

Sixth Interscholastic Tournament April 13-14 Two Scholarships and Forty-two Medals Will Be Awarded

DR. CHARLES LEE SMITH SPEAKER AT GOLDEN BOUGH TAPPING CEREMONY

Annual Tapping of Honor Group
To Be Held Tuesday Evening

Dr. Charles Lee Smith, former president of Mercer University, and at present president of the Edwards & Broughton Printing Company of Raleigh, will make the principal address at the annual "tapping" ceremonies of the Golden Bough, Wake Forest honor society, on Tuesday evening, March 6. Dr. Smith was graduated from Wake Forest College in 1884, and was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by the college in 1906. He has recently returned from a trip around the world, and therefore, has had wide experience.

Speculation is rife on the campus concerning those who will be chosen. In February of each year since the foundation of the society in 1925 there has been the annual selection of men. According to the plan of selection of members, each member of the society submits a list of not over ten men in college who, in his opinion, all things considered, give most promise. The three principles upon which the selections are made are Christian character, leadership, and scholarship. The membership of the organization is never to exceed 25.

The Golden Bough was founded at Wake Forest College in 1925, and since that time some of the most prominent men on the campus have been among its members. President Emeritus William Louis Poteat, Dean D. B. Bryan, and Dr. Hubert Poteat are members of the faculty who have been chosen as honorary members.

Members of all classes in college save the freshman class are eligible for membership in the organization. At present membership is about equally divided between the junior and senior classes.

Freshman Debaters Chosen From the Eu. And Phi. Societies

McClary and Eap From Philaretian, and Reams and Hill From Euzelian

On Monday night and Tuesday night, respectively, the freshman debaters from the Philomathean and Euzelian Literary Societies were chosen. Dillon McClary and J. W. Eap were chosen from the Phi. Society, while G. W. Reams and J. Wilson Hill won the coveted places in the Euzelian Society. D. T. Fuller and J. Milton Earley, of the Phi. Society, advanced some excellent argument, and "Red" Baker and Larry Eagles did the same in the Eu. Society.

W. F. Debates William and Mary College and University of Florida

Wake Forest Wins Over William and Mary Here; Loses to Florida in Debate at Louisburg College.

A very interesting and well-argued debate took place in Wingate Memorial Hall Tuesday evening between Wake Forest College and William and Mary College. The debate was held on the open forum plan, and the results showed that Wake Forest won by a considerable majority of votes.

The query discussed was: "Resolved, That the United States should cease to protect by armed force capital invested in foreign countries, except after a formal declaration of war." William and Mary upheld the affirmative side of the question, while Wake Forest debated the negative side of this very pertinent question of the day.

William and Mary was represented by Messrs. Arthur Kelsey, Edwin Lambert, and W. H. Elliot. Wake Forest was defended by Messrs. R. Paul Caudill, W. H. Bostic, and Joe Carlton.

The first speaker for the affirmative, Mr. Kelsey, cited the present conditions in the Marine Hospital at Norfolk among the marines who were wounded in an attempt to protect for-

W. F. Will Debate Furman U. Here Monday Evening

W. W. Cohoon and O. T. Binkley Will Represent Wake Forest

On Monday evening a debating team representing Wake Forest, will debate a team representing Furman University, the debate to be held in Wingate Memorial Hall.

The query to be debated is: "Resolved, That the United States should cease to protect private capital invested in foreign countries, except after a formal declaration of war."

The speakers who will represent Wake Forest are W. W. Cohoon and O. T. Binkley. The names of the Furman speakers we do not have.

John C. Caddell Named Mentor Deacon Squad

Veteran Diamond Coach Put in Charge of Aspirants for Baseball Team

John C. Caddell, well known North Carolina umpire and former Wake Forest baseball coach, took charge of the 1928 Wake Forest College baseball team Monday afternoon. Mr. Caddell was recommended by the Wake Forest Athletic Council for the baseball coaching position made vacant by the recent resignation of Head Coach Jim Baldwin. The Executive Council of the Board of Trustees passed on the recommendation Saturday.

An Old Hand

The newly-elected Deacon coach is not new to the men who will work under him this spring. In the spring of 1925 he was at the helm of the Baby Deacon baseball team, and the following spring he coached the varsity nine following the resignation of Hank Garrity. With his freshman team Coach Caddell took the yearling championship of Tarheelia, and in a post-season tilt, licked Garrity's State champion varsity team. Key Joyner and Ralph James, Deacon hurlers who were on that memorable freshman aggregation, are on deck for work under Coach Caddell again this year, and it is believed that the Deacon mentor will be able again to get the best possible results from them. The varsity team of 1926, another Caddell-coached nine, also took the State championship of North Carolina.

