WAKE FOREST LOSES TO FURMAN ELEVEN

South Carolina College Scores Six Touchdowns by Trick Plays.

Much to the surprise of the football world, Wake Forest was defeated by Furman in Greenville last Saturday. The final score was 39 to 7.

At the beginning of the game the Baptists started off with a wild rush. Pruette reeled off a 15-yard gain through the line. Captain Harry followed with a 10-yard gain. This seemed to add even more to the confidence of the team. But this was about all, so far as the North Carolina Baptists were concerned, until the final minute of play, when Heckman got away with one of Captain Rabenhorst's long passes and rushed down the field 80 yards for a touchdown.

The Wake Foresters started a wonderful game, but in the early stages were baffled by the system of forward passes and criss-cross plays staged by the Furmanites. These seemed to sweep the Wake Forest

COMMITTEE BEGINS DECLAMATION WORK

Suggestion Made to Start Extension Department With News Sheet.

The committee on the high-school declamation contest has organized, and work for the contest next spring has begun.

No literature has been issued as yet, but an early start will be made to make the contest successful.

There has been a suggestion to start an extension department along this line to connect the college more closely with the high schools of the State. A publication, similar to The News Letter, which is published at the University, has been mentioned as a means to keep in touch with the secondary schools of the State.

This committee consists of the following: R. D. Poe, chairman; B. E. Morris, secretary; O. T. Glenn, D. B. Johnson, G. R. Sherrill, L. J. Dawkins.

TEACHERS ORGANIZE AND ELECT OFFICERS

The teachers' class met last week for the first time and organized for the year with the election of officers.

The class is a large one and has a reputation to uphold, as Wake Forest has many worthy men teaching in North Carolina and other States.

The officers elected were: H. P. Smith, president; B. D. Dunn, vice-president; E. C. Staten, secretary; L. R. Williford, historian; C. F. Gaddy, poet; E. M. Mitchell, prophet; H. A. Helms, member of honor committee.

HOWLER PICTURES DUE MIDDLE OF NOVEMBER

The date set for all Howler pictures of Seniors and class officers to be handed in has been changed from November 1st to November 15th. All pictures of the sponsors must also be handed in on this date.

ELABORATE PREPARATIONS ARE COMPLETE FOR OUR MOST SUCCESSFUL SOCIETY DAY.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUN TO BE ONE FEATURE

Tennis Match With Guilford is Scheduled for Afternoon After Debate.

One of the most interesting events of Society Day will probably be the cross-country run, beginning at the south gate of the campus and extending four miles down the Raleigh Road and back, making a total of eight miles. The race will begin at 2 o'clock sharp.

The winner of the race will be awarded a $10 athlete sweater, and it is expected that there will be much competition in the race, as there are several men out and give indication of a hard-fought race. The manager of the track team, H. P. Smith, won the same race in 1916, making the entire stretch in twenty-four minutes, and from his observation that record will undoubtedly be broken this year, as there are several men showing indications of making a better one; among these are Poplin, Hamilton, and Young.

None of the former letter men will be allowed to participate in the race, and it is expected that a good deal of good material for this year's track

Y. M. C. A. HEARS EVANGELICAL TALK

Meeting Addressed by Dr. Turner; Aims of Consecration Week Outlined.

Dr. Turner was the speaker at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Monday evening. "Evangelism" was the subject of the program, which was a special one, in observance of Consecration Week. Wake Forest College is expected to furnish seventy ministers for home and foreign service, and it was to aid in completing this quota that the program was planned.

The talk by Dr. Turner was an evangelical one, in which he set forth the aims of Consecration Week, a part of the Seventy-five Million Dollar Campaign. According to Dr. Turner, the first aim is to get the indifferent members of the churches to realize the importance of active Christian service. The second aim

SPECIAL GYM CLASS MAKING IMPROVEMENT

Much improvement is being shown in the Special Gym Class, under the direction of Gymnasium Instructor H. L. Langston. The class is one of the largest special gym classes that has ever been at Wake Forest, and is working hard to become trained sufficiently to give public exhibitions. There are several members of the class that are working for the college monogram, given to the student that satisfactorily completes the different exercises prescribed. There have been only two Wake Forest men to receive this monogram so far, Director Langston being one of the two. D. R. Fouts is president of the class.

