned about these social issues as the people in the Moral Majority," he said.

Phillips said he will address those issues Thursday night at Central Baptist Church on N.C. 64-70, SW.

"This whole issue is very sticky and has been misused by semantics," he said.

Phillips said he hopes to generate discussion among his audience Thursday.

Phillips is a graduate of Mars Hill College and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

"Jesus, We Just Want to Honor You"
"Jesus, We Just Want to Follow You"
"Jesus, We Just Want to Pray for You"
"Jesus, We Just Want to Be With You"
"Jesus, We Just Want to Serve You"
Central Baptist Church had its beginning as a mission of the First Baptist Church of Hildebran. The first service was held in a vacant building near Lowman's Motel on the first Sunday in February 1961 with approximately 75 people attending. The mission was organized into Central Baptist Church on Sunday, June 18, 1961. It was noted that all received for membership within the next 30 days would be charter members of the church. (The church later voted to extend this date to August 1, 1961). The first pastor to be called was Rev. L. R. Pendley and the first officers elected were: Clerk - Mrs. Mildred Wycoff; Treasurer - Robert Rhoney; Trustees - Willard Wycoff, Dorsey Young and W. O. Johnson; Deacons - Theodore Vanhorn, Charlie Johnson, Lee Foster, Homer Evans, John Stephens, Horace Rhoney and Berl Childers.

Our present church lot was purchased and a building program was begun immediately. A building containing educational space and a worship center was completed in January 1962 at an approximate cost of $70,000.

Rev. Pendley resigned as pastor, effective October 28, 1962. Rev. Gerald C. Goodwin was called as pastor on November 25, 1962. In December 1962 the church purchased a parsonage in the Longview area at a cost of $15,300. In May 1964 a monthly newsletter, The Central Sentinel, was begun. Being mission-minded, the Church voted in April 1967 to pay one-half the support of Rev. Tommy Stephens, Missionary to Indonesia. The first Constitution of Central Baptist Church was adopted in October 1967 (revised February 1980). A Library was established in February 1968. An additional tract of land adjoining the church lot was purchased in March 1968. On October 18, 1970, eight years after completion of the church building, Central Baptist Church rejoiced in a note burning service. The Church saw the need of expanding its building facilities and on January 10, 1971 a 12 man building committee was elected to begin work on plans for a new Sanctuary. On June 20, 1971, the Church voted to participate in a building fund campaign called "Together We Build." Rev. Goodwin served as pastor until January 30, 1972.

Rev. J. Bruce Walker was called as pastor effective August 27, 1972. A 2½ acre tract of land across street from the church (where present parsonage is) was purchased for $10,000 in April 1973. Then, in May 1974, the Sigmon home and property (approximately 3 acres of land next to the lot previously purchased) became available and was purchased for $30,000. Brenda Evans became our first Summer Youth Worker in the summer of 1974. She worked with our young people for 4 summers. The Church continued to strive toward its goal of having a new Sanctuary. On December 1, 1974, the Church voted to enter into a contract with Church Building Systems, Inc. of Nashville, Tennessee, to design and plan for the construction. Also, on this date, the Church secured Institutional Financial Services, Inc. to lead us in a Bond Program totalling $235,000. In January 1975, during a period of National recession, the Church ventured out in faith and the sale of bonds was completed in less than 2 weeks. On October 19, 1975, a dream came true for the members of Central. The Sanctuary was dedicated to God with great rejoicing. Our Sanctuary has a total seating capacity of 500 and should the church continue to grow, the building may be expanded to seat approximately 700. In addition to the Worship Center, there is a Pastor's Study, Secretaries Office, Secretary Workroom, Media Center, an office for Education and Outreach Director, Minister of Music, Choir Rehearsal room, Baptistry dressing rooms, soundrooms and other storage facilities. Rev. Walker served as pastor until December 31, 1978.

Rev. J. Darrell Webb was called as pastor effective July 1, 1979. In May 1980, Ed Yount was hired as part-time Minister of Youth, Education and Outreach. Feeling a need for a continuing ministry in this area, the Church voted to hire Ed as full-time Minister of Youth, Education and Outreach, effective September 1980. In mid 1980 the Church voted to sell the old parsonage and relocate on church property across from the church building. In February 1981, as the new parsonage neared completion, the old parsonage was sold for $47,000. The pastor's family was moved into the new parsonage on March 16, 1981 and dedication service was on April 26, 1981.

During the church's short history it has enjoyed a sustained period of growth having reached now a membership of approximately 500. Value of our church property is approximately $800,000. Our church ministries include Sunday School, Church Training, Mission Organizations, Music Ministry for adult and youth, Kids for Christ Club for our younger children, organized youth Bible studies and recreation.

Central Baptist Church has been the recipient of many gifts. For these we are grateful and say a sincere "Thank You!"

Central Baptist Church faces a challenging future. May we, with God's blessings, be equal to the task.