Philaretian Society Holds Discussion on Hoover and Smith

Poems Are Read and Article in South Atlantic Quarterly Reviewed

For the week ending February 25 the three sections of the Philomathean Literary Society enjoyed a varied program, this program being more of a purely literary type.

The first two parts of the program were taken up with the reading of poems. Then came two very timely discussions: "Hoover as a Candidate for the Presidency," and "Smith as a Candidate for the Presidency." After the reading of a few more poems there was a review of an article in the South Atlantic Quarterly: "The Negro in Recent Southern Literature," by Harold P. Morley. The program was concluded with a few humorous poems.

Many members of the society have expressed their enjoyment of this program, and it is hoped that more such interesting features of literary society work can be had this year.

DRAMATIC CLUB DISCUSSES PLAYS; HAS SELECTED ONE

"A Set of Turquoise" Chosen and Will Likely Be Given

Much interest has been shown in the recent meetings of the Dramatic Club, and the plays have been discussed with some care. The reading committee has experienced a great deal of trouble, however, in finding three one-act plays in which a love story, comedy, and tragedy would be found. The three plays now under consideration, "A Set of Turquoise," "Altruism," and "In Abraham's Bosom," are splendid plays, but have not, with exception of "A Set of Turquoise," been accepted.

After try-outs, those who make places in the different casts will become members of "The Deacon Players," as the functioning players will be called. It is not known as yet whether the Dramatic Club will still exist as an encouragement in dramatics or shall be discontinued. The Dramatic Club should still function separate and apart from "The Deacon Players," or as an auxiliary, but there is some doubt as to whether sufficient interest will manifest itself to do either.

Plans for short tours have been discussed, but definite ideas have not been expressed. Much will depend upon the reception of the program on the campus, where it will make its initial appearance. If the first program meets any degree of favor, the players hope to carry the program on a few week-end tours at least. A three-act play will also be put on with hope for a showing at commencement in June, when members of the Board of Trustees will be present to see the efforts of the players. The organization must have some assistance from the college, and if a good impression can be made at commencement, it is believed that some assistance will be given.

Gamma Sigma Epsilon Chemical Fraternity Holds Annual Banquet

Held in Peacock Alley Tea Room, Raleigh; President Gaines and Wife Are Guests

The annual banquet of the Alpha Gamma chapter of the Gamma Sigma Epsilon chemical fraternity will be held tonight in Raleigh at the Peacock Alley banquet room. Indications are that the affair will be a gala occasion. The members of the fraternity are sparing no efforts to make it successful.

The gentlemen of the Alpha Gamma chapter will be accompanied by their friends of the fair sex, so approximately fifty or sixty persons will be present. From all sections of the State, and even from other states, will the young ladies wend their way to the annual celebration of the fraternity. Miss Ella Louise Moore, of Portsmouth, Virginia, attractive sponsor of the local chapter, will attend as a guest of honor. Miss Moore is now in college at Farmville, Virginia, in the Virginia State Teachers' College. She recently represented that institution in a dual debate with Wake Forest College.

President Gaines and his wife will attend the banquet as special guests, as will Dr. and Mrs. Kitchin, Dr. and Mrs. Nowell, and several other members of the faculty. Practically all of the members of the chemical fraternity will be present. Likewise a number of the honorary members of the organization, and several alumni members are expected.

Dr. J. W. Nowell will act as toastmaster. Several special features will be included in the program, and long speeches will not be in order. The occasion will be formal, but it will be far from dignified. The embryonic chemists plan a festive affair, with all that goes to make up a real college banquet.

Last fall the Alpha Gamma chapter gained national fame by winning the silver loving cup of the honorary fraternity, in recognition of being the best chapter in the organization. The banquet will be a sort of celebration of this feat, and the cup will occupy a commanding position at the affair.

SUMMER SCHOOL PROMISES TO BE A GOOD SESSION

Nine Weeks of Summer School Is Meeting With Warm Approval

Dean Bryan announces that the reorganization of the Wake Forest Summer School is meeting with warm approval throughout the State among those who plan to attend the summer session here. The nine weeks summer school is much like the regular session, except that the former is co-educational. In the summer work far greater attention will be paid to the needs of teachers.

Among the new additions to the faculty of the Summer School are: George R. Sherrill, who is getting his Ph.D. degree this year, and who will teach here in the Department of Government; J. L. Memory, Assistant State High School Inspector, who has been at Columbia University this year studying in the Department of Education, and who was recently sent to the State of Florida by Columbia on an educational survey, will give courses here particularly in secondary education; Supt. H. F. Shrygley, of the Raleigh public schools, who will give courses in administration and supervision of elementary institutions; Dr. Shrygley received his M.A. degree from George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, and has had many years of successful experience in North Carolina; Supt. E. L. Best, of Franklin County, and acting president of Louisburg College, who will give courses in education.