COMMITTEES ARRANGE INTERESTING PROGRAM

Meredith, Oxford, Louisburg, and Peace to Be Well Represented

Elaborate preparations have been completed for Society Day. From the time that the whistle blows at 2 o'clock on Monday, announcing the cross-country run, until after the refreshments at the reception that night, there will not be a dull moment.

Various committees have been appointed to look after the entertainment of all guests. Meredith, the sister college of Wake Forest, has always been well represented on this occasion, and from the reports that have recently come from there, more of the young ladies will be here this year than ever before. A large number of invitations have also been sent to Oxford, Louisburg, Peace, and a number of other colleges in the State.

Away back in September, when no one was thinking of Society Day, a small band of young men were working through the day and far into the night. These men were the debaters and the orators, and on Monday the student body and the visitors shall

HORSE SWAP BRINGS MAN TO LAW TOILS

For Being Thrown From Horse, Plaintiff Asks $5,000; Gets $3.25.

There is nothing morally or spiritually wrong in an honest "hoss" swap, but when either party uses deceit or misrepresentation in the said exchange, he (or she) is liable to the courts.

This point of law was substantiated in moot court Friday night when Dover Fouts brought suit against Willie Lovelace for the sum of $5,000 and received $3.25.

Dating back to the prehistoric days, Fouts had a good horse and didn't know it. He swapped the animal to Lovelace for a likely-looking equine and received in exchange $200, with a guarantee that the horse was sound in mind and

DEBATE COUNCIL IS ARRANGING SCHEDULE

Nothing definite has been decided upon for the year by the Debate Council yet, but several colleges are being communicated with, and the usual number of debates will soon be arranged.

An offer came from a number of colleges in Virginia and Tennessee to join a forensic league, but owing to conflicts with previous plans this offer was turned down.

The officers and members of the council this year are: R. D. Poe, president; F. W. Clonts, secretary; Dr. C. C. Pearson, faculty representative; W. M. Lovelace, O. T. Glenn, C. R. Hamrick, I. L. Yearby.

FAMOUS SKY PILOT TO VISIT COLLEGE

Reception Planned in Honor of Visit of Our Fellow-Student.

In the same plane in which he twice crossed the continent, winning the great ocean-to-ocean air race and reliability test of the army, Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard, Wake Forest junior, will visit the college one day next week.

A reception, participated in by a number of high State and military officials, is being planned for the famous aviator, the "greatest pilot on earth." Details of the reception, which was decided upon at a meeting of the faculty Monday evening, have not yet been completed by the committee appointed to make arrangements. The committee, Dean Timberlake, Dr. Turner, and Professor Jones, states that the program will be fitting to the occasion.

Lieutenant Maynard sent a wire on Monday, stating that he would visit Wake Forest one day next week in response to an invitation wired by President Poterat. The aviator did

SCRUBS PLAY TEAM OF STATE COLLEGE

To Play Off Tie Resulting in First Game of Two Second Teams.

Everybody behind scrubs! Tomorrow, for the second time during the season, the Wake Forest and State College second teams will meet. The game promises to be one of the most interesting of the year, and one well worth seeing. The first game between the two second teams was staged here on October 4, resulting in neither team scoring. Both squads seemed to be about evenly matched, and tomorrow's game will be fought out hard by both teams. The game will be played in Raleigh.

The Wake Forest eleven has been unfortunate in losing Brown at left end, on account of an injured knee, but his position will be well guarded by either Doster or McCallum. It is

STATE TOURNAMENT TO BE PLAYED TODAY

The tennis finals are yet to be played. They were called off last week-end for the second time, on account of rain. So it is up to the weather man whether they are played this week or not. Should he see fit, however, Folk will meet Winston in Durham Friday for the singles. Then with Stringfield he will journey on to Greensboro, Saturday, to enter the semi-finals in doubles. Remember, these things happen if the weather man sees fit.

RECREATION CENTER IS BEING PLANNED

Plans are now being made for the development of a recreation center on the outskirts of the town. Golf, swimming, and tennis will be featured. A simple club-house will be built. Details will be announced later.

