Church Covenant:

1

But first give themselves to the Lord, and unto us by the will of God 2^d Cor. 8-5th. Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, but exhorting one another daily. Heb. 10-25.

We whose names are under written, being called as we trust by the grace of God; do in the name of the Lord Jesus, voluntarily, and jointly separate ourselves from the world, and give ourselves to the Lord, who hath promised to receive such, and be their God; holding ourselves as His, and not our own.

We also voluntarily, and mutually give ourselves to each other and receive one another in the Lord, meaning hereby to become one body jointly; to exist, and jointly to act by the bonds and rules of the Gospel, esteeming ourselves henceforth as members of a spiritual body, accountable to it, bound to obey it, subject to its control, and no otherwise to separate therefrom, than consent, first had, or unreasonably refused.

We also voluntarily engage, the Lord enabling us, to keep the faith once delivered to the Saints, which we believe contains the following sublime, and important Doctrines: (Viz.) The being a God; the Trinity of Characters in the God-head, the fall of Adam and his posterity, the corruption of human nature, and the impotency of man, whereby he was rendered to do that which is truly, properly, and spiritually good. The everlasting love of God, the doctrine of the electing love of God, the eternal Covenant of grace. Redemption and Justification by the imputed righteousness of Jesus Christ, pardon and reconciliation through His blood, regeneration and sanctification by the influence, and operation of the Holy Spirit, the final perseverance of the saints in grace, the resurrection of the dead, and the Eternal judgment.

That the happiness of the righteous, and the torments of the wicked, will be endless. Finally, we do voluntarily and jointly engage in the strength of the Lord to do all things which He has commanded us to do, particularly, to deny ourselves take up our cross, and follow the Lord in all His examples and precepts; to assemble ourselves together as often as we conveniently can for the worship of God, to attend our Church Conferences, and keep up a gospel discipline, that we may be accepted in the sight of God and man, that we may live as brethren, and be subject to one another in the Lord, also honor and help, maintain and obey those who are over us in the Lord.

This is the Covenant we now enter into before the Lord. And we Solemnly call upon Almighty God to witness the purity of our intentions, and the Sincerity of our Souls in this weighty and all important business, and to establish, fix, and confirm the above Covenant, we have willingly, and unanimously ordered our names to be hereunto affixed. This 11th of Nov 1833.

Note. The above covenant is transcribed, verbatim from the Old Church Book. The names of deceased members found in the Old Book, also those dismissed by letter and excommunicated will be left out here.

Rules of Decorum.

Article 1st All meetings shall be opened and closed by prayer or praise by the Pastor of the Church, or some one at his request; and in his absence, by one of the Deacons, or some one at his request.

2nd The church, in the first place, shall appoint a Moderator, whose duty it shall be to inquire after the Union of the church, put all questions for decision, open a door for the reception of Members when necessary, give the righthand of fellowship, and keep order during Conference.

3rd The church shall have a Standing Clerk, who shall hold his Office so long as he performs the various functions appertaining thereto satisfactorily; whose duty it shall be to record faithfully, all the proceedings of the Church, and read any part of said record when called on by the church.

4th The church shall have a Treasurer, who shall keep an account of all monies received and paid out, and his book shall be open for the inspection of the church at any of her regular meetings.

5th Only one person shall speak at a time, and he shall rise from his seat, and address the Moderator; he shall carefully avoid personalities and harsh expressions, or such reflections as are calculated to wound feelings; but shall strictly adhere to the subject.

6th The person thus speaking shall not be interrupted by any one, except for explanation.

7th No one shall absent themselves without leave of the Conference.

8th No person shall speak more than three times on the same subject, without leave of the Conference, except to explain an idea of his not properly understood.

9th No member of the Church shall be laughing or whispering during Conference.

10th No member shall absent themselves from Church meetings without giving an excuse for his or her absence.

11th Any member who shall willingly and knowingly break any of these rules shall be dealt with as the Church may deem most expedient.
