FHS graduation Friday night

Seniors at Franklinton High School will graduate Friday night at 8 in the school's football stadium, while baccalaureate services are planned for Thursday night at 7.

The Rev. Geraldine Ingram, pastor of Franklinton United Methodist Church, will deliver the graduation address, and the Rev. Claude Dunston, pastor of Allen's Chapel Baptist Church in Louisburg, will deliver the baccalaureate address.

The baccalaureate service is being dedicated to the late Mary Little, longtime Franklinton teacher, who died during this school year.

Walthea Yarbrough will deliver the valedictory address during graduation, and Michelle Journigan will give the salutatory address.

Other seniors on the graduation program will be: Michael Bridges, master of ceremonies; Bryant Bumpers, invocation; Crystal Jones, solo, "The National Anthem"; and Christopher Hedrick, benediction.

Assistant Principal Robert Johnson will present the senior class, while Principal Robert Truitt and Board of Education Chairman Rufus Pace will assist Truitt in handing out diplomas.

The high school band and choir will also perform.

Juniors serving as marshals for the two ceremonies will be Cheri Wilder (chief), Scott Cooper, Pansy Ford, Angela Horton, Wendolyn Perry and Anita Puett.

Students on the baccalaureate program will be: Michelle Journigan, invocation; Crystal Jones, scripture; Walthea Yarbrough, introduction of class; Tonya Bobbitt, benediction.

This year's ceremonies have been planned by the students, who have learned responsibility and have matured from the experience, the principal said.