Meredith and Oxford, we welcome you with open arms. (Of course, we mean that figuratively and not literally.)

Have you invited your girl? There is no excuse or defense for any fellow not having a girl over for this day.
Stag and slacker are synonymous.

If that girl you are with is good-looking, don't forget that there are some other fellows in college who like to meet good-looking girls, also.

If some fellows were as big as they think they are, wouldn't we have some giants in this world? Undoubtedly, it was a wise provision of Nature for us not to have the ability to see ourselves as others see us. Otherwise, the clothing stores would have to carry stocks of hats with minus numbers.

And with all we've said about those fuzzy growths on the sterile spot directly below the proboscis, we notice that one or two fellows have the nerve to still try to coax a half-dozen or so filaments to take up residence there. It has been suggested that the student body chip in and buy some hair dye for these faintly dis-cernible strips to relieve the strain on our eyes. But what's the use of buying dye to use on something that ain't? Well, we have done our best and said our worst in an effort to get rid of these things before the girls came over Society Day. Now we turn the whole affair over into the hands of the girls who will be with these fellows.

The following was handed to us a few days ago as the Ten Commandments of the campus. We should like to pass them on:

- "1. Keep your feelings in your pocket.
- "2. Laugh when the laugh is on you; and take a joke like a sport.
- "3. Stop your ears to the tale-bearer. Hear and know all the facts before judging.
- "4. Get 'that ramrod out of your backbone.' There are others on the campus as good as you are.
- "5. Steer clear of the other fellow's business. You have enough of your own.
- "6. Be a friend of every fellow, and every fellow will be a friend to you.
- "7. Don't kick. If you can't boost, keep quiet.
- "8. Have a will, but don't be a donkey.
- "9. Get your lungs full of that good old Wake Forest spirit of fellowship.
- "10. Try to be first on class, first on the campus, and first on the athletic field."

And the following was given as the campus version of the Golden Rule:
"Do unto yourself as you would have others do unto themselves."

SOCIETY DAY.

To be a mere book-worm, boning for four years in an effort to get only a chunk of "book l'arnin'," or to work only on the athletic field to develop the body, or grind away in the law library or over medical books—these things, any one or all of them, do not constitute the purpose of our being here. We are here to better fit ourselves for our work out in the world, to develop every side of our life and nature, to become "rounded out."

One of the most important sides of our nature is the social side. A man may go out from college with summa cum laude on his diploma, with all kinds of athletic letters, and with a trail of degrees hitched to his name, and yet his life may be worthless to the world, his presence in it may even be a detriment to its advancement, because he lacks the vital element obtained from the softening and elevating influence of social contact. And we mean by the word "social," pertaining to the association and companionship with the gentler sex.

On Monday we celebrate one of the two biggest college holidays and social events of the entire year. On this day several hundred girls come to Wake Forest from neighboring institutions for girls, and others are specially invited by students. Debates in the afternoon, followed by an athletic event, orations and a reception at night, and, above all, the society of these young ladies, make it a real festive occasion.

Wake Forest this year celebrates her fifth Society Day. The first was held on October 30, 1914, originating from the old occasion of Fall Senior Speaking, which was one of the biggest events of the year. This occasion left its mark on our present Society Day in the form of the orations at night. Formerly, however, there were twelve Senior speakers, where now there are only four. Society Day also grew out of the Sophomore-Junior Debate, which took place the last of October. The debate in the afternoon by men chosen from these two classes is the mark left by this occasion.

Wake Forest men, because of the situation of the college and for various existing reasons, do not often get the opportunity of enjoying frequent social events and the needed association with girls. Consequently, when such an occasion as this is offered to us, we should take full advantage of it. Society Day should be made as big an event as Anniversary Day in the spring. It breaks into what would otherwise be the long monotony of the fall term, giving us something to look forward to from the very moment of the opening of school. We hope that not a man in the student body will "stag" this year, and that this Society Day will be made one of the best ever celebrated.

HOW LONG?

We wish it were always possible for us to commend. We always like to boost far more than to knock.
This has been the policy we have rigidly adhered to this year, several times even straining a few points to do so. We believe sincerely in the Seventh Commandment of the campus, as given above—"Don't kick. If you can't boost, keep quiet."