There will be a greater variety of courses offered this summer to meet the needs of advanced students, graduates from Meredith and from other colleges, who are working for the M.A. degree.

Additional courses, new courses, and advanced courses will be offered in the following departments: Biology, Chemistry, Education, English, Modern Languages, Mathematics, and Social Science. Geography will be offered for the first time in Wake Forest College, and will be taught by Professor Isbell in connection with his course in geology. Economics 1-2 and Government 1-2 will be offered. A course in church music will be offered by Mr. Potter, of Raleigh; the purpose of this course is to train college students in the matter of church worship through music. It is expected that credit will be given for the course.

Twenty Candidates Have Come Out for Baseball Practice

K. Joyner, P. Joyner, Reynolds, Moss, Dowtin, Gibson, Pearson and Other Out

Approximately twenty prospective and aspiring candidates answered Coach John Caddell's first call to baseball practice last Monday on Gore Field. Coach Caddell had been appointed baseball mentor about a week previous to this.

The work-outs this week have necessarily been very elementary, consisting only of light limbering-up exercises, calisthenics, bunting, tossing the ball at short distances, and base running. The Deacon mentor is taking no chances of having his men laid up with sore arms, charley-horses, and other early-season maladies.

At this writing Ralph James, Kuykendall, and Tom Lanning have failed to report for practice. They are expected to sign up toward the latter part of this week, when they return from Asheville.

The remainder of the squad reported on time. Among this number were K. Joyner, P. Joyner, Reynolds, Moss, Dowtin, Clayton, Gibson, Person, Laster, Scarboro, Foust, Allen, and Phelps.

From the looks of the material on hand, Coach Caddell will have his hands full in welding a formidable machine out of his candidates. If there is baseball talent to be found in that bunch, we are sure Coach Caddell will bring it out and develop it to its fullest extent.

—Mrs. T. E. Holding is spending several weeks in Macon, Ga., with her daughter, Mrs. E. E. Folk.

Advisory Board of Alumni Council Instructs Special Committee to Pass on Him

The Advisory Board of the Alumni Council of Wake Forest College, including alumni from practically all the alumni associations in the State, in a meeting here yesterday afternoon instructed a special committee of their number to complete investigation of Stanley B. John Powers Wins Silver Cup In Local Golf Tournament

Powers Defeated Harry Hall Seven-up in Eighteen Hole Match

In the finals of the Annual Fall Golf Tournament, played here February 21, John Powers defeated Harry Hall seven up in an eighteen-hole match.

The tournament has been featured by erratic golf and many upsets of the dope bucket. It was seen in the first of the elimination that fate was the mother of ceremonies when the two leading golfers of the campus were paired together, and Tom Carlton defeated Frank Wood.

Montague, Hall, and Powers had a comparatively easy time until the semi-finals, when Hall and Montague were matched to determine which should play Powers in the finals. This match was closely fought and some very erratic golf was shown. Hall won over Montague on the seventeenth hole of the eighteen-hole match, only to lose to Powers just one week later.

The trophy, a silver cup, was awarded at the chapel period Friday, February 24, to Mr. Powers amid much cheering. Dr. Bagby presented the cup with a few remarks concerning the development of the interest shown in golf by the students.

Professor Thompson Is Confined by Illness To College Infirmary

Professor J. A. Thompson, of the Spanish department, is ill and in the college infirmary at present. It is expected that he will not be out for a week or more.

Deacons Outplay Presbyterians In Final Game of the Season

Spring Football Practice Begun Here This Week

Coach Emmerson Has His Prospective Varsity Material Working Out

Almost coincidental with the baseball practice came notice of the first spring football practice to be held on the old athletic field. Since that day Coach Fred Emmerson has had his prospective varsity material working out under the hot rays of the February sun. Approximately fifty would-be Deacons answered Coach Emmerson's call.

As in the case with baseball, the training program has necessarily been very light, consisting mainly of limbering-up exercises, calisthenics, blocking, dummy tackling, and punting. Coach Emmerson plans to divide his squad at an early date into four complete teams and stage games between them almost every day. This will come when the men have gotten some of the stiffness out of themselves and have become hardened to the practice—Continued on page 2.

A Number of Schools Have Already Written That They Will Send Representatives

Plans are rapidly going forward for the sixth annual High School Track Meet and Declaration Contest, to be held here April 13 and 14. Posters and letters containing rules and regulations of the contest are being mailed to the high schools of the State by the Interscholastic Tournament Committee. Even though the tournaments of the past years have been decidedly successful, it is the plan of the committee to make the one of this year the most successful in its history. Those in charge are very optimistic as to the outcome, and all indications point toward the fulfillment of the highest expectations.

