

Rev. Rudy Potter Resigns Work Here

Member of Staff of Oxford Baptist Church Going to Henderson Duties

The Rev. Rudy Potter, who has been Minister of Religious Instruction in Oxford Baptist Church for almost two years, has resigned his work here, having accepted a similar position with First Baptist Church, Henderson. He plans to go to his new duties Nov. 20.

Mr. Potter is a native of Elizabethtown and came to Oxford upon completion of special training at Southeastern Seminary, which he attended for two years following graduation from Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem.

In Henderson, Mr. Potter will be associated with Dr. W. W. Leathers.

"The going of Rudy Potter to First Baptist Church in Henderson next month will be a distinct loss in our church and community as well as to me personally," commented the Rev. Clarence E. Godwin, pastor. "I have enjoyed working with him as much as anyone I know. Always he has exemplified a cooperative and unselfish spirit. We love and appreciate Rudy for what he is, a dedicated Christian gentleman, and for what he is doing," he added.

"I do thank the Oxford Baptist Church for the friends that she has given me, for the things she and her pastor have taught me, and for the patience and cooperation that she and her staff have offered so freely to me in these past years," Potter said.