There come times, however, when it is almost impossible not to kick—when it is morally impossible to commend and humanly impossible to keep quiet.

CHARMED!

When the first news came of the game last Saturday with Furman, we were dumbfounded. It seemed impossible that it should be true. We had expected our team to win by several touchdowns. We believed that a mistake had been made in the wire report and that the scores were really reversed. We continued, however, to hear the same report from other sources, and we finally came to the conclusion that it must be true.
'Twas then we had to use all of our strength in applying the Third Commandment—"Hear and know all the facts before judging." This, we believe, we have done.

There was no excuse for letting Furman beat us. However, there were several reasons why she did.
Perhaps the most vital reason was that we were over-confident of victory. We compared the score rolled up by Georgia Tech against Furman with the 14 points she wrested from us. We expected a walk-away.

This over-confidence was the cause for the next reason. We were not in the training for the game. Confident that we could win easily, training rules were not carried out. We held down two of the strongest teams in the South, we said; we can win this game in a walk. Two days before the game, most of the players went to Raleigh, getting in late, and having to get up early the next morning to leave for Greenville. Another reason for the piling-up of the score by Furman was that she launched us an entirely new type of attack, and one which our men were unable to fathom.

All of the above reasons are minor ones, however, resulting from the primary reason—the lack of a coach.
Our squad is composed of the best material for a winning team of any squad in the State. The most of the material, however, is green, and needs coaching.

It is not fair to blame this defeat on the football men. They did the best they could have done under the circumstances. They have done better than possibly any other team could have done this year under the same conditions. The three reasons listed above for this defeat would not have been if it had not been for this primary reason: A coach would not have let his men get over-confident; he would not have let them break training, and he could have told from the side-lines how to break up the new plays sprung upon them, just as a spectator of a checker game can better see moves than either of the players.

We wonder how long the trustees and the alumni of Wake Forest are going to let us struggle along in athletics without coaches. Wake Forest is one of the oldest institutions in the South. Yet we are using the same methods of coaching athletic teams such as must have been in vogue before the Civil War. Certainly, they could not have been more crude then. It is an impossibility for any man to play and coach at the same time. We have admired the spunk and work of the man who has tried this this season, and have marvelled at the results he has obtained. We don't believe there is another man who could have done it as well, but in tackling both jobs he could not do full justice to either.

What was needed was a man who could give his full time to coaching and training a team.

A successful football team is without a doubt the best advertisement a college can put out. It can bring the name of the college more before the public eye than page ads in a hundred magazines and papers; and it presents the college in such a way that a prospective student thinks to himself that he should like to go to school. It will result in "free advertising," which is the best read, every paper in the section. An successful team will do the same, but the advertising will have the opposite effect on prospective students.
A college is judged to a great extent nowadays, especially among the young men whom it is for, by the football team it puts out.

As we have said, we do not blame the football men for the loss of this game to a smaller and a weaker (in numbers) school—a defeat which made Wake Forest more or less the laughing-stock of the football world.
It was a farce on the game of football, but these men have showed that they can hold the best and strongest of the schools. They have done better, as we have said, than possibly any other bunch of men under the same conditions. We are ashamed of this defeat, but we cannot but appreciate and be proud of what the men have done, taking the season all in all. And we are behind them to the end. This is our team; it represents us, and therefore we will support it.

But we should like to repeat our question. How long will we have to struggle along in athletics without coaches? Is it fair to the men who play on the teams, fair to the student body, and fair to the name of the college for us to have to bow in defeat to any little college which can put out a superior team because of coaching?

see the results of their labors. Committees, speakers, athletes and marshals have been striving constantly for some time in order to complete every detail of the holiday.

The festival will be formally opened at 2 o'clock by a cross-country run of four miles. H. P. Smith, track manager, has stated that this will be an inter-class meet, and that no letter men will be allowed to participate. Much interest has been shown in this event, and as a result a large number of men have been in training for some time.

Following this will come the debate. The query is: "Resolved, That the United States Senate should ratify the covenant of the league of nations as proposed in the treaty of peace with Germany." Messrs. T. O. Pangle and N. E. Monteith, of the Eu Society, and R. G. Stevens and W. W. Pearce, of the Phi Society, will debate the question. These gentlemen have made a study of the question for some time and have a knowledge of it that will permit them to speak with authority.