The interscholastic tournament, which is sponsored by the two literary societies, has, since its adoption as an annual event, been one of the outstanding features of the spring semester. Each year since its inauguration the number of schools and contestants have increased in a very gratifying manner, and an interest has developed which is pleasing in every respect. This year the committee in charge is expecting a large increase over previous years, both in the number of entries and in the interest shown, and plans are maturing with this in view. In fact, it is the desire that every high school in the State be represented, both in the track meet and in the declamation contest.

Each school is entitled to only one representative in the declamation contest, while five contestants are allowed each school in the track events. The winner of the declamation contest is awarded a scholarship to Wake Forest College, and in addition is given a gold medal. All contestants reaching the finals receive gold pins. In the track meet gold, silver, and bronze medals are given for first, second, and third places, respectively. These are given in each event, except the mile relay. The school winning this is awarded a loving cup. The highest individual scorer in the meet is given a scholarship by the college.—Continued on page 4.

D. T. Fuller, '31, Sprains His Arm In Gymnasium

On Friday of last week, in a very spirited game of "suicide" in the focal gymnasium, D. T. Fuller, freshman, suffered a very painful though not serious injury. It was first thought that his arm was broken, but upon examination it was found that it was only out of place.

Deacons Win Game in Asheville By the Decisive Score of 36 to 29

Playing their final game of the season in Asheville last Saturday night, the Wake Forest Demon Deacons put up a great brand of basketball to stop several Blue Stocking rallies, and triumphed over the Presbyterian College quintet 36 to 29.

The initial half was more or less all Wake Forest, but in the last period the Blue Stocking five came back to come within five points of the leaders at one time, and threatened the Deacons at every turn until the game ended.

Al Dowtin played a better game tonight than he did last night, amassing 14 points for top scoring honors. Captain Ralph James, who was playing his last collegiate game of basketball, scored nine points for second-place honors, besides playing a good floor game.

The Presbyterians were slow in the first stages of the contest, but gradually gained speed. Wilson and Caldwell put up the best game for the Blue Stocking outfit, although Dunlap, running mate to Wilson at forward, tied Caldwell for top scoring honors, with eight points each.

INTERSCHOLASTIC TOURNAMENT

On April 13th and 14th high school students from over the state will be welcomed to the Wake Forest campus for the sixth annual Interscholastic Tournament. Since its beginning this event has been one of the significant occasions of the college year—significant in the fact that many students who come here on these occasions are led to choose Wake Forest as their college and that all the visitors who will be here will form impressions of Wake Forest that will be of vital concern to the college.

The Interscholastic Tournament Committee has endeavored, as such committees have done for years past here, to make the program for the tournament as interesting and profitable for the high school boys as possible. The visitors are given an opportunity to see Wake Forest College, catch the spirit and atmosphere of the place, and learn the features of the college that they are respectively interested in.

The track meet of the tournament has drawn representatives from many schools of the State in years past, and many athletes have chosen to come here, their choice being made on the basis of their experience here during the track meets.

For any high school student, no matter how large a city he may come from, there is something broadening and stimulating in visiting a college campus; something that widens his horizon of interest and intensifies his ambition.

The declamation contest, which is a most important part of the tournament program, is of exceptional worth, and interest shown in such past years here evidences that fact. The Wake Forest literary societies have a history of high achievement and recognized strength; and with such a background of success in oratory and debate here the high school declamation contest should be strong and successful.

At the time of the tournament Wake Forest's new coach will very likely be on the campus and the new regime in the field of athletics here will be moving into action. This ought to be of keen interest to the visiting athletes.

The college welcomes the high school visitors here for these two days, and hopes to be able to show them an exceptionally enjoyable and profitable time.

INTERCOLLEGIATE MOOT COURTS

For some seemingly inexplicable reason Wake Forest law students do not take an active part in the college literary societies. But the moot courts, which have been held fairly regularly this year, have been full of force, fire, enthusiasm, and worth-while work, and, obviously, the future attorneys of the campus have got much valuable experience and training in such moot court work.

The plan of some Wake Forest students in which they are trying to stage intercollegiate moot courts between Wake Forest, Carolina, and Duke is a strikingly good one. Such intercollegiate moot courts ought to give the law students of the State an opportunity to get some inestimably good experience.

THE SENIOR'S OUTLOOK

With the announcement of the "senior smoker" and other class activities relative to commencement the seniors have begun to realize in a peculiarly vital manner that the four years of life in the collegiate microcosm is quickly coming to a close.

The senior looks back, in his mind, over the men who were seniors when he was a freshman. Where are those men today? Once in a while one stands out on the horizon of public life or graduate school achievement, and in the future more of them will "show up." The senior of '28 will soon enter the game to try to follow his ambitions.

Most college seniors, despite the traditional opinion as to their dignity, are profoundly conscious of their unqualified ignorance, no matter how their row of grades may run.