After the debate will come a tennis match, in which the spectators will have an opportunity of seeing the excellent team work of Folk and Stringfield, the artists who were so much before the public in the Greensboro tournament two weeks ago.

At 7:30 the program will be resumed in Wingate Memorial Hall. O. T. Glenn, E. H. Potts, J. B. Odum, and R. T. Liles are the orators of the occasion, and to these men every eye is turned with eager expectancy.

As a fitting close to the day will come the reception at the gymnasium building, at which the entire student body and all the visitors will be received. The reception committee was, indeed, fortunate in securing some artists who will make the affair really a musical treat. They will include some of Meredith's and Oxford's most brilliant students in voice and violin. Dr. William Louis Poteat, of Wake Forest; Dr. Charles E. Brewer, of Meredith, and Dr. Hobgood, of Oxford, will address the reception, after which progressive conversation will be indulged in for a while. Punch will be served throughout the evening, and at the end a tempting course will be served.

J. L. Jones, of the Phi Society, is chief marshal this year. He has as his very able corps of assistants Messrs. H. M. Thompson, W. M. Harris, T. J. Moss, W. A. Ellis, and H. O. Deaton.

squad will come out in the race. Manager Smith announces that the chances for a good track squad this year are better than ever before, having much of last year's material back, and, in addition, excellent new material.

Another interesting event staged for Society Day is a tennis match, arranged by Manager H. J. Blackmon with Guilford College. The match will take place in the afternoon, directly after the regular Society Day debate, and will be played on the court behind the gym.

The match is expected to be a most interesting event and one well worth seeing, as the two representatives of Wake Forest, Folk and Stringfield, are in excellent condition and will give the Baptist college the best representation possible.

Both Folk and Stringfield are in the finals at Greensboro tomorrow in the state-wide tennis meet, having defeated the required number at the preliminaries in Greensboro several weeks ago, but were prohibited from contending for the State championship then, on account of weather conditions.

WELL, AND DO WE GET MORE OR LESS SLEEP?

The time has changed back and the long lost hour has been regained. An hour has been missing since last spring which waking or sleeping we had lost. Now some of the night hawks have regained at least one hour of many which have been lost.

Just what had become of that hour has been figured upon by several local mathematicians with no results. The sun rose and set as usual and yet we had to rise an hour earlier to do the day's work. Admitting that it was a good policy for the county, it was mighty unhandy for some of us at first.

But now we have again the sun time, the time we were born by the time we had before Wilhelm roused his hosts and the ire of Uncle Sam. May we keep it till the next war when there is some cause to sacrifice. Keep the clocks turned back.

WAKE FOREST MEETS SEWANEE SATURDAY

Determined to get revenge for the Furman defeat of last Saturday, Captain Harry will lead his charges against Sewanee, of Portsmouth, Va., tomorrow.

Sewanee has a good machine, and it will be no walk-away, but the Baptists are intent on piling up a score on them. This week has seen every man hard at work, and the team is much stronger than it was a week ago. The entire squad is in excellent physical condition, except Blackshear, who is still suffering from the injuries of the Davidson game.

The line-up will be practically the same as that sent against Furman. Johnston and Heckman will guard the flanks. Olive, Pearce, and Floyd will play the tackles. Moss, Bundy, and Peezor will be at guard. Wall and Taylor will take care of the pivot position. Rabenhorst, Fulton, Jennette, and Pruette will make up the backfield quartette, with Benton and Boylan as substitutes.

not state the exact day of his visit. He will stop over on his way to or from the Sampson County Fair, where he will give an exhibition flight. President Poteat has wired Lieutenant Maynard to give, if possible, the exact date of his arrival.

While no holiday has been announced by the faculty, owing to the uncertainty of the time of our "sky pilot's" visit, both regarding the day and the time of day, it is understood that after he lands on the athletic field, where he will probably bring his machine to rest, there will be no classes, and a holiday will be unanimously declared.

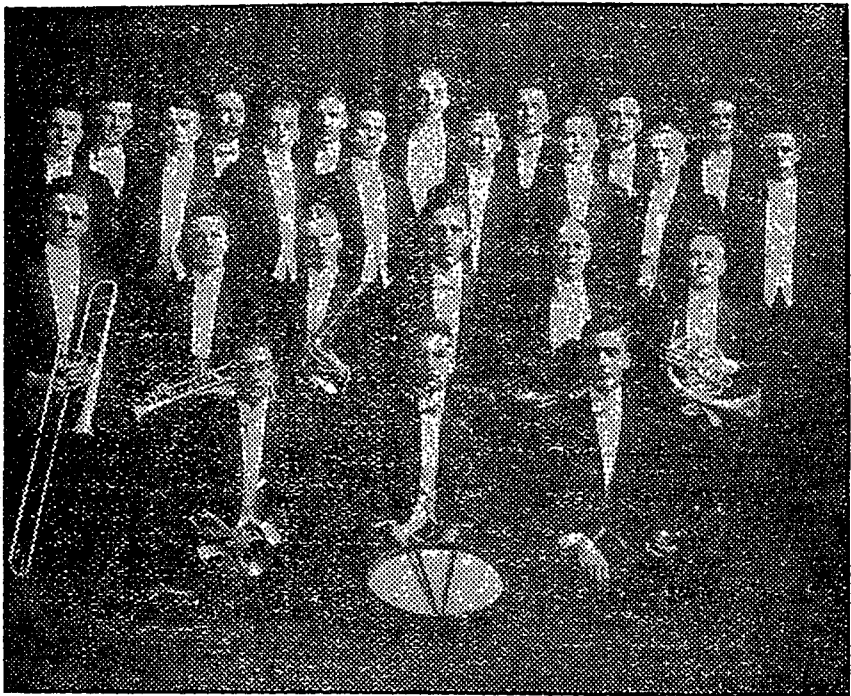

The plans for the reception include, in addition to the welcome by the students and college, addresses of congratulation by State and military officials. Governor Bickett, it is understood, has been invited to be present for the occasion, as well as Colonel Cox, commanding officer of the 113th Field Artillery of the Old Hickory Division. Besides these, the Red Cross and other notable officials have been extended an invitation. A large number of visitors is expected to be present.

We don't think it was quite fair of the weather man not to give us fair weather for the Fair after we had paid our fare to Raleigh and put up with the fare of the restaurants there that day.

By the way, don't forget that Old Gold and Black is an advertiser, too.

GLEE CLUB AND ORCHESTRA.

GLEE CLUB STARTS ON TRIP NEXT WEEK

Itinerary Completed for Southern Part of State and South Carolina.

The itinerary of the Glee Club and Orchestra's fall trip has been completed by R. P. Burns, the manager. The trip, which starts next week, will be in the southern part of this State and South Carolina.

The engagements, as announced by the manager, are as follows: November 7, Sanford; November 8, Rockingham; November 10, Wadesboro; November 11, Hartsville, S. C.; November 12, Bennettsville, S. C.; November 13, McColl, S. C.; November 14, Lumberton; November 15, Wilmington. On Sunday, November 9, the Glee Club will stop over in Rockingham. At Hartsville, S. C., the concert will be given at Coker College. The president of the college is Dr. E. W. Sikes, a former member of the faculty at Wake Forest and the dean for several years.

Arrangements have also been made for a week-end trip to Dunn and Clayton on Friday and Saturday, respectively, after Thanksgiving.

The program is being rapidly completed and all are getting into final shape.

Many new men have been added to the Glee Club and Orchestra this year, on account of those lost by graduation last year. They are eight in number, all of them belonging to the Glee Club and only three belonging to the Orchestra. The three who are members of the Orchestra are: V. Stringfield, second cornet; A. M. Moseley, first violin; J. L. Lovelace, trombone. The others are: D. S. Ramsour, B. M. Castelloe, A. R. Whitehurst, and J. C. Kesler.

Looks as if the Seaboard couldn't be contented with having the Shoo-fly late six times a week, and had to increase it to seven. Sunday editions just like week-day.