The college man going out into life certainly carries with him one faculty which has been developed during his collegiate days: the ability to judge character. A man in college is known to be just about what he, in truth, is; and the futility of trying to bluff the world and get by with such among intelligent men and women the departing collegian is generally cognizant of.

THE LIBRARY

MRS. ETHEL TAYLOR CRITTENDEN

A name is yet to be coined for the man who stands by the roadside with a wistful expression, hoping to "bum" a ride on a passing automobile. It is interesting to discover that such wayfarers craved attention in Dickens' day, judging from the following passage from "Pickwick Papers," describing the trip by coach to Bath:

"There was a constant succession of Christian names in smock-frocks and white coats, who were invited to have a 'lift' by the guard."

It was in "Pickwick Papers," too, that we came upon what we considered an excellent description of Sinclair Lewis' "Elmer Gantry":

"Those false prophets and wretched mockers of religion, who, without sense to expound its first doctrines, or hearts to feel its first principles, are more dangerous members of society than the common criminal; imposing, as they necessarily do, upon the weakest and worst informed, casting scorn and contempt on what should be held most sacred, and bringing into partial disrepute large bodies of virtuous and well-conducted persons of many excellent sects and persuasions."

Despite the fact that disparaging remarks are made about our beloved long-leaf pine, as, "They look like wild onions" or "They need a shave," the seedlings seem to be prospering. In imagination we already see them full grown, with their dark branches sharply limned against the sky.

When reports come to us of magazines clipped, or missing from the reading room, we grieve, not so much over the trouble and expense of replacing the mutilated or lost periodicals—though neither trouble nor expense are by any means negligible matters—as over the fact that any man so little comprehends the college traditions as to be guilty of vandalism. To us the very name Wake Forest has ever been a synonym for honor, with all the word implies.

Our cataloguer reports that we have the following volumes of the Biblical Recorder in the library—a broken file, but the one most nearly complete in existence:

1, 3, 5, 8, 10, 12, 14, 15, 17-23, 27, 33-35, 39-44, 46-49, 51-63, 65-78, 80-91.

Another branch of athletics has started work-outs in the open. This is Wake Forest's track team. These men, about forty in number, have been taking things quite seriously down on the cinder path. They have been going through their paces every day getting into shape for their meets this spring. While interest in track sports has not been as pronounced here as it could have been, men on the track squad are confident that this will be another successful year. They are counting on putting out a team Wake Forest will be truly proud of, and are counting on the backing of the student body in this enterprise.

Visitors Are To Be Entertained Free

In order that the visitors who attend the twelfth annual Interscholastic Tournament at Wake Forest may find their stay here pleasant and enjoyable many considerations are being made in the arrangement of the entire program for the entertainment of the guests.

On Friday afternoon there will be a baseball game on Gore Field, to which all visitors will be admitted free. Then in the evening, after the finals of the declamation contest, there will be a reception in the society halls, to which all the guests will be invited.

Throughout the entire course of events the visitors will be treated as guests of the institution, and their entertainment will be provided free. The tournament committee plans to have the visitors get some definite ideas as to college life as it really is and carry away with them the facts as to what the college stands for and strives to do.

to the Board of Trustees of the college as head coach of Wake Forest College athletic teams, provided the supplementary investigation proved satisfactory.

The sub-committee appointed by the group consists of the following: President Frank P. Gaines, Alumni Secretary J. A. MacMillan, Graduate Manager J. G. Carroll, S. W. Brewer, Professor H. A. Jones, A. A. Lennon of Wilmington, Ralph James of Asheville, Professor P. H. Wilson, all of Wake Forest College, and Basil Watkins of Durham. All but the first two of these are members of the Athletic Council of the college.

As Cofall's record has already been thoroughly investigated, it is assumed that this committee will return a favorable report and that the ratification by the Board of Trustees will follow shortly. Graduate Manager Carroll immediately wired Cofall to come to the college in the near future for a conference with the committee.

Other Coaches To Be Named
The matter of freshman and assistant coaches was referred by the board to the Athletic Council of the college. No recommendations were made by the board for these positions, and it was understood that the local council will consider recommendations and settle here at Wake Forest the matter of assistants to the head coach.

The meeting of the Advisory Board, a recently selected organization consisting of some 35 representatives of the general Alumni Association, was marked by a spirit of earnestness and harmony. Foster Hankins of Lexington, president of the general Alumni Association of the college, was present at the session yesterday afternoon and concurred in the action of the board.

Cofall emerged from a list of more than 25 prospective coaches considered by the board, to be named practically unanimously by the assembled alumni.

Cofall attended Notre Dame University for a four-year period some ten years ago, and while there made an enviable record in athletics and on the campus. He was for two years captain of the Notre Dame football team, and one year was mentioned for one of the backfield positions on Walter Camp's All-American eleven. For some years now he has been head coach at Loyola College, and his team has made records in all branches of sport. In 1926 the football team representing Loyola, a college of 150 students, held Navy to a 35-13 score and showed up favorably against other powerful teams of the East. In 1925 Cofall's basketball team licked the flashy quint of the Naval Academy.

Highly Recommended

Since his name has been brought to the consideration of Wake Forest officials, Graduate Manager Carroll has received numerous recommendations from over the country, including those from Knute Rockne, famous Notre Dame coach, the well-known A. G. Spaulding, and the head coach at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The task now facing the Athletic Council of the college is that of selecting one or two from a long list recommended for the positions of assistant and freshman coaches. It was intimated at the meeting yesterday afternoon that a North Carolina man would be advisable for the berth. The matter was left entirely in the hands of the local athletic council. Cofall, if elected, will be in conference with the council concerning the men that will assist him. Nothing could be learned last night concerning the date of the proposed conference with the prospective coach. It had been announced earlier that Cofall, in the event of his election, would be able to report here for at least a short period of time during the spring football training.

Impressed Officials

President Gaines and Alumni Secretary MacMillan, who recently conferred with Cofall in Washington, were present at the meeting and returned favorable reports. President Gaines declared that Cofall was a most striking personality and that he and other Wake Forest men who met him in Washington were favorably impressed.

Cofall is a married man and is the father of two children. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Training School Is Being Held In W. F. Church

During the past few days the Central Association has been having a training school in the Wake Forest Baptist Church. The nature of the school was to train in the various fields of church work. Among the classes taught were those for Sunday School Building, B. Y. P. U. (Senior, Junior, and Intermediate Leaders' Manual), and there was a course in W. M. U. work.

The school not only had a class program, but also had a number of prominent speakers at the eight o'clock hour. They were R. N. Simms, F. H. Leavell, Dr. Powell Tucker, J. M. Broughton, Dr. F. P. Gaines, and Dr. W. L. Poteat. Mr. Leavell spoke at the Sunday evening hours, speaking from Psalm 144:12, which reads, "That our sons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters may be as corner stones polished after the similitude of a palace." He pointed out that the present generation demands the superlative among its youth; that the present generation requires that its leaders shall be as luminous as the queen of stones, the diamond. He pointed out that the diamond was the most difficult to polish, and could be polished only by the chippings off of itself. Thus he stated that this young generation must polish to full degree its own self, so that it can command the admiration of the world. He said that we have produced an Elderle, a Helen Wills, a Bobby Jones, and a Lindbergh, and he stated that he fully believed that this generation would produce a Lindbergh of religion. This was his challenge to this generation.

Dr. Tucker spoke Monday evening with a flow of beautiful English which commanded admiration. He pictured the life of Jesus as it perhaps flashed upon Saul as he was prostrate at the Damascus gate. Then he brought out the fact that everyone, too, should have his Damascus gate at which he would consecrate all to the Master.

Tuesday evening the Hon. R. N. Sims of Raleigh brought before the assemblage a fine message concerning the building of a Sunday School class, and how that, in turn, builds the church. He pointed out that the organized class should welcome, hold, put to work and train its pupils for service in the class then in the church. He showed, also, the importance and privilege of the teacher in teaching a large class and knowing personally each of the pupils. Then he said that he believed that the Sunday School teacher had almost as an important place as the preacher, but each of them had a place in the kingdom's work. Thus the Sunday School class and the church become closely correlated to each other.

for classes. The manner of selection of new members is such that only one persons knows before the night of the tapping which men are to be chosen for the honor. This one person is an officer of the Golden Bough, who tabulates the results of the voting of the members of the society and of the faculty, and his results he keeps in absolute secrecy. Each man receiving as many as five votes, two of which are faculty votes, shall be eligible for membership. Of the eligible ones, the men receiving the highest number of votes will be chosen.

The tapping ceremony, conducted by black-draped members of the society, is most impressive, and in years past has drawn large crowds from the Wake Forest student body and faculty.

At present there are twelve active members in the Golden Bough, and there are six faculty members, three of which are honorary members. The active members are as follows: A. B. Peacock, T. W. Baker, C. R. Tew, G. N. Ashley, S. R. Byerly, J. L. Carlton, M. B. Cree, V. H. Duckett, T. V. Hackney, R. L. Henry, E. A. McMillan, and R. H. Owen. The honorary members are Dr. W. M. Poteat, Dr. D. Senior Smoker To Be Held Next Wednesday Night

Combination Business and Social Gathering; Superlatives To Be Elected

The Senior Smoker is to be had on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Williams Dining Hall. It will be the only social gathering that the Class of 1928 has had in its four years of stay at Wake Forest. It will be an occasion where the carriers of campus dignity can get their heads together and chat about topics that are of peculiar interest to seniors.