One of the stories that President Wilson tells, says the New York Tribune, is of a small boy whom he encountered at Staunton, Va. The President was speaking to a crowd from the steps of the Baldwin Seminary for Girls. The boy pushed and shoved his way through the crowd until he wound himself squarely in front of President Wilson, whereupon he shouted, excitedly: "Where is it? Where is it?"

Mr. Wilson stopped his speech, and with a broad smile said, good-naturedly, "Well, my boy, I guess I am it."

"Oh, pshaw!" responded the youngster, with a look of disgust. "I thought it was a dog fight."

DRUNK MAN HIRES SKY; BUYS COFFIN

Determined to Take One More Drink Under Death Penalty.

A certain member of our ministerial class was standing last Monday morning on the station platform at Greystone, a quarry station just above Henderson, waiting for a train. He had preached near there Sunday.

Standing on the platform near him were two other men, one rather unsteadily and looking as if he might be somewhat overstocked with "white lightning" or "monkey rum." The tipsy one turned to the other man.

"Pard," he said, "whur yer from?" "Henderson," answered the other. "What yer do?" queried the drunk man.

"Undertaker and dealer in funeral supplies."

"How much yer sell (hic) me a coffin for?" persisted the overloaded one, reeling toward him.

"Well, if you order it in advance, I'll make you one for $50," said the coffin dealer, thinking he had a joke.

The drunk man whipped out a roll of bills and peeled off $50. "Send 'er down, quick," he said. "You k'n take my 'mensions any time."

He reeled over to the ministerial student.

"Whur yer do, pard?" he asked. "I am a minister of the gospel," answered that dignitary.

"Thas aw right, pard," replied the drunkard; "we ain't 'shamed er yer. Yer jus' in time. How much yer take to preach my fun'ral?"

"Why, my dear man," the young minister asked, "what can the matter be? Are you ill?"

"Nor," came the answer. "Doc said if I (hic) took 'nother drink, I'd die. An' (hic) I'm gonner take one."

He did.
He lives.

There Was a Reason.—Mrs. Dix, "I was ashamed of you, Ephraim, to see you dust the chair you sat on at Mrs. Henshaw's. I saw her little boy watching you."

Dix—"I saw him, too. I'm too old a fish to be caught on a bent pin."—Blighty (London).

Mrs. Youngbride: "These eggs I got here yesterday look queer. I believe they're duck eggs, not hen eggs."

Grocer: "Duck eggs, ma'am? You are mistaken. We don't sell duck eggs."

Mrs. Youngbride (firmly): "But I am not mistaken. I tested them. I dropped them into water and they floated."

LAUGHING WITH OUR EXCHANGES

Prof.—"Give me, in short, Washington's Farewell Address."

Freshman—"Heaven."—Tar Baby.

He—"Let's have a fight."
She—"Why the idea? What for?"
He—"So we can kiss and make up."—Chaparral.

Lawyer—"What keeps people from falling off the earth?"

Physics Student—"That's the law of gravity."

Lawyer—"How did they stay on before that law was passed?"—Woop-Garoo.

Freshman—"What is matriculation?"

Second Freshman—"I don't know, do you?"

First Freshman—"No, but I wonder if everybody has to take it?"—Lariat.

An important-looking Senior was trying his best to get a certain number from one of the downtown telephone pay stations.

"Drop in your nickel, please," the operator was saying.

"Er, wait a minute, please. Have you got the change for a dollar?"—Lariat.

First Soph—"Don't step on my foot. Put it where it belongs."

Second Soph—"If I did, you would n't sit down for a week."—Hornet.

A man works through long years to become a Senior and enjoy the same pleasures and privileges as a Freshman.—Chronicle.

"Cold, dear?"
"Bout to freeze."
"Want my coat, dear?"
"Just the sleeves."—Exchange.

First Roommate—"I say, Walt, would you lend me your green necktie this evening?"

Second Roommate—"Certainly, Ed, but why all the formality?"

First Roommate—"I can't find it."—Awgwan.

The Social Side

Capt. J. B. Powers, Jr., who is doing important work in the medical department of the aviation branch of the army since his return from France, was the guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Powers, Sr.

Miss Margaret Graves, of South Hill, Va., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. R. McKinnon.

Mrs. R. H. Griffin has returned to her home in Wilmington, after a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Caddell.

Misses Margaret Gill and Lucy Harris spent the past week-end with their parents. These young ladies are in school at the Greensboro College for Women.

Miss Margaret Reid has returned from a visit to relatives in Kittrell.

Judge and Mrs. G. J. Spence, of Elizabeth City, have been in Wake Forest.

Miss Kate Holland has returned from a short stay with friends in Raleigh.

Miss Ida Poteat, of Meredith College, was the week-end guest of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Poteat. Dr. and Mrs. Poteat have had Mrs. Wheeler Martin and Master Wheeler, Jr., of Williamson, to visit them for the past week, also.

Miss Ruby Groome, of Greensboro College for Women, has been the guest of Miss Lucy Harris.

Getting Acquainted.

One rainy day a guy, clad in an old slouch hat and a "slicker" plodded into Powers' Drug Store and asked for a pound of candy.

Now it happened that Newish Proctor was clerk on duty at that time and came to wait on the apparent stranger, asking him what kind of candy he desired. The stranger remarked rather gruffly, (so the Newish thought): "You know what kind of candy I usually get, so fix it up in a hurry."

"Well," snapped the Newish, "You don't have to get on your shoulders about it."

is to get them to choose a definite field of Christian service and to prepare for it at once. These two aims he applied directly to his listeners themselves.

At the end of this talk he laid before the meeting the plan of having one evangelical program each month at the Y. M. C. A. meetings. This plan is expected to be carried out in the future. Dr. Turner's talk was marked by his usual enthusiasm throughout.

This talk was in preparation for the coming visit of Dr. W. B. Powell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Asheville, and an alumnus of Wake Forest College, who will speak in the furtherance of this drive.

team off its feet, and it never regained itself, either on the offense or defense.

They beat us, and we wonder until yet how it was done. "Muscles" Benton says it was sleight-of-hand. Nevertheless, it was a clean game from start to finish, and every man, both North Carolinians and South Carolinians, showed themselves real sports.

The outstanding stars for Furman were Speer and Rhame. The former played a wonderful game, registering three of the touchdowns for his team and making several long runs. Heckman played best for Wake Forest.

hoped, also, that Norman will be able to be back in the game, after having been out for several weeks with an injured leg.

Carter will probably run the team at quarter, and from the way that he has been playing recently, he will be much better able to pilot the team to victory. The backfield will be picked from Boylan, Norman, Roberson, Carter, Matthews, and Barton. The line will be picked from B. Smith, G. Smith, Johnson, Gaddy, McCallum, Lee, Mauney, Stevenson, Doster, and Huntley. Mauney, Johnson, and the two Smiths showed up well in the last scrub game, and with the additional training that they and the other linesmen have received, the line will be considerably stronger than it was in the last game with A. & E.

Although tomorrow's game is not one that can be rated as important as the varsity games, the student body will undoubtedly support the second team by a large number going to Raleigh for the final scrub exhibition.

body, with a genial disposition and a love for toil.

But Fouts claimed that Lovelace falsified, or either a great change came over the horse in double-quick time, for on the way home the "critter" made a dash for liberty and after throwing him (Fouts) from the wagon and breaking several bones of the body, ran off without even looking back.

The attorneys labored long and earnestly for the plaintiff, but the jurors were either too wise or too ignorant to see the injured one's viewpoint, as they only allowed him a small part of the sum asked.

'ROUND 'BOUT TOWN

Society Day is upon us. Guests are expected and the club houses have no sugar. This is the condition that now confronts us, and still worse, there is no sugar at any of the stores in town.

But why complain, are not the sweetest of the sweets and fairest of the fair coming Monday? With their coming we will need no sugar, then, nor for a long time afterward. The fragrance of a sweet flower lingers in a garden long after the plant itself has withered and died. So will the spirit of these maids remain with us, encouraging us, lightening our loads and making life more bearable, for many months and a day after they have gone. We should worry about the sugar shortage.

James Doster, that young man of handsome physique, has recently accepted a position in the Timberlake Cafe. In the signed contract with Mr. Timberlake, Mr. Doster agrees to "knock down" nothing except the small change. He places himself under bond to abstain from playing on the cash register to the tune of any amount of currency, but coins are not included in the agreement.