It will be a smoker only in name; for there will be things on the table, or refreshments, other than Hava-Tampas and Lucky Strikes. The characteristic feature of the gathering will in all probability be a galaxy of oratory. It is usually at such affairs that the four-year men try to strut their stuff with the English language.

Robert E. Lee, president of the Senior Class, says the smoker will be in the nature of a combination business and social gathering of the class. All the class business for the year will be discussed and dispensed with at this one meeting. Graduation is fast drawing near and much that pertains to it is of great importance to seniors.

The main purpose of the smoker is to elect the class superlatives—to bestow honors upon certain of its members, who have in one way or another shown themselves to be deserving of them. Nominations are often made with a glorious flow of oratory, much of which is said about the nominees being false. Political machines are often formed to bestow upon some senior an honor which he does not want. For the first time the Senior Class superlatives this year will be played up in pictures in a special feature section of "The Howler."

ment of baseball activities will come the beginning of spring football training. Fred Emmerson, former Deacon star and last year assistant football coach to Baldwin, was expected tonight for a two-months' session with members of last year's varsity and freshman football teams. Emmerson, better known as "Cowboy" to the sporting element of North Carolina, has enjoyed a full measure of popularity with Wake Forest athletes and others here, and his new venture is being looked forward to by sports followers at Wake Forest. Since the close of the football season Emmerson has been coaching the basketball quint of Pacific Mills at Lymans, South Car-

SHORTS ON SPORTS

(By McNeill.)

Wherever one turns these days he bumps into some Wake Forest team at spring practice. Down on Gore Field Coach John Caddell has his twenty baseball candidates working out daily. The boys have really been putting out, too. They are anxious to show the State that there was no mistake made when Coach Caddell was appointed to lead them. At this writing only James and Kuykendall are among those missing. These two members of last year's varsity have been up in Asheville all week, but are expected to enter the field on Monday.

Then there's the old athletic field. A casual observer will see about forty men clad in the regulation football togs running around, punting, passing, blocking, tackling, and charging the dummy. The Deacons, under Coach Fred Emmerson, are having their spring football workouts. While these practice sessions have been very light so far, Coach Emmerson is planning to divide his squad into four teams and stage regular games in the near future.

Going back to Gore Field again, we see about thirty scantily clad figures running about, jumping, throwing the discus, hurling the javelin, and running and jumping the hurdles. It's the track team in action. These boys have taken things quite seriously since warm weather set in and are confident of having a team that will revive the interest of the student body in events on the cinder paths.

Thus we have completed the circuit. We have seen three distinct sports represented—baseball, football, and track—each group intent upon furthering and bettering the athletic record of Wake Forest College.

One last reminder of basket ball. Mississippi won the Southern Conference title by defeating Auburn last Tuesday night. The score was 31 to 30.

olina, and his team has enjoyed a very successful season.

A good array of baseball material awaits the hand of Coach Caddell when he takes the reins tomorrow. Both the freshman and varsity teams of 1927 enjoyed fairly successful seasons, and the new coach will have material from both these aggregations with which to shape his varsity team of 1928.

Good Men Out

Key Joyner, Ralph James, Ott Person, Bill Gibson, and Tom Lanning are members of last year's freshman and varsity hurling staffs who are available for this season. Joyner and James are expected to handle the brunt of the work for the year. Moss and Rey-

Intercollegiate Moot Courts Are Planned

Hope to Have Intercollegiate Courts Between Wake Forest, Duke, Carolina

A distinctly original and commendably worth-while plan is under way on the campus to bring about a series of triangular moot courts among Wake Forest College, University of North Carolina, and Duke University.

Certainly the moot court work is most valuable to all prospective attorneys, and anything that can be done to add stimulus of interest to this type of training will likely be welcomed by the law students of the State.

Dr. Bagby Completes Series of Sermons Sunday Morning

Series Taken From Sermon on the Mount and Outgrowth of an Interesting Study

In the closing sermon of a series of seven taken from the Sermon on the Mount, as preached by Jesus, Dr. A. Paul Bagby gave the essence of whole fulfillment as made more vivid through the life and words of the Master. The sum of it all is found in Romans 13:10, where it says, "Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: therefore, love is the fulfilling of the law."

Dr. Bagby stated that the series had not been planned nor premeditated beforehand; rather, it was the outgrowth of the interesting study that engaged him. He showed that the Sermon on the Mount was the outcome of a disagreement with the Pharisees as to the Sabbath observance. The fulfilling of the law and the prophets comes only through the Golden Rule and loving others, not necessarily your neighbor.

"How did Christ fulfill the law?" he asked. "First, by spelling it out for the Jews. Though they stressed the letter of the law, they needed it to be lettered out for them." He showed that the Jews spelled murder, m-u-r-d-e-r, but Jesus spelled it h-a-t-e; and they spelled adultery a-d-u-l-t-e-r-y, and He spelled it l-u-s-t; and they spelled worship w-o-r-s-h-i-p, but Jesus spelled it a-t-t-i-t-u-d-e of the heart.

Continuing the outline, he showed how Jesus wrote the law down. Moses received the tablets and they were destroyed and lost, but Jesus Christ wrote the law in an universal script, the script of the conscience and the inner man. And now God goes forth to possess the field of the will of men, which alone can further write the laws down.

In the third instance Jesus fulfilled the law by illustrating it. This He did by living the fulfillment to its uttermost. What a teacher He was to so live the illustration beautifully before the world.

Jesus further fulfilled the law by interpreting it. He showed that love is therefore the fulfilling of the law. "What mean these laws against this and that but to make us love God. Show me a man who loves God and he will do justice. Show me a man who loves man and he will live correctly," said Dr. Bagby.

Finally, the pastor told the congregation that Jesus fulfilled the law by making the observance of the law becoming an instinct to each one, and not allowing it to become the taskmaster. The only way is to become the master of the law. This point he illustrated vividly by showing us the processes one goes through with to drive a car; and only when the laws of the driving of a car are mastered so that they become second nature and by instinct can we fully manipulate it. Thus it is with the human laws. We must become masters of them and then will all law be fulfilled. Dr. Bagby stated that Christ never destroyed a single law that was ever given by God. Therefore, he was able to fulfill all laws given by Him.

W. F. Graduate In China Writes To Mr. Earnshaw

Mr. G. W. Greene Tells of Stirring Times in Canton During Red Régime

Canton, China, January 26, 1928.

Mr. E. B. Earnshaw, Wake Forest, N. C., U. S. A.

Dear Mr. Earnshaw:—We have been living through stirring times in Canton during the past two months. The brief Red régime gave us a first-hand opportunity to study the fruits of Communism. I will confess that my previous dislike was in no way diminished. Personally we suffered no loss, nor did our mission. However, the inconvenience was considerable. From Sunday morning at four o'clock, when the affair started, till Tuesday night I had no opportunity to close my eyes, since I spent the time guarding our property and assisting in the evacuation of Americans from points of danger in and around Canton. On the second day of the trouble, I walked through the city, dodging the fires and the fighting as best I might, and took the first definite news that the consular body had concerning conditions in the city. Gunboats were immediately dispatched down the river to evacuate foreigners, and I went with an armed guard in a motor boat up the river for the same purpose.

Fortunately the soldiers from the south side of the river were able to effect a crossing on the third day, and they drove out the Reds in confusion. The damage that had already been done, however, was tremendous, being estimated at about fifty million dollars. Canton paid a tremendous price, but I believe that the lesson has been well learned, and personally, I feel that we are in a better condition in Canton than we have been for three years.

Please give my regards to my friends there, and let any who may be interested read this letter.

Cordially yours,
G. W. GREENE.

Sixth Interscholastic Tournament April 13-14

The school winning the next gets a large silver cup, which becomes its permanent property upon winning it for two consecutive years, or for three separate years. Charlotte High School won the cup in 1926 and again in 1927, thereby being the first school to gain permanent possession of it. Roanoke Rapids, Reidsville, and Burlington have held the cup one year each.

Last year 48 entrants from as many high schools took part in the declamation contest. Of this number 10 reached the finals. C. S. Hooper, of Durham High School, won first place, using as his subject "Tolerance," by Vanloon; Carl Ousley, of Buies Creek High School, won second place. The subject of his speech was, "The Constitution." Irwin Kitchin, of Wake Forest High School, chose for his speech "Sparticus Persuading the Gladiators to Rebel," and won third place.

All the young men had good speeches and delivered them well. The winners could well afford to congratulate themselves, for they had no easy task in winning over their competitors.

Two hundred and eight men, representing 60 high schools, entered the track meet.

The relay cup was won by Asheville High School. The tournament cup, as was stated above, was won for the second consecutive time, by Charlotte High School. Individual high scorers were: Brown, Greensboro, 9 points; Millstead, Charlotte, 8 points; Woodside, Charlotte, 6 points.

6. Awards: Gold medal and scholarship to Wake Forest College for first place; silver medal for second place; bronze medal for third place, and a gold pin to each man in the final contest.

3. Names of all contestants must be in one week before the event.

4. Points will be counted: 5, 3, and 1. Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be given as prizes for first, second, and third places, respectively, except in the relay race. (See section 6 below.)

6. The relay race will count five points for the winning school. A loving cup will be given as a prize for this event.
